

FIVE GERMAN SHIPS RELEASED BY ARMY

Imperator Included in Vessels Relinquished to U. S. Shipping Board.

THREE OTHERS ARE HELD

Bottoms Believed Held in Retaliation for Seized Tankers.

Army officials at Hoboken, on behalf of the War Department, formally turned over yesterday to the United States Shipping Board five of the eight former German steamships, the title to which is under diplomatic discussion between Great Britain and the United States.

The transferred liners are the colossal Imperator, next in tonnage to the Zeppelin, originally the Cleveland; the Pretoria, the Prinz Friedrich Wilhelm and the Zepplin.

It is the general belief among shipping men that the ships have been held pending the restoration to their American owners of about a dozen tankers, recently seized by the naval armistice commission under British direction and allocated to British, French and Belgian shipping firms. This seizure, as told in this Sun yesterday, has been the subject of a warm note of protest to Great Britain.

It is regarded as not improbable that the American diplomats who have charge of the case have decided that five of the eight ships are all that is necessary to cover the value of the association of American tankers. Pending a decision of the matter, however, it is likely that the three other ships will be retained by the War Department.

The ships will remain at the army piers and prepared for American service in the event of the inability of the two Governments to come to an understanding.

The ships were taken over by the allied commission while they were in port after the armistice and were allotted to the United States to bring troops from Europe. The Cunard Line and the P. and O. Navigation Company have more than 1,000 officers and men waiting here to man the ships, and the managers of the lines are confident that eventually they will get possession of them.

COMMISSION GETS RIVAL SHIP CLAIMS

British Call for Imperator to Be Settled.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—Consultations are in progress by cable between the officials in Washington and Paris regarding the disposition of the former German liner Imperator and other passenger steamships which were used for the transportation of American troops but now are claimed by the British Government under allotment by the Reparations Commission, and it is regarded as probable that the question will be settled by that commission.

It was said at the State Department today there was not necessarily any connection between these passenger ships and the Standard Oil Company tankers which were allotted by the Reparations Commission to other Powers because they had been sailed under the German flag, though of American ownership.

It is felt by officials here that there is some urgency in the matter, as the British steamship companies to which the German liners were allotted are maintaining in New York at considerable expense several hundred sailors who were brought over to New York to man the ships.

So far as the oil tankers are concerned it is understood the British Government view is that they should be turned over to the American owners, as the British contention always has been that not the flag but the actual ownership should determine title to such craft. But the allotment having been made by the Reparations Commission, an international body, it is not within the power of the British Government to challenge the decision.

SEEK KIDNAPPED BOY IN EGG HARBOR CITY

Detectives Learn Danish Child Was Seen There.

HAMMONTON, N. J., Oct. 15.—A clue that county officials regard as of value was concentrated upon today in the search for George William Dansey, two and a half years old, who is believed to have been kidnapped. County Detective John T. Wilson and Benjamin Nussbaum left for Egg Harbor City on information that two men carrying a little boy were seen crossing the swamps in that direction on Wednesday or Thursday of last week.

These persons saw the men and the child, and their descriptions of the latter agree in the main with the appearance of the Dansey boy. Detective Wilson said that the information is the first definite clue that has appeared since the search began, and added that he has hopes of important developments within twenty-four hours.

Volunteer possees continued today to search the swamps of the surrounding country.

COL. HOUSE LAUDS ROOSEVELT TRIBUTE

Urges Public to Give to Memorial Fund.

"Roosevelt's do not belong to many generations; let us be thankful that he belonged to ours," is the way Col. Edward M. House, confidential adviser to President Wilson, expresses the spirit which prompted him to accept an invitation to participate in the campaign of the Roosevelt Memorial Association for funds for memorials to perpetuate the character and achievements of the late Col. Theodore Roosevelt.

Col. House arrived Monday from Europe. Illness and the press of official duties at Washington will prevent him from becoming active in the Roosevelt Memorial campaign in New York, he says, but he heartily commends the purpose of the campaign and urges that the public be aroused to a ready response to the appeals for funds.

