

New York Fashions.

There is much talk just now of American fashions, but the best dressed women here have always insisted on modifications of French styles to suit their own needs and figures. The difference is that the crowd has waked up to the absurdity of many of the extreme modes worn by people with more money than sense.

Street Dresses.

Suits are by no means out of style and never will be, but street dresses are first favorites, and, of course, the top coats that everyone must own who elects to wear the coat dress, are here in an endless array of attractive and practical models, made up in all sorts of materials wool velours, double faced cloths, silk and mohair, plushes, corduroys and velvets as well as serges of all width weaves. Models are not as wide in front as they were last year, and are almost all rounded off in front, and about an eighth shorter than the dress skirt, but for those who prefer there are plenty of coats that completely cover the dress and are in effect a complete street costume, and these are first choice for the woman whose coat must be worn for many occasions, over frocks too light to appear on the

This varies each season somewhat. The new styles in corsets have just been launched from an authoritative American manufacturer here who keeps in constant touch with foreign fashion designs, modifying them to suit the requirements of American women. The Redfern and other Warner corsets, are all carefully built to give the correct lines to any figure, without sacrificing comfort, and are sold everywhere with a guarantee that they will not tear, break or rust, which is most satisfactory to the woman who must count her expenditure carefully, as most of us need to do in these times of soaring prices.

Waist Lines

remain high and large, which is good news to women inclined to embonpoint since the straight silhouette is most complimentary to overwide hips, while the new sash draperies and tunics soften all the too insistent outlines that have recently been so tiresomely evident. Sleeves are very long except for bridge and dinner frocks, and ruffles finish them, at the wrist and more often than not run up the back seam to the elbow. Necks are usually fashioned so that high or low gamps can be worn at will. The manish silk shirt is still the favorite with girls, and younger women. This is varied with extra Robespierre collars, jabots, and contrasting neck ties.

Footwear.

Shoes are no small item when narrow skirts keep the foot constantly in view. Cloth uppers and spats are modish, the latter only practical for a slim well built foot.

Almost a Miracle.

One of the most startling changes ever seen in any man, according to W. B. Holsclaw, Clarendon, Tex., was effected years ago in his brother. "He had such a dreadful cough," he writes, "that all our family thought he was going into consumption, but he began to use Dr. King's New Discovery, and was completely cured by ten bottles. Now he is sound and well and weighs 218 pounds. For many years our family has used this wonderful remedy for Coughs and Colds with excellent results." It's quick, safe, reliable and guaranteed. Price 50 cents and $1.00. Trial bottle free at Wm. Kipp's Sons. (Adv)

The Explanation.

Mary—And they found her walking the streets in her underwear.
Alice—A somnambulist, of course.
Mary—No; simply a woman with no one in the house to button her up. Harper's Bazar.

Obituary.

Mrs. Marilla Shade was born January 23, 1852; departed this life October 3, 1912, while visiting her sister, Emily Riegel, on Washington avenue, Greenville, O., aged 60 years, 8 months and 10 days. Marilla was married to V. A. Shade December 30, 1875. No children were born to this union, but they took Lonny Shade, son of Reuben Shade, at age of 22 months and kept him as their own child until he was 21 years old. V. A. Shade preceded her in death June 7, 1912, thus taking away from friends and relatives both Rilla and Vol. The deceased was a true and devoted Christian woman, having joined the Christian church at an early age. She was always found doing little deeds of kindness, making gifts for her friends and we all miss her now that she is gone.

Her long protracted sickness was borne with patience and fortitude. She seldom made much complaint. During the last few days of her life she often said her time was about up, and that she would soon be at rest. She leaves two brothers, four sisters and many friends. Her life-work ended, her duties done, she passed peacefully away.

Mrs. Shade was buried in Palestine cemetery, Rev. C. W. Hoefler officiating.

Puts End to Bad Habit.

Things never look bright to one with "the blues." Ten to one the trouble is a sluggish liver, filling the system with bilious poison, that Dr. King's New Life Pills would expel. Try them. Let the joy of better feelings end "the blues." Best for stomach, liver and kidneys. 25 cents at Wm. Kipp's Sons. (Adv)

The Ladies' World for October.

