

The King's card, painted by Howard Davie. It shows King Henry VIII, landing at Calais May 31, 1520, to meet Francis I. of France on the Field of the Cloth of Gold.

Christmas Cards of the British Royal Family Add Much to Holiday Art.

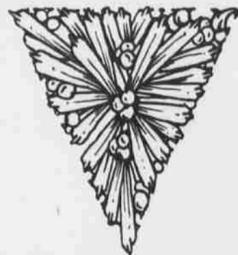

Photos. Courtesy Raphael Tuck & Sons.

The Queen's card, painted by Howard Davie. "England and her daughters embroidering the royal standard."

Queen Alexandra's card. "Christ blessing the little children." Painted by Harriett F. Bennett.

Card sent by the Prince of Wales, painted by Howard Davie. "Founding Britain's Bulwark by King Alfred, A. D. 871-001." To King Alfred may be ascribed the inception of the British Navy, for he built a fleet of 120 ships and trained the crews in sea fighting.

S. Montgomery Roosevelt's allegorical war picture, "The Battle Hymn of the Republic," on view in the Reinhardt Galleries, 565 Fifth Avenue, until January 12. It is attracting widespread attention.

Courtesy Henry Reinhardt & Son.