As a rule we do not recommend Patent Medicines, but when we know of one that really is a public benefactor, and does positively cure, then we consider it our duty to impart that information to all. The heavy wind storm on Monday evening did some damage on the Fair Grounds, ripping off a portion of the roof at the west end of the grandstand and blowing down the poultry sheds.

A SAD AFFAIR.—About one o'clock Monday afternoon, Willie, the only son of John Thompson, an employe in the boot and shoe establishment of W. D. Burtman, aged twelve years, was drowned in the Mahoning river at the culvert where the N. Y. & O. R. R. crosses that stream. Willie, the only son of Mr. W. P. & O. H. R. Carroll, aged eleven years, son of Mr. John Carroll, started out to gather berries and coming to the river, proposed to go in bathing. Willie, who was unable to swim, ventured into deep water and sank. His companion went to his rescue, but the drowning had already taken place, and he was so fatigued that he became frightened and abandoned the attempt and the lad found a watery grave. The body was soon after recovered, but all efforts to restore life were unavailing. The stricken parents have the sympathy of the entire community in this hour of their sad bereavement.

Requests were held before Proctor Judge C. A. Reed on Monday last, at which Capt. Fred'k W. Coffin, of this village, and E. P. Seymour, of Rootstown, were adjudged insane and directed to be removed to the Northern Ohio Lunatic Asylum, at Newburg, for treatment. Judge Reed received word from the Superintendent of that institution Wednesday morning that they would be admitted, which would fill the quota of patients to which Portage county is entitled therein.

Frederick Knapp, Dutch Bugler of de Battery and Secretary of the Whats left of us, do hereby proclaim that the 17th Annual Reunion of Battery "A," 1st Ohio Light Artillery, shall take place on Wednesday and Thursday, Aug. 8 and 9, 1888, at Twin Lakes, Portage Co., O., and that each and every surviving member of the Grand Old Battery be cordially desired to respond to the Assembly call on those days, and be sure and bring your family and friends. By order of J. F. RHOADS, Pres't. J. F. KNAPP, Sec. and Treas.

The following items we clip from the Fergus Falls Daily Telegram with which our young friend, Smith B. Hall, is connected as editor. Since the great strike it has started an associated press of its own and manufactures re-liable dispatches to order, of which the following are samples:

Narrow Escape. Special telegram to the "Daily Telegram." TOWNSHIP CITY, D. T., July 19.—E. J. Whittey, a prominent merchant of this city, attempted to shoot John P. O., a farmer, who is suspected of sending false crop reports to Ohio. He failed as his gun was not loaded. Great excitement prevails.

Sudden Death. "Special Telegram" to the "Daily Telegram." RAVENNA, July 19.—Bill Morgan (white) and Chas. Bowman (colored), two desperate characters, were shot last night while attempting to break in at the back door of Stanton's saloon. It is the general opinion that they deserved their fate.

The Annual Reunion of the Chapman family will be held at the residence of Whitney Chapman, in Edinburg, on the third Wednesday in August, the 16th ult. An invitation is extended to all the friends, neighbors and relatives to meet with us on that occasion and have a good old-time picnic. ASA C. CHAPMAN, Pres. W. H. WHITNEY, CHAPMAN, V. P. P. O. CHAPMAN, Sec.

On Sunday mornings Will Morgan, Robt' Healey and Robt' Carnahan were on route to Silver Lake, near Cuyahoga Falls, to join a party of campers, their horse became frightened by the cars passing the east end of the Kent viaduct and ran away. At the west end of the bridge the carriage lost a wheel and its load of humanity was unceremoniously deposited in the street.

Beyond a few slight bruises to the party and the fracturing of the vehicle no damage was done.

Correspondence of The Press. ED. PRESS.—As an item to you, I will say that a party around the northern part of Portage and southern part of Geauga counties, convinces me that the harvest of 1888 is fully up to the average, and considering the extra pasturing, it is certainly an extraordinary year. From Hiram to Burton, Middlefield and Chagrin Falls, I saw very many fine fields of wheat and but few poor ones; grass is heavy and of fine quality, everywhere, and I never saw a crop look better. Cattle are up to their eyes in feed, and milk is bringing satisfactory prices. Constitutional weakness aside, why should not the people of this favored spot on earth be happy?

