THE TOBACCO MARKET.

TRADE IN SEED LEAF AND HAVANA.

New York Transactions for the Week Ending May 6—About Imported Cigars. United States Tobacco Journal.

Some streaks of hope and brightness fell upon the market this week. It looked as if the long spell of depression was about to be broken, and the trade once more became animated. Orders for cigars, according to the statements of manufacturers, have become more plentiful and transactions and offers in the leaf districts have been quite an encouraging nature. The aversion to '80 Pennsylvania, too, was not shown as much as formerly, and more liberal views than they have manifested on the part of the holders would undoubtedly have effected some large transactions. The high figures that are being asked for this stock prevents extensive investments in it. Manufacturers cannot disguise the fact that the stock of leaf is exceedingly small, and that the necessity for investing becomes more imperative every day.

The reports of the condition of most of the '81 crops have been too glowing altogether. Packers of '81 Wisconsin, Pennsylvania, New York state and Connecticut have of late taken particular pains in exhibiting samples of their crops. They were, and are, undoubtedly beautiful. Aside from the question whether or not these samples represented only the best of these crops, the effect on purchasers of leaf is one not calculated to induce extensive investments in old stock, except at much reduced figures. The demand for fine '80 New York state is very good, while inferior packings or those of doubtful reputation remain entirely neglected. The '80 Ohio wrappers find easy purchasers at 12 to 13 cents, while filly rolls sell at 4 to 5 cents for export. The straggly lots of '80 Wisconsin that now and then come into the market are taken up quickly at from 8 to 15 cents. Fine '80 Connecticut wrappers are becoming very scarce and command from 35 to 45 cents. The sales of the week were as follows:

Pennsylvania—Crop '80: 700 cases; mostly medium, running 14 to 17 cents; fillers, 6 to 6 1/2 cents.
Connecticut—Crop '80: 350 cases; mostly Housatonic wrappers, 32 and 45 cents.
New York state—Crop '80: 500 cases; fine reported at 17 to 18 cents.
Ohio—Crop '80: 400 cases; wrappers, 12 to 13 cents; fillers and binders, 4 to 5 cents.
Wisconsin—Crop '80: 100 cases, 8 to 12 cents.
Havana—market active. Sales 800 bales, mostly Remedios. Prices firm.
Gans' Report.

Sales of seed leaf tobacco reported by J. S. Gans' Son & Co., tobacco brokers, No. 131 Water street, New York, for the week ending 1882, 1882:

646 cases 1880 State leafs, 11 to 18 cents; 200 cases 1880 Pennsylvania 6 to 20 cents; 150 cases 1880 New England, 13 to 20 cents; 200 cases 1880 Ohio, 4 to 8 cents; 200 Wisconsin, Havana seed, 6 to 10.
Total, 1,596 cases.

Cigars that Sell.
New York Star.

"Imported cigars were never in greater demand," said a large wholesale dealer in imported goods to the reporter. "They command all the prices from $75 to $250 a thousand. A fair cigar can be furnished for $120 a thousand, but if a person desires a good article, he must of necessity pay a higher figure. The grades which are most in demand are those that can be sold over the counter at 15 cents singly or two for 25 cents. Straight ten and 'three for a quarter' grades are usually domestic cigars, bearing Spanish names. Key West, fair article, range from $75 to $125 a thousand. There is no denying the fact that imported brands are inferior to the importations of ten years ago. There is so great a demand for them that the quality of tobacco is not nearly so fine; and then, again, there are more machine-made goods put on the market. Many of the manufacturers make their cigars at home from imported tobacco; but if devoid of flavoring, the average smoker can discern the fraud, for no matter how fine the tobacco, the cigar will not cure so evenly as it does in the tropics.

