

REPUBLICAN CAUCUS IN HOUSE DEMANDED

Mann's Sudden Return Believed Due to Need of Reinvigorating Party.

LEADERS' GRIP LOOSENED

Longworth to Make Attempt to Enlarge the Steering Committee.

Special Despatch to THE SUN.

WASHINGTON, July 21.—With the return to-day of the House of Representatives...

Mann Hedges on Heinous.

Mr. Mann refused to state whether he had come back because of the situation...

The present Republican muddle, which has caused much criticism by members of the party...

Representative Longworth (Ohio), leader of the movement, said he would make an effort in the proposed caucus...

The contention is that only the large cities are represented by the present committee, which is composed of Representatives...

Many districts from which the Republicans made large gains in the last election are not represented on the committee...

Republican Floor Leader Mondell

and Representative Madden both stated they would oppose the increase, claiming more members would only make matters worse.

Recent Failures Criticized.

Much will depend, it is admitted, on the stand of Mr. Mann. An ovation was given him when he appeared on the floor to-day.

There were no indications that a complete overthrow of party leadership was planned, but the impression was that conditions should be remedied to prevent recurrence of recent failures in leadership...

Prohibitionists are peeved at Mr. Mondell for his recent sudden refusal to hold a night session on the prohibition bill, after it had been scheduled. Other indications of a lack of unity pointed to the opposition of Mr. Mondell on one day toward increasing the appropriation for vocational rehabilitation work...

A break among Republican leaders on the increases of the army appropriation as agreed upon by the House and Senate conferees.

Friction between Senate and House leaders over the large increases in appropriations granted by the Senate.

WILSON GREET'S BELGIANS.

Congratulates King on Anniversary of Country's Independence. WASHINGTON, July 21.—President Wilson has sent this message to King Albert of Belgium...

It is indeed a great pleasure for me to send to your Majesty a message of congratulation on the anniversary of your country's independence...

DUKE IS HOST TO PERSHING.

General Attends Dance and is Guest of Lady Carson.

LONDON, July 21.—Gen. Pershing, whose visit to London has been marked by an almost continuous round of formal dinners...

FOUR PRIVATES KILLED.

Additions to Casualties Announced by War Department.

WASHINGTON, July 21.—An army casualty list to-day contained the names of four privates killed in action.

CARRANZA TO PROTECT OIL.

Consul Says 5,000 Troops Are to Be Sent to Tampico Field.

ORLANDO, Tex., July 21.—The Carranza Government is preparing to assert full control in the oil regions and reduce the power of unattached bandit groups by sending 5,000 infantry, one or two battalions of machine guns, two to three airplanes and five batteries of field artillery into the Tampico field.

The Housing Problem

No. 4

The savings banks and life insurance companies cannot help much in the construction of new houses unless they have money of their own to invest.

The title insurance and mortgage companies cannot help much unless the individual investors in great volume purchase the mortgages which these companies are continually making.

These latter companies have been lending freely and have been of great help in promoting the construction movement which has already taken place.

They cannot continue to do this unless the investing public, generally, backs them up and takes the mortgages off their hands so as to release their money to be loaned over again.

TITLE GUARANTEE AND TRUST CO.

U. S. PART IN BALKAN TREATIES UNCERTAIN

Venizelos Raises Question of Participation.

PARIS, July 21.—There is much speculation in Peace Conference circles as to whether the American delegation will continue active participation in the framing of the Bulgarian peace treaty...

MORGENTHAU AND STAFF IN POLAND

Will Investigate Conditions of the Jews There.

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN from the London Times Service. Copyright, 1919; all rights reserved.

WARSAW, July 21.—Henry Morgenthau, formerly American Ambassador to Turkey, arrived here to-day at the head of a strong commission to investigate the conditions of the Jews in Poland.

His arrival will be welcomed by the Jews of Poland, for it is to their interest that the facts regarding the Jews and their treatment should be brought to light by an impartial judge of acknowledged standing.

The Jewish question in Poland has been so misrepresented in Western countries that the most fantastic ideas on the subject have been gained currency. Serious damage is thus being done to the credit of the new State.

The persecution of the Jews has, however, been exaggerated. Cases of murder of Jews in recent anti-Semitic riots I believe to have been very few.

Jews were killed in rioting in towns such as Lemberg and Vilna before order was restored. These cannot be regarded as instances of anti-Semitic persecution. With the present Government a policy never existed.

