

NEWPORT VILLAS OPEN; LITTLE SOCIAL GAYETY EXPECTED

Navy Music Festival Last of the Great War Relief Entertainments in Town—Several Weddings of Note Next Saturday—Society's Plans for the Summer.

SOCIETY'S ranks are fast thinning out, so far as the city is concerned, and each day finds more houses with blinds drawn and doors boarded up. Those who do remain in their homes are dispensing with everything in the way of entertainments, as no one seems to be in the mood for anything but the simplest life.

There are no weddings in town to look forward to, and the nuptial events for which preparations have been made in advance will with few exceptions take place at a distance from New York. There will be several of note on Saturday of this week.

There is no cessation in the work in behalf of the men in the service, and particularly of those in need of attention and aid such as can be given through the various organizations of the Red Cross. Recently two great places on Long Island have been offered to the Red Cross—Harbor Hill, the estate of Clarence H. Mackay in Roslyn, and Idle Hour, William K. Vanderbilt's country place in Ogdensburg. Mr. Mackay's place is one of the highest points of Long Island, with many outbuildings and gardens that should prove of great help to convalescents. Mr. Vanderbilt's place is more extensive, comprising several thousand acres through which Great River flows. When they are needed other places are sure to be offered for the welfare of our returning invalids from the seat of war.

The last of the large entertainments for war relief in town, the United States Navy Music Festival, will be held to-morrow evening at the Metropolitan Opera House. It has enlisted the cooperation of women prominent in the social world, who have been aiding Mrs. Alda, who is responsible for the artistic side of the undertaking. Mrs. Edward T. Stetebury of Philadelphia, who has already done much for the navy, has been greatly interested in the enterprise.

The musical part of the evening will enlist most of the available artists of the Metropolitan Opera and the vocal numbers or at least some of them will be given on a double scale.

A tableau vivant symbolical of the Spirit of the Navy has been arranged by Ben Al Haggin, and all in all it will be garbed in gray to give the effect of plastic clay. Among those who have promised to pose are Mrs. George P. Baker, Jr., Mrs. J. Philip Benford, Mrs. Oliver Harriman, Mrs. Felix Doubleday, Mrs. Walter Brooks, Jr., Miss Susan Fish Dwyer, Mrs. Allen G. Wellman, Mrs. Cornelius H. Tammen, Mrs. Charles De Rham, Jr., Mrs. Sidney W. Fish, Mrs. Herbert Shipman, Mrs. Lydig Hoyt, Mrs. Charles A. Munn, Mrs. Charles De Lousey Oelrichs, Mrs. Louis G. Kaufmann, Mrs. Alexander D. Pratt, Mrs. W. Beverley Rogers, Mrs. Augustus Kunitze, Mrs. Marshall Russell and Mrs. Oliver Perrin.

The list of patronesses includes Mrs. Charles B. Alexander, Frederic Nelson, Edson Bradley, William D. Sloan, Edmund L. Baylies, Nicholas Murray Butler, Alfred E. Norris, M. Lawrence Keene, James W. Gerard, Thomas F. Ryan, Henry Fairfield Osborn, Herman Duryea, W. Adams DeBono, Newbold Le Roy Edgar, Ogden Goelet, Stuyvesant Fish, Jr., Andrew Carnegie, Paul D. Cravath, Charles A. Childs, James B. Hargis, Adrian Iselin, William P. Douglas, Adolf Ladenburg, Charles H. Marshall, F. Burke Roche, Preston P. Satterthwaite, Frederick Pearson, Theodore Roosevelt, Henry Seligman, L. Cass Ledyard, Benjamin Guinness, William R. Hearst, E. Reeve Merritt, James Lowell Putnam, W. Lewis Rice, Ernest Inelin, William Salomon, Thomas W. Lamont, Charles M. Schwab, Sherman Flint, DeLancey Kunitze, John H. McCullough, J. Pierpont Morgan, William Diston, Charles Mather MacNeill, Francis K. Pendleton, J. West Roosevelt, Hermann Oelrichs, James Speyer, Whitney Warren, E. French Vanderbilt, Richard T. Wilson, Harry Payne Whitney, Cornelius Vanderbilt and Bayard Van Rensselaer.

