

TRAVIS IS PUT OFF PRIMARY BALLOT

Justice Cropsey Declares Comptroller's Petition for Renomination Is Void.

APPEAL TO BE TAKEN

Final Decision Must Be Made Friday or Name Will Not Be Printed.

Upholding the contention of John Kiesel that of the 60,000 names on the petition designating Comptroller Eugene M. Travis as a candidate for the Republican nomination to succeed himself, less than the required 3,000 were attested in accordance with the provisions of the law...

Whitman Petition Safe. Attorney-General Lewis, representing the Secretary of State, will argue for the retention of the petition through Deputy Attorney-General Becker.

The Travis and Fraser petitions were prepared in the same way that other petitions have been prepared since the direct primary law went into effect...

The election law provides that a signature to a petition in order to be valid must be authenticated in one of two ways. Either it must be acknowledged by a notary public or it must be witnessed.

Lawyers Question Decision. Lawyers who discussed the decision of Justice Cropsey last night said that while it is a primary by which the signatures must be verified by notaries...

Attorney-General Lewis yesterday called upon Gov. Whitman to publish a list of the appointments made by him since May 15, the day the Attorney-General announced his entrance into the primaries...

"I make no charge of the improper use of public funds," said Mr. Lewis, "or the use of public funds for partisan purposes. I have, however, the names of several of these employes appointed and am led to believe there is some ground for the charges which have been made to me."

"I announced my candidacy about the middle of May. My information is that since the date of the announcement of my candidacy a great number of appointments has been made by Gov. Whitman in various departments of the government. Some of these appointments, it is told, are of men whose salaries are being paid from appropriations made for war defense purposes. It has also been stated to me that the appointments were made either by the Governor or by his direction for the purpose of aiding him in his efforts to secure a nomination for a third term."

"The statement that I voted in favor of the McLennan resolution is unparliamentary," he asserted. "Yesterday there were three votes in connection with this proposition and though pressure was brought to bear upon me by the Democrats to favor my State and hundreds of voters in Queens not to support the President's view, I voted with the President all three times, preferring defeat for office to surrender of my country's rights."

"He (Mr. Fowler) is also credited with the statement that I opposed the draft. This is a lie. I asserted yesterday that I only did I vote for all the draft bills reported in the Sixty-fifth Congress, but in the Sixty-fourth Congress I was a member of the Military Affairs Committee and assisted in the passage of the Hay bill, which was the first law ever passed in a legislative body in the world in time of peace carrying a draft provision that I know of."

Representative Caldwell declared he was willing to give his entire record one into with the greatest care.

New 21 Year Class Men Must Register Aug. 24

ALL male persons who have reached their twenty-first birthday since June 5, 1918, and on or before August 24, 1918, must register on August 24, 1918.

KEATING OPPOSES WOMEN IN QUEENS

Connolly's Rival Objects to Joint Committees.

Arthur E. Keating, Democrat, and leader of the opposition to Maurice E. Connolly, Borough President of Queens, is now a candidate for the Supreme Court bench, has asked Supreme Court Justice Laszansky in Brooklyn to throw out as invalid the petitions designating a man and woman for county commissioner in every election district in Queens. He insists that the laws of the Democratic County Committee of Queens allow the selection of only one committee member in every election district. An amendment made recently to the laws allowing an increase is void.

Richard S. Newcombe, counsel for the Democratic organization, in opposition, described the move as a distinct drive to embarrass the majority of the Democratic party in Queens and asserted that if successful would mean the Democratic organization's attempt to give recognition to women voters would get a setback. Previously, a man has been chosen in each election district. In the coming primaries, the committee chose a man and a woman in each district. Justice Laszansky reserved decision.

Keating is also attacking the validity of the designation of one State committee member in each of the six Assembly districts.

EDWARD SCHOENECK DISAVOWS TOLISHUS

Lieut.-Governor's Campaign Committee Says Secret Service Urged His Retention.

Special Dispatch to The Sun. STRONG, Aug. 20.—Edward Schoeneck washed his hands of any connection with John A. Tolishus, the law clerk indicted by a Federal Grand Jury on a charge of sedition several weeks ago when he was an employee of the law firm of Bond & Schoeneck, in which the Lieut.-Governor is a partner.

In pamphlet form the committee which is directing the Lieut.-Governor's campaign for renomination issued a statement which had for its feature the declaration that Tolishus was retained in his employment in the Schoeneck offices at the request of the United States Secret Service.

The request was made by the Federal agents, the pamphlet asserted, after it had been reported that Tolishus was associating with a suspicious person, and was compiled with so that the secret service operators might pursue their investigations of Tolishus' alleged conduct without him becoming aware he was being watched. The statement said: "In January a rumor reached Mr. Bond that Tolishus had been found talking to a person who had been under suspicion. Immediately Mr. Bond reported the matter to the chief of the local branch of the secret service, asking advice. Mr. Bond was advised to retain Tolishus in the office under surveillance, and Mr. King, a junior partner of the firm, was asked to investigate and watch Tolishus for any suspicious conduct."