In a message to Col. William Boyce Thompson, president of the Roosevelt Memorial Association, Col. House says: "Coming generations should be constantly reminded of what he stood for in our public life. When he died a great, virile, wholesome figure disappeared from amongst us."

SALVATION CROWD BRAVES FIRE LAWS

Throng at Temple Eager to Hear Commander Booth.

The Salvation Army, one of whose objects is to save sinners from fire in the hereafter, came near breaking the fire laws of this mortal plane at its meeting at the Metropolitan Temple last night. The occasion was the opening of the army's five day congress, and though it was announced as an executive session and private welcome, 1,800 officers who have come from all points east of Chicago to take part, so many friends and outsiders sought to enter that at least 1,500 persons crowded into the building before a man from the Fire Department gave warning that the audience was 200 over capacity and the doors must be closed. But men and women eager to hear Commander Evangeline Booth hammered at the doors all the evening, and the cadets who acted as ushers had all they could do to keep the peace.

To-day and to-morrow there will be officers' councils at the temple at 10:30 A. M. and 2:30 P. M. On Saturday the Salvation Army will hold a session up Fifth avenue from the headquarters on Fourteenth street. Sunday Commander Booth will address three meetings at the Lexington Theatre, and one of them Major-Gen. David H. Shanks, commander of the Port of Debarcation, Hoboken, will, as representative of Secretary of War Baker, decorate the head of the Salvation Army with the Distinguished Service medal.

BALLOONIST'S BODY FOUND.

Identification of Remains in Lake Will Be Made Certain.

DETROIT, Oct. 15.—Eagle 44, dispatched by the Navy Department to Lake Huron in search for two missing balloonists who were last reported crossing Lake Huron in the national championship balloon race, reported by radio to-night she had picked up the body of a man believed to be one of the aeronauts. The body was found off Baptist Island, southwest of Cape Hurd, the message states.

An official of the race who last week went from St. Louis to Tobermory, Ont., to aid in the search has gone to Baptist Island to identify the body.

NEW U. S. SHIP LINE OPENED.

Vessel Leaves Baltimore Bound for San Francisco.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 15.—Loaded to capacity, the steamship Point Bonita, which inaugurated the service of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company between Baltimore and San Francisco, via the Panama Canal, sailed to-night.

The trip will occupy about thirty days, it was said at the company's office. The ship will touch at various Central American ports as well as at San Pedro, the harbor of Los Angeles.

To Cure A Cold in One Day

Take "Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets"

Be sure you get the Genuine Look for this signature E. W. Grove on the box. 30c

Advertisement for Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets, featuring the signature of E. W. Grove.

Prospective Motor Car Purchasers

Greater New York—Only

If you contemplate the purchase of a pleasure motor car other than a Ford, and desire to pay only part cash, I will finance the transaction for you—and I do not require the dealer's endorsement.

You may pay in cash only 25-35%, 40% or 50%, and pay the balance in 6, 8 or 10 monthly installments, as you desire.

If you have a used car to trade in, I will compute as part of your cash payment the exact amount allowed you by the dealer for such used car.

By paying the dealer, through me, cash in full, without his endorsement on your notes, you can likely obtain from him a larger allowance for your used car—perhaps a sufficient excess to pay my full charge.

I furnish necessary Fire and Theft Insurance, and also Collision, if desired. I charge a sum equivalent to the published insurance rates, plus interest at 6% per annum, plus approximately 2% extra for the accommodation. In other words—Your savings, if you paid all cash of your own, would only amount approximately to a 2% cash discount.

Communicate with me and inform me of the name and style of car you desire, also what percentage cash payment you prefer to make, and the number of months over which the balance should extend. I will then give you complete information.

Harry M. Lasker, 5 Columbus Circle, N. Y. Phone Columbus 8258

DISTRIBUTORS & DEALERS—I will finance your Time Sale, meet with or without recourse.

