

WEST SIDE T. C.
FACES ELECTION
WITH STRUGGLE

Opposition Candidates Are Named as Meeting
Approaches.

SCRAP ON POLICY TOO

Session on January 16 Will Be the Hottest in Many Years.

By DANIEL.

For the first time in many years members of the West Side Tennis Club approach their annual election in the throes of a factional fight. The battle has developed not only over men to be chosen for various places but over the policy of American tennis organization, and when the annual meeting is held at Delmonico's on Friday night, January 16, some highly interesting news is sure to result.

Not so long ago the nominating committee, headed by L. J. Carruthers, sent out its selections for the divers offices, places on the board of governors and the nominating committee for 1921. These choices failed to meet with general approval. Younger members, headed by Alrick H. Man, Jr., sent out a letter asking for support for five men who had not been selected by the nominating committee. Many of the older members criticized the selections for another reason. They thought that some of the nominees had been among the powers that be too long and that it behooved them to step down and give other experienced heads a chance.

The nominating committee's choices follow: For president, Charles Sherman Landers; vice-president, S. Fullerton Weaver; treasurer, Hugh C. Guiler; secretary, William Alexander Campbell; captain, Ralph L. Eggers; for governors to serve until January, 1922, A. L. Donno, George Ross Keyson, Julian S. Myrick, William E. S. Strong; nominating committee, Julian B. Beatty, Louis Bender, Edward C. Duble, Franklin P. Ferguson, Howard J. Hill.

The Opposition Candidates.

The faction headed by Man filed the following nominations: For governors to serve until January, 1922, Cedric A. Moller and Dean Matherly; nominating committee, Paul S. Brinsmade, Charles M. Bull, Jr., and Harvey T. Warren. The opposition is supporting the regulation ticket for the various offices, but is said to be opposed to Messrs. Keyson and Strong for the board of governors and Messrs. Beatty, Bender and Ferguson for the nominating committee. There is no opposition to Mr. Landers, who has been president for three years, and Mr. Campbell, who has been secretary for some time.

The fight over policy is perhaps more important to the members of the club than the election in general than that over men. It is rather a complex situation, a struggle which has been going on for some years between those who desire to keep the West Side Club a tennis club organization along the lines of that at Wimbledon in England and those who want to see the club foster a social and club spirit. Under the administration which has guided the club since it came to Forest Hills attempts to hold club dances and bridge parties for the women members have been discouraged. The membership from among residents of Forest Hills has been dropping each year. These residents naturally take possession of the best courts early in the morning on Sundays and holidays and when the old times come from Manhattan they are left out in the cold. The tendency of the Forest Hills contingent is to make the club a local affair. To counteract this curb on the election of Forest Hills folk for the next five years will be suggested at the meeting.

To Vote on National.

The meeting also will vote on the proposition of joining the United States National Lawn Tennis Association for the privilege of holding the national championships for the next five years. Many of the members are opposed to the further development of the club as a national championship venue. They want something more than mere titular tournaments.

The proposition to stage the national championships at Forest Hills from 1920 through 1924 was approved at the meeting of the executive committee of the national association last September. To counteract this curb on the election of Forest Hills folk for the next five years will be suggested at the meeting. He declared that he was satisfied that New York was the only place in the country in which to hold national championships and that the Forest Hills courts were the only ones suited for that purpose. He said that he believed that if the West Siders were given the tournament for five years they would provide a permanent grand stand and arrange to have the courts covered in emergencies. The national tennis association is quite certain to give the West Sides the tournament for five years if they ask for it, and they are almost sure to ask for it. The club will take up the matter of reducing the rental membership from $50 to $60, amending the constitution and increasing the initiation fee. It is quite certain that the session will be the best attended in the history of the club and will be quite as hot as that some years ago, when one faction wanted to move from Broadway and West 23rd street to Ken Gardens and another wanted to go to Forest Hills.

Despite the poor condition of the ice and the fact that it was the first match of the season the scores returned by both teams were above the average for early January. The winning team was presented with the Dalrymple medal.

Of the four rinks on which the matches were contested the Highlanders won on only one. This victory came on rink No. 1, on which the North beat the South, 14 to 11. On the third end of this match the North was leading the South by 10 to 5. Skip Rennie's men started a rally and increased their total to 11 in the next few ends. The Northern team was led by James Whyte, who directed his men's stones in fine order.

