

MARSHALL INSOLUBLE ROUSES WISCONSIN

Republicans Are Rallying to Lenroot After Attack in Vice-President's Speech.

FIGHT FIRE WITH FIRE

Revulsion and Protest Mark Campaign—La Follette May Turn to G. O. P. Choice.

SPECIAL DESPATCH TO THE SUN. MILWAUKEE, March 30.—The change in tactics by the Republican campaign managers in the Senatorial fight by combating "fire with fire" is bringing good results and rolling up a large vote for Representative Irvine L. Lenroot, the Republican candidate, according to advices received to-day at the Republican headquarters in this city from the central and western portions of the State.

These were to answer Democratic attacks with attacks against the Democratic administration and not to stop even if President Wilson were included. The decision to wage this kind of a campaign, submerging the issue of loyalty which was the pre-primary key note and also early in the campaign now in progress, was reached after the importation of the Democratic speakers who openly challenged the Republican party and the war record of Representative Lenroot, asserting that he had changed his attitude on several important measures.

In turn Mr. Lenroot has pointed to the changes in the attitude of President Wilson, not once but several times since before the United States entered the war. These changes, he said, naturally would say, if the President has the right to change his opinion on vital questions affecting the war, the same right obtains for the candidate for the United States Senate, even though his politics are Republican, and he has been rated as a supporter of the Administration. This attitude it wanted pushed through the House.

Victors of State All Striver. In fact the Republican voters in the State, including the majority of supporters and even some of the La Follette-Thompson crowd, are aroused by the charges of the Democratic speakers, especially Vice-President Marshall, who asserted that Wisconsin is under the grip of a Republican party. This charge, more than anything else on the Democratic side, has stirred the Republican voters. La Follette in behalf of Lenroot is being considered possible no answer are the voters. A change to the support of Representative Lenroot by La Follette would not be a long jump in view of the progressive measures advocated by Mr. Lenroot, both as a member of the State Legislature and as a member of the House.

E. Davies, the Democratic Administration candidate, will not receive as many votes as he did in the primary.

More Than 1,000 Tons Given for Belgians and French Refugees.

STILL COMING IN FAST

Receiving Stations to Stay Open to Handle Delayed Contributions.

The Red Cross drive to raise 5,000 tons of clothing for the destitute of Belgium and northern France ended successfully last night with more than the quota assigned New York city in eight consignments was so great in local and at Red Cross receiving centers, however, that no exact estimate of the amount on hand could be made by Joseph M. Price, chairman of the committee in charge.

Mr. Price announced that the receiving center at 4 West Fifty-seventh street would be open until Wednesday, and that campaign headquarters, 24 West Fifty-ninth street, would remain open indefinitely to accept delayed contributions. The meaning, it is known definitely that a thousand tons of wearing apparel have reached the Belgian warehouse from this city alone.

Laundries Still Collecting. Vans bringing goods in addition to this thousand tons kept arriving all day at the warehouse of the Commission for Relief in Belgium, 557 Broadway, and laundry loads of Red Cross vans 800 bundles weighing 16,000 pounds, and still another laundry, after sending down town more than fifty bundles, returned to the warehouse. Customers, announced it had not begun to collect nearly all of the contributions it had been asked to accept for delivery.

Some Bay New Garments. "The drive has been a success," he said, "and we have more than raised our quota of 2,700 tons assigned to the Atlantic division of the Red Cross. One aspect of the drive, however, has been most impressive. People have given us their best, their worst, or old clothes. This fact has amazed me. Furthermore, people who had not clothes to spare have gone to the stores and bought them."

It is a great honor to be called upon to represent the State in the Senate. I pledge myself to the single purpose of working and voting to the best interests of the State as a whole, and that we use our great wealth and our gigantic man power to the most practical manner."

LENROOT'S VOTE ASSAILED

Republicans' Loyalty Is Questioned by Davies.

ASHLAND, Wis., March 30.—"My Republican opponent says he has nothing to regret in his vote on the McLenroe resolution," declared Joseph E. Davies in a speech here to-night. "The fact that the voice of America was heard no more patriotically or boldly than through the great Republican leaders. Can it be that the Republicans of Wisconsin can now swallow the kind of loyalty shown by these few men who even yet insist that they would again vote against their country if the opportunity afforded them?"

POLICE SWOOP ON BROADWAY OGLERS

Arrest Nine for Loitering in Times Square.

IT WAS A CLOSE SHAVE

For a Time It Looked as if Socialist Oratory Had Won the Chief Freak.

Because of numerous letters received by judgment, some of whom assert that they have been caged by men lining the sidewalks in the vicinity of Broadway and Forty-second street, Dominic Henry, president of the Fourth Precinct Police District, yesterday afternoon sent half dozen plain clothes men with instructions to make arrests if they found conditions warranted such action. Captain Henry's forty-seventh precinct station had reported that the uniformed men were powerless to cope with the situation.

The detectives mingled with the crowds for a time and then singled out nine persons, who were bundled into a patrol wagon and taken to the West Forty-seventh precinct station, charged with loitering, obstructing traffic and interfering with pedestrians. All denounced their arrest as an outrage and the plain clothes men had merely been waiting for friends of the party who had simply paused for a moment. Notwithstanding their protestations all were held.