I do not require you to enter ANY obligation, direct or indirect. If any less accrues I will personally assume it.

TROOPS READY FOR RIOTS, SAYS BAKER

Every Governor Told His Appeal Will Be Answered Without Delay.

LAW MUST BE ENFORCED

Secretary of War Asserts That Federal Agencies Will Be Left Unobstructed.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 15.—Newton D. Baker, Secretary of War, addressing the delegates to the convention of the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs to-night, referring to the agitation and unrest in this country since the signing of the armistice, manifesting itself sometimes in race riots and mob disorder, but for the most part evidenced by widespread industrial controversies, said the Administration in Washington is determined that Federal laws be enforced and Federal agencies left unobstructed, and they will respond instantly to the call of any Governor to suppress riots and disorder in any part of the country.

"They are not partisans in any dispute except one, and that is the dispute between those who want order and those who try to create disorder in America. As between those two contestants they are on the side of order."

In our own country since the armistice there has been growing agitation and unrest. Our newspapers are daily filled with accounts of violent agitation by so-called Bolsheviks and radicals, counselling violence and urging action in behalf of what they call social revolution.

Raiders Get $70,000 in Drugs.

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 15.—In a raid on a rooming house late last night Federal agents seized narcotic drugs said to be worth $70,000. Internal Revenue Inspector Joseph Dederich announced today. Aaron Lowery, in whose rooms the drugs were found, was taken into custody.

The American people will not exchange the solid foundations of their social order for any of these fantastic programmes. The relations of labor and capital are now being seriously considered in Washington by a group of representatives of the various interests and of the public, assembled by the President, and we can look with confidence to a spirit of justice and mature deliberation upon these grave problems from that body.

"In the meantime the timid may take heart. Some times ago I telegraphed to the Governor of every State in the Union that in the event of any civil disorder which he found himself unable to control by reason of the demobilization of the National Guard the Governor should communicate directly with the commanding General of the department in which his State lies, and I correspondingly telegraphed to every department commander to respond instantly with the aid of the Federal troops to any call from a Governor who found himself unable, with the means at his disposal, to suppress disorder and to enforce the local law.

"The Administration in Washington is determined that every Federal agency shall be maintained in the full performance of its functions. We have an army of tried soldiers of true Americanism. They have seen too much disorder in the world to under value law and order in their own country. They will see to it that Federal laws are enforced, and Federal agencies left unobstructed, and they will respond instantly to the call of any Governor to suppress riots and disorder in any part of the country. They are not partisans in any dispute except one, and that is the dispute between those who want order and those who try to create disorder in America. As between those two contestants they are on the side of order."

Armed with revolvers two masked highwaymen held up yesterday the manager and cashier of the Western Electric Company in the firm's manufacturing department at 153 Summit street, Newark, and stole $2,851.22, representing the payroll.

After a long chase Thomas W. Condon, who said he roomed at 16 Lombardy street, was captured in the cellar of 114 Orange street. He had the stolen money and one of the highwaymen written on a piece of paper, evidently for the purpose of identification in case he was shot in the holdup.

William Wagner, manager, and Ernest Zigarelli, cashier, were on their way from the Union National Bank when they were attacked by the highwaymen in the hallway of the factory. The robbers were concealed in the hallways on the first and second floors. Wagner carried the money and one of the highwaymen seized it after he and his companion threatened Wagner and Zigarelli with death.

Pursued by their victims the bandits fled. Zigarelli fired several shots after them. William F. Bellingham, an auto-

DAYLIGHT BANDITS ROB TWO AT PLANT

Ore Captured After Chase in Newark and $2,851 Payroll Recovered.

FOOTPAD GOT $10 WAGE

Prisoner Had Name Written on Paper for Identification if Shot.

mobile demonstrator, who was in his car in front of the building, attempted to run Condon down as the latter dashed into the middle of the roadway. Condon sidestepped, jumped on the runboard of the car, placed his revolver against Bellingham's side and promised to go "nifty-nifty" with him if he would hurry.