The victory of Robert Lauder's team on rink No. 2 came as a surprise. Watt, a veteran of the game, was defeated by skip Lauder's team, 13 to 7. Football Men May Have Hard Time Displacing Combination Now on Floor.

Special Dispatch to The Sun.

WEST POINT, N. Y., Jan. 3.—The Army resumed its basketball schedule to-day after the holiday vacation and signaled its return by defeating Seton Hall, 55 to 7.

Seton Hall never had a chance. The Cadets, with Dabeyes starring, proved too strong in every department of the game. Only once did the visitors register a field goal, and that came early in the first half. The score at half-time was Army, 23; Seton Hall, 5.

Pfeiffer's fine work from the foul line was a feature. Blaik, Daniel and Schaefer, football men and members of the Army's varsity five a year ago, got into the game for the first time this season. It is predicted, however, that they will have a hard time displacing the combination which Coach Shea has built up, and which looks stronger than any five the Army yet has put on to the court.

The Army's plebe team won again to-day, defeating Seton Hall reserves handsily by a score of 43 to 5. The visitors were outclassed from the start. Whitson and Lawrence starred for the Army freshmen. The varsity lineup: Army (45). Seton Hall (7). Timberman. Right forward. Foy. Johnson. Left forward. Flynn. Dabeyes. Centre. McCann. Clifton. Right guard. Metcalf. Pfeiffer. Left guard. M. Flynn. Goals from field—Timberman 2, Cross 3, Johnson, Patterson 2, Dabeyes 2, Clifton, Daniel 2, Pfeiffer 2, McCann. Goals from free-throw—Johnson, Patterson 2, Dabeyes 2, Clifton, Daniel 2, Pfeiffer 2, McCann.

Substitutions—Army: Patterson for Johnson, Cross for Timberman, Blaik for Pfeiffer. Reserve—Timberman, Blaik for Pfeiffer. Goals from field—Timberman 2, Cross 3, Johnson, Patterson 2, Dabeyes 2, Clifton, Daniel 2, Pfeiffer 2, McCann. Goals from free-throw—Johnson, Patterson 2, Dabeyes 2, Clifton, Daniel 2, Pfeiffer 2, McCann.

Another Braden for Yale. Special Dispatch to The Sun.

NEW HAVEN, Jan. 3.—Although Jim Braden is through with Yale football, it became evident to-day that his brother George is ready to follow in the footsteps of his illustrious brother. Young Braden has been tutoring at Rosenbaum's, Milford, and until to-day was undecided as to whether he would enter Yale or Princeton. He has chosen Yale and will enter next fall's freshman class. He is an end of unusual merit and captained the Andover eleven during his senior year there.

Navin Comes Here on Baseball Peace Mission

Presence of Detroit Club Owner Seen as Another Attempt to Effect Compromise in American League Controversy.

By FREDERICK G. LIEB.

The little peace dove again is cooling in the American League.

Frank Navin, president of the Detroit club, once more is in our midst, ostensibly for the purpose of having a mid-winter view of Broadway, but according to a tip from the West he intends to make another plea of "Now, boys, let's all get together."

The fact that Navin was on a peace mission during his last trip to New York, when he said he was here merely to do some Christmas shopping, lends strength to the report. Navin was out last night when an effort was made to reach him. For the present he is trying to dodge interviews.

A few days ago the writer heard that some of the club owners who have been loyal to Johnson have tired of the bickering in this baseball war and believe that something should be done before the entire league goes to chaos. They are not necessarily weakening, but with the training season less than two months away they want to have the baseball deck cleared of litigation before the scheduled meetings.

Ben Johnson was in St. Louis last night and had a conference with Phil Hall, president of the Browns, when the future of the league came in for discussion. Ball and Navin are members of the 1920 board of directors.

Has Not Yet Confered. Harry Frazee, president of the Red Sox, said last night that Navin has not yet tried to get into communication with him, and Col. Ruppert could not be reached by telephone. Col. Houston, the other Yankee owner, is on a hunting trip in Georgia.

While Navin was elected vice-president of the league over Coniskey on the Johnson ticket at the annual meeting of the league, Navin has been considered by the anti-Johnson faction as the most reasonable of the club owners of the opposing side.

