

MARGERY MAUDE TO WED J. W. BURDEN

Engagement Announced of Cyril Maude's Daughter and New York Man.

SHE ACTED IN "GRUMPY"

Appeared on the Stage in This City With George Arliss Also.

The engagement has been announced of Miss Margery Maude, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Maude of Little Common, Sussex, England, to Joseph Warren Burden, son of the late Joseph W. Burden of this city.

O'BRIEN-McARDLE

Ferry Priests at Ceremony and Metropolitan Singers Heard.

Miss Teresa McARDLE, daughter of Mrs. Mary McARDLE of Jersey City, was married yesterday to Joseph O'Brien, principal of the Continental Public School of Elizabeth, N. J.

DRAKE-MILLER

Cornish, N. Y., Man and Norfolk, Conn., Girl Married Here.

Mrs. Inez Black Miller, daughter of Mrs. Hugh Black of Norfolk, Conn., was married to George Willis Drake of Cornish, N. Y., yesterday.

MARRIED

LAUTERBACH-PLINT-Wednesday, June 27, 1917, at residence of the bride, by Dr. John Lovett, officiating.

DIED

BOWMAN-On June 28, 1917, at 184 West 117th street, died at his residence, Henry H. Bowman, in his sixty-seventh year.

FUNERAL SERVICES will be held at St. Agnes's chapel of Trinity Parish, 117th street, at 11 o'clock, Monday, June 29, at 11 o'clock, Tuesday, June 30, at 11 o'clock, Wednesday, July 1, at 11 o'clock, Thursday, July 2, at 11 o'clock, Friday, July 3, at 11 o'clock, Saturday, July 4, at 11 o'clock, Sunday, July 5, at 11 o'clock, Monday, July 6, at 11 o'clock, Tuesday, July 7, at 11 o'clock, Wednesday, July 8, at 11 o'clock, Thursday, July 9, at 11 o'clock, Friday, July 10, at 11 o'clock, Saturday, July 11, at 11 o'clock, Sunday, July 12, at 11 o'clock, Monday, July 13, at 11 o'clock, Tuesday, July 14, at 11 o'clock, Wednesday, July 15, at 11 o'clock, Thursday, July 16, at 11 o'clock, Friday, July 17, at 11 o'clock, Saturday, July 18, at 11 o'clock, Sunday, July 19, at 11 o'clock, Monday, July 20, at 11 o'clock, Tuesday, July 21, at 11 o'clock, Wednesday, July 22, at 11 o'clock, Thursday, July 23, at 11 o'clock, Friday, July 24, at 11 o'clock, Saturday, July 25, at 11 o'clock, Sunday, July 26, at 11 o'clock, Monday, July 27, at 11 o'clock, Tuesday, July 28, at 11 o'clock, Wednesday, July 29, at 11 o'clock, Thursday, July 30, at 11 o'clock, Friday, August 1, at 11 o'clock, Saturday, August 2, at 11 o'clock, Sunday, August 3, at 11 o'clock, Monday, August 4, at 11 o'clock, Tuesday, August 5, at 11 o'clock, Wednesday, August 6, at 11 o'clock, Thursday, August 7, at 11 o'clock, Friday, August 8, at 11 o'clock, Saturday, August 9, at 11 o'clock, Sunday, August 10, at 11 o'clock, Monday, August 11, at 11 o'clock, Tuesday, August 12, at 11 o'clock, Wednesday, August 13, at 11 o'clock, Thursday, August 14, at 11 o'clock, Friday, August 15, at 11 o'clock, Saturday, August 16, at 11 o'clock, Sunday, August 17, at 11 o'clock, Monday, August 18, at 11 o'clock, Tuesday, August 19, at 11 o'clock, Wednesday, August 20, at 11 o'clock, Thursday, August 21, at 11 o'clock, Friday, August 22, at 11 o'clock, Saturday, August 23, at 11 o'clock, Sunday, August 24, at 11 o'clock, Monday, August 25, at 11 o'clock, Tuesday, August 26, at 11 o'clock, Wednesday, August 27, at 11 o'clock, Thursday, August 28, at 11 o'clock, Friday, August 29, at 11 o'clock, Saturday, August 30, at 11 o'clock, Sunday, August 31, at 11 o'clock.