The October number of this publication is certainly the best of many good ones that have come to our table. From the opening story, The New Birth, a serial by Zona Gale, on the first page, until we take leave of the fascinating "Mary" on the last, there is not a dull minute. The interest will center on Mary's Adventure in Stageland, which is the third happening of this venturesome young female. Scarcely less gripping is the remarkable story, Was Vera Right? by Lillie Hamilton French. The other fiction includes the opening chapter of The New Birth, and The Gold-Eyed Peacock, a love story with a very unusual setting. There are several interesting special articles—The Drifting Daughter, by Annette Austin; How Four Women Crossed the Continent, a description of a motorcar ride from New York to San Francisco; What—When—Where—Why, which treats of the etiquette of card-leaving and calls; and For The Children's Sake, a discussion of whether divorce or constant hickering is the lesser evil.—[New York; Fifty cents a year.]

INDORSE CLARK COUNTY JURIST

Bar Association Strong in Praise of Judge Kunkle.

One of the prettiest compliments that could be bestowed upon a candidate was the unanimous indorsement tendered by the Clark County Bar Association to Judge Albert H. Kunkle, Republican candidate for judge in the Second judicial district, immediately following the regular morning session of the court last Monday.

The meeting was marked by spirited speeches by Hon. Oscar T. Martin, Hon. John L. Zimmerman, Judge P. M. Hagan, Hon. George C. Rawlins and others, in which Judge Kunkle was eulogized, both as a citizen and as a judge. Testimonials of his character and achievements were offered to the association by the speakers, and the pleasing feature of the meeting was the absence of political feeling—two of the speakers being recognized as Democratic leaders in Clark county. It was a compliment that Judge Kunkle has merited by his record as a fair and impartial judge on the common pleas bench for the past seven years.

The people of this circuit judicial district, which comprises the counties of Clark, Champaign, Darke, Fayette, Franklin, Greene, Madison, Miami, Montgomery, Preble and Shelby, are to be congratulated upon having a judicial candidate with such a record, and for whom they may cast their ballots the 6th of next November.

The resolutions as adopted by the bar association were as follows:

Springfield, O., Sept. 23, 1912. Judge Albert H. Kunkle, having been nominated for the position of circuit judge in the Second judicial circuit, and the judicial ballot being separate and nonpartisan in its character, the members of the bar association of Clark county, irrespective of party affiliations, wish to reaffirm all of the endorsements they have formerly given of the candidacy of Judge Kunkle and to commend him to the citizens of this judicial circuit.

The circuit court, since the recent constitutional amendment, will be a court of final resort in a great majority of cases, and it is of the greatest importance that men of unusual experience, ability and integrity be chosen.

The members of the association have an intimate knowledge of the life of Judge Kunkle as no other body of men could possibly have. His record is open before them and they wish to share this knowledge with all of the citizens of this judicial circuit.

For eight years he served the city of Springfield as city solicitor, his efficiency in the administration of that office resulting in his election for four successive terms. During the years following his occupancy of the office of city solicitor, as an active practitioner he won the respect and confidence of the bar, his clients and the community.

For the past seven years he has served as resident common pleas judge, exhibiting exceptional judicial ability. He has dispatched the business of the court with such diligence that cases have been speedily brought to trial and litigation terminated to such an extent that the number of pending actions on the docket has been reduced by one-third. Although the only resident judge in this populous county, and having presided at the trial of a large number of cases, the percentage of those in which reversal has been sought is unusually small, and an exceptionally small number of his decisions reviewed have been reversed or modified.

His judicial temperament and courteous manner have secured for him not only the respect, but the warm friendship of all of the members of the association. He hears all matters presented with patience, and diligent examination every question presented. His successful service as a trial judge has peculiarly fitted him to serve as a member of this important court.

It is not because of these qualities alone, but we know, through our intimate daily contact with him, that in his ability, thoroughness and a judicial temperament are linked with sincerity, with an open mind and an unswerving determination to secure justice, that we ask citizens of every party to consider with favor his claim upon their support.

The president of the association is instructed to appoint a nonpartisan committee of five to forward this statement to the members of the bar of the Second judicial circuit, and to give it such further publicity as they may deem advisable.

KUNKLE ENDORSED

Action of Bar Association Praised by Springfield Newspaper.

The following editorial appeared in the Springfield Morning Sun, an independent newspaper, Tuesday, Sept. 24, and is evidence of the high esteem in which Judge Albert H. Kunkle, Republican candidate for judge in the Second circuit judicial district, composed of the counties of Clark, Champaign, Darke, Fayette, Franklin, Madison, Greene, Miami, Montgomery and Preble, is held in his home city of Springfield. The Sun, which is an independent paper, has never previously endorsed a candidate for any office, but the exception made in favor of Judge Kunkle is quite a compliment to that gentleman:

Kunkle's Endorsement.

