DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM.

The Democratic party of Ohio in convention assembled, reaffirm the great principles which are the foundation of the government, among which are equal rights to all, special privileges to none, protection of the weak against the encroachments of the strong, equal taxation, free speech, free press, free schools, and free and unobscured ballot.

Resolved, That we favor an honest and free government, and denounce the extortion of money from office holders to corrupt the ballot and control elections, as a most threatening and insidious danger to the Republic.

Resolved, That we favor a government that respects the rights of the citizen, and that respects the rights of the citizen, and that respects the rights of the citizen.

Resolved, That we favor a government that respects the rights of the citizen, and that respects the rights of the citizen, and that respects the rights of the citizen.

Resolved, That we favor a government that respects the rights of the citizen, and that respects the rights of the citizen, and that respects the rights of the citizen.

Resolved, That we favor a government that respects the rights of the citizen, and that respects the rights of the citizen, and that respects the rights of the citizen.

Resolved, That we favor a government that respects the rights of the citizen, and that respects the rights of the citizen, and that respects the rights of the citizen.

Resolved, That we favor a government that respects the rights of the citizen, and that respects the rights of the citizen, and that respects the rights of the citizen.

Resolved, That we favor a government that respects the rights of the citizen, and that respects the rights of the citizen, and that respects the rights of the citizen.

Resolved, That we favor a government that respects the rights of the citizen, and that respects the rights of the citizen, and that respects the rights of the citizen.

Resolved, That we favor a government that respects the rights of the citizen, and that respects the rights of the citizen, and that respects the rights of the citizen.

Resolved, That we favor a government that respects the rights of the citizen, and that respects the rights of the citizen, and that respects the rights of the citizen.

Resolved, That we favor a government that respects the rights of the citizen, and that respects the rights of the citizen, and that respects the rights of the citizen.

THE Republican Congressional Convention of this (the 19th) district meets today in Warren, Hon. E. B. Taylor will doubtless be nominated without opposition. The fact that he voted against the bill to restrict Chinese immigration, for the bill to pay the physicians of Garfield exorbitant sums from the treasury for their services, and for the river and harbor plunder, will not in the least stand in the way of his obtaining the votes of the Republican leaders, though there are few of them who are willing to defend his views on these subjects. There is no question of Judge Taylor's ability for the position, but his votes upon these questions which have served to bring disgrace upon this Congress should consign him to defeat.

If "Free Whisky" and "No Sunday" are issues in the present contest they are issues between the factions of the Republican party. Last Fall and for several years past the pious leaders of that party have secured the liquor supply by assuring the brewers, distillers and saloonists that there should be no legislation against their business and interests. But last Winter's Pious Legislature proved false to the pledges of the leaders of the party, and passed the Pond bill, which a Supreme court composed of Republicans, except one member, pronounced unconstitutional and void, and thereupon that element in the party that had been deceived by the lying promises of its leaders "rebelled" and have made its issue thereon with their former political associates which they propose to fight out at the polls in October. The Democrats have not in the least changed the views they have expressed on the subject for many years past.

In vetting the River and Harbor bill, President Arthur made friends all over this land. A few such leaders of the party would make him a strong candidate in 1884, in spite of the mountain load of New York State opposition that binds his shoulders under its weight, like Atlas, carrying the world.—(St. Louis Republic.)

True, true. And if Arthur is entitled to so much praise for vetting that measure, how much more should he be commended for his veto of the bill which he vetoed, and for his veto of the bill which he vetoed, and for his veto of the bill which he vetoed.

THE Bucyrus Journal, the Republican paper of Crawford county, has a proper conception as to the responsibility of the party that passed the River and Harbor bill in the late Congress. It says:

Many prominent Republican papers are striving to make the point that the bill which passed the House of Representatives on July 20th, 1887, was not a measure of protection, but a measure of protection, but a measure of protection.

Resolved, That we favor a government that respects the rights of the citizen, and that respects the rights of the citizen, and that respects the rights of the citizen.

Resolved, That we favor a government that respects the rights of the citizen, and that respects the rights of the citizen, and that respects the rights of the citizen.

Death of Senator Hill. Senator Hill, of Georgia, died at Atlanta at a quarter past six o'clock on the morning of Wednesday, August 16th. Benjamin Harper Hill, of Atlanta, was born in Jasper county, Georgia, September 14, 1823; received a classical education, graduating at the University of Georgia, at Athens, in 1844, with the highest honors; his father, John Hill, was admitted to the bar in 1845, and commenced to practice at LaGrange, Georgia; was a member of the State House of Representatives in 1851 and of the State Senate in 1859 and '60; was defeated as the American candidate for Congress in 1855, running against the Democratic candidate, G. H. Warner, Democrat; was defeated as the American candidate for Governor of Georgia in 1857, receiving 66,000 against 57,631 votes for J. E. Brown, Democrat; was a Presidential Elector in 1860, and on the Bell and Everett ticket in 1860; was a Delegate to the State Convention in 1861, and advocated the Union until some time after the irrevocably resolved on; was a Delegate from Georgia to the Confederate Provisional Congress, and subsequently a Senator from Georgia in the Confederate Congress; was elected in 1865 and imprisoned in Fort Lafayette; elected Representative in 1866, resigned, having been elected a United States Senator from Georgia. He took office on March 5, 1867, and his term of service would have expired March 3, 1888.

Foster's Propriety. General Steelman makes the following pointed observation in the Toledo Democrat on the position of Governor Foster:

"We are unable to decide whether the speech of Governor Foster at Ellettsville is a masterpiece of eloquence, or a masterpiece of imposture. One year ago, when President Garfield was languishing and dying, and the country was in a state of great excitement, and the brewers and distillers fifty dollar bills to men to treat the boys liberally to vote for him, and the brewers and distillers fifty dollar bills to men to treat the boys liberally to vote for him, and the brewers and distillers fifty dollar bills to men to treat the boys liberally to vote for him.

Resolved, That we favor a government that respects the rights of the citizen, and that respects the rights of the citizen, and that respects the rights of the citizen.

Resolved, That we favor a government that respects the rights of the citizen, and that respects the rights of the citizen, and that respects the rights of the citizen.

Too Much Confidence. A Washington dispatch says: "The amount appropriated for public buildings in different parts of the country is between $5,000,000 and $6,000,000. The various sums are fifty per cent. of what it is estimated will be required in each instance. So the contracts to be let, with the real estate, will amount to between $10,000,000 and $12,000,000. The contracts will be made by supervising Architect Hill, and under his direction the money will be expended. Who is Mr. Hill, and who are his favorites? Has there not been an oversight in not providing checks and limitations to insure the proper expenditure of this great sum of money?"

Resolved, That we favor a government that respects the rights of the citizen, and that respects the rights of the citizen, and that respects the rights of the citizen.

Resolved, That we favor a government that respects the rights of the citizen, and that respects the rights of the citizen, and that respects the rights of the citizen.
