

NEW YORKERS LAUD 'SUN' TOBACCO FUND

Men of Machine Shop Truck Unit Grateful for American Smokes.

OTHERS SEND POSTCARDS

Patriotic Newark Girl Joins List of Boosters—Many Repeat Donations.

The following letter to THE SUN Tobacco Fund is from home folks, even though the envelope bore a French postmark.

"Machine Shop Truck Unit No. 303 is made up of men who have homes in New York city. They arrived somewhere in France a short time ago and each man received a 'holiday greetings' box from THE SUN Tobacco Fund.

"The men of this unit wish to express their appreciation to THE SUN and the good folks at home who made possible the gifts of tobacco. The feeling that the home folks are with us in spirit makes life here brighter."

The letter, which is signed by Daniel J. Conroy, First Lieutenant, Co. C, 1st N. Y. C., commanding, brings cheer not only to all the loved ones and friends of each man in Machine Shop Truck Unit No. 303, and to every French contributor, but to all Americans who have the heart and welfare of our soldiers abroad at heart, and that of course means every American.

Incoming ships have brought also postcards from men of other regiments expressing gratitude to fund donors. A fair sample is this from Corporal Everett S. Bailey, Company B, 163d Infantry: "Dear HENRY FACTOR: Are we happy! That is not the proper expression at all. For words fail to express our appreciation to the tobacco received. At present I'm enjoying the most pleasant smokes for a long while, and with every cloud of smoke that goes up words of praise and thanksgiving follow for our patriotic Yankee brothers in the dear U. S. A. Yours for victory!"

An Acceptable Donation. This is from Private Guy Lawton, Company F, 117th Engineers: "Your very acceptable donation just received to-night. Thanks very much. During the summer of 1915 I worked in Beth Steel, Bethlehem, Pa., and donated to a tobacco fund for French soldiers. Now I know something about how they must have felt. At that time I didn't think that in a little over one year I would be on the receiving end. But it's not so bad—this being a soldier in France. We are pretty well taken care of by the folks back home."

Right here is a good place to print a letter which came yesterday from Miss Lillian M. Stichel, 63 Hudson street, Newark, N. J., because it typifies the spirit of the givers. Miss Stichel writes: "Enclosed find my small donation toward your wonderful fund, and I wish my pocketbook would allow a hundred times the amount. I have tried to do my bit to help win this war, but it didn't seem to be complete without a contribution to you."

I have loaned my fiance to dear old Uncle Sam and he is 'Over There' now fighting his bit. I've bought Liberty bonds (both issues), helped the Red Cross, Y. M. C. A. and K. of P., bought war savings stamps and sent them, but somehow or other I know that a package of smokes to a lad in the trenches means more sometimes than anything else.

The sent packages of smokes direct to the boys I know, but think of the many lads your fund reaches, and I do hope I can soon send another remittance to help.

I read your morning paper for quite a few years, and I think I'd rather miss breakfast than THE SUN. Here's to the absolute success of your fund.

A noble patriot! Greater love for her country hath no woman than this, that she send her fiance to Uncle Sam, and, having done that, does her bit in every other possible way.

After a Record. A New York, Miss Mae King and all her authority at the Palais Royal are putting in every spare minute in preparation for the great Sun Tobacco Fund. The celebration there a week from Friday. This is the open season for record hunting, and the Palais Royal crowd is out after big game. It proposes to put on an entertainment which will long be remembered with delight by everybody who attends.

After due attendance at divine service at Sunday there will be just time to nibble a bit of lunch and then ho! to the playhouse to see and hear "Good by Hull," which is to have its first and next to last performance on that date and at that place. This is an original comedy of camp life written and lyrics by Richard Fechner of this city, now with Section 89 of the Ambulance Service.

The composer is a former New Yorker, William Kerol of Section 81, U. S. A. S. Lieut. Adolph Menjou, formerly leading man with Marguerite Opera, is putting the piece on for its first appearances, Sunday afternoon and night.

"The driver drivers" have been informed that they are to embark for "over here" at an early date, so this is likely to be the final appearance of the amateurs from the Allentown Ambulance Corps. Forty-eight of them made up the cast. The smoke fund will receive a part of the proceeds.

