

ACADEMY OF SAINT JOSEPH IN THE PINES BRENTWOOD, N.Y.

Boarding School for Young Ladies and Little Girls

BRENTWOOD, known as the Capital of the Pine Region, is delightfully situated in the centre of Long Island. Pine Park, its garden spot, now named Saint Joseph's-in-the-Pines, contains in its stretch of more than three hundred acres: Woodlands, groves, orchards, vineyards, farms, lawns, and driveways, presenting landscapes on every side, restful, attractive, beautiful, picturesque.

Saint Joseph's Hall, the magnificent fireproof main building, comprises in its exquisite appointments: Parlors, classrooms, study halls, vocal and instrumental studios, libraries, laboratories, private rooms, dormitories and roof gardens.

Brentwood may be reached in less than one hour and a half, by subway, from Pennsylvania Station, Seventh Avenue and Thirty-third Street, New York. Trains leave also from Flatbush Avenue Station, Brooklyn, and Jamaica, Long Island.

The Brentwood Station is within ten minutes' walk of the academy.

Besides the acknowledged healthfulness of Suffolk County, in which the admirers of Brentwood enthusiastically exult; they expatiate even more emphatically on the beneficial influences of its far-extending groves of Pines.

St. Joseph's College for Women, 245 Clinton Avenue, Brooklyn, New York.

FEBRUARY 24, 1916, a College Charter was granted by the Board of Regents of the University, New York, for the opening of Saint Joseph's Day College for Women.

At present the reception of students is unlimited, as the four collegiate grades are embraced in the curriculum.

For the work of the graduating year, extra professors will be added to the present excellent faculty.

It is hoped that many of this year's graduates of the high schools in the City will join Saint Joseph's Freshman Class this fall. Several representatives of the Brentwood Class of 1919, applied for admission before the close of the term.

For further particulars, address Mother Superior, Academy of Saint Joseph, Brentwood, New York, or the Dean of Saint Joseph's College for Women, 245 Clinton Avenue, Brooklyn, New York.
