

The Ashland Union.

THE ASHLAND UNION is published every Wednesday morning, in Ashland, Ashland County, Ohio, by J. M. Landis & Brother.

Subscription rates: Town subscribers - in advance, $2.00; if paid after the expiration of 6 months, $3.00. After the year has expired, $4.00.

Losses of Newspapers: 1. Subscribers who do not give express notice to the contrary, are considered as willing to continue their subscriptions.

2. If subscribers order the discontinuance of their papers, the publishers can continue to send them until all arrearages are paid.

3. If subscribers neglect or refuse to take the papers from the office to which they are directed, they are held responsible.

4. If subscribers remove to another place without informing the publishers, their paper is sent to the former direction, they are held responsible.

5. The County has decided that refusing to take a newspaper from the office, or removing and leaving it uncollected, is prima facie evidence of intended fraud.

Rules of Advertising Advanced

The undersigned, Proprietors of Newspapers published in Ashland, in consideration of the largely increased expenses of publishing, hereby agree to adopt the following advanced rates for advertising, and to conform to the following Rules for regulating the rates of Advertising in our columns, to take effect from August 1st, 1864.

J. M. LANDIS & BRO., Prop'rs Union. L. JEFF. SPRENGER, Proprietor Times, August 1, 1864.

ASHLAND, OCT. 12, 1865.

Lost. - See advertisement of Notes Lost.

Buy your Books, stationery, call and window paper, &c., of J. I. Dorland, No. 5, Main St., Ashland, Ohio.

APPLES. - Apples were sold on our streets yesterday at $1.00 per bushel.

GROCERIES. - M. Winbiger & Co., have on hands a large lot of Groceries. Call in and see them.

"The melancholy days have come," and our citizens would do well to lay in a supply of fuel while the roads are in good condition.

Buy your drugs, medicines, pure wines, liquors, &c., of S. R. Squire, No. 5, Main street.

WOOD. - Those of our subscribers who intend paying their subscriptions in wood, will please bring it in while the loads are good.

GOSE EAST. - J. Cahn has gone East to purchase a large stock of Fall and Winter Clothing, &c.

Apprentices Wanted. An honest, industrious boy, desirous of learning the art of Printing, can obtain a situation by applying at this office immediately.

W. G. HELLMAN, of the firm of HELLMAN & BRUBAKER, has gone East to purchase another large stock of goods, consisting of Groceries, Queensware, Wood and Willow ware, &c., &c.

LECTURE. - Hon. M. E. White, State School Commissioner, will deliver a Lecture on some Educational topic at the Town Hall on next Monday evening. All interested in the Schools of our county are invited to attend.

Are you insured? If not, go to H. M. Bickel, agent for the Columbus Accident Insurance Company, and get insured before it is too late. It is a reliable company.

NO FASHION NOW ONLY. - It is said that the new fall bonnets - just from Paris - are a paragon of ugliness. The fact will make no difference, however. To be in fashion is all that is necessary to make apparel popular. Her caps and dog kennels would be worn if they were only fashionable.

HAY. - The Northern Ohio Hay Press Company desire to purchase 500 tons of hay this fall. Farmers, this is an excellent opportunity to get the highest cash price for hay. Bring it along before the Press is removed. See advertisement in another column.

MOORE, CRIDER & ROBERTS, having purchased the City Bakery and Confectionery, are now prepared to accommodate the public with anything in their line. They have also a large stock of groceries of all kinds, and will have a fresh arrival in a short time. Call at the City Bakery.

SMASH-UP. - On Sabbath afternoon, two young gent's were driving down Main street at a 2:40 rate, and on suddenly turning the corner, the buggy capsized, spilling the gents out in the mud. The buggy was completely demolished. Boys, be careful, hereafter, how you drive around corners.

"We know the world is dark and rough, But time betrays that soon enough." Still a goodly portion of the dark spots may be eradicated by those afflicted with Catarrhal difficulties, by the use of Dr. D. H. Seelye's Liquid Remedy. For sale by all Druggists. Try it.

Fighting seemed to be indulged in pretty freely during the Fair, judging from all accounts. Persons with belligerent dispositions found no trouble in raising a fight - it was, "tread on me coat tail, if ye please" - and knock downs were sure to follow.