For one thing Navin has quite a strong personal interest in the matter. Last year the Tigers did their biggest business in the club's history, and with Dutch Leonard starting the 1920 season, and Flagstad a developed player Navin thinks the Tigers are the most logical club to win the championship next season.

When last in this city Navin admitted that as a club owner in the league with big property rights he was most interested in bringing about peace.

Thomas I. Brown's Craft Overcomes Lead to Take Red Bank Event.

THE WHIM IS SECOND

The Daisy, Leader at Start, Is Forced From Competition by Break.

Special Dispatch to The Sun.

RED BANK, N. J., Jan. 3.—Showing her old-time form of three years ago, when she successfully defended for the North Shrewsbury ice yacht club the third class championship of the American Association by outwitting the new and the Princeton of the Long Branch Ice Yacht and Boat Club, Thomas Irving Brown's Say When won to-day's ten-mile race over the club's triangular course.

The Say When sailed the four rounds of two and a half miles each in 21 minutes and 5 seconds, she was expertly handled by brothers Mart and Oliver Haviland. Two other Haviland brothers, Ailie and Frank, sailed Mr. Brown's latest rigged Wizard, but withdrew in the second round after being left far behind.

For two and a half rounds it was a nip and tuck fight between the Say When and George W. Bray's Daisy, sailed by Reuben White, with Oscar Braun at the sheet. The Daisy, getting away in the lead, finished the first round ten seconds in the lead.

During the second round, however, the Say When caught and passed the Daisy, turning the home stake in the lead by five seconds. On the last leg of the third round the Daisy's starboard side stay parted and she was forced to withdraw.

Henry Applepie's new boat, Whim, sailed by the owner with Lester Conroy as sheet tender, won second honors by finishing 1 minute 15 seconds behind the Say When. The start was made at 3:13:20 in a brisk northwest breeze. The Say When finished at 3:29:20, elapsed time 21 minutes 5 seconds. The Whim finished at 3:35:50, elapsed time 22 minutes 20 seconds.

The official starter was Commodore James Hubbard and the time Beverly W. Brown. In the three yacht races thus far sailed the Say When has won two and the Daisy one. Pierre A. Proal tried his new aerocraft to-day for the first time and was driving over the ice at a rate of more than a mile a minute.

Edward Fiedler, who sails a knock-about in the summer races of the Rumson Country Club, will have his former champion, Druh, in competition against the season for the big racing events, and may be one of the local club defenders. George W. Bray, whose Daisy put up a creditable performance winter before last, will try again for championship honors.

Commodore James B. Weaver, known as the "father" of ice yachting and active in this sport here for the last forty-five years, says he will sail the deck of a new yacht built by his son, James Muller of Newark, which has shipped a first class boat here and races may be arranged between the two yachts, two of the "largest ice yachts in the world."

Among the new ice boats to be tried out this season is a third-class creation of Henry Applepie, who believes he has built a "bullet" which will be heard from. This same young man built a smaller class boat which he named the Vim. She trimmed everything on the river in her class.

BURKHOLDER IS BEST

Puts Annapolis Ahead With Two Field Goals Near the Finish.

Special Dispatch to The Sun.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 3.—In a thrilling game in which ties were made and broken repeatedly and the lead changed several times the Naval Academy won from Stevens Tech at basketball this afternoon, 37 to 34.

Burkholder played an exceptional game for the Navy, while Kurtz and Bettman scored most frequently for the visitors, with Carbon playing an excellent all-round game. The spirited and skilful defence of nearly every man on the floor was a notable feature, particularly in the second half.

The midshipmen took a small lead early in the game and finished the half on the better end of a 15 to 13 score. With several changes Stevens played a faster and more accurate game in the second half, and after tying the score several times and allowing the midshipmen to forge ahead took the lead on two field goals by Kurtz six minutes from closing time.

COLUMBIA STILL CHESS LEADER

Blue and White Retains Intercollegiate Title Which It Won in 1917.

HARVARD FINISHES 2D

Princeton Third and Yale Is Last Without a Single Victory.

Special Dispatch to The Sun.

The Columbia chess quartet yesterday defeated the Yale team on all four boards in the third and final round of the twenty-seventh annual tournament of the C. H. Y. P. League at the rooms of the Brooklyn Chess Club, thereby retaining the championship last won by the Blue and White in December, 1917.

