

LIE OF A PRESIDENTIAL NOMINEE.

The nomination of a candidate for the presidency always interests the favored individual with a halo of illustriousness that belongs not to common men.

There has been published a number of campaign editions of the 'Life of Abraham Lincoln,' but as they are all too lengthy to transfer to our columns, we have concluded to present in a brief space a record of some of the most important acts of the Republican nominee.

Abraham Lincoln appears to have been born in Kentucky; but history is provokingly silent as to whether he sprang from the race formerly known in song as 'The hunters of Kentucky,' or from those who are represented as 'half-breed and half-alligator.'

His admirer's cautiousness. Mr. Lincoln is noted for the care and deliberation with which he forms his opinions, and expresses them too, as for that matter, except when affirming 'glittering generalities' which are not intended for special application.

Calculated and deliberate as he is in judgment, when that judgment is matured he is prompt in action, as witness his efforts when in Congress to prohibit slaves being born in the District of Columbia after a certain day, or of being brought into the District to be held as slaves except by the persons who would most likely wish to hold them.

Many of our friends have done well in obtaining campaign subscribers, but there are those of whom we have not yet heard. From Marlboro our friend Erwin sent a club of twenty, and Jacob Milbank of Leesville sends a letter from which we cannot resist making the following extract:—

And this brings us to what appears to be his chief merit with the people as an aspirant for the Presidential chair; for whatever qualifications he may possess apart from the fact that he split, or helped to split three thousand rails when a young man, his character as a rail-splitter, and the sobriquet of 'Honest Old Abe' are the main hopes of his supporters.

We shall not attempt to show that rail splitting constitutes an eminent qualification for the Presidential chair, nor shall we try to prove that it was the rail splitting of Lincoln, and not that of John Hanks, or of any other of the ten thousand rail splitters, that was wonderful.

It seems that Bostonians are opposed to encouraging a trade even in dead men. Let the under-taker go South, and instead of dealing in dead men deal in living ones, and he will find a public sentiment that will sustain him; and if any agitation ensues, it will be directed against those who may deal in dead men.

Through Lincoln's name once a Captain, and served in time of war for three months against the Indians, it does not appear that this circumstance is regarded as sufficient to elevate him to the pedestal of a military hero, which is possibly owing to the fact that no record is made of his having done any fighting, which, of course, was not his fault, though in a Presidential campaign it may truly be regarded as a misfortune—a lame leg or a crippled hand would enable him to run indefinitely better, and grasp with firmer hold the important office.

One of the great charms of Mr. Lincoln is his conversation. Whatever sentiments of ultraism he may occasionally feel called upon to utter, neither his friends nor opponents are alarmed thereat; for while he may be ultra in a Pickwickian sense, he is practically conservative, and eminent-ly so.

It is true he avers that taxation and representation should go together, and glorifies the fathers for fighting to sustain this doctrine against George III., but when the black Douglas of Illinois invited him to sign a petition to the Legislature asking that the laws of that state be made so far approximate toward justice as to permit the testimony of the colored man to be received as is the testimony of the white man, he vindicated his reputation for conservatism by refusing to do it, and he has not unfrequently declared in effect, when upon the stump, that he was opposed to taxation and representation going together in Illinois, and would not on any consideration admit negroes to the ballot box. He is admirably fitted by education for 4th of July orations, popular stump speeches, and for keeping the niggers in their places.

His admirable cautiousness. Mr. Lincoln is noted for the care and deliberation with which he forms his opinions, and expresses them too, as for that matter, except when affirming 'glittering generalities' which are not intended for special application.

Calculated and deliberate as he is in judgment, when that judgment is matured he is prompt in action, as witness his efforts when in Congress to prohibit slaves being born in the District of Columbia after a certain day, or of being brought into the District to be held as slaves except by the persons who would most likely wish to hold them.

Many of our friends have done well in obtaining campaign subscribers, but there are those of whom we have not yet heard. From Marlboro our friend Erwin sent a club of twenty, and Jacob Milbank of Leesville sends a letter from which we cannot resist making the following extract:—

And this brings us to what appears to be his chief merit with the people as an aspirant for the Presidential chair; for whatever qualifications he may possess apart from the fact that he split, or helped to split three thousand rails when a young man, his character as a rail-splitter, and the sobriquet of 'Honest Old Abe' are the main hopes of his supporters.