Each of the numerous Ministries has worked as watertight compartments, there being no central direction and a great lack of organized efforts. For instance, the Germans commenced a systematic exploitation of the great state forests of Bialowieska, between Rialovsk and Brest-Litovsk, they laid down miles of light railway and employed 12,000 men there. Here was a proposition to interest three Ministers in this exploitation, although great pains had been taken to institute public works for unemployed on the one hand and increase the production of the country for export.

Whether the present Ministry will disappear entirely or whether it will return reformed by alterations in the Ministries principally attacked is uncertain.

ROB BANK WITH AUTOMOBILE.

Two Thieves Get $1,200 in Maryland Institution and Escape.

WALKERSVILLE, Md., July 21.—Two men entered a local bank this afternoon, and after holding up the cashier escaped in a waiting automobile worth $1,200. The car was later abandoned near Mount Airy, Maryland. The two men disappeared into nearby woods. The sheriff and a large posse of men were searching the country until late to-night.

Refuses to Press Charges.

Mrs. Fitzgerald was in tears and Meadames Grechua and Kohut were in a rage. Lieut. Kenny on duty at the desk gave indication of great diplomatic talent in the manner in which he presided over the controversy.

"I never was in a court-room before," wailed Mrs. Fitzgerald, who repeatedly addressed Lieut. Kenny as "Your Honor."

Kenny explained to her that she was not a prisoner herself, but was merely asked to press a complaint against her two assailants.

"My what?" asked Mrs. Fitzgerald. "Your assailants," said Lieut. Kenny. "These women who assaulted you."

"Oh, no, your Honor, they didn't do nothing like that," protested Mrs. Fitzgerald. "They only gave me a black eye."

Finally Mrs. Fitzgerald's heart melted and she wept. Lieut. Kenny insisted that he "leave them go." So out the door the two strikers went.

A representative of THE SUN made inquiry of a group of strikers regarding the nature of their grievances, and was menaced with a stick about five feet in length and containing various nails and much mud.

He asked Janitor James Perkins, who said: "Why, they don't know themselves. They're getting more money already than the women that work in some of the other buildings around here."

It was learned later, however, that the women are dissatisfied with their weekly wages, which run from $4 to $5 in the morning and from 5 to 7 at night. They receive a trifle more than $5 a week and they want $7. About one hundred of them joined the strike, while about thirty refused to do so.

The great building was attacked on three fronts. Battles raged in Nassau street and in Cedar street and in Liberty street. Slovaks were digging their nails into the flesh of Czechs-Slovaks. Slavs were chawing off the ears of Jews-Slavs. Lithuanians beat Ruthenians. Caledonians pummeled Hibernians. Poles pounded Austrians. Germans kicked Rumanians. Rumanians tore the hats of Bulgarians.

The melee was so thoroughly international as anything the world has had to witness in a long time. There was a grand babel of languages that defied the best of interpreters. There was invective and abuse in tongues from regions of the East and West. The Kola Peninsula and various other geographical points from the Red Sea to Killymore.

The police restore order. This row might be going on yet had it not been for strong arm intervention by reserves from the Old Slip police station, who arrived on the run and flourishing their nightsticks. The police closed in on the disturbers even as master strategists should. They approached in pincer formation from Nassau, Liberty and Cedar streets.

The resistance at first was stubborn and came from long sticks which the strikers held in their hands. Notwithstanding this fact the police gained a hundred feet in their rush, and in ten minutes had extended their lines for a block in every direction from the building about which the riot centered.

The row might have been thought finished, but this war like many another refused to expire easily. The officers found the building intact and within it they found a party of the women who had refused to strike huddled together in terror and afraid to leave. Janitor James Perkins was in charge of the group and he explained that they wanted to get to Broadway where they might get the cars for home.

Under a strong police convoy this party set forth for the avenue of transportation, but an attacking force of strikers broke through the lines with wild war whoops and when the smoke of battle had cleared Mrs. Margaret Fitzgerald of 448 Wythe avenue, Brooklyn, was shooting large tears and Mary Grechua of 229 East Third street and Julia Kohut of 25 Avenue C, who had engaged her in combat, were in the hands of the police.

Around at the old Slip police station, where the women were taken, there developed a scene which enabled an observer to understand why it took the folk at Versailles so long to settle those European differences.

Mrs. Fitzgerald was in tears and Meadames Grechua and Kohut were in a rage. Lieut. Kenny on duty at the desk gave indication of great diplomatic talent in the manner in which he presided over the controversy.

"I never was in a court-room before," wailed Mrs. Fitzgerald, who repeatedly addressed Lieut. Kenny as "Your Honor."