Bellingham drove to the quarters of Hook and Ladder Company No. 2 in Plane street and ran his car into the front door, hoping that Condon would be caught, but he jumped from the car, ran through an alleyway and leaped a fence to the yard of the Orange street house, where he was captured.

Patrolman Schmidt entered the cellar with three firemen while others surrounded the house. The officer fired a shot in the direction of a noise that was heard and Condon said he would surrender. Wagner identified him as a man who had worked in the factory.

Condon said his companion was a stranger to him; that they met in front of the Post Office and their conversation drifted to the robbery. He said his companion gave him $10 and the revolver.

PUBLIC LAND BILL ADVANCED.

House Committee Reports It for Favorable Action.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—The public land oil, gas, phosphates and coal leasing bill, recently passed by the Senate, was ordered reported favorably today by the House Public Lands Committee. Few important changes were made by the House committee and Representative Sinnott (Ore.), chairman, said the measure would be called up for House action next week.

The minimum royalty to be paid the Government on oil lands was fixed as one-eighth of the production, instead of one-quarter as provided by the Senate. The amendments proposed by Senator Harris of Georgia, limiting oil stock ownership to one company if it had been created because of an anti-trust law dissolution decree or to escape anti-trust prosecution were eliminated by the committee.

GILHOOLEY'S NAME TO BE PASSPORT

Woman to Help Stowaway Get Into United States.

Sure there's a bond between all the Gilhooley's but it took the redoubtable and persistent Michael Gilhooley five voyages from Brest to New York as a stowaway on a transport and four other ways as a deported alien to awaken an answering throb of sympathy in a Gilhooley breast. The owner of the sympathetic heart dwells in the Hotel Vanderbilt and her full name is Mrs. Marion Gilhooley Curry. The minute Mrs. Curry heard that one of the grand old faculty of Gilhooley was languishing at Ellis Island and about to be sent back for the fifth time she hurried over to see him, and so impressed was she by the way he simply wouldn't give up trying to be one of Uncle Sam's boys that she declared that she was going to get Commissioner Caminetti's permission to take him right up to the Hotel Vanderbilt and introduce him to finger bowls and marble bathtubs and so on.

Mrs. Curry was in Washington yesterday seeing the Commissioner, but a statement issued from the hotel purporting to come from her stated that her intention was to send young Michael to her sister's farm at New Milford and later to some school, where he will be educated and "given a chance to follow any occupation he seems fitted for."

Mrs. Curry says her father was Judge Patrick Hamilton Gilhooley of New Jersey and she couldn't have Gilhooley's knocking in vain at this country's door. "Michael's mother was killed by a bomb at Charleroi, where he was born," Mrs. Curry's statement says, "and his father died before the war. It seems to me that the so called 'incorrigible boy' has merely showed resourcefulness and the ability to look out for himself, and I think he should have a chance."

"This went on for a week, until at last I went downtown and told my troubles to Mr. Bibber, the merchant from whom I had brought our furniture.

"You say it looks all right in the day time and all wrong at night," he said. "What kind of lighting fixtures have you?"

"Just one," I said, "a very striking chandelier."

"Probably too striking," he said. "We used to have just your trouble here in the store. We had handsome fixtures—graceful bowls hung from ornamental chains. And every one of them seemed to hit you right in the eye. I used to say that lots of customers didn't buy our goods because they were admiring our fixtures. But the real truth was that the light was glary and gloomy at the same time—glare on the ceiling and on the polished furniture, and gloom on the floor and in the corners."

"So we changed and put in these." And he pointed down the aisle.

I looked and saw here and there handsome, softly lighted silk shades in various colors. I stepped beneath the nearest one and found myself looking directly up, without blinking, at a glowing disc of glass.

"This," said Mr. Bibber, "is a combination of direct and indirect light. The curved metal deflector throws most of the rays upward and floods the whole room with a mellow, diffused light, while through this glass disc other rays go directly downward, giving an added intensity beneath but filtered so that there is no glare. It can be used with a silk, cretonne or parchment shade in any color. Without the shade it makes a perfect light for the kitchen or bathroom. It is used in many offices and drafting rooms where a brilliant but well diffused light is needed, and it affords the first practical means of using in the home the Mazda C—the most powerful and efficient lamp ever invented."

