

FACTIVE LEAF MARKET.

LOCAL DEALERS SELL OVER THREE THOUSAND CASES THE PAST WEEK.

A Big Demand for '87 and '88 Goods. Trade in New York Dull-Condition of the New Crop.

The sales of leaf tobacco in the local market the past week were larger than any one week in a year. They aggregate 2,000 cases. Skiles & Fry sold 200 cases of 1899; Abram Collins' administrators sold 200 cases of '88 and '87 seed to E. M. Cohn; David Lederman sold 50 cases of '88; and the same number of '87 crop; John Longwecker, of Mt. Joy, sold 100 cases of '88; and 100 cases of '87 seed to J. J. Frank & Co.; Samuel M. Mumma, of Landisville, sold 100 cases '88 Havana seed; Frank Postgate sold 200 cases of Havana; and bought 200 cases of the same lot; Christian Sides, of Mt. Joy, sold 200 cases of '88 seed to Lachenbruch & Co. Weaver of Millport, sold a quantity of 191 cases of S. Bricoles & Co. sold 125 cases; A. G. Brosey sold 68 cases of Havana and bought 42 cases of seed leaf; a firm who does not desire its name published, sold 600 cases and bought 800.

The '89 crop is being stripped as rapidly as the weather permits. There is some rot among it. There are reports that it is being sold, and it is not probable that there will be any quantity of the new crop purchased until it is ready for the market, which will be about the 15th of November.

Gans' Son, tobacco broker, No. 131 Water street, New York, for the week ending November 3, 1899: 40 cases 1888 New England Havana, 151 to 400; 400 cases 1888 seed Havana, 121 to 140; 400 cases 1888 Wisconsin Havana, 121 to 140; 250 cases 1888 Pennsylvania seed Havana, 115 to 140; 225 cases 1888 Dutch, 91 to 121; 100 cases 1881 Pennsylvania seed leaf, 8 to 12; 200 cases sundries, 45 to 450. Total, 1,915 cases. The Philadelphia Market. From the Tobacco Leaf. A steady sale of leaf tobacco suitable for cigars has been done the past week. Fine domestic wrappers are appreciated and will bring a price not obtainable heretofore. Binders are needed, while the very satisfactory quality of the leaf has looked after while old fillers have become very scarce and are badly wanted, especially if soon. Sumatra moves regularly and at full figures. Havana has the call at all times and sells freely.

PLUNDERED UPON HIM.

George Johnson Probably the Thief Who Has Been Hobbling Houses.

COLUMBIA, Nov. 4.—During Sunday night the house of Squire H. H. Hershaw was robbed of a quantity of edibles. On Monday afternoon a colored man was arrested near the opera house, acting in a suspicious manner. The man was searched and a number of articles found in his possession, which were identified by Squire Hershaw as his property. He was given a hearing before Squire Hershaw, where he gave his name as George Johnson, of Belle's Gap. He had a lot of candles, a milk kettle, and a preserve dish, which were stolen from the squire. A colored man named Chas. W. Smith testified that Johnson had awakened him on Monday morning, while he was sleeping at St. Charles furnace, and had given him some of the stolen edibles. He afterwards told Smith that he had stolen them. Smith also said that Johnson had a dark lantern in his possession, and would go away every night, coming back early in the morning. Johnson denied stealing the articles found on him, but could not give an account of where he obtained them. He has been in town for some time past, and evidently has committed some of the petty thefts which have occurred lately. He was committed to jail for trial at court for larceny and felonious entry.

NEED FOR $500 DAMAGES.

Francis E. Groff, through Wm. T. Brown, Jr. attorney, has brought suit in court of common pleas against Maria C. Clark for $500 damages. THE BIG BEAR KILLED.

Mountville's Attraction Put Out of the Way With a Gun.

The big bear which created such great excitement in Mountville for several days, and in fact had the whole neighborhood aroused, was killed last evening, as that was considered the safest way to get rid of him. The animal was taken to the farm of A. Garber, with the greatest difficulty yesterday. While he was lying upon the ground in the woods several men succeeded in getting a chain around his rear part of his body. By holding on to this and the one at his head they managed to lead and drag him to the barn. He was placed in a stall and fastened to the chains with two chains. The poor beast, which by this time was ravenous with hunger, still had the muzzle over his mouth. He grew more and more angry until he was almost wild with rage. He tried in every way to loosen himself from his fastenings and in his efforts to become free he broke a new spike barrow, which was near him. He then began operations on the sides of the board stall, which he tore down. He finally succeeded in breaking one of the chains that held him and it was then that the people, a large crowd of whom had gathered, became afraid lest he would get loose and attack the cattle or kill some of them. It was finally agreed to kill the animal and it was thought best to shoot him, as no one wished to go near him. He was shot with a new spike hammer for fear that he might assume the role of the executioner himself. The excitement was so great that it was found that had almost succeeded in getting his muzzle almost. A man named Derry finally undertook the task of dispatching the animal. He fired his rifle and the bear fell, but he made a neat job of this one. He procured his gun, and, loading it heavily, shot into him. The animal rolled over on its side and the men moved forward. He was then dragged out of the stable and placed upon a pair of scales, which he turned at 240 pounds. He was then taken to the mill and there he was killed and this ends Mountville's first bear experience, which was lively while it lasted.

MANHEIM KNITTING MILLS.

A New Industry to Employ 100 Hands Opened.

MANHEIM, Nov. 3.—Yesterday operations began in the new knitting mill at Manheim, Messrs. Lautenbacher and Emerich, proprietors. Eighty-five girls presented themselves for work, five of whom the proprietors were immediately compelled to turn away for the present until the others have learned to knit the hose. The plant was moved here from Schuylkill Haven, and five skilled operators were brought from that place to teach the applicants. These had a busy time today moving amongst the eighty girls who were experimenting upon an intricate work of knitting gentlemen's half hose. After all departments are fully in progress, about one hundred hands will be employed. It will require four weeks to learn all branches of the work thoroughly. The rates paid employees will be the same as that paid in the leading mills, and the monthly payroll will amount to between $1,500 and $2,000. The firm have a large number of orders on hand, and as soon as the employees have learned to knit faithfully, will run the mill day and evening in order to supply the large demand. The mill will at present manufacture gentlemen's cotton half hose only, as it is expected at an early date to erect another building of like size of the present for misses' hose.

TROUBLE OVER A DEAD MAN.

Frank Cunningham Died in This City and Several Parties Claim His Estate.

Franklin Cunningham, a well known resident of Lancaster, died at his late residence in this city, of consumption, on Monday afternoon. The deceased was born and raised in Lancaster, and served in the 4th and 10th regiments of the 79th regiment, Pennsylvania volunteers. For many years he was foreman of the tobacco packers in the warehouses of Skiles & Fry, and for several years was a tobacco inspector for Charles Finke & Co. Some years ago he went to Baltimore, where he was employed in an agricultural establishment. Five weeks ago he was brought to this city in the last stages of his disease, which carried him off. During his residence in this city he was a great favorite with the politicians, and took a great interest in the elections. His funeral will take place tomorrow noon from 422 John street, and the interment will be made on the soldiers' lot in Lancaster cemetery.

"The Ruling Passion."

Last evening to a good size audience "The Ruling Passion" was produced in the Fulton opera house. The house bills called it a "Grand Spectacular Production," which it was not. The play is sensational and it was given by a fairly good company. There are several highly interesting characters and a number of improbable situations. The audience seemed to be composed of people who enjoy that kind of plays and at times they applied the acting heartily. The balloon scene was very funny if not very real.
