

Purchase Scores Easy Victory Over Sir Barton in Lwyer Stakes at Aqueduct Track

SIR BARTON BEATEN IN LWYER STAKES Great Son of Star Shoot Runs Fine Race, but Purchase Proves His Master.

15,000 SEE THE CONTEST Hildreth Colt Has Bad Racing Luck, but Enough Speed to Win Easily.

By HENRY V. KING. Sir Barton was beaten by Purchase at Aqueduct yesterday afternoon. The renowned son of Star Shoot and Lady Sterling, which had won the Kentucky Derby, the Preakness, the Withers and the Belmont and was considered invincible, was defeated in the Lwyer Stakes, a one-mile and a furlong course that was at stake deep in mud.

Despite the reports that Sir Barton was not in his best condition, that he had been suffering from a severe attack of soreness after his recent morning trials, he ran one of his best races and was defeated only because he met a much better colt at the post. He was tempted to give Purchase nine pounds by the scale and received a twenty-pound beating. Purchase won by only a length, and he was a very close second. He was a very close second. He was a very close second.

Purchase in a Pocket. Purchase got the worst of a poor start, was in a pocket for three-eighths of a mile, was compelled to run wide on the turn leading into the homestretch, but he came on when straightened out in the homestretch and had Sir Barton beaten half a mile from home. From the final furlong to the judges' Knapp holding him under a choking plug and when he crossed the finish line he was eased up to almost a walk. It was the earliest possible kind of a victory under the circumstances.

Whether or not Purchase will be able to retain the throne is another matter, but if he keeps his present form it is likely that he will be hard to unseat. But he will not retain the throne without a fight. His victory made the fight for three-year-old honors more serious than it has been for many a month ago. Then Sir Barton looked as if he would go through the season undefeated and that only P. A. Hildreth was a possible challenger.

Sir Barton's First Defeat. Yesterday was Sir Barton's first defeat of the season. His speed and stamina were not so good as they were. He was just that he was given another trial. Dwyer boy never really had a chance to show his worth, for in the Preakness, his only start of the season, he was kicked at the post and never put to the test. Vindex was beaten in the Derby in sloppy going, to which he is not partial, and was left standing at the post in the Preakness. He was put to the test through it yet, and yesterday he was beaten half a dozen times he redeemed himself in his last start, when he beat the Hildreth colt moving up.

But despite the small field interest in the race was at white heat. Few paid any attention to Crystal Ford. He was a serious contender for the title. He was a serious contender for the title. He was a serious contender for the title.

15,000 See Contest. Despite the rain more than 15,000 persons turned out to see it run, and the popular little course took on the appearance of a holiday in the mud. The Dwyer Stakes is the old Brooklyn Derby and has a guaranteed cash value of $50,000. For the third time yesterday it proved a joy to the spectators. It was the first time since 1916 that the horse was defeated by Omar Khayyam and last season Ford was the "unbeatable" John.

Loftus Uses Whip at Start. To prevent Sir Barton from lagging Loftus used his whip freely during the first sixteenth of a mile. It had the desired effect and his charge stepped at a fast but steady pace up the backstretch. At the first furlong pole Knapp attempted to move Purchase to the front. He was a very close second. He was a very close second.

Sport Events To-day MISS WAGNER WINS ON TENNIS COURTS Champion Reaches Semi-Finals at Pleasantville—Miss Handy Advances.

By EUGENE R. O'CONNELL. Miss Marie Wagner of the Hamilton Grange Lawn Tennis Club, the playing through champion, and Miss Edith B. Handy of Staten Island, climbed into the semi-final round of the women's singles in the Eastern New York State tennis championship tournament yesterday morning at Mount Pleasant Tennis Club, Pleasantville. Both of these players won their matches in straight sets in opposite halves of the draw, and incidentally both won by match scores.

Rain Stops Play. The old weather man had been very much upset over the fact that the tournament had been going right merrily all day yesterday. They thought they would have had a very good match, but the rain had intervened. The rain did not put in an appearance until after both Miss Wagner and Miss Handy had won their matches. This is as good an arrangement as any for the tournament committee, for it means that the semi-final matches will be played in the morning and the final this afternoon.

Victories Easily Won. Neither Miss Wagner, last year's winner, nor Miss Handy, last year's runner-up, had any difficulty winning yesterday. They both played at top level, and their opponents were in opposition none too stubborn, even in their second sets and scored their victories easily.

WEST LEADS IN DUAL TENNIS TOURNAMENT National Doubles Champions Are Defeated. Special Dispatch to THE SUN. CINCINNATI, July 10.—Judging from comment heard around tennis circles recently there were a great many followers of lawn tennis who felt that the Eastern team would have a fairly easy time winning the sectional championship tournament which started here today.

Weather conditions were anything but fitting for play, especially was the afternoon very unfavorable. Heavy showers were forecast for 11:30 on through and continued pretty well on through the afternoon. Numerous complaints were made over difficulties in holding onto the ball during a swing. More than thirty of the big field quit before finishing the first round or in the midst of the second.

There can be no doubt but that even to the most ardent cohorts of the Western team, the fact that the doubles match was a big surprise. The team of Tilden and Richards had won the national championship last year at Boston purely on the basis of their own strength. It had done nothing else in last year's tournament, the fact that it defeated Frederick B. Alexander and Beals C. Wright both of whom were regarded as two of the most crafty doubles players that ever played on American courts.

Strong After First Set. It was only in the first set that the Western team showed any signs of weakness at all. Their weakness then was only that of teamwork. They were quickly overcome. In spite of their slips in teamwork, Johnston and Hardy stepped out and forced the national champion to make the tie-breaker before the latter won the opening set at 11-9. In the second set the Westerners really got going and fairly re-scrambled the match.

Yoshida's Defeat Surprises. The defeat of S. Howard Yoshida, metropolitan champion, by Robert Kinsey, the young Californian, came as another surprise. Yoshida started off with a rush in this match and had the lead at 4-1 in the opening set. At this stage of the game Yoshida was outplaying the young Californian without much difficulty and seemed well on the way to a victory.