Kenny explained to her that she was not a prisoner herself, but was merely asked to press a complaint against her two assailants.

"My what?" asked Mrs. Fitzgerald. "Your assailants," said Lieut. Kenny. "These women who assaulted you."

"Oh, no, your Honor, they didn't do nothing like that," protested Mrs. Fitzgerald. "They only gave me a black eye."

Finally Mrs. Fitzgerald's heart melted and she wept. Lieut. Kenny insisted that he "leave them go." So out the door the two strikers went.

SCRUBWOMEN WAGE BATTLE IN STREETS

Hot Fight Follows Attempt of Strikers to Enlist Others in Cause.

POLICE RUSH TO RESCUE

Representatives of All Nations Indulge in Hair Pulling and Face Scratching.

Some of the ladies who scrub the floors of the Mutual Life Building, at 22 Nassau street, started out last night to mop up the ladies who refused to join them in a demand for more pay, and for a while it looked like the police, who were hastily summoned, would find a good second in what one of their number described as the "battle of broomstick" which ensued.

It started about 7 o'clock P. M. and for a good while was a lively tussle, for there was hair pulling and there was scratching of faces and there were loud imprecations.

The great building was attacked on three fronts. Battles raged in Nassau street and in Cedar street and in Liberty street. Slovaks were digging their nails into the flesh of Czechs-Slovaks. Slavs were chawing off the ears of Jews-Slavs. Lithuanians beat Ruthenians. Caledonians pummeled Hibernians. Poles pounded Austrians. Germans kicked Rumanians. Rumanians tore the hats of Bulgarians.

The melee was so thoroughly international as anything the world has had to witness in a long time. There was a grand babel of languages that defied the best of interpreters. There was invective and abuse in tongues from regions of the East and West. The Kola Peninsula and various other geographical points from the Red Sea to Killymore.

The police restore order. This row might be going on yet had it not been for strong arm intervention by reserves from the Old Slip police station, who arrived on the run and flourishing their nightsticks. The police closed in on the disturbers even as master strategists should. They approached in pincer formation from Nassau, Liberty and Cedar streets.

The resistance at first was stubborn and came from long sticks which the strikers held in their hands. Notwithstanding this fact the police gained a hundred feet in their rush, and in ten minutes had extended their lines for a block in every direction from the building about which the riot centered.

The row might have been thought finished, but this war like many another refused to expire easily. The officers found the building intact and within it they found a party of the women who had refused to strike huddled together in terror and afraid to leave. Janitor James Perkins was in charge of the group and he explained that they wanted to get to Broadway where they might get the cars for home.

Under a strong police convoy this party set forth for the avenue of transportation, but an attacking force of strikers broke through the lines with wild war whoops and when the smoke of battle had cleared Mrs. Margaret Fitzgerald of 448 Wythe avenue, Brooklyn, was shooting large tears and Mary Grechua of 229 East Third street and Julia Kohut of 25 Avenue C, who had engaged her in combat, were in the hands of the police.

Around at the old Slip police station, where the women were taken, there developed a scene which enabled an observer to understand why it took the folk at Versailles so long to settle those European differences.

Mrs. Fitzgerald was in tears and Meadames Grechua and Kohut were in a rage. Lieut. Kenny on duty at the desk gave indication of great diplomatic talent in the manner in which he presided over the controversy.

"I never was in a court-room before," wailed Mrs. Fitzgerald, who repeatedly addressed Lieut. Kenny as "Your Honor."

Kenny explained to her that she was not a prisoner herself, but was merely asked to press a complaint against her two assailants.

"My what?" asked Mrs. Fitzgerald. "Your assailants," said Lieut. Kenny. "These women who assaulted you."

"Oh, no, your Honor, they didn't do nothing like that," protested Mrs. Fitzgerald. "They only gave me a black eye."

Finally Mrs. Fitzgerald's heart melted and she wept. Lieut. Kenny insisted that he "leave them go." So out the door the two strikers went.

A representative of THE SUN made inquiry of a group of strikers regarding the nature of their grievances, and was menaced with a stick about five feet in length and containing various nails and much mud.

He asked Janitor James Perkins, who said: "Why, they don't know themselves. They're getting more money already than the women that work in some of the other buildings around here."

It was learned later, however, that the women are dissatisfied with their weekly wages, which run from $4 to $5 in the morning and from 5 to 7 at night. They receive a trifle more than $5 a week and they want $7. About one hundred of them joined the strike, while about thirty refused to do so.