WEST FARMINGTON, O., July 23. After several days ride throughout Trumbull county, I find myself comfortably located for a little rest beneath the roof of the Globe Hotel, which extends a kind greeting to the traveling public and is owned and neatly kept by the ever jolly E. Trunkly.

Harvesting is the order of the day with farmers. The grass crop is immense, and large quantities of good hay was made last week. Wheat harvesting is going on, but the crop, as a rule, is inferior, not the equal of Portage county. Oats promise to be a good crop, and corn and potatoes are looking very nicely. The peach and apple crop is nearly a failure.

The village of West Farmington has an extensive Table and Chair Manufacturing and several stores. Several new stores and other buildings are being erected.

The Farmington College still enjoys quite an extensive patronage. It is numbered with the best institutions of learning in Northern Ohio. The location is beautiful and healthy, and just such a place where both sexes can enjoy the privileges of good schools without the demoralizing influences of saloons and other vices found in large places. No strong drink tolerated here.

The citizens are somewhat afflicted with the base ball fever, but got such a complete cleaning out Saturday at the hands of the Bristolville club that they will make but little disturbance the balance of the season.

The Whitney Family showed here Wednesday evening to a crowded house, and received words of praise from the multitude, for giving a good moral show. The admission was 25 cents and no favors allowed with the show. More anon. VICTOR.

THERE are 764 members of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows in Trumbull County.

Death of Rev. F. R. Lamb. Rev. F. R. Lamb, pastor of the Congregational Church at Rootstown, this county, died at Agawam, Mass., Saturday morning, July 21st, after a protracted illness, aged 48 years.

Mr. Lamb was born in Heath, Franklin Co., Mass., and came to Ohio before reaching his majority. After graduating at the College at Westmore, Ohio, he came to Ravenna and studied for the ministry with the late Rev. J. C. Hart. In December, 1859, he became the Pastor of the Congregational Church at Rootstown, and faithfully and acceptably filled that position for a period of about nine years.

In February, 1868, he was united in marriage with Miss Alice A. Oakley, who survives him. After leaving Ohio he spent one year at Andover Theological Seminary, and from there went to Shelburne Falls, Mass., where he preached six years. From there he went to Collinsville, Conn., and after seven years service, was compelled, on account of failing health, to abandon the ministry, and moved to Agawam, Mass., where his few remaining days were spent.

He was a gentleman of high character and ability, and was highly esteemed by a large circle of acquaintances.

His remains were brought to Ravenna for interment Tuesday morning, and his funeral took place from the residence of his brother-in-law, J. H. Oakley, on North Chestnut Street, at four o'clock p. m., that day.

HIRAM. Correspondence. The past week has been a busy one with farmers in this vicinity. The cool, fair weather was what had long been prayed for, to render it possible to gather the immense hay crop and light wheat crop, both of which were gathered, so much as the season of labor was well over. Two weeks more of favorable weather and crops would be secured.

Our Band favors us Saturday evenings with outdoor concerts, which are highly appreciated. Strangers praise the organization very much, and those of us capable of judging pronounce the music first class.

Prof. Deans is making such improvements on and in his dwelling as adds materially to convenience and appearance.

Prof. Newton has remodeled "Bonney Castle" outside and in, and it is now, or will be when completed, very desirable property. Mr. Miller is fast bringing his house to completion.

Mrs. Patch is building a nice dwelling on the lot between Mr. McBride and Henry Robinson.

Mr. Merrick, a vendor of tinware for Loomis, of Cuyahoga Falls, had bad luck last Tuesday, ascending the north hill side of his horse-dropped dead—which was, strictly speaking, a "dead loss."

Brevet Brigadier Gen. Isaac Van Rensselaer, who lives in this locality, is a highly respected citizen, and a few days ago, a pair of spectacles, a plug of tobacco and an ounce of lard, were sent to him by a woman who had been informed by his wife that he had a cold, as he had swallowed an ounce of lard.

The wife summoned a physician, who, armed with caustics, examined the plug and changed equal to forty dynamite power, examined the case, which he found to be a hard one, but in his degree of departure from the effects of lard, sum, or any kind of dynamite. It is reported that the wife, who supports him, is a sufferer from the foot-rot, and that the Gen. made a mistake in not doing so to her husband.

Those Democrats who subscribed so liberally for the Garfield monument must feel happy that the leading Dorney's expense of the 1880 campaign.

MOGADORE. Correspondence. Wheat in this locality is nearly all harvested, and some farmers have begun hauling it. The corn and oat crop will be very good this year.

La Fente, of New York, has been engaged for the past week in painting scenery in the new hall. He gave an entertainment Friday and Saturday evenings, which was very good.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Schme, Miss Alice and Ada Kly, and Miss Lulu Holcomb, attended Teachers' Institute at Chardon, a few days ago. Mrs. Schme took a holiday surprise Saturday evening. Mr. Stanley Carl, of Cleveland, was in town Sunday, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Oakley.

Henry Ganser sold his farm of nearly 150 acres to Casper and Young, of Springfield.

The disciples will have a Bazaar in the Hall this week Friday and Saturday.

J. N. Myers has returned from a trip through Pennsylvania, selling storeware.

GARRETSVILLE. Correspondence. A new feature in our village jurisprudence has been recently developed, which is doing much general good, and has a tendency to reform the culprit as well as to deter others from violating the statutes made and provided to preserve the peace and dignity of our town. Mayor Norton has concluded that labor upon the streets is a good way to bring good out of evil, and consequently makes it a part of the penalty against the transgressors. Some are finding the way pretty hard.

The sight of convict labor upon our streets, to say the least, is novel, but is doing much good.

It would seem from quiet whisperings that the time is approaching to change the powers that be. It is probable that a candidate for Representative will turn up in our midst, among the Republicans. E. G. Smith, Esq., puts on a genial countenance and says he is in the hands of his friends, and hopes he may remain above board in the political sea which is to be shook the 22nd day of next month. Two years ago he became a candidate at the last moment, and found himself laboring under insurmountable difficulties, and was left. A couple of gentlemen from Ravenna were in town a few days since, and it has been whispered around that they wanted to beat Woodworth. One wrote an article to the Cleveland Leader, figuring out Mr. Woodworth's chances. His language was so muddled by Garrettsville whisky, or the Aurora Borealis which attracted his eye on the all night lonely ride of the night before, to catch an early word, that he increased Mr. Woodworth's unfortunate unpopularity from 281, the correct figure, to 600. This sort of a blunder is commended by that correspondent Democratic friends.

A petition to our village Council is being circulated among the good people of town by the Ladies Christian Temperance Union, to the effect that they want our saloons prohibited. It is being generally signed, and will soon be presented. It remains to be seen what our city dads will do with their dilemma. IAGO.

DO NOT WEEP, ILL COME AGAIN. The Fairest Flowers are the First to Fade.
WRITTEN BY THE DEATH OF MARIE WILDER.
Wept parents, in your sorrow,
Died those smiling tears of pain,
Listen to those words of promise—
"Do not weep, I'll come again."
Yes, the angel of your household,
Who shall awaken in your sleep,
Call your mournful, aching spirits—
Father, mother, do not weep.

Sad to listen, vainly listen,
For light footsteps at the door,
Watching, waiting for that magic
That will greet you anywhere:
Remember me to all your friends,
In her childish, loving way,
Twice her good arms around you,
Kiss you from day to day.

Place each trinket in its basket,
Kiss the one she loved so well,
Lay the cross up with her treasures
That were placed upon her breast;
While the tears are falling fast,
And the heart is breaking,
Call the spirit everlast.

Angel Marie, child of Heaven,
In thy realm of bliss on high,
Dost thou know thy father's anguish,
Hear thy mother's mournful sigh,
When the hour of parting bore thee
From their outstretched arms of love,
Did they not, could they not, call thee
Back to earth from thy above?

Oh, the wild and tearful wailing
Hearing from their hearts and soul
Thus to know their Marie darling
Would not smile again below?
Remember me to all your friends,
In her childish, loving way,
Twice her good arms around you,
Kiss you from day to day.

PALMYRA. Correspondence. The weather being pleasant finds the farmers in good humor. Wheat all harvested, with a good show for an average yield; grass heavy, and a fair prospect for corn and oats.