RUNAWAY. - Quite an exciting runaway occurred in Ashland on last Thursday evening. A span of horses, attached to a buggy, came dashing down Main street at a furious rate. They were brought to a full stop by running against a buggy standing in front of J. McG. Patterson's store, both horses falling. The vehicle was a used up institution. The standing buggy was considerably damaged.

In passing round the Fair grounds, last week, admiring the many beautiful and useful articles on exhibition, we were particularly attracted by an elegant and tastefully displayed lot of Stoves of the latest and most improved styles. On inquiry, we ascertained that they were from the establishment of WILLIS KAUFMAN & Co., two doors East of the Bank, Ashland. In addition to their large stock of Stoves, Messrs. W. K. & Co. have a complete assortment of Hardware, Cutlery, House-Furnishing Goods, &c., &c., which they will sell as low as the lowest. Call and examine their Stock - it is worth going to see, even if you don't want to buy.

THE LADY'S FRIEND. - GRANDMA'S PORTRAIT is the title of a very taking Steel Engraving in the November number of this favorite monthly. It is a household scene, and one of the youngsters is drawing Grandma's picture on the wall. The double colored steel Fashion Plate is as usual superb. LOVE TERRAZ FLORATION is the title of the next engraving, which illustrates an interesting story of the same name. Then we have a number of engravings, devoted to the fashions, new hats, head-dresses, lady's and boy's suits, &c. For the Music we have this time a Gallop from Mireille. The literary matter is 'Dear Mrs. Thorpe'; 'Changes in the Household of Cecelia Bird, Spinster,' by Mrs. Margaret Hosmer; 'In Silence,' by Clara Augustus; 'Grace and Margaret,' by Mrs. Phelps; 'Told by the Sun,' by Beatrice Colonna; 'My Prairie Home,' Editorials, Receipts, Fashions, &c. &c. Price $2.50 a year; 2 copies $4.00; 5 copies (and one gratis) $10. Now is the time to get up clubs for 1866. Specimen numbers for this purpose will be sent for 15 cents. Wheeler & Wilson's celebrated Sewing Machines are furnished as Premiums in certain cases. The Prospectus of this magazine for next year embodies a splendid list of contributors.

Address Deacon & Peterson, 319 Walnut street, Philadelphia.

Herald of Health, and Journal of Physical Culture.

The great interest now being manifested by all intelligent and cultivated people on the subject of Physical Culture, Bodily Development, and the Laws of Life, makes a journal devoted to this subject a household necessity. Parents are beginning to feel as if it was a matter of some consequence that their children be reared in health and vigor. Students begin to feel as if sound bodies were of as much importance to them as sound minds. Professional men are beginning to see that Health has much to do with success. Lawyers are everywhere finding out that air, light, good food, physical culture, and a wise hygiene for body and mind, are more valuable than drugs in restoring them to health. Now, the HERALD OF HEALTH and Journal of Physical Culture treats on all subjects relating to health, the care of children and invalids, Hygiene, physical training, growth, the laws of life, the care of lungs, skin, stomach, bowels, brain, nerves, muscles, etc., and should be in the hands of every person who values health, bodily symmetry and physical perfection.

Published monthly, at $1.50 a year; 15 cents a number. Address the Publishers, MILLER & WOOD, 15 Light St. New York.

THE FAIR. - The Exhibition of the Agricultural Society, last week, was attended by the most flattering success. The weather was pleasant, and the crowd in attendance was large, exceeding, we think, the number present at any previous Fairs. The farmers and their wives, sons and daughters, turned out in great force; and we never saw a more orderly and respectable lot of people congregated on a public occasion, than we met on the Fair Grounds.

The quantity of live stock entered for premiums in the different classes, was large, and generally of superior quality. This was particularly the case with Sheep. We noticed several very fine rams, one valued at $7,000. The number of fine Horses, Cattle, and Hogs, was by no means small, showing that our county is devoting a great deal of attention to the raising of fine stock.