The Columbia team, consisting of M. A. Schapiro, 23; C. B. Isaacson, 21; E. Philip Wolfson, 23, and W. R. Thompson, 22, made a total score of 10 1/4 points out of a possible 15—the highest since Columbia won the title with the aid of Jose R. Capablanca. Isaacson and Thompson both went through the tournament with clean scores. Schapiro, the freshman at the top board, contributed 2 1/2 and Wolfson 2. It was the third defeat by 4-0 meted out to the Yale team, which this year was below par, and in this respect a new record in intercollegiate chess was established.

The struggle for second position between Harvard and Princeton was very keen and resulted in a draw, each team by half a point. Harvard won the match by 3 to 1 and finished with a total of 7 points, against 6 1/2 for Princeton. Edward G. Miles of Princeton, the ambulance driver who gained distinction in the French campaign, was last to finish. He had a splendid opportunity to tie the score, but failed.

Play was delayed because of the annual breakfast tendered by the graduates chess committee at the Sherman Square Hotel. The most important business was the adoption of resolutions in memory of the late Edward A. Caswell, Yale '64, who was known as the "father" of intercollegiate chess. A match with the Triangular College Chess League was also discussed, but no definite action was taken.

Schapiro Starts Well.

At the top board of the Columbia-Yale match Schapiro won a pawn in the opening, a Max Lange attack offered by Caswell, which he met with a gambit exchanged off all the pieces and won the ending after thirty-six moves. Isaacson and Brubacher discussed a Caro-Kann defence, adopted by the latter. The Columbia captain was a gambit player in twenty-eighth move and had a superiority of three pawns to one on the queen's side.

Isaacson avoided several traps laid for him and reduced the forces until each was left with a knight besides the pawn. The game was scored by Isaacson after sixty-five moves.

Wolfson of Columbia played the black side of a Ruy Lopez, in which Brown blundered early, losing a piece. Wolfson won in thirty-nine moves. Thompson of Columbia was white in a queen's gambit, declined, and forcing through a passed pawn on the queen's side of the board, defeated Malsin of Yale in thirty-one moves.

Mott-Smith of Harvard had to deal with a French defence and wrested a pawn from Chamberlain of Princeton in the middle stage of the game. Later he gathered in another pawn and then combined a series of moves, which resulted after thirty-six moves. A most eventful game was that between Johnson of Harvard and Miles of Princeton, the proud possessor of a French defence, who won for bravery in France. Miles opened with the Zukertort debut and mixed up things generally, as is his wont. Old Nassau's representative gave up a piece, but had four pawns in return for it.

Johnson Is Harried.

He had excellent winning chances, the more so as Johnson, in completing his second hour, moved a knight out in half a minute. Miles had a fine position and was attacking, but, although brave amid shot and shell on the battlefield, according to a statement made to-day by Commander D. L. Howard, athletic officer of the Naval Academy, the game will be played on November 27 and Commander Howard will meet Capt. W. H. Stevens, Bettman for Hughes, former athletic representative of the Military Academy, some time next week and arrange for the place of playing and other details.

The right to choose the grounds this time, provided they are not north of New York or south of Philadelphia, Yale is out of the question, owing to distance from Annapolis, but New York, Philadelphia and Princeton are possibilities. New York is favored by a majority of Navy men and all of the Army.

A. K. C. REINSTATES
HOPTON AND THOMAS

Noted Judges Have Been Under Ban Two Years.

Special Dispatch to The Sun.

As was predicted in THE SUN several weeks ago, Charles G. Hopton and George Thomas have been reinstated as judges by the American Kennel Club. They appeared before the license committee on Tuesday last, and were questioned at length by the members. The decision of the committee was reserved until yesterday, when both men were notified that the official ban had been lifted.

Mr. Hopton and Mr. Thomas were suspended by the A. K. C. nearly two years ago. Since then both have made application for reinstatement several times, but it was not until a few weeks ago that the license committee consented to reopen their cases.

Both are expert judges. They have judged at dog shows in all parts of America, Canada and Europe. Mr. Hopton is as well known in Canada and England as he is on this side of the Atlantic.

Kempton was handicapped throughout the 1919 football season by reason of a fall, and now it is reported that his recent ice skating accident may keep him out of football for all time.