Judging from the sale of boxes and seats, the opera house will take on the appearance of full season, something not before heard of in the month of June.

Newport villas are opening by degrees. From all accounts the season will be but moderately active so far as social pleasures are concerned, but there will be plenty of occupation for those who are giving their time to war relief.

Mr. and Mrs. Pembroke Jones have given their villa Sherwood in Bellevue avenue and for part of the summer their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John Russell Pope, will be there. Mrs. James Abercrombie Burden has arrived at the Morrell villa at Ochre Point. James J. Van Alen is expected to join Mr. and Mrs. J. Laurens Van Alen early this week.

Mrs. Howard Carroll and Miss Carroll are at Carroll Hill in Tarrytown.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Murray Young will go to Fairport this week. Miss Edith Bowdoin is already there. Mrs. Henry B. Hyde is at Saratoga Springs, where she will remain until the latter part of September. Mr. and Mrs. Clifford V. Brokaw went last week to the Elms in Glen Cove. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Moulton are in East Islip, L. I.

Mr. and Mrs. George S. Graham and their daughter, Mrs. Graham Williams, left yesterday for Lochgreane, their country place in Islip. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Godwin and Miss Frances Godwin are at Gray House in Lenox. Mrs. Francis C. Barlow is at the Curtis Hotel. Mr. and Mrs. Wilber A. Bloodgood and Miss Rosalie Bloodgood, Miss Adeline Miller and her brother, E. Clarence Moller, are among those at Briarcliffe Manor for the early summer.

Mrs. George Bird, who is now at Tuxedo Park, will go to the White Sulphur Springs for part of the summer. Mrs. Henry W. Taft expects to be there for the entire summer.

Mrs. Robert M. Thompson came from Washington, D. C., a few days ago and will be at the St. Regis before joining her daughter, Mrs. Stephen H. P. Pell, at the Pavilion, her country place in Port Ticonderoga. Later on Col. Thompson will join them and in August they will all go to Southampton, L. I.

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Russell and Mrs. Gardner Brown will be for part of the summer at the White Sulphur Springs, as will Mr. and Mrs. W. Willoughby Sharp.

The first of a series of afternoon musicales by the New York Chamber Music Society was given on Friday afternoon at Indian Harbor, the summer home of Mrs. Robert A. Edson. Mrs. Cornelius Benedict, his daughter, Mrs. Clifford B. Harmon, acting as hostess. The next of the series will take place at Loneoak, in Greenwich, the home of Mrs. Seymour J. Hyde, on Friday.

Among the patronesses are Mrs. E. C. Smith, Mrs. Frank L. Hastings, Mrs. Robert F. Adams, Mrs. Winchester Fitch, Mrs. William H. Day, Mrs. George C. Claussen, Mrs. Francis Kiesel, Mrs. William C. Rockefeller, Mrs. Edward C. Conover, Mrs. Edmund C. Conover, Mrs. M. M. Edwards, Mrs. Nicholas P. Palmer, Mrs. Hugh J. Chisholm, Mrs. Howard W. The musicale on June 21 will be given at Hillbrook, the country home of Mr. and Mrs. Winchester Fitch, and the last which will take place on June 28 at Miralra, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. C. Smith's villa at Field Point Park.

Invitations have been received in this city for the marriage of Miss Marie Louise Finch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Finch, to William Robert Parsons, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Parsons of New York, which will take place on the afternoon of June 22 in Grace Episcopal Church, Plainfield, N. J. A reception will be held at Graystone, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Finch, near Plainfield.

One of the recent weddings hurried by the war was that of Miss Marion Townsend, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Allen Townsend, to Lieutenant Spencer Owens Shottler, Aviation Corps, U. S. A., which took place on June 1 in the chantry of St. Thomas's Church. There were simple decorations of palms and Southern smilax and the altar were placed vases of Ascension lilies. The Rev. Floyd S. Leach, vicar of St. Thomas's, performed the marriage ceremony in the presence of a limited number of relatives and intimate friends.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a gown of soft white satin made with a square cut court train, which was embellished with clusters of orange blossoms. The skirt was rather short and was draped with tulle, and the bodice was finished with old point lace. Her veil of point applique and rose point lace had been worn by her grandmother, Mrs. Dexter A. Hawkins, at her own wedding, and by other brides in the family. She wore a necklace of pearls with a pendant of pearls and diamonds.