Mrs. Drake later started on a motor trip through New England. They will live at Forest Hills, L. I.

Chase-Levinson

Miss Bianca Levinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Levinson, was married to Samuel Maurice Chase of this city last evening in the ballroom of the Regis. The Rev. Dr. Moses performed the ceremony.

Chandler-Langdon

Miss Ann Chandler, daughter of the late Dr. Royal Langdon of Nutley, N. J., was married yesterday to Harlow Chandler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence E. Chandler, also of Nutley.

Kuss-Drew

Miss Gertrude Burnett Drew, daughter of Mrs. Catherine L. Drew of 187 Bowne avenue, Flushing, L. I., was married to John F. Kuss, Jr., of Roslyn, L. I., yesterday afternoon.

CIVILISE ALEXANDRE MARRIES SATURDAY

Special Dispensation for Her Union With J. F. Schenk in Lenox Church.

Lenox, Mass., June 27.—Intentions of marriage were filed by Miss M. Cipriano Alexandre and John Frederick Schenk today in the Town Clerk's office.

OBITUARIES

PROF. HERBERT L. WARREN

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., June 27.—Prof. Herbert L. Warren, head of the department of architecture at Harvard University, died suddenly today at the age of 40 years.

HARRISON H. VOORHEES

PHILADELPHIA, June 27.—Former Judge Harrison H. Voorhees of Cape May died today in a hospital after he had fallen in a fall and fractured his skull. He was 49 years old and lived in Camden.

EDWARD S. FOLWELL

Edward S. Folwell, 49 years old, accountant in the office of the Attorney-General of New York, died suddenly yesterday at his home, 64 East 12th street.

PROF. GUSTAV VON SCHMOLLER

BRUXEL, via Amsterdam to London, June 27.—Prof. Gustav von Schmoller, widely known political economist, died today at his residence in Harsburg. He was born in 1838.

W. A. ROCKEFELLER TO MARRY

Engagement to Miss Florence Lincoln is Announced. Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Walker Lincoln have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Florence Lincoln, to William A. Rockefeller, son of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Rockefeller.

McCann-Morrison Wedding

Dr. Thomas P. McCann of 5 Twenty-fifth street, Elmhurst, who has just been commissioned a First Lieutenant in the Medical Corps, National Guard, New York, will be married to Miss Michael's Church here on Monday.

Mayor to Speak at Forum

Mayor Mitchell will be one of the principal speakers next Monday at the Washington Irving High School. Miss Margaret Wilson, daughter of the President, will be the first to be named one of the first to be held under the new law providing for a wider use of school buildings for community centers.

CORNELL MEN MISS WAR GRADUATION

600 of Class of 891 Already in Service of Their Country.

MESSAGE SENT ABROAD

Social Functions and Class Day Exercises Omitted at Commencement.

ITHACA, N. Y., June 27.—Of the 891 graduates of Cornell University this year more than 600 were absent today at the forty-ninth annual commencement.

Among those absent was Capt. E. T. Tinkham, who led a contingent made up of Cornell men to the front in France a few weeks ago.

LIKES THE ARMY LIFE

Composer Enlists Because He Is Grateful to This Country.

When the Fifteenth Coast Artillery brass band camps its way to the parade ground at Fort Hamilton today the spectators, if any be on hand, should pay particular attention to the slender, khaki clad, blond young gentleman playing the oboe.

GET FEED OF LIVES

Entertained by Woman's Auxiliary and Then Visit 14th Street Battleship.

ON THE WAY TO NEWPORT Dance Given for 200 Blue-jackets by Miss Gertrude R. Smith's Girls.