The great building was attacked on three fronts. Battles raged in Nassau street and in Cedar street and in Liberty street. Slovaks were digging their nails into the flesh of Czechs-Slovaks. Slavs were chawing off the ears of Jews-Slavs. Lithuanians beat Ruthenians. Caledonians pummeled Hibernians. Poles pounded Austrians. Germans kicked Rumanians. Rumanians tore the hats of Bulgarians.

The melee was so thoroughly international as anything the world has had to witness in a long time. There was a grand babel of languages that defied the best of interpreters. There was invective and abuse in tongues from regions of the East and West. The Kola Peninsula and various other geographical points from the Red Sea to Killymore.

The police restore order. This row might be going on yet had it not been for strong arm intervention by reserves from the Old Slip police station, who arrived on the run and flourishing their nightsticks. The police closed in on the disturbers even as master strategists should. They approached in pincer formation from Nassau, Liberty and Cedar streets.

The resistance at first was stubborn and came from long sticks which the strikers held in their hands. Notwithstanding this fact the police gained a hundred feet in their rush, and in ten minutes had extended their lines for a block in every direction from the building about which the riot centered.

The row might have been thought finished, but this war like many another refused to expire easily. The officers found the building intact and within it they found a party of the women who had refused to strike huddled together in terror and afraid to leave. Janitor James Perkins was in charge of the group and he explained that they wanted to get to Broadway where they might get the cars for home.

Under a strong police convoy this party set forth for the avenue of transportation, but an attacking force of strikers broke through the lines with wild war whoops and when the smoke of battle had cleared Mrs. Margaret Fitzgerald of 448 Wythe avenue, Brooklyn, was shooting large tears and Mary Grechua of 229 East Third street and Julia Kohut of 25 Avenue C, who had engaged her in combat, were in the hands of the police.

Around at the old Slip police station, where the women were taken, there developed a scene which enabled an observer to understand why it took the folk at Versailles so long to settle those European differences.

Mrs. Fitzgerald was in tears and Meadames Grechua and Kohut were in a rage. Lieut. Kenny on duty at the desk gave indication of great diplomatic talent in the manner in which he presided over the controversy.

"I never was in a court-room before," wailed Mrs. Fitzgerald, who repeatedly addressed Lieut. Kenny as "Your Honor."

Kenny explained to her that she was not a prisoner herself, but was merely asked to press a complaint against her two assailants.

"My what?" asked Mrs. Fitzgerald. "Your assailants," said Lieut. Kenny. "These women who assaulted you."

"Oh, no, your Honor, they didn't do nothing like that," protested Mrs. Fitzgerald. "They only gave me a black eye."

Finally Mrs. Fitzgerald's heart melted and she wept. Lieut. Kenny insisted that he "leave them go." So out the door the two strikers went.

A representative of THE SUN made inquiry of a group of strikers regarding the nature of their grievances, and was menaced with a stick about five feet in length and containing various nails and much mud.

He asked Janitor James Perkins, who said: "Why, they don't know themselves. They're getting more money already than the women that work in some of the other buildings around here."

It was learned later, however, that the women are dissatisfied with their weekly wages, which run from $4 to $5 in the morning and from 5 to 7 at night. They receive a trifle more than $5 a week and they want $7. About one hundred of them joined the strike, while about thirty refused to do so.

The great building was attacked on three fronts. Battles raged in Nassau street and in Cedar street and in Liberty street. Slovaks were digging their nails into the flesh of Czechs-Slovaks. Slavs were chawing off the ears of Jews-Slavs. Lithuanians beat Ruthenians. Caledonians pummeled Hibernians. Poles pounded Austrians. Germans kicked Rumanians. Rumanians tore the hats of Bulgarians.

The melee was so thoroughly international as anything the world has had to witness in a long time. There was a grand babel of languages that defied the best of interpreters. There was invective and abuse in tongues from regions of the East and West. The Kola Peninsula and various other geographical points from the Red Sea to Killymore.

The police restore order. This row might be going on yet had it not been for strong arm intervention by reserves from the Old Slip police station, who arrived on the run and flourishing their nightsticks. The police closed in on the disturbers even as master strategists should. They approached in pincer formation from Nassau, Liberty and Cedar streets.

The resistance at first was stubborn and came from long sticks which the strikers held in their hands. Notwithstanding this fact the police gained a hundred feet in their rush, and in ten minutes had extended their lines for a block in every direction from the building about which the riot centered.

