H. E. GAWTRY DIES HERE AT AGE OF 78

Former President of the Consolidated Gas Company Was Long Ill.

Harrison E. Gawtry, one of the organizers of the Consolidated Gas Company of New York and the president of that corporation for more than ten years, died of pneumonia yesterday in his home at Hastings. He was 78 years old and leaves a widow and a daughter.

Mr. Gawtry was prominent in financial and social circles in this city and was one of the best known industrialists in this country. He was the last remaining trustee of the original board of trustees of the Consolidated Gas Company.

Mr. Gawtry resigned the presidency of the Consolidated Gas Company in December, 1904. He was elected chairman of the board of trustees and of the company's executive committee, but he resigned that chairmanship two years ago because of continued poor health.

At the time of his death Mr. Gawtry was president of the Federal Fuel and Gas Light Company and a member of the board of trustees of the New York Edison Company, the Consolidated Edison Company, the Northern Union Gas Company, the Northern Westchester Lighting Company, the Peconick Lighting and Heating Company, and the Long Island City Gas Company.

Mr. Gawtry was born in New York City November 28, 1840. He was the son of William M. Gawtry, then a prominent woolen merchant in this city, and Ann E. Gawtry, who was the daughter of Mrs. George H. Pratt and Mrs. Monroe Douglas Robinson.

Mr. Gawtry was interested in the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York in 1877. At the time of the formation of the Consolidated Gas Company of New York Mr. Gawtry became that company's first secretary and in 1880 he was elected treasurer. He became president of the Consolidated Gas Company of New York in January, 1894. He resigned the presidency in 1904 because of ill health.

Mr. Gawtry was a member of the Board of Trustees of the Long Island College Hospital in 1879. From 1881 to 1885 he was superintendent of the Kings County Insane Asylum.