We shall not attempt to show that rail splitting constitutes an eminent qualification for the Presidential chair, nor shall we try to prove that it was the rail splitting of Lincoln, and not that of John Hanks, or of any other of the ten thousand rail splitters, that was wonderful.

It seems that Bostonians are opposed to encouraging a trade even in dead men. Let the under-taker go South, and instead of dealing in dead men deal in living ones, and he will find a public sentiment that will sustain him; and if any agitation ensues, it will be directed against those who may deal in dead men.

Through Lincoln's name once a Captain, and served in time of war for three months against the Indians, it does not appear that this circumstance is regarded as sufficient to elevate him to the pedestal of a military hero, which is possibly owing to the fact that no record is made of his having done any fighting, which, of course, was not his fault, though in a Presidential campaign it may truly be regarded as a misfortune—a lame leg or a crippled hand would enable him to run indefinitely better, and grasp with firmer hold the important office.

One of the great charms of Mr. Lincoln is his conversation. Whatever sentiments of ultraism he may occasionally feel called upon to utter, neither his friends nor opponents are alarmed thereat; for while he may be ultra in a Pickwickian sense, he is practically conservative, and eminent-ly so.

It is true he avers that taxation and representation should go together, and glorifies the fathers for fighting to sustain this doctrine against George III., but when the black Douglas of Illinois invited him to sign a petition to the Legislature asking that the laws of that state be made so far approximate toward justice as to permit the testimony of the colored man to be received as is the testimony of the white man, he vindicated his reputation for conservatism by refusing to do it, and he has not unfrequently declared in effect, when upon the stump, that he was opposed to taxation and representation going together in Illinois, and would not on any consideration admit negroes to the ballot box. He is admirably fitted by education for 4th of July orations, popular stump speeches, and for keeping the niggers in their places.

His admirable cautiousness. Mr. Lincoln is noted for the care and deliberation with which he forms his opinions, and expresses them too, as for that matter, except when affirming 'glittering generalities' which are not intended for special application.

Calculated and deliberate as he is in judgment, when that judgment is matured he is prompt in action, as witness his efforts when in Congress to prohibit slaves being born in the District of Columbia after a certain day, or of being brought into the District to be held as slaves except by the persons who would most likely wish to hold them.

Many of our friends have done well in obtaining campaign subscribers, but there are those of whom we have not yet heard. From Marlboro our friend Erwin sent a club of twenty, and Jacob Milbank of Leesville sends a letter from which we cannot resist making the following extract:—

And this brings us to what appears to be his chief merit with the people as an aspirant for the Presidential chair; for whatever qualifications he may possess apart from the fact that he split, or helped to split three thousand rails when a young man, his character as a rail-splitter, and the sobriquet of 'Honest Old Abe' are the main hopes of his supporters.

We shall not attempt to show that rail splitting constitutes an eminent qualification for the Presidential chair, nor shall we try to prove that it was the rail splitting of Lincoln, and not that of John Hanks, or of any other of the ten thousand rail splitters, that was wonderful.

NEWS FROM WASHINGTON.

Washington, August 2, 1860.

John Wentworth's extreme manifesto, commented upon in the New York Herald, in which he takes ultra grounds against the South and threatens a war upon Southern institutions, is generally repudiated by the Republicans here. It is stated that Wentworth really desires the defeat of Lincoln, and to this end has prepared the recent editorials in his paper.

Those persons who have sent clubs of five for the campaign Bugle, have a right to send an additional name or names at the same rate per year as the club.

ANTI-SLAVERY CONVENTION.

The friends of the slave will meet in Convention, under the auspices of the Marshall county (Iowa) Anti-Slavery Society at Minerva school-house, Marshall county, Iowa, on Saturday and Sunday, August 25th, and 26th, 1860. All are invited to attend.

SALEM QUARTERLY MEETING OF FRIENDS OF HUMAN PROGRESS.