The statement shows that Tolishus was a friend of Mr. Bond, in whose law office he had studied at Syracuse University, and that it was Mr. Bond who had him taken into the law office as a clerk.

Honors Paid to Newark Detective. The funeral of Thomas S. Adobato, the Newark detective who was shot and killed while making a capture, New York Saturday, was attended yesterday by four lieutenants of the New York Police Department—Richard Oliver, Thomas Dowling, Anthony Gunther and Frank Mondo. Their presence was a special mark of respect to the bravery of the detective. The services were held at St. Lucy's Roman Catholic church, Sheffield street, Newark. The Rev. Thomas J. Martin, a Newark police chaplain, delivered the eulogy.

DRAFT MAY PASS HOUSE TO-MORROW

March's Words Dissipate All Opposition to 18-45 Man Power Bill.

OLDER ONES TO GO FIRST

Classification of Married Men Scored—Labor Protests Anti-Strike Clause.

Special Dispatch to The Sun. WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—The House Military Committee will report the Administration man power bill to-morrow, and unless present plans miscarry the measure will be taken up Thursday in the House and passed that day. Chairman Dent is authority for the statement that despite delays which have been charged to the House in its treatment of the bill to extend the draft ages to 18-45 years, it now appears probable the House will pass the bill before the Senate. The Senate begins consideration of the bill Thursday.

Rumors that members of the House Committee who are regarded as pacifists and anti-conscriptionists, such as Representative Gordon (Ohio), would make a fight against the measure were dissipated to-day. The testimony of Mr. March yesterday convinced the entire committee of the absolute need for the bill. He said that he must have worked to get his war contracts. Then here and there an employer, closing his eyes to the increased cost of living, having a thought for increased profits, refused to contribute sufficient wages for a fair living standard. Low wages and poor working conditions became unbearable and the workers went on strike. The measure would be adjusted by the machinery of the Labor Department.

Revised official estimates of the number of men who will be obtained from the registration of men who have become 21 years old since June 5 last, which will be held next Saturday, indicate that 128,011 men will register. New York will contribute to the greatest extent, as 14,932 registrations are expected there. New Jersey is expected to register 4,416 and Connecticut 2,228.

N. Y. READY TO SEND 25,000 MORE TO CAMPS

Whitman Prepares to Raise State's Quota Over 250,000.

Special Dispatch to The Sun. ALBANY, Aug. 20.—Gov. Whitman announced to-day that New York State was prepared to give immediate response to a telegram received from Gen. Crowder for the enlistment of approximately 25,000 additional New York State soldiers for the Federal Army. This will make the State's quota of drafted men now in the service over 250,000, independent of the great number of volunteer enlistments. There remain but 2,500 men eligible for call on the first class of the original draft. Of this number 500 are negroes.

Gov. Whitman said additional men will be called in the Federal service under September 3-5. Of this new quota 5,900 men are to go to Camp Jackson, Columbia, S. C.; the same number to Camp Gordon, Atlanta; 4,000 to complete the enlistment for the training camp at Syracuse; and 111 men (negroes) for Camp Upton.

WAR HITS TRAIN SERVICE

McAdoo Gives Preference to Army and Navy.

Special Dispatch to The Sun. WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—Enormous troop movements throughout the United States have created a heavy drain on passenger coach and sleeping car equipment. The result is that many complaints of bad railroad service are justified. Director-General McAdoo issued a statement to the public to-day saying that the Government would make the most of the equipment it has. "The reason of the extension of the military powers will appear to agree, but from the latter differ, for only necessity has compelled the extension of the draft age upward from thirty-one to forty-five years."

Even so, the new draft bill brings rejoicing to many hundreds of thousands, for the Government which has heretofore rejected them as unfit for army material now accepts them, and they will, perhaps, have the eagerly sought opportunity to fight for their country.

True, they also fight, we are told, who otherwise serve their country in their labors, if not directly, yet indirectly in the interests of the Government, providing the material and the sinews of war. And yet, these are but humble, though necessary, contributions to the glorious cause of right and freedom as compared with the generous contribution of the man in the trench or risking the perils of the deep.

Those who fight for their country, which is the next thing, if indeed not the same thing as fighting for their family, have always been held in history and tradition to enjoy a unique privilege, as they occupy a unique place in a country's annals.

The Harriman National Bank has erected with pride a tablet, to which additions are almost daily made, containing the names of its officers and men who have gone to the front. Their places may be occupied, but they are not filled, and their welcome upon their return will be warmer for the keeping.