The row might have been thought finished, but this war like many another refused to expire easily. The officers found the building intact and within it they found a party of the women who had refused to strike huddled together in terror and afraid to leave. Janitor James Perkins was in charge of the group and he explained that they wanted to get to Broadway where they might get the cars for home.

REDS' LITERATURE IS CAMOUFLAGED

Found in Packages Wrapped With Copies of Conservative Publications.

ADDRESSED TO THE WEST

East Side Lunchrooms Found Selling Socialist Magazines.

More light was shed yesterday upon the varieties of camouflage employed by ultra radical groups for disseminating throughout the country quantities of seditious reading matter.

According to officials investigating the activities of the various groups commonly classed as Bolsheviki, the Russian Peasant Society of East Fifteenth street is one of several that have been caught in the act of shipping their literature by express so wrapped that ordinarily no one would suspect its real nature.

Several bundles of matter expressed by the Russian radical organization were found to contain on the exterior copies of the most conservative American publications and on the interior pamphlets of such violent nature that ordinarily never have been delivered by any express company knowing their contents. The matter was addressed to Western extreme groups.

Discovery of the scheme came about through the same source by which the agents of the Department of Justice and members of the police bomb squad learned of the smuggling of radical literature to aliens on Ellis island and in various prisons.

Officials said yesterday that they had learned of various attempts by imprisoned anarchists and extreme radicals to convert their warden and keepers, as well as directing vigorous campaigns to enlist fellow convicts in the ranks of their organizations.

Members of the police bomb squad under Sergeant James J. Gegan discovered yesterday that a great number of East Side lunchrooms were being used as places for the distribution of "red" literature. It was found that copies of a magazine known as The Commonwealth, edited by Henry Jager and printed at the Rand School building, were being sold by cashiers in restaurants in Fourth avenue.

Whether there is any violation of the law in such distribution the authorities had not determined last night, as the papers had not been analyzed very carefully. It is recalled.

No action whatever was taken yesterday by either the Department of Justice or the United States Attorney's office regarding the publication in The Nation of an intercepted private State Department communication in which the president's part was advised against favoring the Kitchak anti-Bolshevik forces in Russia. Reports that Oswald Garrison Villard, editor of the paper, was to be questioned by the authorities proved groundless. It was announced that no order had been received for interrogating the publisher.

Feathers in Factory Burned.

Feathers valued at several thousand dollars were destroyed by a fire in the factory of J. R. Mitchell, 609 East Twenty-first street, yesterday. The blaze started from a spark caused by the friction of a conveyor that carried the feathers from the second to the third floor.

NEW RHINE FORCE TO RETURN.

WASHINGTON, July 21.—The Third Division has received its orders to return home, the War Department was advised to-day officially. This leaves only one element in the Rhine, comprising the American forces on the Rhine that has not received orders for home.

THIRD SINNOTT NOW ON CITY'S PAYROLL

Capt. F. J. Sinnott, brother of Mayor's Secretary, Gets $6,000 a Year Job.

Announcement was made yesterday of the appointment to a $6,000 a year job of Capt. Francis J. Sinnott, brother of John F. Sinnott, secretary to and prospective son-in-law of Mayor Hylan. This will make a yearly grand total of $23,250 of the taxpayers' money going to the Hylands, Sinnott and O'Hara families.

Mrs. Hylan is an ex-Gazette. The position into which Capt. Sinnott has been placed was one created since the separation of the regulatory and construction branches of the Public Service Commission. The old commission had a secretary at $6,000 a year who did all the work of that body. He is James B. Walker, who has had much experience in the work and has been retained by Commissioner Nixon. But John H. Delaney, the Transit Construction Commissioner, conceived the idea that his department which has been severed from the old Public Service Commission, should have a secretary. So the place was created and given to Capt. Sinnott.

The captain, who is a son of James P. Sinnott, a Tax Commissioner and old friend of Mayor Hylan, was an engineer with Frederick Crandall from 1912 to 1917. During the war he was in the 2024 Engineers of the Seventy-seventh Division. He was wounded in the battle of the Aisne.

These are the yearly salaries now collected from the City by the Hyland-Sinnott-O'Hara combination:

John F. Hylan, Mayor, $11,000
John P. Sinnott, Secretary, $7,000
Francis J. Sinnott, Secretary, $6,000
Irving O'Hara, Mayor's Secretary, $2,250
Alma O'Hara, Mayor's Secretary, $2,000

Irving O'Hara, the Mayor's brother-in-law, is a first grade detective and acts as a bodyguard for his Honor as well as starring on the Bomb Squad. Miss O'Hara, his sister, is executive clerk at Police Headquarters.