The bridal attendants were Mrs. Robert C. Winmill and Mrs. E. Tunnicliff Fox, sisters of the bride; Mrs. Rodney Williams and Miss Katherine Black. They all wore costumes of pale pink tulle over white ruffled organdy, having fichus of white organdy dotted with small pink roses. Their hats of white organdy were trimmed with Natter blue ribbon and pink flowers, and they carried bouquets of larkspur and pink snapdragon. Little Viola Winmill, a niece of the bride, wearing a frock of rose colored organdy and carrying a lagoon hat of flowers, acted as flower girl.

Robert C. Winmill was best man. The ushers were Lieut. R. W. Searle, Aviation Corps; Lieut. Robert St. B. Boyd, 303d Field Artillery; Lieut. Howard C. McDuffie, 304th Infantry; Ensign Edmund E. Twining, Jr., Naval Aviation Corps, and Philander L. Cable of Rock Island, Ill., now in the diplomatic service in Washington. A reception and wedding breakfast followed at the home of the bride's parents, 237 Madison avenue.

Lieut. Shottler is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Spencer P. Shottler of Savannah, Ga., and New York, whose country place, Shadowbrook, Lenox, Mass., was purchased two years ago by Andrew Carnegie. After attending school at St. Paul's and studying in Switzerland he was graduated from Harvard in 1914. He and his bride have gone to Camp Dick, Dallas, Tex., where he is at present stationed.

Among the weddings last week was that of Miss Annie Gilbert, daughter of Mrs. Riley Miles Gilbert, to Donald Foxwell, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Cammann of this city, which took place on Tuesday afternoon at the home of her mother, 563 Park avenue. The marriage ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Ernest M. Stires, rector of St. Thomas's Church, under a bower of palms, pink hydrangeas and Ophelia roses. The wedding was best man. The ushers were Lieut. Norman Hickman, William S. Fairchild, Charles Cannon and Ensign George Watts, U. S. N. R. A reception followed the ceremony.

Mr. Cammann has taken a house at Lawrence, L. I., where he and his bride will go for the summer on returning from their wedding trip. Mr. Cammann is a granddaughter of the late David Terry Williams of Richmond, Va.

Coming about a week after the announcement of their engagement, the marriage of Miss Betty Carson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Moore Carson of 149 East Thirty-seventh street, to Lieut. Charles McGehee Tyson, U. S. N. R., was quietly celebrated on June 1 in St. Philip's Church-in-the-Highlands, Garrison, N. Y. The Rev. Theodore Sedwick, assisted by the Rev. Dr. E. Clowes Chorley, performed the marriage ceremony. A reception followed at the Cottage, the country home of the bride's parents near Garrison. Lieut. Tyson is a son of Brig-Gen. John Tyson, U. S. A., and Mrs. Tyson of Knoxville, Tenn. He was graduated from Princeton in 1912 and is in the Aviation Corps of the Naval Reserve.

In the Rosemary Chapel, Greenwich Conn., on the afternoon of June 1, Miss Mary Miner, daughter of the late Worthington C. Miner and Mrs. Henry L. Cammann of this city and Greenwich, was married to Ensign William H. Adams, U. S. N. son of Mr. and Mrs. Elbridge L. Adams of New York, by the Rev. M. George Thompson.

The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. William C. Browning of Norfolk, Va.; Miss Emily B. Adams, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Margaret Smith, Ensign Cyril Jones, U. S. N., was best man. The ushers were William C. Browning, Elbridge L. Adams 2d and Ensign James E. Irvine, U. S. N. Following a reception at the Fairfield House, Greenwich, Ensign and Mrs. Adams started on an automobile trip through New England. He is now stationed at Nantucket, Mass.

Another out of town wedding on June 1 of interest here was that of Miss Katherine S. Laughlin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Laughlin,
