

Carrollton:

FRIDAY, JUNE 24, 1836.

Congress.—Both Houses have agreed to adjourn on the 4th of July. Truly, this has been the long session! The Bills for the admission of Michigan and Arkansas, as States, into the Union, have passed both houses

Hon. JOHN PAGE, the new Senator from New Hampshire, elected to fill the place of ISAAC HILL, has arrived at Washington and taken his seat. Mr. NAUDAIN, from Delaware has resigned his seat in the U. S. Senate.

FOURTH OF JULY CELEBRATION.

ORDER OF THE DAY. All persons wishing to participate in the celebration of the fourth of July, will assemble at the Court House in Carrollton, at 12 o'clock A. M. where the declaration of Independence will be read by John McCormick, Esq. and an oration delivered by John Pearce, Esq.

From the Court House the assemblage will move in procession to the place where the dinner will be in readiness for all who may wish to partake. The procession will move the following order:

Wm. Johnston, Esq. President of the day, Capt. Wm. Hodge, Vice President, will place themselves on the right of the line, next the Orator of the day, and reader of the Declaration of Independence, followed by the Committee of Arrangements and citizens, with the military upon the left. The whole will be under the direction of Gen. H. A. Stidger, Marshal of the day.

All toasts drank upon the occasion, will be presented through a committee.

The Independent Military Companies and the citizens throughout the county are invited to join in the above celebration.

JAS. THOMPSON, JOHN CHRISTY, T. R. BARBAUGH. Publishing Committee.

WHEELING, June 15.

SENTENCE PRONOUNCED.

We understand that his honor, Judge Fry, yesterday pronounced the sentence of death upon Thomas Windecker and Boon Long, convicted of murder by the superior court, now in session. They are to be hanged on Monday the fifteenth day of August next. We endeavored to obtain a copy of Judge Fry's address to the prisoners, for publication, and regret not being able to procure it, as we have heard it very highly spoken of.

A DUEL EXPECTED.

Correspondence of the Philadelphia Inquirer.

WASHINGTON, June 11, 1836.

The Hon. Daniel Jenifer, of Maryland and the Hon. Jesse A. Bynum of North Carolina, yesterday picked up a quarrel during the Long Session which has led to pistols and coffee for four.

Mr. Jenifer invited Mr. Bynum to the mark; Mr. Bynum replied, with all my heart, sir, and as soon as I smoke my cigar you shall be accommodated.

The Hon. Ambrose Sevier, of Arkansas, is the friend of Mr. Bynum, and the Hon. Francis Pickens, is the friend of Mr. Jenifer. It was reported an hour ago, that the parties had gone to Bladensburg; but I think this is incorrect.

Old Tatum, the great pacificator, has been at work to-day, to get the affair settled, but without success. If the meeting has not already taken place, it will probably occupy the morning hour for Monday.

Post Script.—The parties met on Tuesday, last week, at Rock Creek, near Washington, and after exchanging six shots, without injury to either party, the dispute was satisfactorily adjusted.

Mr. Jenifer was accompanied by Messrs. Peyton and Pickens, and Mr. Bynum by Messrs. Sevier and Hannegan.

NEW ORLEANS, JUNE 2.

The irruption of the river by the crevasse on Morgan's plantation continues to inundate the country around Terre aux Boeufs and the English Turn. The waters on the plantations are now in general 18 or 19 inches higher than the day before, and most of the canes have been destroyed. We would sincerely sympathize with the losers, were not the accident the result wholly of their culpable negligence.—Bee.

Col. Charles Harrison, of Louisville, states in a note to the Journal, that he now has upwards of one hundred men under his command, all of whom have pledged themselves to accompany him to Texas.

(Selected for the Free Press.) THE BIBLE.

