ADVERTISMENT. ADVERTISMENT. ADVERTISMENT. REDS SEIZE MORE CITIES IN PRUSSIA. Continued from First Page. men to form a proletariat dictatorship, has sent a note, according to a despatch from Copenhagen to the Exchange Telegraph Company, demanding that Russia acknowledge the present German Government and not to agitate for another. The German Government also demands an explanation of the arrest of two German Consul-Generals in Russia. It is pointed out in connection with the appeal of Dr. W. S. Rolf to the United States for food that there are two kinds of rations in use in Germany. That for the soldiers in the first line has been much larger than that granted the rest of the nation. It is said that Dr. Rolf appears anxious that the front line standard shall be maintained for the large body of troops returning from the front. This ration is considerably more generous than that to which the British people have been accustomed during the last four years. Food in Plenty at Kiel. A neutral correspondent writes to the London Morning Post that he has received a letter from Kiel in which this occurs: "We are better off for food this year than in 1917. There is plenty of grain and potatoes, so there will be no shortage." The Post comments as follows: "This only confirms the belief held in authoritative quarters here that the conditions of scarcity advertised in Germany's daily white noise about the armistice conditions do not in fact exist. Out of their own mouths come these things. The German newspapers before the collapse of the German Empire can be shown to have confessed to sufficient supplies to carry them through the winter, and under cover of just gathered there cannot be that menace of immediate shortage which is now represented in appeals to the Allies and neutrals." KAISER'S DYNASTY "IN THE STABLES" Red Leader Taunts Fallen Queen in Her Palace. Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN. Copyright, 1918; all rights reserved. PARIS, Nov. 23.—"The Hohenzollern dynasty has crumbled in the stables." This, according to a high neutral personage quoted by the Petit Parisien, is the remark made by Dr. Karl Liebknecht, leader of the Berlin "Reds," to the Emperor of Germany when he passed through the Kaiser's private apartment after the Berlin revolutionaries had captured the royal palace. Several hundred officers, hoping to protect the Empress and the princesses, barricaded themselves in the imperial stables. Two regiments attacked them and the fight lasted from evening to noon of the following day, when the officers surrendered. The struggle cost 50 dead and 200 wounded. After the surrender Liebknecht entered the palace and hoisted the red flag. The neutral speaking of the Kaiser, said that nobody in Berlin even mentions him, but Field Marshal von Hindenburg retains his popularity because he is supposed to have advised the Kaiser and Gen. Ludendorff to demand peace before the June offensive was begun. In France the impression persists that the political changes in Germany are a comedy designed to dupe the Entente Powers. No doubt exists here that the Social Democrats have conceived a plan to avoid footing the bill to retain Prussian Poland and recover Germany's colonies. There is a firm determination everywhere, however, that in any case the bill shall be presented. "We shall see later how much Germany can pay," writes one newspaper, reflecting the general attitude. There is a growing demand also that the Kaiser shall be delivered up for judgment. Great surprise was caused here by a report that Dutch aviators had invited the former Emperor to a banquet. The Maats expresses its indignation in an editorial article, which says in part: "The assassin already is under the shadow of judicial proceedings. England, America and all France demand his punishment. The Dutch Government must be warned that a criminal guest cannot be allowed shelter behind an exaggerated hospitality and under cover of a revolution to prepare new crimes for the future." PARIS, Nov. 23.—Answering the argument of the Dutch Government in justifying its attitude toward William Hohenzollern, the former German Emperor, as contained in a note issued by the Dutch Legation yesterday, the Petit Journal observes that the former Emperor was at the very beginning, and continues to be treated not as a private individual but as a sovereign enjoying favorable conditions. It adds that telegrams to or from Amersfoort Castle are considered as official telegrams. "Despite the protest of the Dutch Government," the Petit Journal concludes, "and in its own interests, the Allies must insist that these favors stop and that the former Emperor be placed where it will be impossible for him to do harm." Enemy Envoys Out in Spain. MADRID, Nov. 23.—The German and Austro-Hungarian Ambassadors here have ceased to represent their respective countries, according to the newspapers. RUSSIA ASKS PLACE IN PEACE COUNCILS Prince Luoff Sees Way to End Bolsheviki. WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—Recognition of Russia at the world peace conference at Versailles was urged by Prince George Luoff, first Prime Minister of Russia after the overthrow of the Czar in a statement to-day to the American people. "The termination of the war has raised the question of the peace conference," said Prince Luoff. "I think a sense of duty and justice dictates to the Allies the necessity of organizing in Versailles the defense of Russian interests. The work can be done by Russians only. The country as a whole is unable at present to send to the conference its plenipotentiary representatives but when our friend is ill we act for him. "In the Bolsheviki state, in connection with complete anarchy, reign hunger and the need of all essentials of life. We Allies have decided to feed vanquished foes. Can they let Russia die of starvation? The Allies require order of Germany. Can they tolerate the nest of anarchy in Russia, the domination of the Bolsheviki, who are aiming to kindle class-hatred and the struggle with the arms of the proletariat against other groups of the population? "I deem the intervention of the Allies is dictated not only by pure compassion for the victims of Russian Bolshevism, but by political foresight as well."

FRANKLIN SIMON'S Latest Importation of English Spitalfields Silk Squares Tailored into MEN'S SCARVES $2.75 Beautiful beyond all words and a value which most shops would announce at a Sale! SPECIALTY shops have no scruples in getting $4 for scarves of this quality, and no difficulty either. They are the latest and the greatest achievement of the weavers of Spitalfields. War has thinned the weavers' ranks, but enriched the worth of their hands, unfolding to them new glories of color and fresh fields of design. We cannot describe these scarves. They are sonnets in silk—lyrics of the loom—poems of a people who have triumphed and suffered. For sheer originality of coloring and pattern never before in our lives have we seen the like of these Spitalfields squares—they are the classics of scarfdom.

Thanksgiving Day 1918 IT IS THE YEAR 1621. On the fringe of a vast and terrifying wilderness a little band of Pilgrims is giving into Nature's keeping those precious seeds that have been brought from the far away Homeland. There is no faltering. Into those tiny fields are implanted Faith, Hope, and Dauntless Courage. It is the Great Adventure. Life itself depends upon the Harvest. Autumn comes, and with it a richness of fruition beyond all expectation. Faith is justified. Hope is redeemed. Courage has its reward. Joyfully, yet reverently, the Pilgrim Fathers proclaim the first Feast of Thanksgiving. IT IS THE YEAR 1918. In camps over here, on the seas, in France, in Belgium, in Russia, yes, and in Germany, are thousands of boys—OUR boys. They have not faltered. They have kept the faith, and today they are facing towards the Homeland, towards the land of the Pilgrims. Long weeks may pass before they reach the end of their Great Adventure, but some day our boys and our girls are coming Home. And the Feast of Thanksgiving is upon us. That THE TELEPHONE has been privileged to serve in the Great Adventure; that it will continue to serve as capably as may be, during the coming trying months, is due in no small measure to your splendid cooperation.
