

In the Paris Salon is this symbolic representation of Verdun's defiance of the Germans, portrayed by E. M. Sandoz.
Photo. Underwood & Underwood.

Reni Mal thus represents "America" in the current exhibition in the Salon de Paris.
Photo, Underwood & Underwood.

Even cinema stars have vacations. Peggy Hyland using part of hers to mow a lawn.

Latest portrait of the Earl of Athlone, slated to succeed the Duke of Devonshire as Governor-General of Canada.
Photo, Graphic News.

Miriam Cooper isn't posing here, though it would seem so. She is on vacation from her screen work and is in ideal surroundings.

Pearl White, idol of moving picture fans, is having a lively holiday this fall with these two youngsters to help amuse her.

Going camping in the woods with a willing burro to carry you and a full equipment is Madlaine Traverse's idea of escaping from the camera man for a while.