"We are distributing about 2,000,000 cigars a month," said another manager. "This includes both domestic and imported goods, but mainly the former. We make two great specialties, a five cent and a ten cent cigar, and can furnish as good domestic cigars as any manufacturer can be imported for $110 a thousand. The half-dime grades, which are sold to the trade at $10 a thousand, are most in demand. One of our brands is selling at the rate of 1,000,000 a month. We use no optimum any shape whatever. The cheapest goods on the market are quoted at $11 a thousand. They are from Pennsylvania, made by farmers, and in this city by apprentices, from adulterated goods."

Sumatra Tobacco.
Sumatra tobacco is said to be coming quite largely into use. Whereas a few years ago scarcely a pound of it could be had to-day it is handled quite largely by Schroeder & Son, of New York, and others. It finds a ready market, being much favored by the cigar makers.

No Tax to Reduce Debt.
The Tobacco Leaf lays down its platform as follows: "Abolition, on January 1, 1884, of all internal revenue taxes and restrictions on the tobacco industry in its entirety, with rebate of tax on all unbroken tax paid packages on hand on that date," and no reduction of the national debt. "Better leave it where it is than tax our people to pay it off at the rate of $150,000,000 per annum, or, as will be the case this year, about $100,000,000."

The Tobaccoist is the name of a new trade journal just started in Philadelphia, the first copy of which has just reached the INTELLIGENCER. It is published by Merrill & Jacoby, experienced journalists, and well acquainted with the various tobacco interests of Philadelphia, the second city in the Union, both in population and the amount of its tobacco sales. Until now Philadelphia has never had a representative tobacco journal, and the Tobaccoist supplies a want that has long been felt. The initial number contains forty-eight columns of reading matter and advertisements, including editorials, correspondence, trade reports, literary and other selections of interest to the trade. The Tobaccoist should receive a liberal support in Philadelphia and in all the tobacco districts of Pennsylvania.

Lancaster Tobacco Matter.
The Lancaster market continues quiet. Some 200 cases of the crop of 1880 were sold on private terms last week, but it will take at least a long time to relieve the warehouses of the vast amount stored in them. Dealers continue to buy freely of the crop of 1881, when they can find it of good quality, but they complain of the low grade of most of the goods now offered and the high prices demanded by farmers. Similar complaints are made regarding the York county and Jersey shore crops. Of the latter very little has been yet lifted, and of the former we hear of a few sales of low grade goods at from 6 to 8 cents for wrappers and from 1 to 2 for fillers. There have been some sales of a better grade of York county leaf at 13 cents for wrappers and 3 for fillers.

John Draugher, of Bart, 2 acres to Krieger, at 22, 5, 3.
To Lanchenbruch, Hiram Shenk, of Drumore, 1 acre, at 18, 6, 3. Mr. Helon, 1 acre at 14 round, and Bowman, of Fulton, to same, 2 acres, at 17, 4, 3. Mr. Harraz at 21, 13, 6, 3. Hostetter bought from Crom, Blackburn, of Colerain, one lot at 17, 8, 5, 3, and another at 10, 5, 2.

It will be seen that prices are well maintained, and the probabilities are the making of all the balance at fair prices. The cold weather is hard on the plants, and this taken with the plague of fleas, make farmers feel a little uneasy for the future crop.

The following communication speaks for itself:
LANCASTER, May 8th 1882.
We report a sale of Pennsylvania leaf tobacco made by us last week of 96 cases. Since last September we have sold of 1880 crop:

One lot.....405 cases
One lot.....129 "
One lot.....103 "
One lot.....140 "
One lot.....6 "
One lot.....96 "
Total.....879 "

Only 140 cases of the above have been reported in the papers, this will show that 1880 crop is in hand to sell as is reported. We have yet 400 cases of 1880 to sell.

HER ANSWER.

An Idyl of the Gentle Springtime.

Chicago Tribune.
Does your father keep a dog?"
As George W. Simpson spoke these words in the earnest, tender manner that ever characterized his demeanor towards the gentler sex, Aphrodite McGuire gave an upward glance, half shy, half wonderingly, and then the beautiful brown eyes were again turned away from the little dimpled hands that had been clasping a pillar of the vine-clad porch on which they were standing. The sun glints flattered erratically down between the bright green leaves of the maple tree, the hum of insects filled the air and the pleasant lowing of the cows as they roamed contentedly among the succulent grasses of the meadow was borne up to these two in whose hearts the first promptings of a pure Cooke county love were being felt.