A Nation must be truly blessed, if it were governed by no other laws than those of this blessed book: it is so complete a system, that nothing can be added to it or taken from it; it contains every thing needful to be known or done; it affords a copy for a king, and a rule for a subject; it gives instruction and counsel to a senate; authority and direction to a magistrate; it cautions a witness, requires an impartial verdict of a jury, and furnishes the judge with his sentence: it sets the husband as lord of the household, and the wife as mistress of the table; tells him how to rule, and her how to manage. It entails honor to parents, and enjoins obedience upon children: it prescribes & limits the sway of the sovereign, the rule of the ruler, and authority of the master: commands the subjects to honor, and the servants to obey; and promises the blessing and protection of its Author to all that walk by its rules. It gives direction for weddings and for burials; it promises food and raiment, and limits the use of both: it points out a faithful and an eternal Guardian to the departing husband and father; tells him with whom to leave his fatherless children, and in whom his widow is to trust; and promises a father to the former and a husband to the latter. It teaches a man how he ought to set his house in order, and how to make his will: it appoints a dowry for the wife, & entails the right of the first born: and shows how the younger branches shall be left. It defends the rights of all, and reveals vengeance to the defrauder, over-reacher, and oppressor. It is the first book the best book, and the oldest book in the world. It contains the choicest matter, gives the best instruction, and affords the greatest pleasure and satisfactions that ever were revealed. It contains the best laws and profoundest mysteries that ever were penned: It brings the best of things, and affords the best of comfort to the enquiring and disconsolate. It exhibits its life and immortality, and shows the way to everlasting glory. It is a brief recital of all that is past, and a certain prediction of all that is to come. It settles all matters in debate, resolves all doubts, and eases the mind & conscience of all their scruples. It reveals the only living and true God, and shows the way to him; and sets aside all other gods, and describes the vanity of them, and of all that trust in them. In short, it is a book of laws, to show right and wrong; a book of wisdom that condemns all folly, and makes the foolish wise; a book of truth, that detects all lies, and confutes all error; and a book of life that shows the way from everlasting death. It is the most compendious book in all the world; the most authentic and entertaining history that ever was published: it contains the most early antiquities, strange events, wonderful occurrences, heroic deeds, unparalleled wars. It describes the celestial, terrestrial, and infernal worlds; and the origin of the angelic myriads, human tribes, and infernal legions. It will instruct the most skillful mechanic, and the finest artist; it will teach the best rhetorician, and exercise every power of the most expert arithmetician; puzzle the wisest anatomist, and exercise the nicest critic. It corrects the vain philosopher, and guides the wise astronomer: it exposes the subtle sophist, and makes diviners mad. It is a complete order of laws, a perfect body of divinity, an unequalled narrative; a book of lives, a book of travels, and a book of voyages. It is the best covenant that ever was agreed on, the best deed that ever was sealed, the best evidence that ever was produced, the best will that ever was made, and the best testament that ever was signed. To understand it, it is to be wise indeed, to be ignorant of it, is to be destitute of wisdom. It is the king's best copy, the magistrate's best rule, the housewife's best guide, the servant's best directory, and the young man's best companion. It is the school boy's spelling-book, and the learned man's master-piece: it contains a choice grammar for a novice, and a profound treatise for a sage: it is the ignorant man's dictionary, and a wise man's directory. It affords knowledge of witty inventions for the ingenious, and dark sayings for the grave; and it is its own interpreter. It encourages the wise warrior, the racer, and the overcomer; and promises an eternal reward to the conqueror. And that which crowns all is, that the Author is "without partiality, and without hypocrisy,—in whom is no variableness, nor shadow of a turning."

A letter from Columbus, giving an account of the attack by the Indians upon the steamboat Hyperion, mentions the following incident:—'The captain ran ashore on this side and jumped into the water and came up here. The hands also escaped, leaving a lady on board, who after all had left, gathered up her husband's money, her jewels, watches, &c. and jumped into the water, and with her hands paddled along to the shore amid a shower of bullets. She then walked three miles through the swamp and plantations, until she came up with some of the boat hands, who got her a mule on which she rode up to town. Her husband who was up here, met her, as he was with a few men, on his way down to the boat.'

June 17, 1836.

STATE OF OHIO, CARROLL COUNTY, SS. COURT OF COMMON PLEAS.

NATHAN KING, vs. RICHARD WALTON, JOHN CLARK, JACOB STERLING, in chancery.

THE said Richard Walton not being a resident of this State, but of the State of Pennsylvania, will take notice that, on the eleventh day of February, A. D. 1836, the said Nathan King, of the county of Carroll and State of Ohio, filed in the Court of Common Pleas of said county, a Bill in chancery against the said Richard Walton, John Clark and Jacob Sterling, setting forth, among other things, that, on the 23d day of June, 1831, the said Walton entered into a written contract with the said Clark for the conveyance to said Clark, of the South West quarter of section 31, township 14 and Range 4, then situate in the county of Columbiana, but now in said county of Carroll—that in pursuance of said contract the said Clark paid the said Walton a part of the purchase money—that afterwards, on the 4th day of July, 1831, the said Clark entered into certain agreements in writing with the said King for the conveyance to the said King, of eighty acres and twenty acres of the said quarter of section 31,—sold by said Walton to said Clark, as aforesaid—that said King paid to said Clark the full amount of money agreed to be paid by him for said eighty and said twenty acres of land—that on or about the 5th day of August 1835, said King tendered to said Walton the amount of money alleged by said Walton to be due on said contract between said Walton as said Clark, and that, on the 12th day of August, 1835 the said Walton, with a full knowledge of the contracts between said King and said Clark, fraudulently conveyed said lands to the said Jacob Sterling—he the said Sterling being well informed, also, of the contracts between said Clark and said King for the sale and purchase of said lands—upon these and other grounds therein more fully set forth, said Bill prays that, execute and deliver to said King a good deed for said eighty acres and said twenty acres of land; or said Walton has conveyed the legal title to said lands to said Sterling, then that said Sterling may be decreed to make, execute and deliver to said King a good and sufficient deed for said lands; and, in case a good deed can not be made to said King, that said Clark or said Walton may be decreed to pay to said King the amount of money paid by said King to said Clark for said lands. Said Bill then concludes with a prayer for general relief.
