

Adoption of Late Training Schedule and Dropping of Several Big Rivals Among Changes in Princeton Football Policy

PRINCETON ADOPTS GRIDIRON POLICY

Tigers Abolish Spring and Early Fall Training for Football Team.

PLAY HARVARD NOV. 8

Contest in Jersey Will Precede Final Game of Season With Yale at New Haven.

Special Dispatch to The Sun.

PRINCETON, N. J., Feb. 16.—Princeton has thrown precedence to the four weeks in the formation of its 1919 football schedule. The Tigers will play seven games instead of the usual eight, and most only three of its customary rivals. As usual, the Tiger warriors will direct every effort toward the "Big Three" contests.

According to the tentative programme as announced by G. R. Murray, treasurer of the Athletic Association, Harvard will invade Tigerstown on Monday, Oct. 14. The following week in New Haven. This arrangement means that Harvard will maintain its much disputed advantage of resting two weeks between the Yale and Princeton games.

Besides the Harvard and Yale contests Princeton will battle with Trinity, Lafayette, Fordham, Colgate and West Point in the latter part of the season. Dartmouth, Holy Cross, North Carolina, Tufts and Haverford have been dropped from the Jerseyites' schedule.

Roper to Be in Charge.

Among other changes in policy the Princeton authorities have ruled against spring and fall training. The schedule is intended to abolish the evil of overexertion in college athletics and may be considered one of the most important resolutions adopted by the "Big Three" athletic directors. With a view to establishing permanent coaches the Tigers have engaged Bill Roper, '03, as head coach. The former Princeton player will have complete charge of the coaching, although he will be assisted by Kenes F. Fitzpatrick, who developed this year's informal eleven.

The abolition of spring practice has forced the Jerseyites to postpone their opening contest so that the season does not start until the latter part of the year. The Tigers will then meet Lafayette, Fordham, Colgate and West Virginia in the succeeding Saturdays in preparation for the "Big Three" events.

Meet Harvard on November 8.

The annual classic with Harvard will be staged on November 8, with the contest in the Tiger stadium. The school principal for the Crimson is expected to devote sufficient practice from the early season games and still focus the attention on the Harvard and Yale contests, the Tigers have dropped Dartmouth from their schedule. The Green has been closely allied with Princeton for many seasons and it is a source of regret to both institutions that this measure seemed necessary.

YALE'S ATHLETIC POLICY.

Free Board for Athletes and Early Football Training Favored.

New Haven, Feb. 16.—Radical changes in Yale's athletic policy were outlined today in a list of resolutions which was passed yesterday by the board of directors in athletics, which held its first meeting since America's entry into the world war.

Members of the board have been impossible during the progress of the war, because most of the members were in military or Government service. Among the most important changes were the opening of Yale Field and the offer of recreation on Sunday afternoons. The board also decided that athletes who are working their way through college, the resumption of football practice before the opening of college, and the appointment of a permanent director of athletics.

FEDERAL SUIT ENDS BASEBALL WRAIGLES

Minor League and National Commission Situations Are Clearing.

By FREDERICK G. LEEB.

The $800,000 suit of the former director of the Baltimore Federal League club against the sixteen major league clubs for conspiracy and violation of the Sherman anti-trust law, which has been called for trial in Washington on March 10, came as another blow to the baseball big league last week.

MINOR LEAGUES TO BE REOPENED.

While it was known that the case had been reopened by the Baltimore Federal League directors so many of these clubs have withdrawn from the league, shelled during the war that the big league hardly expected its case to come up for trial so quickly after the armistice.

SETTING OF A DATE FOR THE TRIAL.

However, already has had one good effect. It promises to remove the friction that has existed between the major and the minor leagues and between the two leagues. Attacked again from the outside Organized Baseball has been forced to take the case to court.

SENATOR GIBBS TO PROVIDE FOR DECISIONS BY THREE JUDGES.

The dominating note in whatever opposition already has developed at Albany against the Gibbs bill is the stipulation regarding decisions. The Republican leader has proposed that they talk with horror of the lessons of the old Horton law days.

HEALING THE WOUNDS OF THE HORTON LAW DAYS.

They quote with considerable enthusiasm a message sent by Gov. Roosevelt to the Legislature asking for the outlawing of professional boxing. The late Col. Roosevelt was an ardent supporter of boxing and at that time he was a ringside doctor.
