

POETRY.

From the N. Y. Spirit of the Times. TEXAS.

BY E. L. WADELL.

Hark! from the land where blooms the rose, Throughout a year of fruits and flowers, The clarion's call for Freedom's foes Would dare invade her sacred bowers.

There has the settler reared his home, By hardy toil and bold enterprise, And from Religion's peaceful dome His grateful prayers to Heaven arise.

His children round the cottage hearth— The infant on its mother's knee— Were taught the holiest law on earth, Which God approves, is to be free!

And now the hour has come at last— Rebellion's smothered cry has broke; Too long a galling bondage cast, They swear to crush a tyrant's yoke.

Hark! from the land where patriots dwell, The clarion's call, a wall of grief! Shall Texas fall as Poland fell? No arm be raised for her relief?

No! by the Arm which led them on To settle in that fairy clime, They'll laugh blest Freedom's foes to scorn, Or perish in the cause sublime!

Oh, righteous cause! when man, oppress'd Girds on the sword to do or die, His name in glory's page shall rest, And angels wait his soul on high!

Though dark Oppression o'er her tower, From bondage Texas shall arise, And crush a haughty despot's power— Her flag triumphant sweeps the skies!

Blue Yarn Stockings.—When Dr. Franklin was received at the French Court as American minister, he felt some scruples of conscience in complying with their fashions as to dress. "Ho hoped," he said, to the minister, "that as he was himself a plain man, and represented a plain republican people, the king would indulge his desire to appear at Court in his usual dress. Independent of this, the season of the year rendered the change from warm yarn stockings to fine silk, somewhat dangerous."

The French minister made him a bow, but said that FASHION was too sacred a thing for him to meddle with, but he would do himself the honor to mention it to his Majesty.

The king smiled, and returned word that Dr. Franklin was welcome to appear at Court in any dress he pleased. In spite of that delicate respect for strangers for which the French are so remarkable, the courtiers could not help staring, at first, at Dr. Franklin's quaker like dress, and especially his blue yarn stockings.—But it soon appeared as though he had been introduced upon this splendid theatre only to demonstrate that, great genius like true beauty, "needs not the foreign aid of ornament." The Court were so dazzled with the brilliancy of his mind that they never looked at his stockings, and while many other ministers who figured in all the gaudy fashions of the day are now forgotten, the name of Dr. Franklin is still mentioned in Paris with all the ardour of the most affectionate enthusiasm.

A Singular Relic.—Among the many other curious papers, preserved in the library of the Massachusetts Historical Society at Boston, we have seen a leaf of a sermon, enclosed in a wrapper, on which is endorsed the following, in the hand writing of Dr. Eliot.

"Dr. Cotton Mather's leaf of a Sermon, which the Devil was so spiteful as to tear."

The leaf itself has an appearance, in one corner, as if two pieces had been pinched out by the fingers, and near this appearance is the following memorandum, in Cotton Mather's hand writing.

"While I was preaching at a private fast, (kept for a possessed young woman)—on Mark ix, 28, 29, ye Devil in ye Damsel flow upon mee, and tore ye leaf, as it is now torn, over against ye Text." Nov. 29, 1692.

The Good Doctor, doubtless, preserved this leaf to testify, to all posterity, of the actual presence of the Evil One. What would Sir Walter Scott have given for the possession of such a capital fact in Demonology?—Franklin Mercury.

THIRD VOLUME OF THE OHIO FARMER AND WESTERN HORTICULTURIST.

In presenting a prospectus for the third volume of the Ohio Farmer to the public, the Editor conceives it unnecessary to enter into a minute detail of its character and object. These have been clearly evinced since its commencement, and from the high testimonials received from Agriculturists and Horticulturists of the first standing and intelligence, he is not without a hope that his labors have been of some service to the cause of Western Agriculture, and that there has been, at least partial satisfaction to those who patronise the work.

There was never a period of deeper interest to the cultivators of the soil in the great valley of the Mississippi than the present. There never was a time when intelligence could be put to better use—when knowledge was of greater advantage. It is the era of advancement in the art and science of the cultivation of the earth, and the improvement of useful animals. And he who refuses to keep pace with the times, by informing himself of what is transpiring around him, will lose more than half the pleasures and advantages of his own age.—The certainty of a ready market and a rich reward for all the productions of the earth should be a double stimulant to increase the quantity.

The OHIO FARMER will be devoted to ORIGINAL ESSAYS, and articles selected from the best works, and occasionally illustrated by ENGRAVINGS. No agricultural work ever published in the West has been so liberally supplied with original articles, the most of which have been copied and received a wide circulation in other papers. The culture of soil—improvement of animals—of garden vegetables—of Agricultural implements, and Geology Botany, Chymistry, &c. &c. will receive due attention.

SILK.—As the culture of this new article of wealth and industry, is exciting universal interest through the whole country, we contemplate devoting a sufficient portion of the Volume of the Farmer to this subject, to give all new beginners a fair start, who may wish to enter into the business, either on a large or a small scale, from the sowing of the mulberry seed to the reeling and manufacturing of the cocoons, colouring &c.

Each Volume of this paper is furnished with a Title Page and Index, expressly for binding, and will make about 200 pages. The first number of the Third Volume will be published on the 1st day of January, 1836.

CONDITIONS. The Farmer is published twice a month at $1.00 in advance. All notes on solvent Banks received. Payment may be made at our risk, free of postage. Persons obtaining 5 subscribers and forwarding the money, shall receive a copy for their trouble.

Editors, who wish to receive the Third Volume will please publish the above, and forward their papers for exchange. Columbus, Ohio, November, 1835.
