

HYLAN ASSAILS SCHEFFELN AS LAW VIOLATOR

Replies to Citizens Union Attack on Enright by Accusing Its Head.

SNEERS FOR "REFORMER"

Druggist Threatens to Sue Mayor for Bitter Letter Sent to Copeland.

In the papers yesterday morning appeared an account of an address made at the annual meeting of the Citizens' Union by Leonard M. Wallstein, counsel for its good government committee, in which he charged the Police Department with making false statements in regard to the prevalence of crime. At the same time was published a report of a speech made by Dr. Ernest F. Hilyan at the Academy of Medicine...

Last night Mayor Hylan made public a letter he has written to Health Commissioner Copeland referring to the Hilyan speech and saying he hoped the Commissioner will "continue to frighten druggists, doctors and other decent addicts," and then launching into an attack upon Scheffelin & Co., wholesale druggists, of which William Jay Scheffelin, head of the Citizens' Union, is the principal member.

Mr. Scheffelin said last night he would consult his counsel with a view to holding the Mayor responsible for his statements.

"Hylan's scurrilous personal attack upon me appears to be the only attempt which he can make to divert attention from his own exposure of my disgraceful conduct of the city government. He makes his attack in a letter to his Health Commissioner in order to obtain immunity from prosecution for libel."

"I shall ask counsel to consider whether his device for evading responsibility for his charges is successful."

"If I bring suit against Hylan, Hylan's example when he withdrew his action against the World and paid heavy costs rather than go to trial."

Attack on Scheffelin's Firm.

The Mayor's letter to Commissioner Copeland follows in part: "MY DEAR COMMISSIONER: I note by the morning papers that Dr. Ernest F. Hilyan, if quoted correctly, has reported to the Board of Health in going into the details of the firm of Scheffelin & Co., which also said that druggists are afraid to sell the stuff and it has raised hell and frightened the decent addicts to death."

"While Scheffelin & Co.'s drug concern is manufacturing and selling the dangerous habit-forming narcotic, it is also using such drugs and becoming addicts and committing crimes of some kind."

"The laws of the State of New York, section 247, chapter 431, 1917, require persons selling or giving away any narcotic to file such order blanks with the Board of Health."

Quotes Testimony at Inquiry.

"In the investigation directed by me into the Health Department early in January, 1918, in an endeavor to have the law complied with, which was objected to by many reform organizations, the present Hugh W. Taylor, Inspector of Foods and Chief of the Drug Division of the Department of Health testified as follows: 'I shall not say any concern that Scheffelin & Co. that did not file orders.'"

"Q. What drugs did these orders cover? A. From the casual examination I made of the order blanks I can only state they contained a large amount of various types of narcotic drugs."

"You consider that Scheffelin & Co. violated the law in every one of these 200 cases? A. Yes, sir."

"I do not know whether it was William Jay Scheffelin's influence and prestige that was behind the campaign inaugurated through the newspapers and reform organizations to stop the health investigation, but I do know that this administration compelled William Jay Scheffelin's drug company to comply with the law of this State."

Held as $20,000 Stamp Thief.

GHOST WALKS LITERALLY; THIEVES GET COPS' PAY CAR

Automobile Disappears From Hall of Records Curb While Driver Is Inside—Driver, Peeved, Hoofs It to Headquarters.

After waiting an hour and a half for the reappearance of the Police Department paymaster's automobile, which was known to have started down Centre street on its way to the Hall of Records to bring back the pay checks, members of the staff at Police Headquarters commenced to feel vaguely uneasy yesterday afternoon.

Half an hour later, when no tidings had been received, the uneasiness increased to apprehension and the patrolmen and detectives and even higher officials on duty in the building sidled up to windows and looked searchingly down town, seeing nothing, however, to allay their growing fears.

SING SING PRISONERS TO GET SQUARE DEAL

New Warden, Brophy, Makes Promise on Taking Job.

Former Judge Edward W. Brophy of Port Chester, the new warden of Sing Sing Prison, made his first official visit to the prison yesterday morning, and was sworn in to succeed William H. Moyer by Daniel Hickey, the warden's stenographer, who is a notary public.

Warden Brophy was accompanied by Charles E. State Superintendent of Prisons. In the mess hall at noon he made a speech to the 1,400 inmates of the prison.

