

TUESDAY, JUNE 13, 1865.

DAILY LEADER

MORNING EDITION.

ADVERTISING RATES: One square for one week, 10 cents; for one month, 25 cents; for three months, 75 cents; for six months, 1.25; for one year, 2.25.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS: RICH BROTHERS, 209 and 211 East Water St., MILWAUKEE, WIS.

CHAR. H. RICE & CO., 211 South Water Street, CINCINNATI, O., L.L.

PRODUCER COMMISSION MERCHANTS: GRAIN, FLOUR, PROVISIONS, WOOL, HOPS, SEEDS, AND OTHERS AND BIRD FEEDS.

Cobb, Andrews & Co. (LATE J. B. COBB & CO.) 241 SUPERIOR STREET,

PAPER AND ENVELOPES, Photograph Albums

RUBBER GOODS, Lowest Market Price.

COBB, ANDREWS & CO. Keep constantly supplied with all the latest

Sunday School Publications, Sunday School Glass Books, Sunday School Singing Books, &c.

MEETING OF THE STOCK: A meeting of the stockholders of the Western Farm and Orchard Co. was held at the office of the company, No. 145 Superior St., Cleveland, June 12, 1865.

ELECTRO-THERMAL BATH CURE! 34 AND 36 PROSPECT STREET, CLEVELAND, OHIO.

BATHS ONE DOLLAR EACH. Patients can be accommodated with Board at the rate of 50 cents per day.

EDWARD P. FENN, Dr. Young's Electro-Thermal Bath, and ELECTRIC APPARATUS OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.

HATS AND CAPS. STRAW GOODS, Hats, Caps, &c.

THE LAST CALL. The Stock of the above Goods in our RETAIL DEPARTMENT MUST BE CLOSED OUT!

NEXT 60 DAYS. S. A. FULLER & CO., 215 Superior Street, MARBLE BLOCK.

Spring Styles of HATS, CAPS, STRAW GOODS, &c. L. Benedict & Sons

Spring Styles of HATS AND CAPS. We are now introducing our SPRING STYLES of HATS, including THE GRAY HAT, THE BERRY HAT, THE BERRY HAT, THE BERRY HAT.

FLAGS! FLAGS!—Of all Sizes, Styles and Quality. Address: J. B. FULLER & CO., 145 Superior St., Cleveland.

GRANT AT WEST POINT. His Interview With General Scott.

Mrs. Lydia M. Sigourney. The death of this admirable lady, widely popular as the authoress of many singularly graceful and pleasing poems, at the advanced age of seventy-three, will cause a general feeling of sorrow.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS: RICH BROTHERS, 209 and 211 East Water St., MILWAUKEE, WIS.

CHAR. H. RICE & CO., 211 South Water Street, CINCINNATI, O., L.L.

PRODUCER COMMISSION MERCHANTS: GRAIN, FLOUR, PROVISIONS, WOOL, HOPS, SEEDS, AND OTHERS AND BIRD FEEDS.

Cobb, Andrews & Co. (LATE J. B. COBB & CO.) 241 SUPERIOR STREET,

PAPER AND ENVELOPES, Photograph Albums

RUBBER GOODS, Lowest Market Price.

COBB, ANDREWS & CO. Keep constantly supplied with all the latest

Sunday School Publications, Sunday School Glass Books, Sunday School Singing Books, &c.

MEETING OF THE STOCK: A meeting of the stockholders of the Western Farm and Orchard Co. was held at the office of the company, No. 145 Superior St., Cleveland, June 12, 1865.

ELECTRO-THERMAL BATH CURE! 34 AND 36 PROSPECT STREET, CLEVELAND, OHIO.

BATHS ONE DOLLAR EACH. Patients can be accommodated with Board at the rate of 50 cents per day.

EDWARD P. FENN, Dr. Young's Electro-Thermal Bath, and ELECTRIC APPARATUS OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.

HATS AND CAPS. STRAW GOODS, Hats, Caps, &c.

THE LAST CALL. The Stock of the above Goods in our RETAIL DEPARTMENT MUST BE CLOSED OUT!

NEXT 60 DAYS. S. A. FULLER & CO., 215 Superior Street, MARBLE BLOCK.