THE PRISONERS described themselves as Barney Darling, 47 years old, a manufacturer of 133 Manhattan avenue; Louis Karker, 29, theatrical business, 404 Fourth street; William Vernon, 24, 245 Seventh avenue; John E. Lefcort, 43, a produce merchant, Remington Hotel, 221 East 175th street; Ely Mendelson, 27, newsdealer, 565 West 144th street; Isaac Rogers, 31, an actor, Albee Hotel, 107 West 14th street; Robert Thorne, 35, 515 Fifth street; and William Hassan, 45, actor, 401 West Forty-second street. The arrests caused such a crowd to collect that the police were had to be called to clear the sidewalks.

THRONGS ATTEND SHERIDAN FUNERAL. Famous Athlete and Policeman Buried at Calvary Cemetery.

Funeral services for the late Martin Sheridan, famous athlete and policeman, were held yesterday afternoon in the Church of St. Vincent Ferrer, Sixty-seventh street and Lexington avenue, and though the church is a large one it was barely large enough to hold the throngs of mourners who gathered to pay their last tribute to the hero of many a hard fought battle.

ZIP SPOILS PARADE WHEN CLOCK JUMPS

Rather Than Lose Him Circus Magnates Call Off the Procession.

IT WAS A CLOSE SHAVE

For a Time It Looked as if Socialist Oratory Had Won the Chief Freak.

The shades of night were falling fast, on the far side of the Palisades the sun had flung his last lance athwart the reaches of the placid Hackensack, and in the Square beneath there was peace, deep peace. It was then that the Muzenbachs, leaning from the topmost balcony of Stanford White's tower and projecting his voice over to Cyril's place, where Clarence—unmarried, of neat appearance, close mixer and good entertainer—was reciting the final details of the closing episode of the ultimate chapter of that lurid autobiography in which the last sheets are still but corrected for the press, the Muzenbachs summoned his trusty counselors, Harry Statton and Jay Hill, and all business and enquirer being laid aside, they came to him rapidly.

to him in gusto and aplomb that the feature in the daylight saving celebration which was to consist of the artists and elephants from the Greatest Show had been called off because of the feeling that it smacked of the profane pagan times before the Christian era, and hence would not fit perfectly into the scheme of an Easter morning show. Wherefore the artists and elephants, and Harry and Harriet would not gaze. Let the saloons do their worst and close. And with Zip springing lightly from the sofa had his man peel off his calling card and supplant it with a card of bullock's wool. ADDITIONS NEEDED TO N. Y. UNIVERSITY

War Increases Demands, Says Dr. Brown, Chancellor, in His Annual Report.

YEAR'S DEFICIT IS $45,562

Institution Gave 987 Men to Nation's Service, Including 69 of Faculty.

Enlarged facilities at New York University to meet the needs of war and its after effects are planned in the annual report of Dr. Elmer F. Brown, made public yesterday.

THE CHANCELLOR says that a building for the school of applied sciences is needed and will cost $350,000, with $150,000 additional for equipment and $500,000 as an endowment. The distribution of government and public affairs requires $200,000 as an endowment for its development. This $200,000 has been given conditionally by Jacob H. Schiff. Related to this division is a proposed new department of international affairs.

Expenses Increase Steadily. "The financial cost of the university must give us grave concern. The falling off in attendance represents a loss of income. In most of the departments the shrinkage is not great enough as yet to warrant any reduction in the staff of instruction. The organization of our classes is accordingly being maintained with little modification and at a considerable financial loss.

First Line in Democracy. "Then follows the second requirement, that universities shall have a direct line agency in the realization of democracy. The second part of this programme will not wait for the completion of the first."

ALIEN ENEMY LAW SNATCHES WAITERS

Four Germans Disturbed While Counting Summer Profits at Long Beach.

INTERMENT FOR ONE

Quartet Forgot to Announce Change of Address to the Seashore.

Just as the Hotel Nassau at Long Beach, Long Island, was preparing to meet the spring drive of excursionists it suffered a sad blow. Investigators connected with the staff of William Wallace, Jr., head of the New York Port, Allen Enemy Bureau, launched a masked attack upon the place, taking away with them four waiters as prisoners of war.

Several deserted tables looked as sad as the sad sea waves when the kitchen waiters were marched to Mr. Wallace's office in New York, there to be confronted by Capt. Roger B. Hull of the Alien Enemy Bureau.

There was much explaining and protesting, and there were a few tears as salty as the waves which disport themselves before the Hotel Nassau when the guests are seated upon its broad verandas, and also when they are not. There were excuses made as the men which stretch out from that hostelry to the distant horizon.

One Ordered Interned. Karl Werth, one of the quartet, who gave his city address as 102 West Sixty-first street, was ordered interned, for he had not registered with the police, as all alien enemies are required to do, and when questioned he had forgotten his name several times and had occasioned employment of aliases on various occasions. Werth said he had been most ashamed of his German birth and had therefore tried to conceal it, which statement may impair his social standing in the Port Oglethorpe internment camp if his fellow countrymen down there read this article.

Violent Alien in Jail. Mr. Wallace last night approved the incarceration in the Tombs of an Austrian named John N. Bruder, who had been arrested at a Von Hindenburg attack upon three policemen near the Crown Aqueduct in Yonkers. Bruder, it was charged, fastened his teeth in the trousers of one of the officers, who had been going about with the eye of another.