GOVERNORS TO SEE PARADE

N. Y., Ohio and Pennsylvania Executives Coming.

The parade on Monday of the 32nd Infantry will start at 10 o'clock from Washington Arch. The column will march up Fifth avenue to 102d street and then to the North Sheepfold in Central Park, where Gen. Gugliemotti, representing the Italian Government, will decorate the regiment.

HENKEL LEAVES $20,000.

Former U. S. Marshal's Property Goes to Widow.

The will of William Henkel, former United States Marshal and prominent in Republican circles up to the time of his death on March 28, was filed in the Surrogate's office yesterday, and leaves all property to his widow, Sophia Henkel.

WIFE TELLS HOW SHE TRAPPED HUSBAND

Impersonated a Maid When Her Rival Called.

In affidavits filed yesterday before Justice Mullen in the Supreme Court settlement of her action for divorce, Mrs. Bella Wainer declared early last year she learned of the efforts of her husband, Maurice, who is a furrier at 1416 Broadway, a letter from a Miss Helm, a manufacturer at the Hotel McAlpin. Mrs. Wainer said she recognized the handwriting as that of her husband's mistress, and she went to her home and impersonated a maid, asking her friend what she was doing.

Vanguard of Old 69th Due Sunday.

A message received by the Mayor's committee last night says that the first contingent of the old Sixty-ninth Regiment will in all likelihood arrive here Sunday afternoon on the transport Harriehurst and the rest of the soldiers on Tuesday. Five of the city's hotels are being welcoming parties, relatives and friends of the regiment will go down the bay to welcome the soldiers.

The patrolman who acted as chauffeur reached the Hall of Records in safety. It developed late in the afternoon. He left his machine standing at the curb and went inside after the pay checks. When he returned a few minutes later it was gone. Unable to believe that any one could actually have the hardihood to make away with a Police Department car, he persisted for some time in believing that its disappearance was due to an extremely poor practical joke.

It took several hours for this conclusion to be reached, but the patrolman eventually reached it last night in reporting the theft at headquarters and the alarm was sent out with promptness. The Detective Bureau last night had several clues, it was announced. The detective force in the city together with orders to note carefully the license plate of every automobile on the streets. The paymaster's car, which bore the license number 24 and plate with the initials, "P. D.," had been stolen, it was announced.

WILKINS CHARGES MURDER FRAMEUP

Says Detectives Are Giving Out False Stories.

For the first time since his arrest on the charge of killing his wife at her cottage at Long Beach, L. I. on February 27, Dr. Walter K. Wilkins talked to reporters yesterday. He discussed various phases of the case against him as outlined by District Attorney Weeks of Nassau county and complained that he was being "framed up."

"I am being framed," said Dr. Wilkins. "I desire to say this because so much that has been printed about me is not true. For instance, a report has been given out in which a detective working for a New York agency is quoted as saying that on March 10 I was overheard in an upstairs room in my Long Beach house. Now, my attorneys were there, and can testify that I found the coat downstairs and that it was not my property. I believe I have been influenced by flatterers who attacked me and killed my wife."

SAFE ABOARD AT LAST.

Man Who Spent $85 on Taxcab Catches Boat This Time.

E. C. Lund, a leather manufacturer of England, who missed the Cunarder Mauretania last week after spending $85 for a taxicab that brought him down from Newport, went to the pier at daybreak yesterday so as to be sure of sailing by the Carolina. Friends who called to bid him good-bye asked him to come to the pier. He told them they would have to meet him aboard, as he was taking no chances.

QUINN AGAIN FAILS TO GET COP INQUIRY

Alderman's Motion, Following Wallstein's Charge, Lost.

Following the allegations made by Leonard M. Wallstein of the Citizens Union that the system of reporting crime in the Police Department had been so changed that it was possible to camouflage the actual situation, Alderman William F. Quinn yesterday made another attempt to get his resolution for an Alderman's investigation of the department out of the Rules Committee of the board. The bid was again clamped on and the motion was lost by a vote of 49 to 17.

CLARK ST. TUBE WORKS WELL

22,000 Persons in First Rush Hour Traffic From Brooklyn.