Spring Styles of HATS, CAPS, STRAW GOODS, &c. L. Benedict & Sons

Spring Styles of HATS AND CAPS. We are now introducing our SPRING STYLES of HATS, including THE GRAY HAT, THE BERRY HAT, THE BERRY HAT, THE BERRY HAT.

FLAGS! FLAGS!—Of all Sizes, Styles and Quality. Address: J. B. FULLER & CO., 145 Superior St., Cleveland.

The Latest News BY TELEGRAPH. LAST NIGHT'S REPORT.

Late Foreign News. The Alabama Question in the British Parliament.

The Mexican Question in Paris. Napoleon's Letter to his Cousin

FROM COLUMBUS. The Order Relating to our Prisoners of War.

THE CONSPIRACY TRIAL. Late News from Hayti and South America.

WASHINGTON NEWS ITEMS. Great Explosion and Fire at Chittanooga.

General Slocum in New York. The Vote to Adopt a New Constitution in Missouri.

FROM RICHMOND. Extra Session of the Virginia Legislature Called.

Extra Billy Smith Surrenders and is Paroled. SOUTHERN NEWS.

Terrible State of Affairs in Alabama. GENERAL NEWS ITEMS.

GOLD LAST NIGHT 142 1/4. FROM COLUMBUS.

COLUMBUS, June 12. A dispatch from Colonel Thomas M. Vincent, A. G., states that the order, issued some time since, directing the discharge of some three months extra pay, of the paroled men who have endured the hardships of the Andersonville, Salisbury and other rebel prisons, is applicable only to those who, at its date, were returned prisoners of war.

The 8th Ohio Cavalry has at last been paid. A paymaster has left Wheeling to pay the 10th Regiment, at Staunton, Va.

The Unionists of Crawford and Madison counties have selected men who prefer General Grant to represent them in the State Convention.

Associated Press Report. FROM WASHINGTON, WASHINGTON, JUNE 12.

A witness called to day who showed that O'Laughlin was with him on the night of April 13th, and not at Secretary Stanton's as had previously been testified. It was also shown that the explosion at City Point, in August last, was owing to a rebel torpedo.

Surgeon General William Whelan, Chief of the Medical Department, died last night of a protracted illness from disease of the heart.

Major General Henry W. Slocum visited the rebel prisoners at Salisbury, and was warmly greeted. Gen. Rogers accompanied him. Mr. H. T. Morgan, a leading member of the Board introduced him to the company, upon which business was suspended for three hours for the man that captured Atlanta. The General expressed his pleasure at meeting so many to his friends, and to perceive that they were all well, marks upon our national prosperity.

Gen. Slocum is a resident of Syracuse, and represented the second district of Ontario county in the assembly of 1859.

The following is the letter of the Emperor Napoleon to his cousin: Monsieur and Dear Cousin: I cannot refrain from informing you of the painful impression I have experienced on reading your speech at Ajaccio. In leaving you, during my absence with the Emperor and my son, as Vice President of the Privy Council, I must have been conscious of your friendship and my confidence, and I hope that your presence, your conduct and your language, would testify to the union of sentiments of hatred which belong no longer to our day. To apply the ideas of the Emperor to the present time it is necessary to have passed through stern trials of responsibility and power; and besides, a desire to obtain the latter more evident among you than a will to brave the former.

Feeling assured that each one of you will eventually be cared for in your respective State Prisons, your Chief returns from issuing further orders for their release and discipline.

VI. And now trusting that each one of you may pass the unexpected term of your imprisonment with health and vigor, and in enjoying social life, with much regret, is reluctantly compelled to bid you—adieu.

F. O. BAUER, Chief of Bureau.

The Weather in Ohio. We hear of successive rains in various sections of the State, and the farmers have reason to feel encouraged, in view of the crop.

Mr. Lincoln bids fair to be pretty thoroughly biographed. He is the subject of several "lives" by minor celebrities, announcements of the biography of Mr. Lincoln are made in preparation by Robert Dale Owen, Dr. Holland, Wm. H. Herndon, Mr. Lincoln's former law partner, Hon. Joseph H. Barrett, Commissioner of Pension, and Isaac N. Arnold. We presume James Fanny Ford, Parson and John S. O. Abbott may be mainly added to the number, as their biographical machines are always in grinding order.