In the fruit and vegetable department, the display was large. Big pumpkins and squashes, nice apples, potatoes, &c., &c., were exhibited in large quantities. Floral Hall contained many articles of domestic manufacture that reflected great credit on the hands that wrought them. A number of Oil Paintings added beauty to the Hall. Our attention was particularly called to three beautiful scenes, painted by Miss Rebecca McLaughlin, formerly a resident of our county, but now living at Charlotte, Eaton County, Michigan. One was a large pleasing Autumnal Picture. In the foreground is a rural lake, which extends some distance into the background. It is skirted by forest trees - all of which are clad in the brilliant and varied garb of autumn. In the distance a charming landscape stretches far away, made up of hills, dale, trees and shrubs. For beauty of scenery and neatness of workmanship, it excels any we have ever seen. The other, though smaller, were equally good.

The display of labor-saving machinery for farmers, did not vary much from that usually made at County Fairs. The balloon ascension and the wild buffaloes, were quite a feature, and attracted the attention of the admiring crowd.

We had intended to take notes and give a detailed account of the articles on exhibition; but we fell in with a great many old friends, and the desire to talk and learn all about how they were getting along, got the upper hand of us, and it was not long before the good resolution we had formed on entering the ground, was lost sight of and we floated with the crowd, seeing and enjoying all we could.

The poultry receipts of the Society have been excellent, and we can, without hesitation or "mental reservation," pronounce the Fair a good institution.

The Case of Ketchum - He Pleads Guilty.

New York, Oct. 9. This morning the counsel for young Ketchum announced that he would put in a plea of guilty to the indictment charging his client with forgery. It appears the prisoner proposes to plead guilty, but as matters affecting his late firm and their creditors are still pending and unfinished, and his explanations and testimony are still required by those interested, it is desirable to defer the plea to as late a day in the present term as practicable. The District Attorney said such a request was not unusual, and gave notice that the plea must be put in on the last day of the term. This was agreed to.

The Etheridge Trial.

CAIRO, Oct. 16. The steamer Huzzess sunk on the wreck of the Black Hawk, in this harbor last night. Her cargo will probably be saved in a damaged condition. In the trial of Emerson Etheridge, the accused who had been permitted to plead his own case, read a plea denying the jurisdiction of the commission which the Court over-ruled, upon which Etheridge filed an exception to the ruling. He pleaded not guilty to all charges and specifications except the 24 specification, 2d charge, to which he pleaded guilty in Court allowing him to introduce the whole letter from which an extract was made. - This letter is known as the Dresden letter, dated June 28th, in which he made the declaration that Tennessee had no law but force; and no semblance of civil government, State, or Federal, but an usurpation enforced by bayonets of assassines. After some evidence for prosecution the accused presented the Court with a written statement which admits all facts in the first charge, namely: Encouragement of resistance to the enforcement of laws.

The Veterans.

Newcomerstown, O., Oct. 11, '65. Editors Statesman. - Oxford Township, Tuscarawas county, gives Morgan a majority of 24 - a gain of 30 votes over last year, and of 59 since the fall before. But the great feature of the election was the soldiers' vote. About 2 o'clock, P. M., the returned soldiers formed in line, and with their colors at the head of the column, at the word "forward" marched to the polls and voted the Democratic ticket. They were not home guards, but bronzed veterans, who were on every battlefield from the Ohio to Atlanta, and marched with Sherman "down to the sea." They are in favor of taxing bonds, opposed to Negro Suffrage, but can't see the Copperhead just as the Abolitionists do.

The Wirtz Commission.

Gen. Wallace and his confederates on the Wirtz Military Commission never regarded us as soldiers, but they are harvesting a plentiful crop of disgrace in their new occupation. Since they seized the tools of jurisprudence they have shown themselves sufficiently ignorant and insolent, but for the last few days they have out-commissioned the Commission. Captain Wirtz is accused of starting his prisoners. Mr. Baker proposes to show by General Lee, General Johnston and others, that the Confederate soldiers themselves were starving at the same time, and this was unavoidable. The evidence seems relevant and important. Colonel Chipman objects on the grounds that would seem absolutely laughable to any lawyer of average learning and ability, were it not that they are soberly argued, soberly heard, and will probably be soberly allowed, by the august board of potent, grave and reverend dolts who compose the court. He cites indisputable authority to the point "that a party in the same indictment cannot be a witness for his co-defendant until he has first been acquitted or convicted, whether they plead jointly or separately." From which he springs like a chamois, over whole Alps of reasoning and chains of law, to the conclusion that "the rebellion has been one gigantic act of treason, one common conspiracy to overthrow our Government. Not a single rebel engaged in it, according to the strict rules of law, is a competent witness for another on trial, charged with treasonable offenses, as he is an accessory before, or after the fact, or a co-conspirator or an accomplice, and therefore excluded. I say, then, until they are purged by special pardons, by a general pardon, or by acquittal before a competent court, no one of them ought to be permitted to testify for his associates.

