

VARIOUS ITEMS.
New York, July 18.

Times' Washington special says: ardon Bureau is still overrun with lions. Among them are those of as H. Henry, Senator for Tennessee; Willard, formerly member of the States Congress for Alabama; J. nton, United States District Judge rginia; G. N. Hollins, U. S. Navy; arbelin, U. S. Navy; Jas. H. Lane, er General of the rebel army; the overnors Magrath, of South Carol- d Moore, of Alabama.

ward's social says a delegation from South Carolina, consisted of J. F. Perry, Governor J. S. Orr, C. J. W. Grady, W. A. Slitch and Bloodgood.

The present series of the seven-thirty probably all be absorbed within ten days. This is the last of the eight million loan authorized at the session of Congress. When the soldiers paid off with the decrease of the war expenses, the Secretary will get along until Congress meets with use of certificates of indebtedness.

understood that General Almonte is in New York, in cog., on his way to Australia, Belgium for more assistance for his plan, and desires to have an interview with President Johnson.

FROM NEWBERRY.

New York, July 18.
 Senator Ellen T. Terry brings New-
 ices of the 15th.
 Although Progress says not a solitary yellow fever prevails at Wil-progress speaks in the highest terms administration of Governor Holden sets forth the great benefits has received by the influx of business men. In 1858 it was impracticable to run a line of to New York; now there are one or two to Baltimore.

Paris Fashions for July.
 is now fixed for the season. No doubt that the dress jacket or shirt en suite will be worn at the summer, and on this account materials will be much in favour of this applies to simple bodies are made with large basques, frequently with a short casque, takes the place of a corsage, being tight. Bands are sometimes worn

We do not recommend this Russian leather bands and are quite as much in vogue as they year. Blue is very fashionable perhaps white may be said to ate. We find white for evening

Yet there is no need of sameness, and admits of greater variety. The patterns in printed muslins are numerous to mention. We must note one which seems destined to meet with success. It is in wide black and white stripes, with a shower of gold

...the spots are sometimes in spots are very pretty this year, small patterns or narrow black stripes.

has already been made two or three times and failed; therefore we speak of it as to whether they will become fashionable once more. The hot weather lace has resumed its place, but not so extensive in show as before. We find it now generally in

The lace pailot is made short and, worn with a robe of muslin, or fancy dresses of alpaca, mohair. The effect is especially dresses or cassques when the in-placed over a colored ribbon. High hats are now occupying much time and ingenuity of our artists, some new and elegant models for the trimmings of which are very set of straw tissue, trimmed with bon edged with straw lace; boua of seaweed, and red and black Pearl of tulle falling over the and fastened to the bonnet by comb of cut steels. Bandeau ed and berries.

with a bouquet of field flowers bouquet repeated on the inside imposed of wide band of ponceau h forms the strings, to which is under the chin a catalane of black ked with jet beads.
net of blue tulle, worked with strength, delicately composed of and small bells flours, is placed the front, above a bouillonne of tulle nettes of ribbon, which form the the inside is trimmed with the vers; blue ribbon strings.

ite crinoline bonnet with steel spring squares. Crown of maize a violet of white tulle, worked stars, and trimmed around with fringe, maize color. A large tea blond cap; strings of maize color.

favorite trimming for the inside of are bandalettes of velvet, either ple, without any ornament, or with a small bird, butterfly or an ornament in gold, steel or according to the trimming on the of the bonnet.

short veil, worn tight across the face, continued, excepting for the hair.

They may be blue, pink or according to the color of the bonnet white are the most universal.

at the favorite flowers are the jessamines, lillies of the valley and rose-

New York correspondent of the Gazette refers to this new literary periodical as the "last literary sensation of New York." In "The Nation," the new weekly which has been talked about for the month or two. I do not remember to have ever seen so nearly perfect a first volume; but there may be reason to fear that the long essays, elaborate reviews, and solidly-gilted thirty-two pages of matter may not be too much for the average newspaper taste. Such journals

Nation will, in any event, try the experiment fairly and fully. It starts on the capital of a hundred thousand dollars—$100,000.

controlling interest, is held in Boston while the rest is divided between New York and Philadelphia, the latter having twenty-eight thousand and New York only twenty-one. Among those largely interested in Boston is Mr. Charles Elliott Norton, better known as the associate of Russell in the editorship of the North American Review. The radical elements represented—George L. Stearns, of New York, and Miller McKim, of Philadelphia—being among the heaviest shareholders. The editor, Mr. Godkin, is known in this country as for some years the New correspondent of the London News has no office associates as yet, excepting Wendell Phillips Garrison, late Independent.

g a whole family,—father, mother and —all at once, so that there was no to bring action for damages.

100