Many Interested in Recital. Inquiries are already coming in regarding the sale of tickets for the Allentown recital, which Leopold Godowsky is generously giving to THE SUN Tobacco Fund at Aeolian Hall the evening of March 21. This recital with all its incidents is under the direction of the recital manager, Harold S. Jones of Aeolian Hall, and inquiries for tickets should be made to them or at the box office. The use of Aeolian Hall also is a result of the American war effort, as a consequence of this war effort the fund should benefit largely.

Godowsky's success on his Canadian tour, but completed, was phenomenal. In spite of bad weather conditions when he played the hall was sold out, and arrangements are on the way for return engagements at each central point. The success of his performance in the program used to describe a revelation when the Vancouver Sun comes this:

"There have been giants of the keyboard—Liszt, Rubinstein, Tausig—but it is difficult to imagine any more perfect mastery of the instrument than Leopold Godowsky displays."

Miss Lillian H. Prisk, mother of National Flag Day and president-general of the Liberty Legion for World Democracy, is continuing her voluntary but not-for-profit work for the soldiers. She has just received the address at the Jubilee celebration of Atlas Lodge No. 30, Knights of Pythias, in Pythian Hall, Madison avenue and 125th street, Tuesday night, and collected $16.70 for the fund. Last night she was a speaker at a Marine banquet in the Hotel Abernethy and tonight she will speak again in Pythian Hall.

The loyal thirty composing the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company Round Table have sent in their March contribution.

Edward O. Gros of Waterbury, Conn., writes: "I enclose check for the soldiers Over There. I will smoke a pipe for awhile and then send some cigar money."

Henry Bacon, another of the faithful repeaters, registers with a $10 contribution, and five more patriotic residents of Ansonia, Conn., send a dollar each.

By the way, do you bear the soldiers in mind when you purchase smokes for yourself? What do you do with the coupons and certificates you receive in the United and Schulte cigar stores? Do you hoard them up in order to obtain premiums to add to the luxuries which you are enjoying in spite of the war or do you place them in THE SUN fund contribution boxes in these stores that the soldiers may have more smokes? Which, you, is the manlier, the more patriotic thing to do?

JURY GETS HUPP CASE TO-DAY. Allentown Testify He Was Insane When He Killed Joyce.

CLEVELAND, March 6.—The testimony in the trial of Elmer Hupp, wealthy oil promoter, was concluded late to-day and Judge Kennedy announced the case will go to the jury at 3 P. M. to-morrow.

Three allentown testified that Hupp was "mentally unsound" when he shot and killed Charles L. Joyce on the night of January 10. County Prosecutor Doerflinger introduced a letter written by Hupp to his wife almost a year ago in which he told her that he "was through with her," and that "you can go on all the 'stew parties you want to'."

It was also brought out during the cross-examination that Hupp had given his wife nearly $150,000 a few months before he found Joyce with Mrs. Hupp in her bedroom, the discovery of which, Hupp contends, caused him to become "crazed."

Attorneys representing the parents of Charles L. Joyce announced to-day they would file suit for $100,000 punitive damages against Hupp immediately after the jury rendered its verdict. J. P. Mooney, of counsel for the parents, said the petition will reveal "the real story of how Joyce was killed."

DAYLIGHT SAVING BLOCKED. Finance Corporation Bill to Have Right of Way in House.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—Consideration of the daylight saving bill was again blocked to-day when Representative Madden (Ill.) objected to the request of Chairman Sims of the Interstate Commerce Committee that the measure be taken up after the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill. Mr. Madden insisted the war finance corporation measure which will be reported to-morrow was more urgent and should have the right of way.

The hour bill provides that clocks be turned back an hour on March 30 and set ahead again on October 20. The Senate measure, fostered by Senator Calder (N. Y.), provides that the period should be from May 1 to October 1.

U. S. Captain Dead; Woman Sought. BALTIMORE, Md., March 6.—The police are hunting for the woman who was with the man found dead in his room at a local hotel and with whom he had registered as "A. Hamilton and wife." She disappeared about two hours before the discovery of the body.

The body was identified as that of Capt. Alexander Hamilton Innes, attached to the artillery school at Fortress Monroe. He was unmarried and formerly was a policeman at Frankfurt, Ky.