THE TIMES has a special from Chattanooga dated the 10th, which says that a tremendous fire and explosion occurred there on the evening of the 9th. It is supposed to have occurred through the carelessness of a miller of a powder house, which ignited with loose powder in the ordnance department, exploding several thousand tons of fixed ammunition and loose powder. Shot and shell were sent flying about the city, and many of the citizens were killed and wounded. The immense quartermaster's buildings took fire and were destroyed, involving a loss of a master of a million dollars worth of stores. Some think that the fire was the work of an incendiary, as it occurred simultaneously with the Nashville and Gallatin fires.

The railroad is nearly completed to Atlanta. Prominent rebels being arrested in Northern Georgia.

THE SEVEN-THIRTEEN. Philadelphia, June 12. Jay Cook reports that the subscription to the 7-30 loan amounted to $2,537,000, including the following:

First National Bank of Chicago, $309,150; First National Bank of Des Moines, Iowa, $200,000; National Exchange Bank of Pittsburgh, $100,000; First National Bank of St. Paul, $100,000; First National Bank of Evansville, Indiana, $50,000; First National Bank of Zanesville, Ohio, $50,000; First National Bank of Quincy, Illinois, $50,000; O. A. Putnam & Co., Boston, $50,000; Pak & Hatch, New York, $33,174; Fourth National Bank of New York, $105,000.

There were 1,773 individual subscriptions for sums of $50 and $100 each.

FROM BUREAU'S AGENCIES. NEW YORK, June 12. An arrival from Buenos Ayres brings the news that the Argentine Republic has become involved in a war which has for some time been going on between Paraguay on the one side, and Brazil and Uruguay on the other.

It is reported that the Paraguayans without previous declaration of war, forcibly entered Corrientes, one of the Argentine provinces, surprised and captured two armed vessels, and killed in the field a number of the officers and men. Of course, this act compelled the Argentine Republic to take part with Brazil and Uruguay, and will change the national troops which were setting in favor of Paraguay, against that country.

GOLD MARKET. NEW YORK, June 12. Gold is in more active demand from foreign bankers, and the prospect of large shipments by the next steamer has produced more firmness of price. The price opened at 138 1/2, and rose to 140 @ 141.

The prevailing impression that it may advance to 150 is not without foundation, but it is only speculation, though as yet, we note no important operations on that account.

The Post's Washington special says that the rebel General Billy Smith has surrendered himself, and been released on parole.

FROM HAYTI. BOSTON, June 12. By arrivals here, advice are received here from Hayti to the 28th of May. The revolution was still in progress without decisive results.

The recent report of the defeat of the rebels was not confirmed. There had been some fighting near Gonaves, and it was thought that the national troops would abandon that place and fall back upon St. Marie.

President Gelfand was making great exertions in forwarding troops from Fort an Prince.

MANUAL EMIGRATION. ST. LOUIS, June 12. Returns from several counties, together with a portion of the soldiers' vote, leave no doubt as to the adoption of the new constitution by a decided majority. Thirty-two counties are yet to be heard from, most all of which will give a majority for the constitution, which, together with a soldier vote of several thousand to come in, will make the majority in favor of its adoption from 6,000 to 6,500.

SPECIAL REPORT. FINANCIAL. NEW YORK, June 12. There was a lively market on railway shares at the Stock Exchange, and everything was very strong with an upward movement in prices.

There was a large demand for stocks throughout the session, and many of the bears were covering their contracts. There were many outside orders, and the large earnings of main roads are attracting considerable attention. After all there was quite a rush for stocks.

COAL AND MISCELLANEOUS SHARES ARE HIGHER. Gold market is active at an advance—Gold is scarce, and the decrease in the rate of interest in England has had no effect on the market. There are considerable remittances to be made on account of $20 sent here for sale.

Foreign exchange very active. Supply of money is increasing. New York Central, Erie, Reading, and Michigan Southern, and Cleveland & Pittsburgh were especially active. In the afternoon the greatest excitement was in Pittsburgh.

Governments were dull, partially in consequence of the disappointment of the general expectation that the Peruvian would report a still further advance in London.

State bonds are firm, but there was very little doing. Railway mortgages and bank shares steady, with light offerings.