The man was the first to speak. Bending over the little form that stood beside him, he looked with his clear blue eyes upon the coronal of golden locks that crowned Aphrodite's head, and then his eyes wandered to the invisible net which kept the coronal from slipping off when she breeze hit it. "My darling," he whispered softly to himself, "God has made us for each other and we must never be parted. Without you my life would be as desolate as the subscription book of a Milwaukee paper, my whole existence a horrible dream from which there was no awakening." And clutching nervously at his little better-in-spring moustache, with one hand, he gently placed the other upon Aphrodite's shoulder. The girl did not move. Again he touched her but there was no response. Still George suspected nothing. Who can blame his poor innocency? The dress was padded.

"Aphrodite," he said, in low, mellow tones—almost mellow enough to pick, "will you not speak to me and give me hope, one little three-for-five cents hope?" The girl raised her face to his. The happy, careless, as you-going-to-the-bath this evening expression that had marked its every feature before George spoke the fateful words with which this story opens was gone and in its place there came a stern, almost concrete look, that told more eloquently than could words of the terrible struggle that had taken place in the mind of this beautiful, striped-stockinged girl. No words came from the ash lips from which the red blood of youth had flowed, but the wistful, haunted expression of the dusky-brown eyes told all.

"He has got a dog, then?" asked George, his voice quivering with excitement as he spoke.
"Two," murmured the girl, while a storm of sobe shook her form; "and," she added, speaking the words with a tender grace beyond compare, "they are both on the bite."

Any physician who is acquainted with its properties will say that SUILO'S SUIPHUR SOAP is a reliable remedy for local skin diseases.

THE REV. GEO. H. TRAYLER, of Bourbon, Ind., says: "Both myself and wife owe our lives to SUILO'S CONSUMPTION CURE. For sale at Cochran's drug store, 137 North Queen street."

MEDICAL.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS.

Oh, My Back!

That's a common expression and has a world of meaning. How much suffering is summed up in it.

The singular thing about it is that pain in the back is occasioned by so many things. May be caused by kidney disease, liver complaint, consumption, cold, rheumatism, dyspepsia, overwork, nervous debility, &c.

Whatever the cause, don't neglect it. Something is wrong and needs prompt attention. No medicine has yet been discovered that will so quickly and surely cure such diseases as BROWN'S IRON BITTERS, and it does this by commencing at the foundation, and making the blood pure and rich.

Logansport, Ind., Dec. 1, 1880.
For a long time I have been a sufferer from stomach and kidney disease. My appetite was very poor and the very small amount I did eat disagreed with me. I was annoyed very much from retention of the urine. I tried many remedies with no success, until I used Brown's Iron Bitters. Since I used that my stomach does not bother me any. My appetite is simply immense. My kidney trouble is no more, and my general health is such, that I feel like a new man. After the use of Brown's Iron Bitters for one month, I have gained twenty pounds in weight.

O. H. SARGENT.

Leading physicians and clergymen use and recommend BROWN'S IRON BITTERS. It has cured others suffering as you are, and it will cure you.

For sale at H. B. COCHRAN'S Drug Store, 137 North Queen street, Lancaster.

CLOTHING.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS.

The Why of It.

We study our business to find its defects. Its virtues will care for themselves. We do find evidence of sound thought rightly applied in the fact that so few buyers of Clothing at retail leave Oak Hall without purchasing. The steadiness of the May demand, showing a daily increase over any corresponding month, tells the same story. Our plan is to forecast every call that may be made for Men's or Boys' Clothing. Perfection is the ideal, and that it is not completely a myth we and our customers know.

For present trade:
132 kinds of Men's Suits,
50 kinds of Youth's Suits,
50 kinds of Boys' Suits,
