THE DIAMOND LOCK.

AN IMPORTANT INVENTION BY A LANCASTER MACHINIST.

William F. Troast Secures a Patent on the New Invention—Large Order Received by the Manufacturers of the Valuable Instrument.

Some time ago Mr. William F. Troast, a young machinist of this city, with a considerable inventive turn, evolved an idea in lock-making which is destined to have an important influence in that branch of mechanism.

Before the patent was granted, Samuel R. Slaymaker, son of City Registrar S. C. Slaymaker, of John F. Barry, son of the late John M. Barry, two enterprising young men of this city, purchased an interest in the patent together with the exclusive right to manufacture the lock.

The interior construction of the new lock would not be understood by those not acquainted with the technical language of lock-making.

It is sufficient to say that in the interior parts are simpler than those of any other lock, and they are so arranged as to defy any attempt at lock picking.

A San Francisco (Cal.) dispatch to the New York Herald says that Barclay Henry would not be understood by those not acquainted with the technical language of lock-making.

A TOUR OF INSPECTION.

THE HEDGE AND WIRE FENCES OF CHESTER COUNTY ARE EXAMINED.

Landowners and Others Present With Their Views and What They Saw of the National Wire and Hedge Fences—Names of Those on the Brief Excursion.

Under the auspices of the National Hedge and Wire Fence company, of York, Pa., a very pleasant excursion of representative farmers of York and Lancaster counties took a run down the Pennsylvania railroad to take a look at some hedge fences on the farm of Shumaker & Robinson, at Whitford station.

The hedge fences, about sixty rods in length, was the thoroughly examined and a number of farmers who went to the farm unbeliefers came away converts, and to prove their faith gave orders for the new fence.

The fence company took hold of an old fashioned hedge fence, as regarded by the farmers, as a nuisance that they would get rid of.

After dinner the farmers were assembled and Walter Kieffer offered a resolution to the effect that after a thorough examination of the fence it was found to be the best they had ever seen.

The ladies of Hutton, Ind., have formed a Frances Cleveland club. They don't care a cent whether there is a high or low tariff, and it is confidently believed that this will enable it to supplant all others in the market.

CHARGED FIVE CENTS TOO MUCH.

THE SHIPPERS OF CRUDE OIL IN THEIR APPEAL FROM BALTIMORE.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—The Interstate Commerce commission has decided the following case: John Henry Nicolai vs. the Pennsylvania railroad company and others, and J. Parkhurst, jr. & Co. vs. the same defendants. Opinion by Commissioner Morrison.

Complaints do business as oil refiners at Baltimore. It was complained that the railroads charged 50 cents per barrel for the transportation of crude oil from Washington, Pa., to Baltimore, Md. while from Bradford and Clearport, Pa., and Oiland, N. Y., to Baltimore, about the same distance, the charge is but 40 cents per barrel.

It was shown that defendants by agreement operate as a through line and make joint rates which govern the through traffic. The commission decides that carrier, party to a through line, cannot free itself from the responsibility of excessive through rates by setting up the corporate existence of one of the railroads forming the through line as a separate carrier.

It is also held that the appointment of rates to different parts of a through line do not determine the charge to the public, but may be significant on the question of reasonable rates for the whole distance.

The railroads are ordered not to charge more than 40 cents per barrel on crude oil from Washington, Pa., to Baltimore, Md.