All must envy them.

later influence behind the proposed amendment, which he declared was not favored by the Administration. "It is a fact that the Government is not exercising over the industrial situation," said he. "But some one is. He is hidden somewhere in the dark, engineering a movement to conscript labor. When the war was declared the workers of the nation willingly fell in line, ready to go where needed to save the country for the world and the world for democracy. It is the same democracy we are fighting for in protesting vigorously against this amendment."

"The workmen attacked by this conscription amendment did not ask for exemption. They wanted to fight. The necessities of war made it imperative that the Government should have the soldiers at the front. It was the employer, closing his eyes to the increased cost of living, having a thought for increased profits, refused to contribute sufficient wages for a fair living standard. DEPENDENTS ONLY TO EXEMPT MARRIED

Baker Reverses Stand, Possibly to Sound Out Public Opinion.

WILL DRAFT STRIKERS

Power to Do This Already Is Ample, the Secretary Points Out.

Special Dispatch to The Sun. WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—Secretary Baker reversed to-day the statement he made August 10 to the newspaper correspondents in which he said that the marriage relation probably would constitute deferred classification. "The reason for the exemption of the married man is dependency, and not the status," he said to-day.

On August 10, according to the stenographic record of Mr. Baker's interview, which appears in the Official Bulletin of the United States August 19, "were the lowest on record," according to the report of R. S. Kellogg, secretary of the News Print Service Bureau of New York, at its quarterly meeting here today. Production in Canada was slightly greater in 1918 than in 1917, Mr. Kellogg stated, but the decrease in production in the United States made the total 3 per cent. less than last year, while the total mill stock on hand July 31 was 41 per cent. less than in 1917.

Canadian Output Greater, but U. S. Falls Off, Is Report. Montreal, Que., Aug. 20.—Stocks of newsprint paper on hand at the mills in the United States August 19 "were the lowest on record," according to the report of R. S. Kellogg, secretary of the News Print Service Bureau of New York, at its quarterly meeting here today. Production in Canada was slightly greater in 1918 than in 1917, Mr. Kellogg stated, but the decrease in production in the United States made the total 3 per cent. less than last year, while the total mill stock on hand July 31 was 41 per cent. less than in 1917.

It is regarded as not unlikely that Mr. Baker may again incline toward the first view when the regulations governing the new draft are issued. It is suggested in some quarters that Mr. Baker by sounding out public opinion is obtaining information from the country which may be helpful in aiding him in reaching a final conclusion.

Provost Marshal General Crowder is busy working on these regulations now. Vital points involved may admittedly change at the eleventh hour, for the general desire is to solve the knotty and delicate problems in the fairest manner to all.

It was indicated to-day that Secretary Baker's plan to save the married man the humiliation of pleading for deferred classification by having the Government automatically place him in a deferred classification is not proving without difficulty in its practical application. The question of how the Government or the boards can classify married men unless they themselves indicate whether they are entitled to deferred classification is a matter puzzling the authorities.

Well to Do Fathers Must Go. "We wanted to arrange the regulations so as to save a married man who ought to be exempted from the humiliation of pleading for exemption by making the process as automatic as possible," Secretary Baker said to-day.

"The theory upon which we want to work this draft is that no married man whose wife and children are dependent upon the continuity of his earnings and who will not be able to live on the soldier's wages will be drafted."

"The draft will apply to those married men whose incomes are adequate to provide for their families, those whose families have independent incomes and those whose families provide for them."

"The reason of the extension of the military powers will appear to agree, but from the latter differ, for only necessity has compelled the extension of the draft age upward from thirty-one to forty-five years."

Even so, the new draft bill brings rejoicing to many hundreds of thousands, for the Government which has heretofore rejected them as unfit for army material now accepts them, and they will, perhaps, have the eagerly sought opportunity to fight for their country.

True, they also fight, we are told, who otherwise serve their country in their labors, if not directly, yet indirectly in the interests of the Government, providing the material and the sinews of war. WORMLESS WINTER TRUCKS HOW ABOUT NEW EQUIPMENT FOR FALL? Why not look at it this way? "My business will pick up right after Labor Day and I really should have more trucks. If I place my order now, allowing 30 days for bodies, my new trucks will arrive none too soon to help me out in the Fall rush. That's the way to talk! Let the other fellow be the pessimist. You stick to your guns and you will hold all your business and get a slice of his, too. Preparedness pays." Granted these ARE war times and things are upset, this is true only of some lines of business. Sales in most lines MUST increase and more raw material and merchandise will be moved in any event, due to the war stimulus. Ask any lawyer with millions at stake lines recently? If Uncle Sam keeps on buying, it's going to be hard to get good trucks soon. You just try to pick up a second-hand truck of any good make. The Winter Truck is a good truck to buy, yes, to standardize on. It's practically a factory branch, with a floor full of trucks and a real service behind it.