PETROLEUM STOCKS. Petroleum stocks heavy and lower. The Export and the Alexandria to day means for their own protection. Saturday they formed an organization and adopted a series of resolutions, one of which affirmed in strong terms the right of colored men to vote.

CELEBRATION. The following circular has been issued from the Attorney General's office, by direction of the President:

All persons belonging to, or except classes enumerated in the President's amnesty proclamation of May 29, 1865, who may make special application to the President for pardon, are hereby notified that before their respective applications will be considered, it must be shown that they have taken the oath in said proclamation prescribed. Every such person desiring special pardon should make application in writing or in person therefor, and should transmit with such application original oath of affirmation, as taken and subscribed before the officer, authorized under the rules and regulations promulgated by the Secretary of State, to administer the amnesty oath, prescribed in said Proclamation of the President.

[Signed] JAMES SPENCER, Attorney General.

LIBERATED. About thirty additional prisoners, including several Captains and Lieutenants were liberated from Fort Warren to-day, after taking the oath of allegiance.

THE JUDGE Advocate, in reply to the plea of the counsel for the accused to the jurisdiction of the Military Commission, renews first on the proclamation of the President of September 25, 1862, declaring that during the insurrection, and as a necessary measure for suppressing the same, all rebels, their aids and abettors, or any person guilty of disloyal practices, affording aid and comfort to the rebels, shall be subject to martial law, and liable to trial and punishment by courts martial or military commissions.

Secondly, the Judge Advocate replies that where no such formal power is conveyed, the laws of war, the lex non scripta of every land, and the necessity of the recent crisis clothed the commission with jurisdiction. The accused, by helping the rebels, so far become a part of the enemy as to clothe themselves with the military garb, and thus make themselves subject to the laws of war, and liable to their rule. They have forgotten the status of the civilian, and have assumed to interfere with the operation of the military. This is recognized as good law by the Government.

These points were substantially made by Judge Advocate Burnett, in the case of the United States against Ward, Morris and others, charged with conspiracy to release the rebel prisoners in Camp Douglas, and approved by the Judge Advocate General and the Secretary of War.

THE REPUBLICAN. The House of Commons, in answer to a proposition, Mr. Cardwell said efforts had been made for the commission of the Red River District, but without present result. The Government acknowledges the right of property in land by the Hudson Bay Company under their charter.

In the House of Commons questions were asked as to the reported demands of the American Government on account of the Alabama's depredations. Lord Palmerston said that the communication had been taken place for claims lately made of the same kind as formerly. He could not say whether the instructions were issued by Lord John Russell, or Lord John Russell's accession that new claims had been made in a totally different spirit than former ones. Mr. Steward said no fresh demands had been made.

The rupture between the Emperor and Prince Napoleon was complete. The Paris correspondent of the Daily News says the great uproar in the present delicate crisis on the Mexican question, the Prince glorying in the Monroe doctrine, so feelingly pronounced that the restoration of the United States would be the impossibility of prolonged French occupation of Mexico.

Mr. Lincoln's friends who had taken the two telegrams from the telegraph office, and handed them to Mr. Lincoln, spent a third time and a half hour in waiting for a dispatch received from the operator in these words: "Come inside the railing and get good news."

He went inside and received a telegram from the Interior, giving the result of the second ballot, which showed that Lincoln was only three votes ahead of Seward. This dispatch was still in the hands of the telegraph office, and like its predecessor, was placed in Mr. Lincoln's hands without comment. It was read at first silently by Mr. Lincoln, and some time after he said to the telegraph operator, "I like the way things are going." Mr. Lincoln replied, "I have no fault to find; I think the Convention will nominate Lincoln."

Mr. Lincoln's friends who had taken the two telegrams from the telegraph office, and handed them to Mr. Lincoln, spent a third time and a half hour in waiting for a dispatch received from the operator in these words: "Come inside the railing and get good news."

He went inside and received a telegram from the Interior, giving the result of the second ballot, which showed that Lincoln was only three votes ahead of Seward. This dispatch was still in the hands of the telegraph office, and like its predecessor, was placed in Mr. Lincoln's hands without comment. It was read at first silently by Mr. Lincoln, and some time after he said to the telegraph operator, "I like the way things are going." Mr. Lincoln replied, "I have no fault to find; I think the Convention will nominate Lincoln."