110 NAVY RECRUITS

After the speaking they gave three cheers for the flag and took up their march to the Fall River boat to the strains of "Nancy Lee," played by the marine band.

THIRD SUMMER CONCERT HELD

Civic Society Gives Programme at St. Nicholas Rink. The Civic Orchestral Society gave its third summer concert at the St. Nicholas Rink last night.

Two Montclair Engagements

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Edmund Van Vleck of 37 North Mountain avenue, Montclair, N. J., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Helen Van Vleck, to William H. Cross, son of Mr. and Mrs. William T. Cross, also of Montclair.

PIANIST GRAINGER NOW OBOEIST, U. S. A.

Celebrated Artist Plays for 15th Coast Artillery for $86 a Month.

LIKES THE ARMY LIFE

Composer Enlists Because He Is Grateful to This Country.

When the Fifteenth Coast Artillery brass band camps its way to the parade ground at Fort Hamilton today the spectators, if any be on hand, should pay particular attention to the slender, khaki clad, blond young gentleman playing the oboe.

Among those absent was Capt. E. T. Tinkham, who led a contingent made up of Cornell men to the front in France a few weeks ago.

LIKES THE ARMY LIFE

Composer Enlists Because He Is Grateful to This Country.

When the Fifteenth Coast Artillery brass band camps its way to the parade ground at Fort Hamilton today the spectators, if any be on hand, should pay particular attention to the slender, khaki clad, blond young gentleman playing the oboe.

LIKES THE ARMY LIFE

Composer Enlists Because He Is Grateful to This Country.

When the Fifteenth Coast Artillery brass band camps its way to the parade ground at Fort Hamilton today the spectators, if any be on hand, should pay particular attention to the slender, khaki clad, blond young gentleman playing the oboe.

LIKES THE ARMY LIFE

Composer Enlists Because He Is Grateful to This Country.

LIKES THE ARMY LIFE

Composer Enlists Because He Is Grateful to This Country.

LIKES THE ARMY LIFE

Composer Enlists Because He Is Grateful to This Country.

110 NAVY RECRUITS GET FEED OF LIVES

Entertained by Woman's Auxiliary and Then Visit 14th Street Battleship.

ON THE WAY TO NEWPORT

Dance Given for 200 Blue-jackets by Miss Gertrude R. Smith's Girls.

ON BOARD U. S. BATTLESHIP RECRUIT, June 27.—Two important events happened aboard ship this afternoon, varying the course of a life that consists mainly of gun drills, scrubbing the decks, shooting off Union Square crowds, learning the difference between a turret and a belaying pin and watching the daily growth of the vegetables in Park Commissioner Ward's aspiring young garden just off the port side of the big gray dreadnought.

Spot has been aboard nine days, and is already an old sea dog, though a coach dog cannot change his spots, and he still resembles that breed. He has attached himself with passionate devotion to Chief Boon's Mate Sellman, a dog with mighty fastidious and has no use for skirts. In this last he is unlike the recruits en route for Newport. It was a feminine organization, the Woman's Auxiliary Navy Recruits that gave the young patriots their final big feed before formally entering Uncle Sam's service, and they went off patting their stomachs and their chests for Mrs. Margaret M. Crumpacker, president of the auxiliary, and her efficient aide—especially Miss Ida M. Ford, who bestowed upon them a box of cigarettes, a pipe and a bag of tobacco apiece.

ALTOGETHER INFORMAL

The luncheon took place at Luster's restaurant, 142 West Fort-street, and was as such will make the mouths of the 110 recruits water reminiscently months from now, when they will probably have water enough around them without that. Tomato soup began it, and plentiful portions of roast beef and potatoes and string beans followed, with salad and relishes, and ice cream, coffee, cakes and cigarettes to top off.

