

THE CINCINNATI ENQUIRER SUNDAY, OCTOBER 22, 1866. SAMUEL D. HARRIS, EDITOR AND PUBLISHER.

National Democratic Ticket

For President: HORATIO SEYMOUR, of New York.
For Vice President: Francis P. Blair, Jr., of Missouri.
For U. S. Senator: John P. Hale, of New Hampshire.
For U. S. Representative: John P. Hale, of New Hampshire.

Democratic Platform

The Democratic party in National Convention assembled, reporting its faith in the intelligence, patriotism, discrimination and justice of the people; standing upon the Constitution as the foundation and the guarantee of the liberties of the citizen, and recognizing the questions of slavery and secession as having been settled for all time by the war, or the voluntary action of the Southern States in Constitutional Convention assembled, and never to be reopened or recalled to the memory of man.

First. The immediate restoration of all the States to their constitutional position, and the maintenance of the Union as it is, and the preservation of the peace and tranquility of the Nation.

Second. The payment of the public debt of the United States as soon as possible, and the redemption of the currency.

Third. The immediate restoration of all the States to their constitutional position, and the maintenance of the Union as it is, and the preservation of the peace and tranquility of the Nation.

Fourth. Equal taxation of every species of property according to its real value, including the National debt, and the maintenance of the public securities.

Fifth. One currency for the Government and the people, the laborer and the office-holder, the farmer and the merchant, the bondholder, the great employer, and the great employer.

Sixth. The immediate restoration of all the States to their constitutional position, and the maintenance of the Union as it is, and the preservation of the peace and tranquility of the Nation.

Seventh. The immediate restoration of all the States to their constitutional position, and the maintenance of the Union as it is, and the preservation of the peace and tranquility of the Nation.

Eighth. The immediate restoration of all the States to their constitutional position, and the maintenance of the Union as it is, and the preservation of the peace and tranquility of the Nation.

Ninth. The immediate restoration of all the States to their constitutional position, and the maintenance of the Union as it is, and the preservation of the peace and tranquility of the Nation.

Tenth. The immediate restoration of all the States to their constitutional position, and the maintenance of the Union as it is, and the preservation of the peace and tranquility of the Nation.

THE CAMPAIGN IN OHIO.

The radicals of this town had a grand jubilee over the result of the late elections, on Tuesday night, at which they wasted an indefinite quantity of "foaming" in various forms, hurled some "villainous" salt petres, illuminated the "cross-bar Exchange," a couple of meat markets on Main street, the Second National Bank and a few other small establishments; fired off a few blazing rockets, which came down mere sticks; fired a few Roman candles; shouted themselves hoarse, and did several other funny things for the amusement of themselves and quite a crowd of spectators. And what was the significance of the whole affair? Why, the radicals claim to have obtained the verdict of the people of the States holding elections on the 13th inst., in favor of the radical policy of reconstruction, of perpetrating the immense public debt indefinitely, and compelling the toiling millions to pay the interest and ultimately the principal in gold; in favor of exempting one-seventh of the entire wealth of the nation in the hands of the bondholder from taxation; in favor of degrading the intelligent white people of the South to the subjects of, and ruled over by, ignorant negroes. And it is over the establishment of such doctrines and the success of such measures that the intelligent, liberty-loving people of Havenna have made this grand demonstration!

Without pretending to deny that the results of the recent elections are injurious to the best interests of the country in the defeat of the local tickets and many patriotic Democrats, a careful survey of the field shows us that there is nothing in these results to justify despondency or excuse any relaxation of the efforts of the Democracy in behalf of the cause of justice and constitutional liberty, for which they so nobly struggled in Ohio.

The Result in Portage County.

We are unable to publish the official abstract of this county at the late election, and it would be of little interest to our readers should we do so. Below we give the official vote for Judge of the Supreme Court, and the aggregate vote of the county on the other candidates:

TOWNSHIP	DEM.	REP.	PROG.
Alvord	107	100	98
Beaumont	123	94	108
Brookfield	141	109	120
Franklin	103	141	124
Frederick	103	141	124
Manassah	129	100	141
Palmyra	129	100	141
Randolph	123	111	141
Rockwell	107	106	105
Streator	107	106	105
Whidman	107	106	105
Total	1317	1328	1420

