

Little Nelly's Death Bed.
Gently tread ye at her bed-side,
For our darling's dying now;
Her sparkling eyes are glazing,
And the death-damp chills her brow.
Softly whisper—soft but lowly,
For the angels now are come, Sent by Him, the high and holy,
To convey her spirit home.
Hear ye not the gentle rustling Of their golden-benighted wings?
Eeek ye not the holy thrilling That angelic presence brings?
Look! our darling now has seen them,
As they gather round her bed; "Fretful" prayest thou faintly—She is dying—she is dead!
She is dead!—yet still there linger On her lips that parting smile, Each one gazing, feels more holy,
More like heaven for the while;
For they thank the blessed angels,
As they bore her soul away, Left a trace of bliss immortal Stamped upon the infant clay.

A Dying Wife to her Husband.
The following most touching fragment of a letter from a dying Wife to her Husband was found by him, some months after her death, between the leaves of a religious volume; which she was very fond of perusing. The letter, which was literally dim with tear marks, was written long before he was aware that the grasp of a disease had fastened upon the loved form of his wife, who died at the early age of nineteen.
"When this shall reach your eye, dear G—, some day when you are turning over the relics of the past, I shall have passed away keeping its lonely watch over the lips you have often pressed, and the sod will be growing green that shall hide forever from your sight the dust of one who has so often nestled close to your warm heart. For many long and sleepless nights when all my thoughts were at rest, I have wrestled with the consciousness of approaching dissolution, until at last I have forced myself upon your mind; and although to you and to others it might now seem but the nervous imagination of a girl, yet dear G—, it is so! Many weary hours have I passed in the endeavor to reconcile myself to leaving you, whom I love so well and this bright world of sunshine and beauty; and hard, indeed, it is to struggle so silently and alone, with the sure conviction that I am about to leave forever and go down in the dark valley."
"But I know in whom I have trusted, and leaning on His arm I fear no evil." Don't blame me for keeping all this from you—How could I subject you, of all others, to such sorrow as I feel at parting when your time shall come and pilloving your head upon my breast, usher your departing spirit into its Maker's presence, embalmed in woman's holiest prayer. But it is not to be so—and I submit.
"You are the privilege of watching, thro' long and drooping nights, for the spirit's final flight and of transferring my sinking head from your breast to the Savior's bosom!— And you shall share my last thought; the last faint pressure of the hand and the last feebly kiss shall be yours; and even when my flesh and heart shall have failed me, my eyes shall rest on yours until glazed in death—and our spirits shall hold one last communion, until gently fading from my view—the last of earth—you shall mingle with the first bright glimpse of the unfolding glory of that better world where partings are unknown. Well do I remember dear G—, where you will lay me; often have we stood by the place, and as we watched the mellow sunset as it glanced in quivering flashes through the leaves and burnished of the grassy mounds around us with stripes of burnished gold, each perhaps has thought that one of us would come alone; and which ever it might be, your name would be on the stone.
"But you loved the spot; and I know you'll love me none the less when you see the same quiet sun light linger and play among the grass that grows over your Mary's grave. I know you'll go often alone there, when I am laid there, and my spirit will be with you then, and whisper among the waving branches 'I am not lost, but gone before.'"

A Sixpence well Invested.
The other day we saw a bright-eyed little girl tripping along the street, with a basket on her arm, apparently sent, on some errand.
All at once she stopped and commenced searching for something she had lost among the snow and ice.
It was evident it was something of value, and that she was in trouble.
Her search was eager and nervous; the bright smile had vanished from her face, and tears were rolling down her cheeks.
A gentleman passing that moment, noticed the trouble of the little creature, and asked her what was the matter.
"Oh, sir," said she, her little bosom swelling, and tears falling fast, "Oh! sir, I've lost my sixpence!"
The gentleman took a piece of money from his pocket, and called her to him, saying, "Here, sis, don't cry for the lost sixpence, here is another," and placed it in her hand.
"Oh, dear sir!" said she, as she bounded forward, "how I thank you!" Her grief was removed; the bright smile was restored; the fear of a mother's frown her carelessness was gone, and her little heart beat lightly again.
Think you that man, as he remembers that pretty face beaming with gratitude and joy, will ever regret that well invested sixpence? A whole world of happiness ought for a sixpence! How easy a thing it is to shed sunshine on the hearts of those about us!

ROWELL & CO.
HAVE been receiving their SPRING STOCK OF GOODS for the last week, and will continue to receive almost daily additions, till their assortment will be complete, and they will assure their former customers, and the public generally, that it will be to their advantage to give them a call before purchasing, as they are determined not to be under sold by any house in Northern Ohio.

FARMER'S INSURANCE COMPANY OF PORTAGE COUNTY,
OFFICE IN RAVENNA, OHIO.