The Clark street tunnel of the West Side subway was running smoothly yesterday. Twenty-two thousand passengers rode to Manhattan during the rush hour from 7 o'clock to 9:30 in the morning. Trains sped between Clark street station in Brooklyn under the East River and Wall street in four minutes, the schedule time.

RAWLLS SEPARATE; WIFE ASKS ALIMONY

Wife of Wealthy New York Man Seeks Court Action.

Charging consistent rudeness and cruelty toward her, Madeline C. Rawll began an action yesterday for separation and alimony against Herbert F. Rawll, manufacturer, financier and sportsman, who has a country estate at Short Hills, N. J., as well as a town residence in New York.

NEW ATTACK MADE ON LESLIE WILL

MRS. CATT A DEFENDANT

Dutch Claimant Says That Leader Practised Cajolery on Aged Woman.

Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, suffrage leader, has another legal fight on her hands if she wishes to retain for the cause she represents the $1,000,000 bequeathed her by the will of Mrs. Frank Leslie, also known as the Baroness de Baux, who died in September, 1914.

Another attack on the validity of the document was opened yesterday when Surrogate Fowler signed an order for the dismissal of the action by publication directed to Mrs. Carrie H. Wrenn of Cranford, N. J. The order was obtained on the petition of Althea, the Baroness Salvador, a subject of Holland, at present residing in England. It is the first step on the part of the Baroness to contest the will, which has been admitted to probate. The court is now asked to set aside the probate.

The claim put forth by the petitioner, who is no relation to Mrs. Leslie, is that another will is in existence, made by her in 1908, when she was in full possession of her faculties and in no way, in any way, in which the Baroness is a legatee to the extent of $5,000 in cash and a $15,000 diamond necklace. Mrs. Wrenn is the daughter of Mrs. Leslie's first step on the part of the Baroness to contest the will, which has been admitted to probate. The court is now asked to set aside the probate.

The new circumstances, without the mother to take care of the housework, are often the cause of unhappiness, discontent and disaster.

Think it over and stop the rambling business life and settle down to be settled and win success where you are.

WEDDING INVITATIONS AND ANNOUNCEMENTS

In the old Stewart Building we have built an engraving shop where wedding stationery is engraved with all the careful beauty of detail which it merits. A corps of experienced engravers is in charge. In this way we are able to promise the finest workmanship at reasonable prices and we guarantee delivery.

When the couple separated, Mrs. Rawll states, he refused to avoid notoriety and publicity in connection with their difficulties and promised to provide for her during the remainder of her life. He agreed, she alleges, to pay all bills and expenses of her maintenance, and in addition provide her with $400 in cash each month. The agreement, which was reduced to writing, has not been lived up to, Mrs. Rawll alleges.

In support of her contention that the defendant is able to provide her with alimony suitable to her station in life, Mrs. Rawll says her husband received $10,000 a year as his interest in the Christmas Club System business, as vice-president of the C. E. Shepard Company, is one of the incorporators of the George C. Wainwright Producing Company and is heavily interested in Old Mission Portland Cement Company.

A part of each year, she asserts, is spent by him at pleasure and health resorts in Europe, Florida, California, Florida and elsewhere, while his estate at Short Hills employs scores of cooks, chambermaids, butlers, chauffeurs, a laborer establishment and an entertaining lavishly. He also owns valuable acreage in Short Hills and lots in The Bronx, between 236th and 243d streets.

Mrs. Rawll's motion for alimony will be before the Supreme Court next week.

PAINTED FURNITURE AU QUATRIEME

One always associates painted furniture with either the ultra modern type of interior or with soft mellowed effects of the old Italian painted furniture. Au Quatrieme are three little rooms furnished in painted furniture that is both old and new—a quaint combination of old Colonial furniture made gay with old fashioned color motifs applied in a modern decorative manner.

One room has a little lacquer bedstead and rush bottom chairs and dressing table of the same lovely color. This set is curiously Chinese in effect, in spite of the decoration of nosegays of roses and small bright colored flowers. The old rag and hooked rugs on the floor carry out the quaint effect of the furniture.

Another room has a canary yellow set decorated in gold and black "frock pieces." The old high back rocker and little cane bottom chairs are particularly good; together, this painting of fine old furniture with a fine modern color, has been a decided achievement.