ATTORNEY SEEKING TO SAVE PHILLIPS

Russell to Ask Habeas Corpus to Keep Draft Dodger From Camp.

NO ORDER YET RECEIVED

Provost Marshal General Forced Youth Into Service in Another Case.

Winter Russell, attorney for Charles Francis Phillips, sometimes called "the artful draft dodger," spent most of yesterday at Camp Upton, from which his client recently was discharged as a person unfit for military service. The lawyer's visit presumably was for the purpose of gathering evidence to be used in his threatened fight to prevent the pacifist's reinduction into the National Army.

An anonymous letter written to the Provost Marshal General's office stated the investigation of this particular draft case early in December. It was found that the young man's number had been drawn, but that no attempt had been made to draft him into the service.

The board which he was serving as a clerk pleaded that he was indispensable, but the Provost Marshal General's office ordered that he be sent to camp immediately. Six weeks passed without any attempt on the part of the board to comply with the order and Washington became impatient. Thereupon the local board obtained a soft berth for the clerk in the supply department at Washington by representing that he was not physically fit for active military duty.

When the Provost Marshal General's office learned what the local board had done it had the young man brought back from Washington and saw to it that he was sent to Camp Upton without further delay.

Tells of More Slackers.

"ONK OF YOUTH, CAMP UPTON." In spite of the efforts of the Provost Marshal General's office to have Phillips returned to Camp Upton, Martin Conboy, draft director for this city, is still indifferent about the outcome of the case. He thinks the youth's return to Camp Upton would do more harm than good.

"Personally I believe that he is not worth all the interest and trouble he has stirred up," said Mr. Conboy. "He is in exactly the same position as the man who shoots off two fingers so as to evade the draft. Such a man commits a crime by maiming himself physically. Phillips has maimed himself morally so as to avoid doing his duty. A good stiff prison sentence is what would fix him up. Such men aren't wanted in the army."

Mr. Conboy explained that Phillips' local draft board, No. 129, in the Museum of Natural History, probably would be the first to receive orders from Washington about the conscript's case.

LANSING RECALLS PACIFIST.

Allison. "Conscientious Objector," Not to Join Berne Legation.

Special Dispatch to THE SUN.

BOSTON, March 6.—Because of pacifist letters written to Secretary of War Baker and other pacifist activities, Brent Dow Allison of Chicago, student at Harvard up to last year, who was on his way to Berne, Switzerland, as a member of the American legation, has been recalled by wireless and ordered to report to the draft exemption board in his district.

Allison's pacifist views were well known. In his letter to Baker he explained why he was a "conscientious objector." Announcement of his appointment to the legation came a week ago, and three days later it was learned he was on the way. Secretary Lansing, apprised of the facts, had him recalled.

Louis Vuitton Trunks From Paris

Three new shipments arrive at Wanamaker's—sole agent in New York.

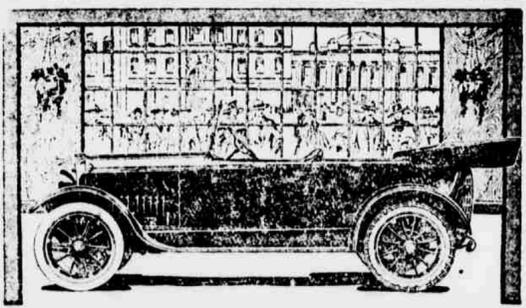

A world traveler recently returned from abroad with five trunks—three were different American makes; two were Louis Vuitton's. He had returned safely himself, but the trunks met with a mishap. At some unknown stage of the journey the three American trunks had been pried open and the most valuable portions of their contents taken. The same was attempted with the two VUITTON trunks. But the locks would not give way. It was evident that an attempt had also been made to cut in and around the locks, so as to remove them completely. After breaking them proved futile. But interlocking material between the inner and outer covering of the trunks intervened. So the VUITTON trunks could not be opened by force and their contents remained intact.

So proud is Louis Vuitton of his workmanship that his name is on every rivet. These are clinched on the inside—they are not simply brass headed tacks. His monogram is even traced all over the outside of the trunk. It is impossible not to recognize a Vuitton at first sight. These new shipments comprise every kind of VUITTON trunk made—the
