

WILSON'S O. K. MAJORITY BACKFIRE IN IDAHO Voters Show Resentment Over Indorsement of Senator J. F. Nugent. SEEKS THE SHORT TERM Borah Unopposed in the Primary, Is Regarded as Sure Winner.

Special Despatch to The Sun. Boise, Idaho, Aug. 24.—Will President Wilson's indorsement of the candidacy of Senator John F. Nugent, Idaho's junior representative in the upper house of Congress, serve as a boomerang and accomplish his defeat for an office to which he otherwise might reasonably have a chance for election?

That is the question which is placed Idaho politics to a depth to which they have not been stirred in a great many years. There is no secrecy regarding the President's preference. It has been made unmistakably plain that the indorsement of the election of Mr. Nugent to the short term of two years which remain of the unexpired term of the late Senator James H. Borah.

Equally plain is it, however, that Idaho voters strongly resent what they consider unnecessary and unwarranted dictation from the White House in the selection of Senator Nugent. The indorsement of the President's preference by the State is considered generally as a rebuff to the wish which will be fulfilled in so far as Senator Borah is concerned, not so much because of the President's expressed preference but because it is fundamentally Republican and because, up to the present, he has been unopposed in the primary, no one here doubts that with the support of the Non-Partisan League, which hopes to pull the Socialist vote to the right, he will carry the election.

Senator Borah secured the position because he is recognized as the Republican leader of the State. He has been so recognized ever since he entered the Senate. But Senator Borah is stronger than that. He was elected by the silver Republicans and again with the Progressives in 1912, but in each instance he came through the party rupture with credit. He was elected by a Democrat and an ardent supporter of the national Administration, was in Boise this week, and it is an open secret that he carried with him a letter from the White House urging the re-election of Senator Borah.

Still another factor that is operating against the Senator is the ardent support of the Non-Partisan League, which claims to have 20,000 members in the State, with the expectation of swallowing the Republican vote in the coming election. The total vote of the State hardly will reach 120,000 at the coming election.

Unopposed in Primary. Senator Borah will have no opposition whatever in the Republican primary election September 3. He will have a Democratic opponent at the general election in November. He will have Frank L. Moore, Mr. Moore would make an antagonist worthy of Borah's steel if the chances were anywhere near equal. He is a citizen of the State, a member of the part of the State, a lawyer and a man who has played an important part in the public affairs. He ranks as a conservative.

There is but one contingency that could endanger the seat of Senator Borah. That would be a general upsurge in the State against the Non-Partisan League and the National League would go down in the general wreck and Mr. Moore would be elected.

For the short term Senatorship there is no hot contest for the nomination at the primary in each party but at the general election between the candidates of the two parties as well. Right from the beginning there has been a persistent effort on the part of Democrats to link the political fortunes of Senator Borah, Republican, and Senator John F. Nugent, Democrat, Mr. Nugent now is in the Senate by virtue of appointment by Gov. Alexander, a Democrat. He is up for his party nomination now for the two years that remain of the term of the late Senator J. F. Nugent. He is up for his party nomination now for the two years that remain of the term of the late Senator J. F. Nugent. He is up for his party nomination now for the two years that remain of the term of the late Senator J. F. Nugent.

two men, who played such important parts in the treaty, pitted each other now. This would be all the more certain because it is felt that the men who murdered Steubenberg were actually much the same men that now govern the U. S. and the U. S. W. has been a great menace to the State in recent years.

LEWIS RENEWS ATTACKS Attorney-General Says Rival Has No Right to Claim Monopoly on Patriotism.

Answering the charges of friends of Attorney-General Lewis that Gov. Whitman has been liberal in his use of State patronage to strengthen his hold on the Republican organization, W. W. Cocks, campaign manager for the Governor, pointed out yesterday that counties claimed by Mr. Lewis at Saratoga were those that had enjoyed the greatest amount of favor along this line.

In an open letter the Attorney-General declared that the boast of the Governor that he had done much to "help win the war" was no valid claim to a third term. He denied that the Governor had originated the State budget and charged that William S. Coffey, appointed secretary of the Industrial Commission, had been neglecting his duties in the political interest of the Governor in Westchester county.