Plain navy blue chiffon, cleverly combined with the printed chiffon at $39.50. Only an artist could have draped the skirt of the model at $43—the lines are exquisite. Flower-printed chiffon—quite unusual—has been adopted for the simply but beautifully draped models at $55.

Spring suits begin at $30. American-made topcoats begin at $25. Redleaf (London) topcoats begin at $45. Service Always. Not merely in the quality of the garment, but in the fit as well.

JOHN WANAMAKER

Good morning! The weather today will probably be rain.

Rolling Stones Are Both Male And Female

and they gather no moss, for they do not light on their feet anywhere, as cats do.

So many men and some women have defeat written in their eyes.

You can see it when they leave one place and roll far around to another, and finally leave home where their mother always did the housework, sliding into marriage as the only thing left.

They took upon themselves the housework which they never liked all owing to the fact that they never cheerfully settled down to do their best in any place they had.

The new circumstances, without the mother to take care of the housework, are often the cause of unhappiness, discontent and disaster.

Think it over and stop the rambling business life and settle down to be settled and win success where you are.

TAILORED SUITS

A smart beautifully tailored suit under $75 is an undeniable achievement this Spring. Especially if the suit is of fine tricotine or Poret twill, or serge—materials most favored at present.

Featured are the Russian blouse suit, the new suit with the coat of long lines severely tailored, the semi-box and the waistcoat models. A hairline stripe serge model at $59.50 has white faille waistcoat and a very smart style.

A Russian blouse tricotine suit with a rose-colored vestee of pualet cloth, $48.50, and a little softly tailored model of tricotine, $69.50.

SEEKING REFINEMENT IN MEN'S CLOTHES

Somebody has said— A gentleman needs no introduction—his clothes speak for him.

Meaning, naturally, that his clothes, instead of attracting attention, have quite the opposite effect.

A man who thinks seriously of his appearance seeks, first, substantial fabrics. He avoids extremes.

He seeks quiet, refined patterns. He avoids the bizarre.

He seeks accurate tailoring, knowing that good tailoring will add to the life of his suit.

In brief, he seeks the unobtrusive, because he has learned that noise (to use an oft-repeated axiom) can never take the place of logic.

Wanamaker Ideals—embody these features of refinement and good taste. Which explains why so many business men (and their sons) buy their clothing in the Burlington Arcade Store.

Spring suits begin at $30. American-made topcoats begin at $25. Redleaf (London) topcoats begin at $45. Service Always. Not merely in the quality of the garment, but in the fit as well.

Special Message of Easter Shoes for Children

Wanamaker shoes for Children are made of comfortable lasts. There are no "freak" models here to distort young growing feet. Wanamaker shoe service for children is also worth emphasizing—there are attendants here who have been trained specially in fitting children's shoes.

Then comes the quality of the leather used—it is always the best we can put into the shoes at their respective prices. We sometimes sacrifice appearance for quality—but never quality.

Note Particularly Pumps of black calf, patent leather, white canvas; sizes 9 to large girls' 6; $3 to $6. Oxfords in tan, patent and dull leathers; sizes 9 to large girls' 6; $3 to $7.

Laced shoes of patent leather with white kid tops, 8 1/2 to 11, $6; 11 1/2 to 2, $7. High-laced tan shoes—all sizes for babies up to large girls, $3.50 to $9.

Laced shoes of black calf, all sizes, $3.50 to $6. Avenue of Shoes, First floor, Old Building.

Boys' Shoes, Too

Boys' shoes, made for comfort and service. Good materials throughout—high or low styles—sizes 11 to 13 1/2, $4 to $8. Sizes 2 1/2 to 6, $5 to $9.

Boys' Suits

All wool. The colors are fast, too. And the fabrics—good mixtures—will stand many a hard strain. Two models—waist seam and Norfolk. Coats are lined with alpaca, like father's; trousers are lined, also. Sizes 10 to 17. Featured at $13.75.

Easter Books

TEN tables have been given up to aid those who wish to make a quick selection. Dainty little books in suede bindings, others in half calf, half morocco and full bound; illustrated juveniles for the young folks, recent fiction, books on gardening and Easter cards.