Will hold its next session at Fairmount, commencing Sunday, August 19th 1860, at 11 o'clock. All are invited to attend.

ANTI-SLAVERY MEETINGS.

Mrs. Josephine S. Griffing will speak on the question of our relations and duties to the American States.

At Auburn, Georgia Co., Sunday, August 5th. Parkman, Georgia Co., Sunday, August 12th. Mrs. Griffing will also attend meetings at other places in the intervals between these meetings, as circumstances may direct.

BOOKS! BOOKS!

Will our friends send in their orders for Roxbury's Life of John Brown, Price 1.00. The Letters of Frank, showing how the rights of northern men are trampled upon by the South—a pamphlet which Republicans would find a good campaign document, price 10 cents.

We have also other pamphlets and tracts on hand, some for sale, and some for gratuitous distribution.

NEW HAT & CAP STORE.

M. R. Robinson, offers for sale at the new HAT STORE, in Salem, (North side of Main Street, four doors East of the Farmers Bank.)

WEST & WILSON, DOUBLE THREAD FAMILY SEWING MACHINE.

Price thirty dollars. All machines warranted. For sale at M. R. ROBINSON'S HAT AND CAP STORE.

SALEM EXCHANGE.

You will find a Good Assortment of DRESS SILKS, BEREAGE, CHALLIES, DELANES, ORGAN DIES, FRENCH LAUNNS and POPLINS.

BOARDING HOUSE.

WILLIAM STILL'S General Boarding House, No. 632 South Street, below Ninth; PHILADELPHIA, PA.

WALL AND WINDOW PAPER.

A large and well selected assortment, of Cheapest and Beautiful WALL AND WINDOW PAPER, Just received at ISAAC TRESSCOTT'S.

BOTANIC Medicines for Sale!

Dr. J. M. MILLAN, offers for sale her entire stock of medicines, together with all the fixtures for preparing the same, at her residence on high street, Salem, Ohio. C. L. CHURCH, March 1st, 1860.

TAKE THE OTHER ROUTE—The Illinois Central Railway Company having notified in the service of the newspapers, and one of its conductors at least being enthusiastically engaged in the promotion of the work, we advise all travelers to take the other route, lest they be unceremoniously ticketed to a distance not at all agreeable. The Fugitive Slave God is not of the color,—white slaves being as valuable as black or any other shade.—State League.

An Irishman in Hopkinsville, jubilant over the news from Baltimore, met a Republican friend the other morning. 'Arrah!' said Pat, 'it's all over wid ye now, Sir! It's baten ye are, sure, for the Democrats can nominate two tickets to ye' one, and follow it up.'

Those persons who have sent clubs of five for the campaign Bugle, have a right to send an additional name or names at the same rate per year as the club.

ANTI-SLAVERY CONVENTION.

The friends of the slave will meet in Convention, under the auspices of the Marshall county (Iowa) Anti-Slavery Society at Minerva school-house, Marshall county, Iowa, on Saturday and Sunday, August 25th, and 26th, 1860. All are invited to attend.

SALEM QUARTERLY MEETING OF FRIENDS OF HUMAN PROGRESS.

Will hold its next session at Fairmount, commencing Sunday, August 19th 1860, at 11 o'clock. All are invited to attend.

ANTI-SLAVERY MEETINGS.

Mrs. Josephine S. Griffing will speak on the question of our relations and duties to the American States.

At Auburn, Georgia Co., Sunday, August 5th. Parkman, Georgia Co., Sunday, August 12th. Mrs. Griffing will also attend meetings at other places in the intervals between these meetings, as circumstances may direct.

BOOKS! BOOKS!

Will our friends send in their orders for Roxbury's Life of John Brown, Price 1.00. The Letters of Frank, showing how the rights of northern men are trampled upon by the South—a pamphlet which Republicans would find a good campaign document, price 10 cents.

We have also other pamphlets and tracts on hand, some for sale, and some for gratuitous distribution.

NEW HAT & CAP STORE.

M. R. Robinson, offers for sale at the new HAT STORE, in Salem, (North side of Main Street, four doors East of the Farmers Bank.)