Mr. Lincoln's friends who had taken the two telegrams from the telegraph office, and handed them to Mr. Lincoln, spent a third time and a half hour in waiting for a dispatch received from the operator in these words: "Come inside the railing and get good news."

He went inside and received a telegram from the Interior, giving the result of the second ballot, which showed that Lincoln was only three votes ahead of Seward. This dispatch was still in the hands of the telegraph office, and like its predecessor, was placed in Mr. Lincoln's hands without comment. It was read at first silently by Mr. Lincoln, and some time after he said to the telegraph operator, "I like the way things are going." Mr. Lincoln replied, "I have no fault to find; I think the Convention will nominate Lincoln."

Mr. Lincoln's friends who had taken the two telegrams from the telegraph office, and handed them to Mr. Lincoln, spent a third time and a half hour in waiting for a dispatch received from the operator in these words: "Come inside the railing and get good news."

He went inside and received a telegram from the Interior, giving the result of the second ballot, which showed that Lincoln was only three votes ahead of Seward. This dispatch was still in the hands of the telegraph office, and like its predecessor, was placed in Mr. Lincoln's hands without comment. It was read at first silently by Mr. Lincoln, and some time after he said to the telegraph operator, "I like the way things are going." Mr. Lincoln replied, "I have no fault to find; I think the Convention will nominate Lincoln."

Mr. Lincoln's friends who had taken the two telegrams from the telegraph office, and handed them to Mr. Lincoln, spent a third time and a half hour in waiting for a dispatch received from the operator in these words: "Come inside the railing and get good news."

He went inside and received a telegram from the Interior, giving the result of the second ballot, which showed that Lincoln was only three votes ahead of Seward. This dispatch was still in the hands of the telegraph office, and like its predecessor, was placed in Mr. Lincoln's hands without comment. It was read at first silently by Mr. Lincoln, and some time after he said to the telegraph operator, "I like the way things are going." Mr. Lincoln replied, "I have no fault to find; I think the Convention will nominate Lincoln."

Mr. Lincoln's friends who had taken the two telegrams from the telegraph office, and handed them to Mr. Lincoln, spent a third time and a half hour in waiting for a dispatch received from the operator in these words: "Come inside the railing and get good news."

He went inside and received a telegram from the Interior, giving the result of the second ballot, which showed that Lincoln was only three votes ahead of Seward. This dispatch was still in the hands of the telegraph office, and like its predecessor, was placed in Mr. Lincoln's hands without comment. It was read at first silently by Mr. Lincoln, and some time after he said to the telegraph operator, "I like the way things are going." Mr. Lincoln replied, "I have no fault to find; I think the Convention will nominate Lincoln."

Mr. Lincoln's friends who had taken the two telegrams from the telegraph office, and handed them to Mr. Lincoln, spent a third time and a half hour in waiting for a dispatch received from the operator in these words: "Come inside the railing and get good news."

He went inside and received a telegram from the Interior, giving the result of the second ballot, which showed that Lincoln was only three votes ahead of Seward. This dispatch was still in the hands of the telegraph office, and like its predecessor, was placed in Mr. Lincoln's hands without comment. It was read at first silently by Mr. Lincoln, and some time after he said to the telegraph operator, "I like the way things are going." Mr. Lincoln replied, "I have no fault to find; I think the Convention will nominate Lincoln."

Mr. Lincoln's friends who had taken the two telegrams from the telegraph office, and handed them to Mr. Lincoln, spent a third time and a half hour in waiting for a dispatch received from the operator in these words: "Come inside the railing and get good news."

He went inside and received a telegram from the Interior, giving the result of the second ballot, which showed that Lincoln was only three votes ahead of Seward. This dispatch was still in the hands of the telegraph office, and like its predecessor, was placed in Mr. Lincoln's hands without comment. It was read at first silently by Mr. Lincoln, and some time after he said to the telegraph operator, "I like the way things are going." Mr. Lincoln replied, "I have no fault to find; I think the Convention will nominate Lincoln."

Mr. Lincoln's friends who had taken the two telegrams from the telegraph office, and handed them to Mr. Lincoln, spent a third time and a half hour in waiting for a dispatch received from the operator in these words: "Come inside the railing and get good news."

