

Carrollton:

FRIDAY, APRIL 22, 1836.

Court.—The next term of the Court of Common Pleas for this county, will commence on Monday, the 2d day of May.

Way papers again.—We take pleasure in correcting an error, into which we were led by the statement of one of the mail carriers, on the route from Steubenville to Canton. The following paragraph from the Stark county Democrat, in relation to the privilege of carriers, records precisely with what we have heretofore understood to be the directions of the Post Office Department, on the subject of way papers.

Our neighbors of the Carroll Free Press labor under some misapprehensions, as to the direction of the Postmaster, at Canton, on the subject of mail carriers not being permitted to carry newspapers, out of the mail, &c.

We would inform our neighbors, that the communication received by the Postmaster at Canton, was simply this: That mail carriers were not permitted to carry packages of newspapers to be left at taverns, stores, &c. in the immediate vicinity of Postoffices; but they are permitted to carry them to places along the route at inconvenient distances from offices.

Virginia Elections.—We have returns from thirty counties, which give 20 Whig and 17 Administration delegates to the next Legislature of Virginia. Not half the counties are yet heard from.

Abolition.—We have nothing to say in answer to the spirit of a "tempest in the teapot" of abolition in Stark county. The gentleman who, with Protean facility, is, at the same moment, "A number of Abolition Ladies," "An abolition Lady," and "one whose costume is better suited to a newspaper war," was informed, some time past, that we could not enter into controversy with an anonymous writer.

Believing the writer referred to, to be a gentleman of some respectability in Stark county, we threw down the gauntlet to him—not doubting that his fanatical feelings would induce him to unmask. But having practiced a deception upon his readers, he is unwilling to appear in his proper person; and this will not excite any surprise, if we observe how ally the temper and style of his communications become the delicacy and refinement of that sex, in whose bosoms and fribelows, he fancies himself decried.

The editorial remarks of the Democrat, upon each of the writer's communications, the writer's style, as well as information derived from other sources, satisfy us that "A number of abolition Ladies," is a mere man. With that man we are still willing to contend on the subject of Abolition; because we know his character, and have seen him in his professional buskin; and we had flattered ourselves that he knew us too well to suppose he could deliver us over to the subtleties of his party, if indeed he desires to do so.

In short, that we may provoke him to abandon his concealment, we now say to him, that his last abolition essay, evinces a recklessness of truth, or an ignorance on the subject of slavery, which would disgrace a school boy, 10 years old. We refer, among other instances, to his assertion or intimation that, in regard to slavery, the feelings of slave holders have flowed in the same channel for two hundred years; that is, public opinion in the slave States has undergone no change favorable to the slave, for two hundred years past! Now we are convinced that our writer, "An abolition Lady," needs instruction on this subject; and we feel strongly disposed to afford that instruction, particularly to a gentleman learned in the law, who denounces slave holders "lawless tyrants." Courage, then, friend! Doff the mask; and let us reason together.

Will our neighbor of the Democrat, for whose readers, chiefly, this article is intended, do us the favor to copy?

Texas.—The late news from Texas, which will be found in this week's paper, is of a deeply interesting character. It would seem, that the gallant Col. Crockett is now no more! This, however, we cannot believe. The Col. has seen too much service in the backwoods, to fall under the blow of a Mexican.

Connecticut elections.—Returns have been received from all the towns in the state, except Willington and Sherman, which will certainly return Van Buren men. The result is 133 Van Burenites, and 73 Whigs elected to the house of representatives. Edwards, the Van Buren candidate for governor, is elected by a majority of between 2500 and 3000.

The Board of Public Works ad-

Journal on last Saturday, after having permanently organized by the appointment of G. N. ALEXANDER M'CONNELL President and JOHN BAKER, Esq. of Dayton, Secretary. They decided to proceed with, and expend for the construction of the various works as follows:

Table listing canal projects and costs: Muskingum River $100,000, Walhonding Canal 100,000, Hocking Valley Canal 100,000, Miami canal north of Dayton, 60,000, Same from sales of canal lands, 125,000, Warren county canal, 80,000, Repairs on the Miami & Ohio Canals—Improvement of the Muskingum from Zanesville to Dresden, and for the new Reservoir on Licking Summit, 80,000, Col. RANOM takes charge of the Ohio, the Miami, the Wabash & Erie, and the Warren county canals.

"MONEY MATTERS." The bank of Washtenaw, (Michigan), has issued the following notice:— Bank of Washtenaw, Ann Arbor, March 24, 1836.

An unexpected and continued run upon this bank, caused by unfounded rumors, having made it necessary to suspend payment for a short time, the directors consider it a duty to caution the holders of Washtenaw notes against making any sacrifices upon them, as the bank has available means to the amount of $30,000, beyond its circulation, and will soon resume payment.

By order of the board of directors. DAVID PAGE, president. E. W. MORGAN, cashier.