For several days after the late election the radicals claimed they had achieved unprecedented victories in the State of Ohio, Pennsylvania and Indiana—claiming some 20,000 to 25,000 majority in Ohio, 15,000 in Pennsylvania and 10,000 in Indiana. More complete returns show that they have been roosting altogether too high, that their majority in Ohio is some ten thousand less than claimed by them; in Pennsylvania their majority is from 5,000 to 10,000 less, and in Indiana their majority of 15,000 two years ago has been nearly or quite wiped out. Under these circumstances the Democracy have much cause for encouragement, and it behoves every one who cherishes the principles of the Democratic party, who is in favor of the equality of the States and of the people, to again buckle on his armor and go into the great fight on the 13th day of November, with a fixed determination that whatever fate may befall, he will omit no effort by a gallant and energetic struggle, made at a darker time than the present is for our country. The cause needs the unwavering courage, the indefatigable vigilance, such as the Democrats displayed in the recent, and in many a previous contest—to secure its final triumph.

These qualities you are now called on to exert by every consideration of patriotism, honor, interest and hope—the peace of our country and the liberty of our posterity.

We implore the gallant workers and voters of the Democratic party to keep right on with the work which has gained so much under such adverse circumstances, and disdaining the counsels of timidity or the indifference of despair, continue the struggle till the discharge of a solemn duty, the reward of which will be the redemption of our country from despotism and anarchy.

MAINTAIN AND PERFECT YOUR ORGANIZATIONS.
COUNTENANCE NO SHRINKING.
GET OUT EVERY VOTER.
REPEL EVERY ASSAULT.
EXPOSE AND DEFEAT EVERY FRAUD.
RALLY EVERY MAN TO THE POLLS ON ELECTION DAY.
AND NEVER DESPAIR WHILE A RAY OF HOPE REMAINS TO ILLUMINATE, OR A FLASK TO STAND ON.
Fought in this spirit, the two weeks yet remaining, will serve not only to retrieve a temporary defeat, but to achieve a permanent and triumphant success.

On Thursday and Friday of last week the radicals employed the telegraph lines all over the country in transmitting dispatches to the press declaring that Seymour and Blair were to be withdrawn and the names of other candidates to be put in the field. The following dispatch from Samuel J. Tilden, Chairman of the New York Central Committee, August Belmont, Chairman of the Democratic National Committee, and Augustus Schell, a leading Democratic politician of New York, in reply to a dispatch from Washington asking whether the proposition for a change in the Democratic Presidential candidates was promoted by the Democracy of New York, shows how much reliance is to be placed in this Radical Roarback:

NEW YORK, Oct. 15, 1866.
To Jonah D. Hoover, Esq., Washington, D. C.
No authority or probability of change of front. All friends consider it totally impracticable and equivalent to abandoning our forces. We in New York are not panic stricken.
(Signed) AUGUSTUS SCHELL, AUGUSTUS SCHELL.

What For?

The radicals of this town had a grand jubilee over the result of the late elections, on Tuesday night, at which they wasted an indefinite quantity of "foaming" in various forms, hurled some "villainous" salt petres, illuminated the "cross-bar Exchange," a couple of meat markets on Main street, the Second National Bank and a few other small establishments; fired off a few blazing rockets, which came down mere sticks; fired a few Roman candles; shouted themselves hoarse, and did several other funny things for the amusement of themselves and quite a crowd of spectators. And what was the significance of the whole affair? Why, the radicals claim to have obtained the verdict of the people of the States holding elections on the 13th inst., in favor of the radical policy of reconstruction, of perpetrating the immense public debt indefinitely, and compelling the toiling millions to pay the interest and ultimately the principal in gold; in favor of exempting one-seventh of the entire wealth of the nation in the hands of the bondholder from taxation; in favor of degrading the intelligent white people of the South to the subjects of, and ruled over by, ignorant negroes. And it is over the establishment of such doctrines and the success of such measures that the intelligent, liberty-loving people of Havenna have made this grand demonstration!

Without pretending to deny that the results of the recent elections are injurious to the best interests of the country in the defeat of the local tickets and many patriotic Democrats, a careful survey of the field shows us that there is nothing in these results to justify despondency or excuse any relaxation of the efforts of the Democracy in behalf of the cause of justice and constitutional liberty, for which they so nobly struggled in Ohio.