He went inside and received a telegram from the Interior, giving the result of the second ballot, which showed that Lincoln was only three votes ahead of Seward. This dispatch was still in the hands of the telegraph office, and like its predecessor, was placed in Mr. Lincoln's hands without comment. It was read at first silently by Mr. Lincoln, and some time after he said to the telegraph operator, "I like the way things are going." Mr. Lincoln replied, "I have no fault to find; I think the Convention will nominate Lincoln."

Mr. Lincoln's friends who had taken the two telegrams from the telegraph office, and handed them to Mr. Lincoln, spent a third time and a half hour in waiting for a dispatch received from the operator in these words: "Come inside the railing and get good news."

He went inside and received a telegram from the Interior, giving the result of the second ballot, which showed that Lincoln was only three votes ahead of Seward. This dispatch was still in the hands of the telegraph office, and like its predecessor, was placed in Mr. Lincoln's hands without comment. It was read at first silently by Mr. Lincoln, and some time after he said to the telegraph operator, "I like the way things are going." Mr. Lincoln replied, "I have no fault to find; I think the Convention will nominate Lincoln."

Mr. Lincoln's friends who had taken the two telegrams from the telegraph office, and handed them to Mr. Lincoln, spent a third time and a half hour in waiting for a dispatch received from the operator in these words: "Come inside the railing and get good news."

He went inside and received a telegram from the Interior, giving the result of the second ballot, which showed that Lincoln was only three votes ahead of Seward. This dispatch was still in the hands of the telegraph office, and like its predecessor, was placed in Mr. Lincoln's hands without comment. It was read at first silently by Mr. Lincoln, and some time after he said to the telegraph operator, "I like the way things are going." Mr. Lincoln replied, "I have no fault to find; I think the Convention will nominate Lincoln."

Mr. Lincoln's friends who had taken the two telegrams from the telegraph office, and handed them to Mr. Lincoln, spent a third time and a half hour in waiting for a dispatch received from the operator in these words: "Come inside the railing and get good news."

YESTERDAY EVENING'S EDITION. FOREIGN NEWS. ARTHUR POINT, June 11. The following is the substance of the report of London news, which sailed from Liverpool, May 31st, for New York, brought by the Peruvian:

The London Cable was completed on the 29th. At a banquet given at the contractors all parties seemed satisfied with the great results already obtained, and expressed a great confidence in the enterprise being a great success.

In the House of Commons, in answer to a proposition, Mr. Cardwell said efforts had been made for the commission of the Red River District, but without present result. The Government acknowledges the right of property in land by the Hudson Bay Company under their charter.

In the House of Commons questions were asked as to the reported demands of the American Government on account of the Alabama's depredations. Lord Palmerston said that the communication had been taken place for claims lately made of the same kind as formerly. He could not say whether the instructions were issued by Lord John Russell, or Lord John Russell's accession that new claims had been made in a totally different spirit than former ones. Mr. Steward said no fresh demands had been made.

The rupture between the Emperor and Prince Napoleon was complete. The Paris correspondent of the Daily News says the great uproar in the present delicate crisis on the Mexican question, the Prince glorying in the Monroe doctrine, so feelingly pronounced that the restoration of the United States would be the impossibility of prolonged French occupation of Mexico.

Mr. Lincoln's friends who had taken the two telegrams from the telegraph office, and handed them to Mr. Lincoln, spent a third time and a half hour in waiting for a dispatch received from the operator in these words: "Come inside the railing and get good news."

He went inside and received a telegram from the Interior, giving the result of the second ballot, which showed that Lincoln was only three votes ahead of Seward. This dispatch was still in the hands of the telegraph office, and like its predecessor, was placed in Mr. Lincoln's hands without comment. It was read at first silently by Mr. Lincoln, and some time after he said to the telegraph operator, "I like the way things are going." Mr. Lincoln replied, "I have no fault to find; I think the Convention will nominate Lincoln."

Mr. Lincoln's friends who had taken the two telegrams from the telegraph office, and handed them to Mr. Lincoln, spent a third time and a half hour in waiting for a dispatch received from the operator in these words: "Come inside the railing and get good news."