In other words, Capt. Wirtz, being tried for murder and all treatment of prisoners can not have Gen. Johnston for a witness, because Gen. Johnston, in Col. Chipman's opinion, has committed treason; it being utterly inadmissible that the prisoner and witness are not "parties of the same indictment," that the crimes are different, that the criminal acts of two men are different, that Gen. Johnston has never been convicted of any crime, or even so much as indicted. And the man who advances such trash as this, is according to the New York Times, "a lawyer of fine ability and pleasing, dignified address, who tries his case with impressive earnestness, but justly and fairly."

When the evidence was going in for the prosecution every one who had even the dimmest, vaguest ideas of the law of evidence, was amazed at the kind of testimony which Colonel Chipman offered and the commission admitted. Still it was a "Military Commission." No one expected them to follow the law. It had been decided by the highest legal authority that "what the soldier said is no evidence." (Burdell vs. Pickwick, 3 Dick. 86. Starobleigh J.) But here not only what the soldier said, but what the baker's daughter in the pink bonnet heard from the carpenter's grandmother, in reply to the question whether her cousin had the clergyman's pick-ax, could "be evidence," provided only it was against Capt. Wirtz.

Now that evidence is going in for the accused, unheard-of stringency is substituted for subterfuge of laxity. Important, essential, relevant evidence in Wirtz's favor is ruled out with a promptitude only paralleled by that with which irrelevant hearsay testimony against him was before admitted. Gen. Wallace and his confederates have turned themselves from a court of old women gossip into a stringent set of star-chambers. The Military Commission itself was a piece of disgraceful illegality, but its justice has become so brazen, shameless, arrogant, and infamous, that the disgrace of its origin has ceased to offend the public sense - as if a bath of bastards had wiped out their shame with a succession of homicidal slaughters. - New York World.

It is reported that Jefferson Davis has escaped from the Federal authorities, and is now on the Ocean, bound for Nassau. Bully for Jeff!

A Warning to Postmasters.

The President has ordered the Postmaster at Davenport, Iowa, Russell, to be removed, and the appointment of General Sanders in his stead. This Russell is the editor of the Republican in that city, and followed the lead of the Chicago Tribune in denouncing the restoration policy of the President. This shows that Mr. Johnson is disposed to incur the risk of exposing himself to the impatient wrath of the radicals, and may serve to put a wholesome restraint upon their disorderly propensities. May this dispensation of retributive justice be sanctified to all whom it may especially concern. - Holmes Co. Farmer.

A little girl, after returning from church where she saw a collection taken up for the first time, related what took place, and among other things she said with all her childish innocence, "that a man passed around a plate with some money on it, but I didn't take any."

An Old Copperhead.

In an excited discussion, yesterday between a Democrat and German Republican, the former referred to habes corpus. "Habes Corpus," responded the Republican, "talk to me about habes corpus. I know him well. He is a damn' old Copperhead." Information has been received at the Freedmen's Bureau from the chief medical officer in charge of freedmen in Alabama that the small pox is raging all through that State, and although every precaution has been taken to prevent its spreading, new cases are appearing daily. A special despatch from Des Moines, Iowa, says the majority for Governor Stone, who boldly advocated negro suffrage, will be 15,000. The remainder of the Republican ticket is elected by nearly 20,000 majority.

NOTICE

Henry Myers, Executor for Decedent Mary Myers, of the County of Lucas, State of Ohio, and State of Michigan, is notified that Henry Myers, did, on the 15th day of Sept. 1865, file his Petition in the office of the Clerk of the Court of Common Pleas, and for the county of Ashland and State of Ohio, charging said Mary Myers with being absent for the space of three years, and asking that she be declared dead, and that said Henry Myers, which Petition will stand for hearing at the next term of said Court.