I went straight from the store to the electrical dealer, and when I found that Duplexlights, including the beautiful shades, cost no more than ordinary lighting fixtures and that they could be put up in a few minutes, I ordered one on the spot. The electrician came right up and in less than half an hour the old chandelier was gone and Duplexlight was in its place.

When my husband came home he went, as usual, to the living room and snapped on the switch. He took one look at the room and exclaimed, "Clever little woman. You've got it at last—how did you do it?"

I pointed to the light. "Why," he said, "I never noticed that."

"You're not supposed to," I said, "not until you've taken in the rest of the room. A light isn't there to be looked at itself. It's there to make the other things in the room look more beautiful."

"Well," he said, "it certainly does make everything in the room look more beautiful—including you."

Which was only his foolish way of complimenting me when he thinks I have done well.

TEAR OFF AND MAIL TODAY

DUPLEX LIGHTING WORKS of General Electric Company 6 West 42nd Street, New York City

Please send me free copy of your illustrated booklet, "Light Where You Want It."

Name _____

Address _____

R. J. REYNOLDS TOBACCO CO. Winston-Salem, N. C.

Re-decorating Rooms with Light

WE moved into our new house this fall and I've had a wonderful time fixing it up. It was just like being a bride again. But I couldn't seem to make the living room right, although most of the things in it were new. I would spend half the day getting the room to look comfortable and inviting. Then, when my husband came home, we would light up and it would look like a runnagale sale.

This went on for a week, until at last I went downtown and told my troubles to Mr. Bibber, the merchant from whom I had brought our furniture.

"You say it looks all right in the day time and all wrong at night," he said. "What kind of lighting fixtures have you?"

"Just one," I said, "a very striking chandelier."

"Probably too striking," he said. "We used to have just your trouble here in the store. We had handsome fixtures—graceful bowls hung from ornamental chains. And every one of them seemed to hit you right in the eye. I used to say that lots of customers didn't buy our goods because they were admiring our fixtures. But the real truth was that the light was glary and gloomy at the same time—glare on the ceiling and on the polished furniture, and gloom on the floor and in the corners."

"So we changed and put in these." And he pointed down the aisle.

I looked and saw here and there handsome, softly lighted silk shades in various colors. I stepped beneath the nearest one and found myself looking directly up, without blinking, at a glowing disc of glass.

"This," said Mr. Bibber, "is a combination of direct and indirect light. The curved metal deflector throws most of the rays upward and floods the whole room with a mellow, diffused light, while through this glass disc other rays go directly downward, giving an added intensity beneath but filtered so that there is no glare. It can be used with a silk, cretonne or parchment shade in any color. Without the shade it makes a perfect light for the kitchen or bathroom. It is used in many offices and drafting rooms where a brilliant but well diffused light is needed, and it affords the first practical means of using in the home the Mazda C—the most powerful and efficient lamp ever invented."

I went straight from the store to the electrical dealer, and when I found that Duplexlights, including the beautiful shades, cost no more than ordinary lighting fixtures and that they could be put up in a few minutes, I ordered one on the spot. The electrician came right up and in less than half an hour the old chandelier was gone and Duplexlight was in its place.

When my husband came home he went, as usual, to the living room and snapped on the switch. He took one look at the room and exclaimed, "Clever little woman. You've got it at last—how did you do it?"

I pointed to the light. "Why," he said, "I never noticed that."

"You're not supposed to," I said, "not until you've taken in the rest of the room. A light isn't there to be looked at itself. It's there to make the other things in the room look more beautiful."

"Well," he said, "it certainly does make everything in the room look more beautiful—including you."

Which was only his foolish way of complimenting me when he thinks I have done well.