For several days after the late election the radicals claimed they had achieved unprecedented victories in the State of Ohio, Pennsylvania and Indiana—claiming some 20,000 to 25,000 majority in Ohio, 15,000 in Pennsylvania and 10,000 in Indiana. More complete returns show that they have been roosting altogether too high, that their majority in Ohio is some ten thousand less than claimed by them; in Pennsylvania their majority is from 5,000 to 10,000 less, and in Indiana their majority of 15,000 two years ago has been nearly or quite wiped out. Under these circumstances the Democracy have much cause for encouragement, and it behoves every one who cherishes the principles of the Democratic party, who is in favor of the equality of the States and of the people, to again buckle on his armor and go into the great fight on the 13th day of November, with a fixed determination that whatever fate may befall, he will omit no effort by a gallant and energetic struggle, made at a darker time than the present is for our country. The cause needs the unwavering courage, the indefatigable vigilance, such as the Democrats displayed in the recent, and in many a previous contest—to secure its final triumph.

These qualities you are now called on to exert by every consideration of patriotism, honor, interest and hope—the peace of our country and the liberty of our posterity.

We implore the gallant workers and voters of the Democratic party to keep right on with the work which has gained so much under such adverse circumstances, and disdaining the counsels of timidity or the indifference of despair, continue the struggle till the discharge of a solemn duty, the reward of which will be the redemption of our country from despotism and anarchy.

MAINTAIN AND PERFECT YOUR ORGANIZATIONS.
COUNTENANCE NO SHRINKING.
GET OUT EVERY VOTER.
REPEL EVERY ASSAULT.
EXPOSE AND DEFEAT EVERY FRAUD.
RALLY EVERY MAN TO THE POLLS ON ELECTION DAY.
AND NEVER DESPAIR WHILE A RAY OF HOPE REMAINS TO ILLUMINATE, OR A FLASK TO STAND ON.
Fought in this spirit, the two weeks yet remaining, will serve not only to retrieve a temporary defeat, but to achieve a permanent and triumphant success.

On Thursday and Friday of last week the radicals employed the telegraph lines all over the country in transmitting dispatches to the press declaring that Seymour and Blair were to be withdrawn and the names of other candidates to be put in the field. The following dispatch from Samuel J. Tilden, Chairman of the New York Central Committee, August Belmont, Chairman of the Democratic National Committee, and Augustus Schell, a leading Democratic politician of New York, in reply to a dispatch from Washington asking whether the proposition for a change in the Democratic Presidential candidates was promoted by the Democracy of New York, shows how much reliance is to be placed in this Radical Roarback:

NEW YORK, Oct. 15, 1866.
To Jonah D. Hoover, Esq., Washington, D. C.
No authority or probability of change of front. All friends consider it totally impracticable and equivalent to abandoning our forces. We in New York are not panic stricken.
(Signed) AUGUSTUS SCHELL, AUGUSTUS SCHELL.

On Thursday and Friday of last week the radicals employed the telegraph lines all over the country in transmitting dispatches to the press declaring that Seymour and Blair were to be withdrawn and the names of other candidates to be put in the field. The following dispatch from Samuel J. Tilden, Chairman of the New York Central Committee, August Belmont, Chairman of the Democratic National Committee, and Augustus Schell, a leading Democratic politician of New York, in reply to a dispatch from Washington asking whether the proposition for a change in the Democratic Presidential candidates was promoted by the Democracy of New York, shows how much reliance is to be placed in this Radical Roarback:

What For?

The radicals of this town had a grand jubilee over the result of the late elections, on Tuesday night, at which they wasted an indefinite quantity of "foaming" in various forms, hurled some "villainous" salt petres, illuminated the "cross-bar Exchange," a couple of meat markets on Main street, the Second National Bank and a few other small establishments; fired off a few blazing rockets, which came down mere sticks; fired a few Roman candles; shouted themselves hoarse, and did several other funny things for the amusement of themselves and quite a crowd of spectators. And what was the significance of the whole affair? Why, the radicals claim to have obtained the verdict of the people of the States holding elections on the 13th inst., in favor of the radical policy of reconstruction, of perpetrating the immense public debt indefinitely, and compelling the toiling millions to pay the interest and ultimately the principal in gold; in favor of exempting one-seventh of the entire wealth of the nation in the hands of the bondholder from taxation; in favor of degrading the intelligent white people of the South to the subjects of, and ruled over by, ignorant negroes. And it is over the establishment of such doctrines and the success of such measures that the intelligent, liberty-loving people of Havenna have made this grand demonstration!

Without pretending to deny that the results of the recent elections are injurious to the best interests of the country in the defeat of the local tickets and many patriotic Democrats, a careful survey of the field shows us that there is nothing in these results to justify despondency or excuse any relaxation of the efforts of the Democracy in behalf of the cause of justice and constitutional liberty, for which they so nobly struggled in Ohio.