Wellsville and Fairport Rail Road. We learn by the Wellsville Advertiser, that the stock for the above road, to the amount of $285,000, has been taken on the contemplated route, and that $50,000 more would have been taken, if the books had remained open one day longer.

Arch Gold mine in Virginia.—According to the Richmond Compiler the mining company of that city have discovered the ore of Buxby's mine, Goehland county, to be uncommonly rich and abundant, and increasing as it dips; the pan washing of one yielding five dollars per 100 lbs. The stock of the company is selling at 70 dollars advance of the original cost of the share.

Selling upon Credit!—A friend of ours, not many months ago and not a thousand miles off, having a barrel of cider for sale, sent it to market by one of his servants to be retailed at a public collection. Cato, who was by no means an adept in the arts and mysteries of trade, soon however found ready sale for his cider, & drove on home again with an empty barrel.

"Well, Cato," said his master "where's the money?" "Me s'um on a credit, massa—no got de money!" "On a credit!—well, who have you credited, you scoundrel?" "Wy gr't granarity, massa, how I know? dare de marks 'pon de barrel!" The barrel was covered with straight marks.

A Washington letter writer states that all the signatures to the Abolition memorial presented to Congress at its present session, do not exceed 27,000, and that of these, nearly 10,000 are females.

Fog.—The recorder John S. Cutts who perhaps is one of the greatest naturalists of the age, thus accounts for the phenomenon of fog—"It is occasioned by the Atmosphere's coming in contact with the Hemisphere, which causes the earth to swell."

A Mahatta Anecdote.—Sevajoe was one day passing through a mountain jungle, when a leopard, was making its way stealthily through the bushes as if threatening hostility. The cooly (a porter) was descending the hill at this moment, and seeing the leopard, volunteered to attack it, with a weapon as singular as it was formidable. Opening a small leather wallet, he took from it an iron instrument which fitted the hand, covering the fingers like a gauntlet. Beyond the tips of the fingers, it extended to the length of at least three inches curving like claws, tapering to a point as sharp as the tip of a dagger; being brought to an edge under the curve, nearly as keen as that of a razor. The man fixed it on his hand, and entered the jungle. The leopard seemed uneasy at his approach, waved its tail, rested its head upon the earth, yet made no attempt to spring. The cooly did not give his enemy time to commence an attack; but advancing boldly, struck it on the right eye, and drawing the instrument across its head, blinded it in a moment. The wounded beast started up, and yelled in agony; when the man deliberately plunged the weapon under its belly, opened a prodigious gash, and the animal's entrails protruded through the wound. It rushed forward, and came with such stunning force against a tree, that it instantly fell, turned upon its back, and not being able to see its aggressor, another stroke from the instrument despatched it. The victor returned to Sevajoe without a scratch. This won the Mahatta's admiration; the cooly was immediately enrolled in Sevajoe's army, and from henceforth became a distinguished man.—The Romance of history.

AFFECTION FOR A MOTHER.

The following beautiful passage, as true as it is beautiful, is from Mr. James' last novel, 'The Gipsy.' "Round the idea of one's mother the mind of a man clings with a fond affection. It is the first deep thought stamped upon our infant heart when yet soft and capable of receiving the most profound impressions, and all the after feelings of the world are more or less light in comparison. I do not know that even in our old age we do not look back to that feeling as the sweetest we have through life. Our passions and our willfulness may lead us far from the object of our filial love. We learn to pain her heart, to oppose her wishes, to violate her commands, we may become wild, headstrong, and angry at her counsels or opposition; but when death has stilled her motley voice, and nothing but calm memory remains to recapitulate her virtues and good deeds, at length, like a flower beaten to the ground by a past storm, raises up her head and smiles amongst her tears. Round the idea, as we have said, the mind clings with fond affection; and even when the earlier period our loss forces memory to be silent, fancy takes the place of remembrance, and twines the image of our dear parent with a garland of graces, and beauties, and virtues, which we doubt not that she possesses."

Extract of a letter from Capt. Burr of the Louisiana volunteers to the editor of the New Orleans Bulletin, dated Fort Brooke, Tampa Bay, Feb. 17th:

"On the morning of our arrival, an Indian prisoner was killed in an attempt to escape; he was taken in a manner which might grace even the romantic days of chivalry. A noble looking Indian, asked in marriage the daughter of Back Dirt, a friendly chieftain; the old man declared that none but a warrior need pretend to his daughter, and a stout young Yellow Hair, if he wanted to prove himself one, to go into the woods and make prisoners of three hostile Samanoes. Yellow Hair accordingly brought in three of the enemy; whether he surrounded them (as the Irishman did,) or not, I do not pretend to say; but two of the prisoners are now chained in the fort, and the other was killed in the manner I mentioned. Yellow Hair of course married his black haired damsel, and set out on the 13th, at the head of a party of his countrymen, to act as a scout to the main army, who have marched in quest of the enemy."