ALTOGETHER INFORMAL

Some of the young guests wore collars and some did not, but all wore coats to be comfortable and others retained their coats for the obvious reason that there was no shirt underneath. But they were not the battleship recruits. Mrs. Crumpacker told them so in a little speech before their ice cream, and when they got down here to the battleship, they were again assured of the fact by the Rev. Christian S. Retzner, pastor of Grace Methodist Church; by Charles Waldron, pastor of St. Ann's, the Jolly Wren, a haired naval officer, who marched from the restaurant to the ship with them.

ALTOGETHER INFORMAL

Two by two they tramped down Broadway, and the battleship recruits were to be seen in white uniforms and the head playing stirring tunes that made some of the recruits look off their coats to be comfortable and others retained their coats for the obvious reason that there was no shirt underneath. But they were not the battleship recruits. Mrs. Crumpacker told them so in a little speech before their ice cream, and when they got down here to the battleship, they were again assured of the fact by the Rev. Christian S. Retzner, pastor of Grace Methodist Church; by Charles Waldron, pastor of St. Ann's, the Jolly Wren, a haired naval officer, who marched from the restaurant to the ship with them.

ALTOGETHER INFORMAL

Two by two they tramped down Broadway, and the battleship recruits were to be seen in white uniforms and the head playing stirring tunes that made some of the recruits look off their coats to be comfortable and others retained their coats for the obvious reason that there was no shirt underneath. But they were not the battleship recruits. Mrs. Crumpacker told them so in a little speech before their ice cream, and when they got down here to the battleship, they were again assured of the fact by the Rev. Christian S. Retzner, pastor of Grace Methodist Church; by Charles Waldron, pastor of St. Ann's, the Jolly Wren, a haired naval officer, who marched from the restaurant to the ship with them.

ALTOGETHER INFORMAL

Two by two they tramped down Broadway, and the battleship recruits were to be seen in white uniforms and the head playing stirring tunes that made some of the recruits look off their coats to be comfortable and others retained their coats for the obvious reason that there was no shirt underneath. But they were not the battleship recruits. Mrs. Crumpacker told them so in a little speech before their ice cream, and when they got down here to the battleship, they were again assured of the fact by the Rev. Christian S. Retzner, pastor of Grace Methodist Church; by Charles Waldron, pastor of St. Ann's, the Jolly Wren, a haired naval officer, who marched from the restaurant to the ship with them.

110 NAVY RECRUITS GET FEED OF LIVES

Entertained by Woman's Auxiliary and Then Visit 14th Street Battleship.

ON THE WAY TO NEWPORT

Dance Given for 200 Blue-jackets by Miss Gertrude R. Smith's Girls.

ON BOARD U. S. BATTLESHIP RECRUIT, June 27.—Two important events happened aboard ship this afternoon, varying the course of a life that consists mainly of gun drills, scrubbing the decks, shooting off Union Square crowds, learning the difference between a turret and a belaying pin and watching the daily growth of the vegetables in Park Commissioner Ward's aspiring young garden just off the port side of the big gray dreadnought.

Spot has been aboard nine days, and is already an old sea dog, though a coach dog cannot change his spots, and he still resembles that breed. He has attached himself with passionate devotion to Chief Boon's Mate Sellman, a dog with mighty fastidious and has no use for skirts. In this last he is unlike the recruits en route for Newport. It was a feminine organization, the Woman's Auxiliary Navy Recruits that gave the young patriots their final big feed before formally entering Uncle Sam's service, and they went off patting their stomachs and their chests for Mrs. Margaret M. Crumpacker, president of the auxiliary, and her efficient aide—especially Miss Ida M. Ford, who bestowed upon them a box of cigarettes, a pipe and a bag of tobacco apiece.

ALTOGETHER INFORMAL

The luncheon took place at Luster's restaurant, 142 West Fort-street, and was as such will make the mouths of the 110 recruits water reminiscently months from now, when they will probably have water enough around them without that. Tomato soup began it, and plentiful portions of roast beef and potatoes and string beans followed, with salad and relishes, and ice cream, coffee, cakes and cigarettes to top off.