For several days after the late election the radicals claimed they had achieved unprecedented victories in the State of Ohio, Pennsylvania and Indiana—claiming some 20,000 to 25,000 majority in Ohio, 15,000 in Pennsylvania and 10,000 in Indiana. More complete returns show that they have been roosting altogether too high, that their majority in Ohio is some ten thousand less than claimed by them; in Pennsylvania their majority is from 5,000 to 10,000 less, and in Indiana their majority of 15,000 two years ago has been nearly or quite wiped out. Under these circumstances the Democracy have much cause for encouragement, and it behoves every one who cherishes the principles of the Democratic party, who is in favor of the equality of the States and of the people, to again buckle on his armor and go into the great fight on the 13th day of November, with a fixed determination that whatever fate may befall, he will omit no effort by a gallant and energetic struggle, made at a darker time than the present is for our country. The cause needs the unwavering courage, the indefatigable vigilance, such as the Democrats displayed in the recent, and in many a previous contest—to secure its final triumph.

These qualities you are now called on to exert by every consideration of patriotism, honor, interest and hope—the peace of our country and the liberty of our posterity.

We implore the gallant workers and voters of the Democratic party to keep right on with the work which has gained so much under such adverse circumstances, and disdaining the counsels of timidity or the indifference of despair, continue the struggle till the discharge of a solemn duty, the reward of which will be the redemption of our country from despotism and anarchy.

MAINTAIN AND PERFECT YOUR ORGANIZATIONS.
COUNTENANCE NO SHRINKING.
GET OUT EVERY VOTER.
REPEL EVERY ASSAULT.
EXPOSE AND DEFEAT EVERY FRAUD.
RALLY EVERY MAN TO THE POLLS ON ELECTION DAY.
AND NEVER DESPAIR WHILE A RAY OF HOPE REMAINS TO ILLUMINATE, OR A FLASK TO STAND ON.
Fought in this spirit, the two weeks yet remaining, will serve not only to retrieve a temporary defeat, but to achieve a permanent and triumphant success.

On Thursday and Friday of last week the radicals employed the telegraph lines all over the country in transmitting dispatches to the press declaring that Seymour and Blair were to be withdrawn and the names of other candidates to be put in the field. The following dispatch from Samuel J. Tilden, Chairman of the New York Central Committee, August Belmont, Chairman of the Democratic National Committee, and Augustus Schell, a leading Democratic politician of New York, in reply to a dispatch from Washington asking whether the proposition for a change in the Democratic Presidential candidates was promoted by the Democracy of New York, shows how much reliance is to be placed in this Radical Roarback:

NEW YORK, Oct. 15, 1866.
To Jonah D. Hoover, Esq., Washington, D. C.
No authority or probability of change of front. All friends consider it totally impracticable and equivalent to abandoning our forces. We in New York are not panic stricken.
(Signed) AUGUSTUS SCHELL, AUGUSTUS SCHELL.

On Thursday and Friday of last week the radicals employed the telegraph lines all over the country in transmitting dispatches to the press declaring that Seymour and Blair were to be withdrawn and the names of other candidates to be put in the field. The following dispatch from Samuel J. Tilden, Chairman of the New York Central Committee, August Belmont, Chairman of the Democratic National Committee, and Augustus Schell, a leading Democratic politician of New York, in reply to a dispatch from Washington asking whether the proposition for a change in the Democratic Presidential candidates was promoted by the Democracy of New York, shows how much reliance is to be placed in this Radical Roarback:

What For?

The radicals of this town had a grand jubilee over the result of the late elections, on Tuesday night, at which they wasted an indefinite quantity of "foaming" in various forms, hurled some "villainous" salt petres, illuminated the "cross-bar Exchange," a couple of meat markets on Main street, the Second National Bank and a few other small establishments; fired off a few blazing rockets, which came down mere sticks; fired a few Roman candles; shouted themselves hoarse, and did several other funny things for the amusement of themselves and quite a crowd of spectators. And what was the significance of the whole affair? Why, the radicals claim to have obtained the verdict of the people of the States holding elections on the 13th inst., in favor of the radical policy of reconstruction, of perpetrating the immense public debt indefinitely, and compelling the toiling millions to pay the interest and ultimately the principal in gold; in favor of exempting one-seventh of the entire wealth of the nation in the hands of the bondholder from taxation; in favor of degrading the intelligent white people of the South to the subjects of, and ruled over by, ignorant negroes. And it is over the establishment of such doctrines and the success of such measures that the intelligent, liberty-loving people of Havenna have made this grand demonstration!