THIS Company was organized, March 27th, in conformity with the Charter obtained from the Legislature, Jan. 22nd, 1851. It is now ready to take risks on the most favorable terms. It will be seen that we have adopted a new system, which is thought to be an improvement over any other, now before a discriminating public. In the production of this company, it was our intention to form one on a new principle, as the Old Mutual system has become very unpopular among the farmers, and we flatter ourselves, from the approbation it has received from the Farmers of Portage County, that the company is destined to stand unrivalled.
TO SECURE THE INTEREST OF THE FARMER MORE FULLY, the Company have divided their responsibility into three classes or kinds of risks viz: Fire, Lightning, Tornado and Hail, and it is so arranged that the applicant may at his option insure in either, One, Two or all Three of the classes; the cost always being in proportion to the number of classes or risk required of the company, and the amount of property to be insured. We believe by combining these principles of insurance, and harmonizing them together, avoiding the hazards of large amounts in one risk, and by using economy in the management of its affairs, that the Farmers' Insurance Company of Portage County will furnish as Cheap, safe and reliable protection as can otherwise be obtained, and we hope that Farmers of this county will have confidence enough to entrust to these Medicine Agents who are using all possible diligence to faithfully and liberally to do it.
Every possible means that they can make use of, when the only real objection they have is they are envious of the good success of this company.
We presume that there are thousands of farmers who would insure their property without further delay could they but be satisfied that there would be no assessments made. To such we would ask, who ever knew or ever heard of a company that was strictly a Farmers' Company that ever levied an assessment. We know of none but we do know Farmers Companies, that have been in existence from 1 to 15 years, and have accumulated a large fund over all losses and expenses. The Western Farmers Insurance Co., at Batavia, New York, when they issued their 4th annual report had over $7,000 on hand; when they issued their 5th report had over $10,000; when they issued their 6th report they had over $12,000, and the company never made an assessment.— Now the question arises, if companies in New York can do this, why can't we do it in this State. Our Charter and By-Laws are very near like theirs, and it was our intention to form a company on nearly the same principles. Should our fund accumulate like theirs, we shall have a dividend or distribution of the funds on policies that shall expire once in every five years during the existence of the company. IN NO OTHER COMPANY we care not where located, can the Farmer participate of the profits of the funds at the expiration of his policy as it is thus arranged in this company.
Some of the important liberal features of this Company are:
1st. No assessment can ever be made except the same shall be necessary for the payment of actual losses.
2nd. No official or any other expenses whatever can ever be assessed on the premium notes.
3rd. Sec. 8th of the Act of Incorporation, provides that any member may, at any time, suspend his policy and withdraw from the company, and shall be entitled to receive back his deposit note &c.
4th. All losses will be adjusted on fair and equitable principles, and litigation will be avoided as far as the honor and the interests of the members will permit.
We hope that every Farmer to whose notice our circular shall be presented will be satisfied in his policy and withdraw from the
back his deposit note &c.
N. B. All communications on the business of the company, should be addressed to the Secretary, Ravenna, Portage county, Ohio.

THE CAMPAIGN OPENED FOR 1851.
THE GILLETTS
at the Brick Store, on the Corner Are prepared to Defend themselves against the UNJUST COALITION, and up for reasons which should be obvious to all who let the sober, second thought prevail!

THEY have received the first part of a choice and extensive stock of SEA-SONABLE GOODS, purchased with care, at lower rates than some of their more knowing neighbors. Therefore, let it be understood, by all persons far and near, that in order to meet the exigencies of the times, and the extraordinary means which have been used to injure their business, those who have done more to reduce the price of goods and increase the trade of this place than all other Mercantile Establishments combined, the GILLETTS are better than ever prepared to sell, and will sell goods at lower rates, for the same quality, than any other concern in the county.
Let those who are desirous of purchasing goods, in reference to quality and price, call and examine for themselves, and they cannot fail to be satisfied in both particulars.
A crisis has arisen in the history of merchandizing in this place, when the citizens of the surrounding country can obtain the necessities and luxuries of life for less money than at any other place in Northern Ohio. In order to carry out their design, and meet the best wishes of the people, they will sell goods for Ready Pay only. They will purchase all kinds of PRODUCE at the highest market price, for which a liberal amount of cash will be paid.
S. A. & R. A. GILLETT.

BOOTS AND SHOS.
DRUGS AND MEDICINES.
CURTIS HATCH has just received from the most fashionable and best shops in the East, a large assortment of BOOTS & SHOES, of every quality, size and description, from the coarsest stogy (that fears neither wind nor weather) to the fine, fashionable boot "that would honor the feet of a fairy." And this is not all—his arrangements are such that he is enabled to sell them a PEG cheaper than any other establishment this side of Campbell's port on the east, or this side of Break-Neck on the west. In addition to this he has a large stock of those celebrated METALIC RUB-BERS, and is quite anxious that all of his friends should call and get a pair before they are all gone.
His supply of DRUGS & MEDICINES have also been plentifully replenished this Fall, and he keeps all articles in this line that the public require. Altho' sat Patent Medicine of the drug can't be found at his Store in Seymour's Block.