Crow-Elkhart

4 & 6 cylinder
4 Pass. Roadsters
IMMEDIATE DELIVERY
Crow Motor Sales Co.
Broadway at 53rd Street

NEW YORK'S LEADING THEATRES.

NEW AMSTERDAM 815
FOR WED & SAT MATS $2.
ZIEGFELD FOLLIES
ON THE COOL ROOF
ZIEGFELD 3 O'CLOCK REVUE
MIDNIGHT FROLIC
ZIEGFELD BEAUTIES

LIBERTY 80th St. Popular Mat. Sat. 2.00
GEORGE WHITE'S SCANDALS
ANN PENNINGTON'S SCANDALS
LIGHTNIN GAIEY
3 WISE FOOLS
CORT
Cohen & Harris Theatre, West 81 St.
ROYAL VAGABOND
Henry Miller's Theatre, 124 W. 43d St.
LA LA LUCILLE
GLOBE, Eves. 8.20. Mat. To-morrow (Pop. 148 Sat. Charles Dillingham's latest musical comedy.
SHE'S A GOOD FELLOW
Knickerbocker, Eves. 8.15. Mat. Eves. 8.15. 8 MONTH JOHN CORT'S Musical Comedy.
LISTEN LESTER
ANOTHER GRIFFITH KNOCKOUT
"The Fall of Babylon"
GEO. M. COHAN THEATRE
McBride's Ticket Offices
PRICES 50c. To $1.00.

CLARA K. YOUNG
"The Better Wife"
RIVOLI
VIVIAN MARTIN in "Louisiana"
RIVOLI ORCHESTRA

AMUSEMENTS.
AMERICA'S FOREMOST THEATRES AND HITS UNDER THE DIRECTION OF LEE AND J. SHUBERT.
WINTER GARDEN BROADWAY
MONTICRISTO JR.
'A Diamond Mine of Entertainment'
CENTURY GROVE 100th St. CENTURY THEATRE
MIDNIGHT WHIRL
MAXINE ELLIOTT
VANDERBILT
ELTINGE
UP IN WABEL'S ROOM
PLAYHOUSE
NEW YORK'S GREATEST SUCCESS!
"AT 9:45"
IS THE TALK OF THE TOWN!
GENERAL THEATRE
PARENTS
"OPEN YOUR EYES"
GREENWICH VILLAGE
VILLAGE FOLLIES
B.S. Broadway
YANKIE DOODLE IN BERLIN
BATHING BEAUTIES
TYSON & CO.
PALACE
RIVERSIDE
COLUMBIA

AMUSEMENTS.
AMERICA'S FOREMOST THEATRES AND HITS UNDER THE DIRECTION OF LEE AND J. SHUBERT.
WINTER GARDEN BROADWAY
MONTICRISTO JR.
'A Diamond Mine of Entertainment'
CENTURY GROVE 100th St. CENTURY THEATRE
MIDNIGHT WHIRL
MAXINE ELLIOTT
VANDERBILT
ELTINGE
UP IN WABEL'S ROOM
PLAYHOUSE
NEW YORK'S GREATEST SUCCESS!
"AT 9:45"
IS THE TALK OF THE TOWN!
GENERAL THEATRE
PARENTS
"OPEN YOUR EYES"
GREENWICH VILLAGE
VILLAGE FOLLIES
B.S. Broadway
YANKIE DOODLE IN BERLIN
BATHING BEAUTIES
TYSON & CO.
PALACE
RIVERSIDE
COLUMBIA

AMUSEMENTS.
AMERICA'S FOREMOST THEATRES AND HITS UNDER THE DIRECTION OF LEE AND J. SHUBERT.
WINTER GARDEN BROADWAY
MONTICRISTO JR.
'A Diamond Mine of Entertainment'
CENTURY GROVE 100th St. CENTURY THEATRE
MIDNIGHT WHIRL
MAXINE ELLIOTT
VANDERBILT
ELTINGE
UP IN WABEL'S ROOM
PLAYHOUSE
NEW YORK'S GREATEST SUCCESS!
"AT 9:45"
IS THE TALK OF THE TOWN!
GENERAL THEATRE
PARENTS
"OPEN YOUR EYES"
GREENWICH VILLAGE
VILLAGE FOLLIES
B.S. Broadway
YANKIE DOODLE IN BERLIN
BATHING BEAUTIES
TYSON & CO.
PALACE
RIVERSIDE
COLUMBIA