He went inside and received a telegram from the Interior, giving the result of the second ballot, which showed that Lincoln was only three votes ahead of Seward. This dispatch was still in the hands of the telegraph office, and like its predecessor, was placed in Mr. Lincoln's hands without comment. It was read at first silently by Mr. Lincoln, and some time after he said to the telegraph operator, "I like the way things are going." Mr. Lincoln replied, "I have no fault to find; I think the Convention will nominate Lincoln."

Mr. Lincoln's friends who had taken the two telegrams from the telegraph office, and handed them to Mr. Lincoln, spent a third time and a half hour in waiting for a dispatch received from the operator in these words: "Come inside the railing and get good news."

He went inside and received a telegram from the Interior, giving the result of the second ballot, which showed that Lincoln was only three votes ahead of Seward. This dispatch was still in the hands of the telegraph office, and like its predecessor, was placed in Mr. Lincoln's hands without comment. It was read at first silently by Mr. Lincoln, and some time after he said to the telegraph operator, "I like the way things are going." Mr. Lincoln replied, "I have no fault to find; I think the Convention will nominate Lincoln."

Mr. Lincoln's friends who had taken the two telegrams from the telegraph office, and handed them to Mr. Lincoln, spent a third time and a half hour in waiting for a dispatch received from the operator in these words: "Come inside the railing and get good news."

He went inside and received a telegram from the Interior, giving the result of the second ballot, which showed that Lincoln was only three votes ahead of Seward. This dispatch was still in the hands of the telegraph office, and like its predecessor, was placed in Mr. Lincoln's hands without comment. It was read at first silently by Mr. Lincoln, and some time after he said to the telegraph operator, "I like the way things are going." Mr. Lincoln replied, "I have no fault to find; I think the Convention will nominate Lincoln."

Mr. Lincoln's friends who had taken the two telegrams from the telegraph office, and handed them to Mr. Lincoln, spent a third time and a half hour in waiting for a dispatch received from the operator in these words: "Come inside the railing and get good news."

He went inside and received a telegram from the Interior, giving the result of the second ballot, which showed that Lincoln was only three votes ahead of Seward. This dispatch was still in the hands of the telegraph office, and like its predecessor, was placed in Mr. Lincoln's hands without comment. It was read at first silently by Mr. Lincoln, and some time after he said to the telegraph operator, "I like the way things are going." Mr. Lincoln replied, "I have no fault to find; I think the Convention will nominate Lincoln."

Mr. Lincoln's friends who had taken the two telegrams from the telegraph office, and handed them to Mr. Lincoln, spent a third time and a half hour in waiting for a dispatch received from the operator in these words: "Come inside the railing and get good news."

He went inside and received a telegram from the Interior, giving the result of the second ballot, which showed that Lincoln was only three votes ahead of Seward. This dispatch was still in the hands of the telegraph office, and like its predecessor, was placed in Mr. Lincoln's hands without comment. It was read at first silently by Mr. Lincoln, and some time after he said to the telegraph operator, "I like the way things are going." Mr. Lincoln replied, "I have no fault to find; I think the Convention will nominate Lincoln."

Mr. Lincoln's friends who had taken the two telegrams from the telegraph office, and handed them to Mr. Lincoln, spent a third time and a half hour in waiting for a dispatch received from the operator in these words: "Come inside the railing and get good news."

He went inside and received a telegram from the Interior, giving the result of the second ballot, which showed that Lincoln was only three votes ahead of Seward. This dispatch was still in the hands of the telegraph office, and like its predecessor, was placed in Mr. Lincoln's hands without comment. It was read at first silently by Mr. Lincoln, and some time after he said to the telegraph operator, "I like the way things are going." Mr. Lincoln replied, "I have no fault to find; I think the Convention will nominate Lincoln."

Mr. Lincoln's friends who had taken the two telegrams from the telegraph office, and handed them to Mr. Lincoln, spent a third time and a half hour in waiting for a dispatch received from the operator in these words: "Come inside the railing and get good news."

He went inside and received a telegram from the Interior, giving the result of the second ballot, which showed that Lincoln was only three votes ahead of Seward. This dispatch was still in the hands of the telegraph office, and like its predecessor, was placed in Mr. Lincoln's hands without comment. It was read at first silently by Mr. Lincoln, and some time after he said to the telegraph operator, "I like the way things are going." Mr. Lincoln replied, "I have no fault to find; I think the Convention will nominate Lincoln."

Mr. Lincoln's