ALTOGETHER INFORMAL

Some of the young guests wore collars and some did not, but all wore coats to be comfortable and others retained their coats for the obvious reason that there was no shirt underneath. But they were not the battleship recruits. Mrs. Crumpacker told them so in a little speech before their ice cream, and when they got down here to the battleship, they were again assured of the fact by the Rev. Christian S. Retzner, pastor of Grace Methodist Church; by Charles Waldron, pastor of St. Ann's, the Jolly Wren, a haired naval officer, who marched from the restaurant to the ship with them.

ALTOGETHER INFORMAL

Two by two they tramped down Broadway, and the battleship recruits were to be seen in white uniforms and the head playing stirring tunes that made some of the recruits look off their coats to be comfortable and others retained their coats for the obvious reason that there was no shirt underneath. But they were not the battleship recruits. Mrs. Crumpacker told them so in a little speech before their ice cream, and when they got down here to the battleship, they were again assured of the fact by the Rev. Christian S. Retzner, pastor of Grace Methodist Church; by Charles Waldron, pastor of St. Ann's, the Jolly Wren, a haired naval officer, who marched from the restaurant to the ship with them.

ALTOGETHER INFORMAL

Two by two they tramped down Broadway, and the battleship recruits were to be seen in white uniforms and the head playing stirring tunes that made some of the recruits look off their coats to be comfortable and others retained their coats for the obvious reason that there was no shirt underneath. But they were not the battleship recruits. Mrs. Crumpacker told them so in a little speech before their ice cream, and when they got down here to the battleship, they were again assured of the fact by the Rev. Christian S. Retzner, pastor of Grace Methodist Church; by Charles Waldron, pastor of St. Ann's, the Jolly Wren, a haired naval officer, who marched from the restaurant to the ship with them.

ALTOGETHER INFORMAL

Two by two they tramped down Broadway, and the battleship recruits were to be seen in white uniforms and the head playing stirring tunes that made some of the recruits look off their coats to be comfortable and others retained their coats for the obvious reason that there was no shirt underneath. But they were not the battleship recruits. Mrs. Crumpacker told them so in a little speech before their ice cream, and when they got down here to the battleship, they were again assured of the fact by the Rev. Christian S. Retzner, pastor of Grace Methodist Church; by Charles Waldron, pastor of St. Ann's, the Jolly Wren, a haired naval officer, who marched from the restaurant to the ship with them.

110 NAVY RECRUITS GET FEED OF LIVES

Entertained by Woman's Auxiliary and Then Visit 14th Street Battleship.

ON THE WAY TO NEWPORT

Dance Given for 200 Blue-jackets by Miss Gertrude R. Smith's Girls.

ON BOARD U. S. BATTLESHIP RECRUIT, June 27.—Two important events happened aboard ship this afternoon, varying the course of a life that consists mainly of gun drills, scrubbing the decks, shooting off Union Square crowds, learning the difference between a turret and a belaying pin and watching the daily growth of the vegetables in Park Commissioner Ward's aspiring young garden just off the port side of the big gray dreadnought.

Spot has been aboard nine days, and is already an old sea dog, though a coach dog cannot change his spots, and he still resembles that breed. He has attached himself with passionate devotion to Chief Boon's Mate Sellman, a dog with mighty fastidious and has no use for skirts. In this last he is unlike the recruits en route for Newport. It was a feminine organization, the Woman's Auxiliary Navy Recruits that gave the young patriots their final big feed before formally entering Uncle Sam's service, and they went off patting their stomachs and their chests for Mrs. Margaret M. Crumpacker, president of the auxiliary, and her efficient aide—especially Miss Ida M. Ford, who bestowed upon them a box of cigarettes, a pipe and a bag of tobacco apiece.