WEST & WILSON, DOUBLE THREAD FAMILY SEWING MACHINE.

Price thirty dollars. All machines warranted. For sale at M. R. ROBINSON'S HAT AND CAP STORE.

SALEM EXCHANGE.

You will find a Good Assortment of DRESS SILKS, BEREAGE, CHALLIES, DELANES, ORGAN DIES, FRENCH LAUNNS and POPLINS.

BOARDING HOUSE.

WILLIAM STILL'S General Boarding House, No. 632 South Street, below Ninth; PHILADELPHIA, PA.

WALL AND WINDOW PAPER.

A large and well selected assortment, of Cheapest and Beautiful WALL AND WINDOW PAPER, Just received at ISAAC TRESSCOTT'S.

BOTANIC Medicines for Sale!

Dr. J. M. MILLAN, offers for sale her entire stock of medicines, together with all the fixtures for preparing the same, at her residence on high street, Salem, Ohio. C. L. CHURCH, March 1st, 1860.

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE TO BUGLE.

$1.50 PER ANNUM, INVARIABLELY IN ADVANCE.

ISAAC TRESSCOTT is duly authorized to receive all monies on account of subscriptions on the Bugle.

The Bugle can be obtained, every Friday, at Isaac Tresscott's Book Store on Main street, Salem, Oh.

Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railroad SUMMER ARRANGEMENT.

Table with columns: GOING WEST, Station, Time. Includes Pittsburg, Columbus, Salem, Alliance, Crestline, Pittsburg, Columbus, Salem, Alliance, Crestline.

Table with columns: GOING EAST, Station, Time. Includes Crestline, Pittsburg, Columbus, Salem, Alliance, Pittsburg, Columbus, Salem, Alliance, Crestline.

CLEVELAND AND PITTSBURGH RAIL ROAD TIME TABLE.

Table with columns: GOING NORTH, GOING SOUTH, Station, Time. Includes Cleveland, Pittsburg, Wheeling, Columbus, Salem, Alliance, Crestline.

NEW HAT & CAP STORE.

M. R. Robinson, offers for sale at the new HAT STORE, in Salem, (North side of Main Street, four doors East of the Farmers Bank.)

WEST & WILSON, DOUBLE THREAD FAMILY SEWING MACHINE.

Price thirty dollars. All machines warranted. For sale at M. R. ROBINSON'S HAT AND CAP STORE.

SALEM EXCHANGE.

You will find a Good Assortment of DRESS SILKS, BEREAGE, CHALLIES, DELANES, ORGAN DIES, FRENCH LAUNNS and POPLINS.

BOARDING HOUSE.

WILLIAM STILL'S General Boarding House, No. 632 South Street, below Ninth; PHILADELPHIA, PA.

WALL AND WINDOW PAPER.

A large and well selected assortment, of Cheapest and Beautiful WALL AND WINDOW PAPER, Just received at ISAAC TRESSCOTT'S.

BOTANIC Medicines for Sale!

Dr. J. M. MILLAN, offers for sale her entire stock of medicines, together with all the fixtures for preparing the same, at her residence on high street, Salem, Ohio. C. L. CHURCH, March 1st, 1860.

LADIES!

YOU WHO DO NOT WANT TO BE HUMILIATED BY OLD GOODS AND OLD STYLES, AT OLD PRICES.

But would prefer New Goods and New Styles, at prices 20 per cent less than the market, will do well to call at the CHEAP CORNER OF J. & L. SCHILLING, SALEM, OHIO.

Who are now in receipt of their SECOND LARGE AND WELL SELECTED STOCK OF

SUMMER GOODS; comprising a splendid array of Dress Goods of New and beautiful Styles, White Crapes and Summer Shawls, Silk, Chasilly and French Lace Mantillas and of the New Paris Styles, A large variety of richly Trimmed Fashionable Bonnets, Embroideries in Sets, very Cheap, Sun Umbrellas and Parasols, Great variety of New Style Trimmings, Full Line of White Goods, Hosiery, Mitts, Gloves and Quincies; and when it comes to Domestic Goods, such as Prints, Gingham, Brown and Bleached Sheet and Shirtings, Pillow Case Cottons, Table Cloth, Towellings, Men's and Boy's cottons, &c. We defy competition by none, even professing to sell at first cost. Our Stock of Carpets, Ladies' and Children's Shoes, Glass and Queensware, Wall and Window Paper, Groceries, &c., &c., were never better.