TEAR OFF AND MAIL TODAY

DUPLEX LIGHTING WORKS of General Electric Company 6 West 42nd Street, New York City

Please send me free copy of your illustrated booklet, "Light Where You Want It."

Name _____

Address _____

R. J. REYNOLDS TOBACCO CO. Winston-Salem, N. C.

Camels certainly do answer your keenest cigarette desires

—for quality, for refreshing flavor and fragrance, for smooth, delightful mellow-mildness, for "body" and for real and true satisfaction!

You have only to get acquainted with Camels to realize the absolute superiority of the Camel blend of choice Turkish and choice Domestic tobaccos.

And, how you will prefer the Camel blend to either kind of tobacco smoked straight! We tell you it is a revelation!

Camels are so unusual, so unlike any cigarette you ever puffed on! They meet the exacting requirement of the most fastidious smokers!

No matter how liberally you smoke Camels they will not tire your taste! And, it will delight you to discover personally that Camels leave no unpleasant cigarette odor!

So confident are we that Camels will exceed your highest cigarette ideals that we say frankly—compare Camels with any cigarette in the world at any price!

You'll forget all about coupons, premiums or gifts!

Re-decorating Rooms with Light

WE moved into our new house this fall and I've had a wonderful time fixing it up. It was just like being a bride again. But I couldn't seem to make the living room right, although most of the things in it were new. I would spend half the day getting the room to look comfortable and inviting. Then, when my husband came home, we would light up and it would look like a runnagale sale.

This went on for a week, until at last I went downtown and told my troubles to Mr. Bibber, the merchant from whom I had brought our furniture.

"You say it looks all right in the day time and all wrong at night," he said. "What kind of lighting fixtures have you?"

"Just one," I said, "a very striking chandelier."

"Probably too striking," he said. "We used to have just your trouble here in the store. We had handsome fixtures—graceful bowls hung from ornamental chains. And every one of them seemed to hit you right in the eye. I used to say that lots of customers didn't buy our goods because they were admiring our fixtures. But the real truth was that the light was glary and gloomy at the same time—glare on the ceiling and on the polished furniture, and gloom on the floor and in the corners."

"So we changed and put in these." And he pointed down the aisle.

I looked and saw here and there handsome, softly lighted silk shades in various colors. I stepped beneath the nearest one and found myself looking directly up, without blinking, at a glowing disc of glass.

"This," said Mr. Bibber, "is a combination of direct and indirect light. The curved metal deflector throws most of the rays upward and floods the whole room with a mellow, diffused light, while through this glass disc other rays go directly downward, giving an added intensity beneath but filtered so that there is no glare. It can be used with a silk, cretonne or parchment shade in any color. Without the shade it makes a perfect light for the kitchen or bathroom. It is used in many offices and drafting rooms where a brilliant but well diffused light is needed, and it affords the first practical means of using in the home the Mazda C—the most powerful and efficient lamp ever invented."

I went straight from the store to the electrical dealer, and when I found that Duplexlights, including the beautiful shades, cost no more than ordinary lighting fixtures and that they could be put up in a few minutes, I ordered one on the spot. The electrician came right up and in less than half an hour the old chandelier was gone and Duplexlight was in its place.

When my husband came home he went, as usual, to the living room and snapped on the switch. He took one look at the room and exclaimed, "Clever little woman. You've got it at last—how did you do it?"

I pointed to the light. "Why," he said, "I never noticed that."

"You're not supposed to," I said, "not until you've taken in the rest of the room. A light isn't there to be looked at itself. It's there to make the other things in the room look more beautiful."

"Well," he said, "it certainly does make everything in the room look more beautiful—including you."

Which was only his foolish way of complimenting me when he thinks I have done well.

TEAR OFF AND MAIL TODAY

DUPLEX LIGHTING WORKS of General Electric Company 6 West 42nd Street, New York City

Please send me free copy of your illustrated booklet, "Light Where You Want It."

Name _____

Address _____

R. J. REYNOLDS TOBACCO CO. Winston-Salem, N. C.