MIGHTY FLEET WILL ARRIVE TO-MORROW

Procession of 103 Warships to Steam Up the Hudson.

The largest fleet ever assembled on the Atlantic seaboard will arrive tomorrow morning, steaming up the Hudson to its anchorage and accompanied by a flotilla of city craft bearing parties of welcome. Hovering overhead will be dirigibles, balloons and airplanes.

The fleet is expected to arrive about 10 o'clock. The city's welcoming flotilla will filter into the procession and come up to the anchorage, where the men of war will be boarded on a formal welcome made to the 30,000 officers and sailors.

As soon as the mud hooks are thrown overboard twenty-four hour passes will begin to issue to the sailors for shore leave. Innumerable entertainments have been planned for them, and the program is increasing daily. Among the recent entertainments announced is the track and field meet to be held by the Young Men's Christian Association on April 25 and 26 to determine the navy's Olympic team which will enter the interallied games in France. A baseball game will be arranged between the navy's champion team and one of New York's major league teams for April 23 at the Polo grounds.

City College has invited the navy to use its stadium in training for the meet and the baseball game. A large welcome meeting will be held at the Metropolitan Opera House on the night of April 20. Half of the theatre will be filled with sailors and the other half with civilians. The members of the opera company will sing and short speeches will be made.

CHINESE COLONY TO WELCOME FIGHTERS

Chatham Square Neighborhood Prepares Reception for 100 in 77th Division.

JEWS ALSO ARE ACTIVE

Plans for Parade Now Await Word From Secretary Baker in France.

Chinatown is working out elaborate plans for a welcome to the hundred or more soldiers of American citizenship but Chinese blood who are in the Seventy-seventh Division.

The Chinatown residents are discussing among themselves a number of different suggestions offered for their sons' entertainment when they arrive here in the olive drab of their country. Sing Koo, one of their number, distinguished himself in the fighting and has received the Distinguished Service Cross.

The Chinatown soldiers probably will be feted at a public dinner followed by a theatrical performance and a Chinese musical program. Speeches will be made in both English and Chinese, it is thought, and some of the representative citizens of New York will be asked to address them.

The situation regarding the parade was unchanged yesterday. Newton D. Baker, Secretary of War, to whom Rodwan Wajnszaker, as chairman of the Committee of Welcome to Homecoming Troops, cabled yesterday, asking that the Seventy-seventh Division be transported to New York to insure a simultaneous arrival of all units, so that the parade will be assured, will not arrive in France before about noon to-day.

CHURCHES DISTRIBUTE PALM.

ROBIN SHOOTER FINED $500.

Game Protector Finds 85 Birds in One Man's Catches.

Four and twenty robins, or even one robin, will not enter so often into the mind of a pie hereafter, at least among the foreign born residents of Marlboro, Ulster county. The Conservation Commission let it be known from Albany yesterday that the commission had just imposed a fine of $500 on one John Verza of that village for shooting robins wholesale.

It was the automatic power to do foot pending progressive measures which are desired by the men and women of the State.

PIONEERS, MOSTLY N. Y. MEN, ARRIVE

Fifty-Second Infantry, Originally the Twelfth, Home From France.

LUCKY, COLONEL EXPLAINS

Worked Near Front Lines, Yet Had Comparatively Few Casualties.

Col. Reginald Foster, commander of the Fifty-second Pioneer Infantry, which arrived yesterday by the transport K. I. Luckenbach, said he regarded his regiment as the luckiest in the world, considering that it had been under shell fire continuously from September 22 until the signing of the armistice.

The regiment was originally the old Twelfth of this city, and most of the officers and men are New Yorkers. Col. Foster said: "We escaped with marvelously few casualties. We were just behind the front lines and all the German misses got us, and there were many misses. We rebuilt bridges, made and mended roads and salvaged material thrown away or lost by the doughboys."

Some of the material salvaged was blankets and rifles. Col. Foster said: "The doughboy, when he found his blankets burdensome, discarded them, but before night he always had blankets to sleep in. Sometimes he left his own gun behind, but always had one ready when he went into battle."

The Fifty-second was warmly greeted by its friends, who went down the bay in the Patrol and Correction. Private Charles Spencer, 323 Tenth avenue, had his first view of his little son, Charles, Jr., nine months old, after the iron headed officials on duty at the pier had succumbed to the tearful pleading of Mrs. Spencer, who was kept outside the lines for half an hour or so. Mrs. Spencer was embraced by Private Spencer simultaneously with his only heir, who was in peril of smothering for a moment. Junior had the distinction of being the first baby to board a troopship at this port to receive an introduction to his father.

The Turralba arrived from St. Nazaire with eighty-eight nurses and nine casual officers, including Lieut.-Col. William H. Bishop of this city, who was in charge of Base Hospital 292, Orient. The staff of this hospital, made up of 35 officers, 32 nurses and 315 enlisted men, took care of the wounded from the Argonne, and were worked to the limit of their endurance in October and thereafter until the end of hostilities.

Agnes M. Campbell, 65 West 107th street, chief nurse at Base Hospital 67, said the work of the nurses at the pier was almost as hazardous as that of the infantrymen. One of the dangers, after the signing of the armistice, was due to the ambition of the nurses to collect souvenirs personally in No Man's Land, where unexploded shells had a habit of popping when poked.

DEMOCRATIC CHIEF CHALLENGES SWEET

Donohue Asks Colleagues to Enact Welfare Law.

Assemblyman Charles D. Donohue, leader of the Democratic minority in the lower branch of the Legislature, sent telegrams last night to all his colleagues warning them to be in their seats tonight prepared to make a fight to force through Gov. Alfred E. Smith's programme of social welfare legislation.

The call was sounded as a challenge to Speaker Thaddeus C. Sweet, who has announced his opposition to certain features of the Governor's programme and who was quoted last week as threatening to force an adjournment before action could be taken. Mr. Donohue's call in part read:

It was the automatic power to do foot pending progressive measures which are desired by the men and women of the State. If Speaker Sweet really wants to help the Legislature to adjourn promptly he can give the Assembly a chance to vote a voice and in the open on these measures. If he will do this we can adjourn this week. But whatever he does the Assembly will declare its will before it adjourns. Thaddeus Sweet may be a great power as Speaker, but no political leader in 1919 is so powerful as to issue a perpetual injunction against humane legislation, which the members of the Legislature desire to enact.

$25,000 REWARD $250,000 Lost Liberty Bonds

For information leading to the recovery of $250,000 Liberty Bonds lost on or about January 4th, 1919, the sum of $25,000 will be paid. A proportional part of such reward will be paid for information leading to the recovery of part of the bonds.

For proof that the bonds have been destroyed, the sum of $10,000 will be paid. A proportional part of such reward will be paid for proof of the destruction of part of the bonds.

It seems that the bonds were mailed on January 2nd, 1919, from the First and Old Detroit National Bank, Detroit, Michigan, to The Studebaker Corporation, South Bend, Indiana, and have not been located since.

The bonds are Fourth Liberty Loan Bonds, numbered 73,734 to 73,756 inclusive, of the denomination of $10,000 each.

Every indication is that the bonds were lost. The finder of them need have no hesitation in producing them and claiming the reward. They can be replaced and need have no fear of giving information.