We claim for the above stock, unusual attraction, and owing to the fact that no other house in Salem has visited the East, for a Second Stock of Goods for the Season, we claim more than ordinary superiority. Call early and examine for your selves. Thankful for past favors, We remain, Yours, &c., J. & L. SCHILLING

Salem, June 23, '60

FIRST ARRIVAL AT THE VARIETY STORE.

Having been to the East, takes pleasure in announcing to her numerous customers, and the public generally, that she has just returned with a more complete and extensive stock, than ever before; among which will be found, White and Brown Muslins, Gingham, Duane, Folland Challie, Mohair Plaid, Madras and Lavilla Cloth, Striped Debrae, Chambray Gingham

Laces, Marcellite by the yard and for Trimming, Embroidered Skirting, Irish Linen, Bird Eye Diaper, Corset Gear, Nankeen, Cotton Tweed, Jacketted Muslin, Swiss Mull, Cambric, Hair Cord, British, Indian Mull; Book, Nainsook and Muslin, Kerchiefs, Queens for Hand-

Ladies' Quarters, Kid Finish, Kid and Thread Gloves, Mohair and Silk Mitts, Girls' and Boys' Silk and Linen Handkerchiefs, Shirt Bosoms, Rubber Dressing, Neck Pocket, Curl and Twist Comb, Embroidery Sticks, Wood, Steel Bone and Rubber Knitting Needles, Moravian and Embroidery Cotton, Stockings, Tattling, Shotless, Netting, Needles, Suspensives, Floss and Sewing Silk, White, Drab and Blue Cotton Yarn, Silk Oil Cloth, Infants Rubber Cloth, Buttons of all kinds, Hoop Skirts and Hoops, Perfumery, Corsets, Neck Ties, Dress Shields, Hosiery for Gents, Ladies and Children; Needles, Pins, Taps, Toys and notions of every kind.

Thankful for past favors, we invite you all to call and examine our new stock, before purchasing elsewhere. J. E. BARR, One door West of J. McMillan's Book Store, Main Street, Salem, Ohio. April 27, 1860.

THE ANALYST.

A WEEKLY FAMILY PAPER Devoted to Temperance, Progress, and Social Improvement. PUBLISHED BY J. A. SPENCER & H. H. ALLARDT, 197 Superior-st. (19 up stairs,) Cleveland, O. Send for Specimens.

Enlargement BOOK STORE.

A full assortment of Historical, Poetical, Scientific, Biblical, Juvenile, Law, and elegantly bound Gilt Books. SCHOOL AND MUSIC BOOKS, Wholesale and Retail. A large stock and great variety of Footstep Mercantile Post, Bath Post, Common School, Note and various sizes, plain and fancy, and all sizes; Unruled Papers, Drawing Paper in roll, Tracing Cloth, Pattern and Tissue Paper, and materials for flowers. Arnold's Maynard's Copies, Copying, and Indelible Ink, Copying Books, Blank Books, Memorandums and Pens. Books in great variety. Writing Books, Slate Pencils, Nelson's Outline Maps, Steel Pens, &c. Warranted Gold Pens.

Inkstands, Artists' Colors and Brushes, Porcelain Pocket Books, Pictures, Penholders, &c. Printers' Cards, Edward and Visiting Cards. A large assortment of Wall Paper; cheap Window Fixtures, consisting of Bellows, Brackets, Cord, Tassels, Oil Cloth, Oil Shades, plain and fancy Paper, all of which the public is invited to call and examine.

All our customers, who come by night, will see our name in letters of fire on the front window. J. M. MILLAN, Salem, Nov. 5, 1859.

JOB WORK NEATLY EXECUTED.

BLANK DEEDS, Mortgages, Judgment Notes and Summons for sale at this Office.