DIED.

FARLEY, JOHN CARDINAL: The Board of Managers of The Roman Catholic Orphan Asylum in the City of New York, at a special meeting held for that purpose on the 19th day of September, 1918.

RESOLVED: That the death of our beloved Cardinal, though a great personal bereavement to the community, this bereavement has a greater and wider significance. It is an irreparable loss not only to the Catholic Church and the country, but to Christianity itself.

He was not only a great prelate, but a true American and a model of every virtue which should adorn a good priest and a virtuous citizen. Conscious of the duty of justice, he was no less marked for gentleness, meekness and mercy.

With a mind stored with knowledge, and a heart full of generous sympathy, with a strong will able to surmount difficulties, all these were devoted to the highest and best services that a man could render to his fellow men.

As a testimonial of our loving respect, it is ordered that the members of this Board attend his funeral in a body.

gramma. D. F. Mcweeney, one of their managers, died accidentally after the concert. The two sang together for the first time using the duet from the first act of "The Bohemian Girl." They were to have sung it in February in Chicago, but Mr. McCormack's train was stalled for fifty hours in a blizzard and he failed to arrive in time.

Mr. McCormack received what amounted to a real ovation last night. After he had sung "She Is Far From the Land Where Her Boyhood Days Were Spent," he sang "The Flower Rain" and "The Lord Is My Light." By Altiten, he was forced to respond to an encore. The applause was so great that he had to finish the appealing strains of "The Long, Long Trail," which seemed to evoke responsive choruses in the hearts of his audience.

Funeral in Pleadly Pleasance. Caroline Lassar, the contralto, was well received, especially in a new song by Rudolph Gans, "A Grave in France," for which she composed the lyrics. Her accompaniment. Another new number, "When Pershing's Men Go Marching Into Pleadly," by James H. Rogers, was sung for the first time by the artist. McCormack. It seemed likely to become popular.

Five members of the regiment who had been decorated with the Croix de Guerre for their action were cheered as they took seats on the stage. The little detachment was commanded by Sergeant Bailey and included Private Charles O'Neil, O'Neil and McMan. The men leave to-day for Camp Washington, at Tacoma, Wash., where they will be on special duty, instructing new units in training.

Justice Victor J. Dowling of the Supreme Court spoke for the trustees of the fund for the relief of the 6.697th Infantry. He said that the fund was not postponed because of the death of Cardinal Farley and that the fund was not postponed because of the death of Cardinal Farley and that the fund was not postponed because of the death of Cardinal Farley.

Justice Dowling paid a tribute to the 6.697th Infantry, which he said was a great credit to the country. He said that the 6.697th Infantry was a great credit to the country and that the 6.697th Infantry was a great credit to the country.

Gen. J. Franklin Bell, commander of the 6.697th Infantry, occupied a box with his staff and Admiral Usher and Admiral Gleaves, with their staffs, were in another box. A detachment of Red Cross nurses who are leaving immediately for France shared in the applause.

It had been hoped to exhibit at the 6.697th Infantry, which he said was a great credit to the country. He said that the 6.697th Infantry was a great credit to the country and that the 6.697th Infantry was a great credit to the country.

ALLIED SOCIALISTS DESERTING PACIFISM

Charles Edward Russell, Back From Europe, Describes Change in War Views.

STAND OF U. S. THE CAUSE

Faith in America Is Crushing Defeatism Propaganda of Old Party.

Anti-war sentiment among the Socialists of allied Europe is rapidly skidding down the toboggan of opinion, according to Charles Edward Russell, Socialist writer and lecturer, and A. H. Simons, both members of a commission appointed by the Social Democratic League to survey conditions this summer among Red States in France.

There are still pacifists in these countries, said Mr. Russell, but they are too few to be of any consequence. The spirit of defeatism is stronger in Italy than elsewhere, but even there it is making itself felt but slightly. Two factors are given for the change of attitude of America.

First, the recent allied successes in France, and second, the treatment of peace aims and the labor situation by the American government. President Wilson's treatment of peace aims and the labor situation by the American government.

Great Change in Views.

Mr. Russell went to London in April and opened an office. The others followed in July, since which time they have been in intimate contact with every shade of opinion in the countries they visited.

RELIGIOUS ORDERS TO HONOR CARDINAL

They Will Attend Solemn High Mass of Requiem for Mgr. Farley To-day.

TRIBUTE BY DR. LAVELLE

Public Funeral Will Bring a Large Throng to Cathedral To-morrow.

Many thousands of all races and creeds will meet in St. Patrick's Cathedral to-day and to-morrow, when the last services are held for the Cardinal Archbishop. As the end of the funeral period approaches the solemn episodes seem to increase in impressiveness.

To-day will be the day of the religious orders of the archdiocese. They alone will approach the cathedral in such numbers as to fill it—probably more than fill it; for not every one is aware, perhaps, of the size and importance of the cathedral in this community.

The funeral service will be held at 10 o'clock, when Archbishop Bonzano of Washington, apostolic delegate to the United States, acts as celebrant. The public will be admitted to the funeral service of occasions, will bring it, it is expected, an immense throng to the neighborhood of Fifth Avenue and Fifth Street.

The police are already preparing for this contingency and will establish a police zone from Sixth Avenue to Park Avenue, between Forty-fifth and Fifty-third Street. In and around this zone 500 specially detailed men under command of Inspector Frank Morris will provide the necessary protection.