Without pretending to deny that the results of the recent elections are injurious to the best interests of the country in the defeat of the local tickets and many patriotic Democrats, a careful survey of the field shows us that there is nothing in these results to justify despondency or excuse any relaxation of the efforts of the Democracy in behalf of the cause of justice and constitutional liberty, for which they so nobly struggled in Ohio.

For several days after the late election the radicals claimed they had achieved unprecedented victories in the State of Ohio, Pennsylvania and Indiana—claiming some 20,000 to 25,000 majority in Ohio, 15,000 in Pennsylvania and 10,000 in Indiana. More complete returns show that they have been roosting altogether too high, that their majority in Ohio is some ten thousand less than claimed by them; in Pennsylvania their majority is from 5,000 to 10,000 less, and in Indiana their majority of 15,000 two years ago has been nearly or quite wiped out. Under these circumstances the Democracy have much cause for encouragement, and it behoves every one who cherishes the principles of the Democratic party, who is in favor of the equality of the States and of the people, to again buckle on his armor and go into the great fight on the 13th day of November, with a fixed determination that whatever fate may befall, he will omit no effort by a gallant and energetic struggle, made at a darker time than the present is for our country. The cause needs the unwavering courage, the indefatigable vigilance, such as the Democrats displayed in the recent, and in many a previous contest—to secure its final triumph.

These qualities you are now called on to exert by every consideration of patriotism, honor, interest and hope—the peace of our country and the liberty of our posterity.

We implore the gallant workers and voters of the Democratic party to keep right on with the work which has gained so much under such adverse circumstances, and disdaining the counsels of timidity or the indifference of despair, continue the struggle till the discharge of a solemn duty, the reward of which will be the redemption of our country from despotism and anarchy.

MAINTAIN AND PERFECT YOUR ORGANIZATIONS.
COUNTENANCE NO SHRINKING.
GET OUT EVERY VOTER.
REPEL EVERY ASSAULT.
EXPOSE AND DEFEAT EVERY FRAUD.
RALLY EVERY MAN TO THE POLLS ON ELECTION DAY.
AND NEVER DESPAIR WHILE A RAY OF HOPE REMAINS TO ILLUMINATE, OR A FLASK TO STAND ON.
Fought in this spirit, the two weeks yet remaining, will serve not only to retrieve a temporary defeat, but to achieve a permanent and triumphant success.

On Thursday and Friday of last week the radicals employed the telegraph lines all over the country in transmitting dispatches to the press declaring that Seymour and Blair were to be withdrawn and the names of other candidates to be put in the field. The following dispatch from Samuel J. Tilden, Chairman of the New York Central Committee, August Belmont, Chairman of the Democratic National Committee, and Augustus Schell, a leading Democratic politician of New York, in reply to a dispatch from Washington asking whether the proposition for a change in the Democratic Presidential candidates was promoted by the Democracy of New York, shows how much reliance is to be placed in this Radical Roarback:

NEW YORK, Oct. 15, 1866.
To Jonah D. Hoover, Esq., Washington, D. C.
No authority or probability of change of front. All friends consider it totally impracticable and equivalent to abandoning our forces. We in New York are not panic stricken.
(Signed) AUGUSTUS SCHELL, AUGUSTUS SCHELL.

On Thursday and Friday of last week the radicals employed the telegraph lines all over the country in transmitting dispatches to the press declaring that Seymour and Blair were to be withdrawn and the names of other candidates to be put in the field. The following dispatch from Samuel J. Tilden, Chairman of the New York Central Committee, August Belmont, Chairman of the Democratic National Committee, and Augustus Schell, a leading Democratic politician of New York, in reply to a dispatch from Washington asking whether the proposition for a change in the Democratic Presidential candidates was promoted by the Democracy of New York, shows how much reliance is to be placed in this Radical Roarback:

On Thursday and Friday of last week the radicals employed the telegraph lines all over the country in transmitting dispatches to the press declaring that Seymour and Blair were to be withdrawn and the names of other candidates to be put in the field. The following dispatch from Samuel J. Tilden, Chairman of the New York Central Committee, August Belmont, Chairman of the Democratic National Committee, and Augustus Schell, a leading Democratic politician of New York, in reply to a dispatch from Washington asking whether the proposition for a change in the Democratic Presidential candidates was promoted by the Democracy of New York, shows how much reliance is to be placed in this Radical Roarback: