

The Faded Flower.

I keep it still, the faded flower, Through long and cheerless years,
In memory of that happy hour,
Which time the more endears.
When from thy hand the gift I took,
And saw the tear drops start,
And clasp with fond and gentle look,
The giver to my heart.
That flower, like her who gave it, then Was loveliest of its kind;
And vainly might I seek again So fair a flower to find:
But brief alike the joy and bloom,
It withered in a day,
And left of hope and wrapt in gloom,
I here it far away.
In distant lands, midst care and grief,
That flower was yet more dear,
And often every cherished leaf Was moistened with a tear;
And still I keep the faded flower, And hold while life shall last,
The memory of that happy hour, Which consecrates the past.

"Of such is the Kingdom of Heaven."

A blind old beggar, with his hat in hand, Neglected by the passers by,
I noticed shyly at a corner stand, With moisture falling from his sightless eye A child came by—a laughing little creature—With joy and innocence in every feature, Skipping forth gaily to an apple stand,
She saw the beggar—and became less gay; Then flung the bit of silver in her hand Into the old man's hat, and ran away!

God seen in all his works.

A TALE FROM THE GERMAN.
In that beautiful part of Germany which borders on the Rhine, there is a noble castle which as you travel on the western bank of the river, you may see lifting its ancient towers on the opposite side, above the grove of trees about as old as itself.

About forty years ago, there lived in that castle a noble gentleman, whom we shall call Baron. He had only one son, who was not only a comfort to his father, but a blessing to all who lived on his father's land.

It happened on a certain occasion that this young man being from home, there came a French gentleman to see the castle, who began to talk of his heavenly father in terms that chilled the old man's blood; on which the Baron re-proved him saying, "Are you not afraid of offending God, who reigns above, by speaking in such a manner?" The gentleman said he knew nothing about God, for he had never seen him.

The Baron this time did not notice what the gentleman said, but the next morning took him about his castle grounds, and took occasion first to show him a very admired picture that hung on the wall. The gentleman admired the picture very much, and said, "whoever drew this picture knows very well how to use the pencil."

"My son drew that picture," said the Baron.
"Then your son is a clever man," replied the gentleman.
"The Baron then went with his visitor into the garden, and showed him many beautiful flowers and plantations of forest trees.

"Who has the ordering of this garden?" asked the gentleman.
"My son," replied the Baron; "he knows every plant, I may say, from the cedar of Lebanon to the hyssop on the wall."

"Indeed," said the gentleman, "I shall think very highly of him soon." The Baron then took him into the village and showed him a small, neat cottage, where his son had established a school, and where he caused all young children who had lost their parents to be received and nourished at his own expense. The children in the house looked so innocent and so happy, that the gentleman was very much pleased, and when he returned to the castle he said to the Baron, "what a happy man you are to have so good a son!"

"How do you know I have so good a son?"
"Because I have seen his works, and I know that he must be a good and clever, if he has done all that you have showed me."
"But you have not seen him."
"No, but I know him very well, because I judge of him by his works."
"True," replied the Baron, "and in this way I judge of the character of our heavenly Father. I know by his works, that he is a being of infinite wisdom and power, and goodness."

The Frenchman felt the force of the reproof and was careful not to offend the good Baron any more by his remarks.

BEAUTIFUL REPLY.—A young girl about seven years of age, was asked by an atheist, how large she supposed her God to be: to which she with admirable readiness replied;—"he is so great the heavens cannot contain him, and yet so kindly condescending as to dwell in my little heart."

Our sons, says Mrs. Sigourney, hold themselves erect without book, or corset, or frame work, or whalebone.
Why should not our daughters? Did not God make them all upright? Yes—but they have sought out many inventions;

Death warrant of Christ.

The Courier des Etats Unis, of a late date says: "Chance has put into our hands the most imposing and interesting judicial document, to all Christians, that has ever been recorded in human annals; that is, the identical death-warrant of our Lord Jesus Christ. We transcribe the document from a copy of the translation:

SENTENCE
Rendered by Pontius Pilate, Acting Governor of Lower Galilee, that Jesus of Nazareth shall suffer death on the Cross.

In the year seventeen of the empire of Tiberius Caesar, and the 25th day of March, the city of Holy Jerusalem: Annas and Caiaphas being priests, sacrificators of the people of God; Pontius Pilate, Governor of Lower Galilee, sitting on the presidential chair of the pratory, condemns Jesus of Nazareth to die on the cross between two thieves—the great and notorious evidence of the people, saying,

- 1. He is a seducer.
- 2. He is an enemy of the law.
- 3. He is an enemy of the law.
- 4. He calls himself, falsely, the Son of God.
- 5. He calls himself King of Israel.
- 6. He entered into the temple followed by a multitude bearing palm branches in their hands.

Order the first centurion, Quintus Cornelius, to lead him to the place of execution.

Forbid any person whomsoever, either poor or rich, to oppose the death of Jesus.

The witnesses that signed the death of Jesus, are—
1st. Daniel Robani, a Pharisee.
2d. Joannus Harobable.
3d. Rhapsdel Robani.
4th. Capet, a citizen.

Jesus shall go out of the city by the gate "Strenuous."

The above sentences are engraved on a copper plate, on one side in written these words: "A similar plate is sent to each of the tribes."

It was found in an antique vase of white marble, while excavating in the city Aquila, in the Kingdom of Naples, in the year 1825, and was discovered by the Commissariat of Arts, attached to the French Armies. At the expedition of Naples it was found enclosed in a box of ebony, in the sacristy Quartem. The vase is now in the chapel of Caserta.
The French translation was made by the members of the Commission of Arts.
The children frequented earnestly that the plate might not be taken away from them. The request was granted as a reward for the army. M. Denon, one of the savans, caused a plate to be made of the model, on which he had engraved the above sentences; at the sale of his collection of curiosities, it was bought by Lord Roward, for five thousand eight hundred and eighty francs.

DON'T BE EXTRA VAGANT.—Never hire a larger house than you need; you may soon be obliged to leave it. Carry no furniture into your house that you do not use; it may be attached by a creditor.
Dress not in best of broadcloth; with a writ upon the back it will not feel comfortable. The best food the market affords carry not into your house; common, wholesome food may save you many a dun. Teach not your children music at great expense; the piano sounds disagreeable within hearing of the auctioneer's hammer.

Live within your means. If you earn but three shillings a day, expend but three shillings in your family. Obtain cheap resorts—procure wholesome food and dress in neat attire. If you are extravagant, you will be ruined.

IMPORTANT DECISION.—A young girl was fined in New Orleans lately, for appearing in the streets in boy's clothes.
The justice admitted the right of married women to "wear the breeches," but denied that single females had any business with such an article.

Hear the outpourings of an honest heart in regret for the dissipated condition of his unmentionables: Farewell! farewell! old trousers!
Long time we've stuck together—Variety of scenes gone through And braved all sorts of weather!

As the late Prof. Hamilton was one day near Aberdeen, he met a well known individual of weak intellect. "Pray," said the Professor, accosting him, "how long can a person live without brains?"
"I donna ken," replied Jemmy, scratching his head, "how auld are you your-sel?"

A NEWS-BOYS TRIBUTE TO GENERAL JACKSON.—At the Chatham theatre a few evenings since, the Spirit of General Jackson, in the form of an actor, was carried up to heaven by pulleys, in the arms of an actress, who represented an angel. This led one newsboy to say to another, "do you suppose Gen. Jackson has gone to heaven?" "I don't know," replied the other; but one thing I can tell you, if he only made up his mind to go to heaven, all hell couldn't stop him." This is quite in the vein of the old General himself.

We don't know who said this, nor do we care. Probably the fellow has been studying "human natur" pretty deep.—
"Woman is the last most perfect work of God; ladies are the productions of silkworms, milliners and dressing maids."

A schoolmaster, as a punishment to one of his pupils for using profane language, ordered him to take a pair of tongs, and watch a hole in the hearth until he caught a mouse. The boy took the tongs and demurely waited for the visitor. Directly after he saw a mouse peeping out of the hole. Cautiously placing a leg of the tongues on either side of the hole, grabbed the mouse and triumphantly exclaimed "By G—d, I've got him."

The Boston Post, the other day, perpetrated the following. It is execrable.

"Sambo," said one nigger to another,
"why is de cause of my gittin' up early, like one of de lust States in de Union?
Because Massa choose it." Massachusetts.

"How long did Adam remain in Paradise before he sinned?" said an amible spouse to her loving husband. "Till he got a wife," answered the husband calmly.

SQUALY.—To see a young gentleman take a paper from the Post Office from a female friend, with the word "single," written on one corner.

"I am taking down the census of a densely populated neighborhood," as the fellow said when he swallowed the skip-pery cheese.

It is said that bleeding a partially blind horse at the nose will restore him to sight.
So much for the horse. To open a man's eyes, you must bleed him in the pocket.

"Pull out that white hair," said one lady to another.
"If I do, ten will come to the funeral."
"No matter, if they come in black."

An apothecary in Salem has written over his door—"All kinds of dying stuffs sold here." Candid enough.

One way to stop a frightened horse when he is running, is for a crowd to sing out "whoa!" and give him a broad-side from hats, canes, and umbrellas.

PROSPECTUS

OF THE NEW YORK NEWS.

It is now one year since the publication of the News was commenced; and its entrance upon another year of existence is a fitting period to recall to the public mind the favorable terms upon which its daily and weekly issues are published; to state some improvements recently made, and contemplated; and also to refer briefly, for the information of those not acquainted with the paper, to some of the advantages its subscribers enjoy.

The News will henceforth be published for the proprietors by the subscriber. In every particular of its business management, its friends and patrons, as well as those otherwise interested, can rely upon entire promptness and efficiency.

The sole editorial control of the News will remain with Mr. JOHN O'SULLIVAN, one of its proprietors. He will continue to be assisted by Mr. THOMAS P. KETTEL, whose attention will be particularly devoted to momentary and commercial affairs; in connection with which subjects he has attained, during his association, first with the Herald and since with the News, a wide and most distinguished celebrity. The valuable services of Mr. RIC-ARD SUTTON have also been secured, with a view of earning for the News's reputation for early and accurate information upon all matters of interest or news, and also for a judicious and varied combination of reading matter. His character as a writer of diversified talent, and fame as a reporter, render any further notice of his ability unnecessary.

THE MORNING NEWS
Has been prosperous to a degree which could hardly have been anticipated at its birth; shown alike in an increasing advertising patronsage and subscription list, and demanding the enlargement which is this day made in its size. The publication price, however, will remain at the same rates as heretofore. They are to city subscribers, two cents a number—five cents a week. To mail subscribers, five dollars a year for a single copy; five copies to one address for twenty dollars a year.

THE WEEKLY NEWS
Is already the second in point of circulation of the weekly papers published in the city of New York, not taking the exclusively religious journals into the count. It is so generally known, that any comment upon its merits is not necessary. For the quantity and quality of reading matter which it gives, it is the cheapest weekly paper published in the United States; and when it is remembered that each number contains a well executed wood-cut portrait of some distinguished Democrat, its unequalled cheapness of price will be conceded. Its terms are $1.50 a year for a single copy; $4 a year for three copies to one address; $5 a year for five copies to one address; and $10 a year for ten copies to one address.

THE TERMS
Of the Morning and Weekly News, as above stated, will be rigidly adhered to. No attention will be paid to any order, unless accompanied by the money. The commission allowed to postmasters on forwarding remittances, will be paid by this office, and the person sending money will be credited with the full amount he pays to the postmaster. Postmasters will transmit the money, with a statement of the purpose for which it is paid, to the Postmaster of New York, who will communicate the same to the office of the News.
All letters relating to the business of the paper should be addressed to the undersigned.
New York, August 21st, 1845.

PUBLISHERS OF THE NEW YORK MORNING AND WEEKLY NEWS.
Our editorial friends are respectfully requested to notice this enlargement, and prospectus.
Those inserting the prospectus, and sending a copy marked, shall be entitled to the daily exchange of the Morning News.

exchange for goods at market prices.
Ravenna, July 1, 1845.

FIVE HUNDRED DOLLARS REWARD.

THE above reward will be paid to the citizens of Portage county in Boots and Shoes, by the subscriber for their patronage one year from date, a dividend of twenty-five cent on the dollar will be made on work done at his establishment. The people of Ravenna and vicinity aware that Boots and Shoes have been selling at a very high price, and that times at present are very pressing have repeatedly suggested the propriety of starting a shop on the principle of small profits and prompt pay. I am therefore induced to try the experiment, and I hope by strict attention to business to merit the confidence and patronage of the community. The following list will show the prices of work done at my shop, two doors east of the Post-Office.

Gentlemen's fine Boots	$5.50 to 5.50 do. Monroes	2.00 to 2.50 do. thick Boots	2.00 to 2.50 do. do Brogans	1.50 to 1.75
Ladies fine Gaiters	2.00 do slippers	0.50 to 1.00 do Buskins	1.00
do Leather Boots	1.50

Farmers from the country are invited to call and examine my work, and if they are not satisfied they can have the privilege of settling their own price. I shall not be particular as I intend to give you a grand benefit of Abolition, is the Motto, and I intend to abolish high prices, long faces and desponding hearts from this entire community.