ALTOGETHER INFORMAL

The luncheon took place at Luster's restaurant, 142 West Fort-street, and was as such will make the mouths of the 110 recruits water reminiscently months from now, when they will probably have water enough around them without that. Tomato soup began it, and plentiful portions of roast beef and potatoes and string beans followed, with salad and relishes, and ice cream, coffee, cakes and cigarettes to top off.

ALTOGETHER INFORMAL

Some of the young guests wore collars and some did not, but all wore coats to be comfortable and others retained their coats for the obvious reason that there was no shirt underneath. But they were not the battleship recruits. Mrs. Crumpacker told them so in a little speech before their ice cream, and when they got down here to the battleship, they were again assured of the fact by the Rev. Christian S. Retzner, pastor of Grace Methodist Church; by Charles Waldron, pastor of St. Ann's, the Jolly Wren, a haired naval officer, who marched from the restaurant to the ship with them.

ALTOGETHER INFORMAL

Two by two they tramped down Broadway, and the battleship recruits were to be seen in white uniforms and the head playing stirring tunes that made some of the recruits look off their coats to be comfortable and others retained their coats for the obvious reason that there was no shirt underneath. But they were not the battleship recruits. Mrs. Crumpacker told them so in a little speech before their ice cream, and when they got down here to the battleship, they were again assured of the fact by the Rev. Christian S. Retzner, pastor of Grace Methodist Church; by Charles Waldron, pastor of St. Ann's, the Jolly Wren, a haired naval officer, who marched from the restaurant to the ship with them.

ALTOGETHER INFORMAL

Two by two they tramped down Broadway, and the battleship recruits were to be seen in white uniforms and the head playing stirring tunes that made some of the recruits look off their coats to be comfortable and others retained their coats for the obvious reason that there was no shirt underneath. But they were not the battleship recruits. Mrs. Crumpacker told them so in a little speech before their ice cream, and when they got down here to the battleship, they were again assured of the fact by the Rev. Christian S. Retzner, pastor of Grace Methodist Church; by Charles Waldron, pastor of St. Ann's, the Jolly Wren, a haired naval officer, who marched from the restaurant to the ship with them.

ALTOGETHER INFORMAL

Two by two they tramped down Broadway, and the battleship recruits were to be seen in white uniforms and the head playing stirring tunes that made some of the recruits look off their coats to be comfortable and others retained their coats for the obvious reason that there was no shirt underneath. But they were not the battleship recruits. Mrs. Crumpacker told them so in a little speech before their ice cream, and when they got down here to the battleship, they were again assured of the fact by the Rev. Christian S. Retzner, pastor of Grace Methodist Church; by Charles Waldron, pastor of St. Ann's, the Jolly Wren, a haired naval officer, who marched from the restaurant to the ship with them.

110 NAVY RECRUITS GET FEED OF LIVES

Entertained by Woman's Auxiliary and Then Visit 14th Street Battleship.

ON THE WAY TO NEWPORT

Dance Given for 200 Blue-jackets by Miss Gertrude R. Smith's Girls.

ON BOARD U. S. BATTLESHIP RECRUIT, June 27.—Two important events happened aboard ship this afternoon, varying the course of a life that consists mainly of gun drills, scrubbing the decks, shooting off Union Square crowds, learning the difference between a turret and a belaying pin and watching the daily growth of the vegetables in Park Commissioner Ward's aspiring young garden just off the port side of the big gray dreadnought.

Spot has been aboard nine days, and is already an old sea dog, though a coach dog cannot change his spots, and he still resembles that breed. He has attached himself with passionate devotion to Chief Boon's Mate Sellman, a dog with mighty fastidious and has no use for skirts. In this last he is unlike the recruits en route for Newport. It was a feminine organization, the Woman's Auxiliary Navy Recruits that gave the young patriots their final big feed before formally entering Uncle Sam's service, and they went off patting their stomachs and their chests for Mrs. Margaret M. Crumpacker, president of the auxiliary, and her efficient aide—especially Miss Ida M. Ford, who bestowed upon them a box of cigarettes, a pipe and a bag of tobacco apiece.

ALTOGETHER INFORMAL

The luncheon took place at Luster's restaurant, 142 West Fort-street, and was as such will make the mouths of the 110 recruits water reminiscently months from now, when they will probably have water enough around them without that. Tomato soup began it, and plentiful portions of roast beef and potatoes and string beans followed, with salad and relishes, and ice cream, coffee, cakes and cigarettes to top off.

ALTOGETHER INFORMAL

Some of the young guests wore collars and some did not, but all wore coats to be comfortable and others retained their coats for the obvious reason that there was no shirt underneath. But they were not the battleship recruits. Mrs. Crumpacker told them so in a little speech before their ice cream, and when they got down here to the battleship, they were again assured of the fact by the Rev. Christian S. Retzner, pastor of Grace Methodist Church; by Charles Waldron, pastor of St. Ann's, the Jolly Wren, a haired naval officer, who marched from the restaurant to the ship with them.

ALTOGETHER INFORMAL

Two by two they tramped down Broadway, and the battleship recruits were to be seen in white uniforms and the head playing stirring tunes that made some of the recruits look off their coats to be comfortable and others retained their coats for the obvious reason that there was no shirt underneath. But they were not the battleship recruits. Mrs. Crumpacker told them so in a little speech before their ice cream, and when they got down here to the battleship, they were again assured of the fact by the Rev. Christian S. Retzner, pastor of Grace Methodist Church; by Charles Waldron, pastor of St. Ann's, the Jolly Wren, a haired naval officer, who marched from the restaurant to the ship with them.

ALTOGETHER INFORMAL

Two by two they tramped down Broadway, and the battleship recruits were to be seen in white uniforms and the head playing stirring tunes that made some of the recruits look off their coats to be comfortable and others retained their coats for the obvious reason that there was no shirt underneath. But they were not the battleship recruits. Mrs. Crumpacker told them so in a little speech before their ice cream, and when they got down here to the battleship, they were again assured of the fact by the Rev. Christian S. Retzner, pastor of Grace Methodist Church; by Charles Waldron, pastor of St. Ann's, the Jolly Wren, a haired naval officer, who marched from the restaurant to the ship with them.

ALTOGETHER INFORMAL

Two by two they tramped down Broadway, and the battleship recruits were to be seen in white uniforms and the head playing stirring tunes that made some of the recruits look off their coats to be comfortable and others retained their coats for the obvious reason that there was no shirt underneath. But they were not the battleship recruits. Mrs. Crumpacker told them so in a little speech before their ice cream, and when they got down here to the battleship, they were again assured of the fact by the Rev. Christian S. Retzner, pastor of Grace Methodist Church; by Charles Waldron, pastor of St. Ann's, the Jolly Wren, a haired naval officer, who marched from the restaurant to the ship with them.

LAUTERBACH-PLINT-Wednesday, June 27, 1917, at residence of the bride, by Dr. John Lovett, officiating.

DIED

BOWMAN-On June 28, 1917, at 184 West 117th street, died at his residence, Henry H. Bowman, in his sixty-seventh year.

MARRIED

LAUTERBACH-PLINT-Wednesday, June 27, 1917, at residence of the bride, by Dr. John Lovett, officiating.

DIED

BOWMAN-On June 28, 1917, at 184 West 117th street, died at his residence, Henry H. Bowman, in his sixty-seventh year.

MARRIED

LAUTERBACH-PLINT-Wednesday, June 27, 1917, at residence of the bride, by Dr. John Lovett, officiating.

DIED

BOWMAN-On June 28, 1917, at 184 West 117th street, died at his residence, Henry H. Bowman, in his sixty-seventh year.

MARRIED

LAUTERBACH-PLINT-Wednesday, June 27, 1917, at residence of the bride, by Dr. John Lovett, officiating.

DIED

BOWMAN-On June 28, 1917, at 184 West 117th street, died at his residence, Henry H. Bowman, in his sixty-seventh year.

MARR