"The action of the Clark County Bar association endorsing Judge Albert H. Kunkle for a place upon the circuit bench is not without a precedent in Ohio, but it is a practice that should be more generally followed everywhere. Whenever a man has by long and continuous service, proved himself to be an able and efficient public servant, he is worthy of reward regardless of his particular brand of politics.

"When the proposal to unanimously endorse Judge Kunkle for a higher position was brought up by the local bar association, it was noticeable that the motion was seconded by a Democrat. The leaders among the Democratic lawyers were the most ardent supporters of the proposition and when the motion was put to a vote not a dissenting voice was raised against the proposal.

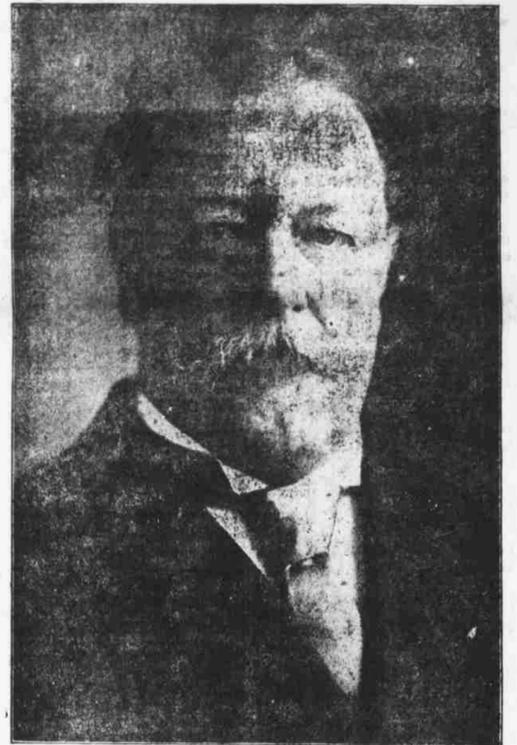

"The men who acted yesterday morning were competent to judge of the ability of the candidate. For many years they have dealt directly with him and were brought into daily contact with him professionally and socially. Their long training and broad education made them alive to the needs of the state and to the importance of an able judiciary.

"The judiciary is the one branch of the government which should be beyond reproach. Legislatures may go wrong and executives betray their trust, but the harm which they do is only temporary. The people soon have the power back in their hands and can undo the wrong. But with the courts the injury wrought by an incompetent or corrupt judge is irreparable. The humblest citizen should feel that his rights are safe when he goes into a court of justice. He should have supreme confidence in the man who sits clothed in the ermine of a judge because that man has the practical application of the laws made for his guidance and protection. The judge in history has always borne an honored place among his fellow men and a just judge is an inestimable power for good.

"The judiciary should be taken out of politics. It is not fitting that a man should be chosen to fill this high post because he is a follower of the dominant political party. He should be chosen because he is honest, conscientious, industrious and an authority upon the laws of the land. Whenever a judge has proved by long service to be thoroughly competent and has earned the approbation of the attorneys and litigants for his unyielding fairness and wise decisions, he should be retained in the public service.

"The times call for wise judges. With the courts upon trial and the people distrustful of their chosen ones, those who have been weighed in the balance and found satisfactory are worthy of reward. Judge Kunkle's record is above reproach and the action of the Democrats and Republicans endorsing him and pledging themselves to his support testifies in no mean way of the esteem in which he is held.

"The lawyers of Clark county have for the moment forgotten politics and political lines in the tribute to the man. They have set an example for future generations to follow. It is high time that old party lines should be broken down and worth recognized in any candidate no matter whether he be Republican, Democrat, Bull Moose or Socialist. Faithful and efficient service is the only standard which should be considered because a faithful and efficient man has all the other characteristics of honesty, sobriety, industry and worth. The lawyers of this county have taken a wise course and the judge is worthy of their support."

HARRIS & EWING WASHINGTON, D. C.

WILLIAM HOWARD TAFT.

A FITTING REBUKE.

Governor Johnson, the man with a tongue so quick that his words just stop out regardless of consequences, has actually surpassed Roosevelt in his abuse of the president. The News and Courier of Charleston (S. C.), one of the most responsible papers of the South, rebukes the ribald Californian, and declares of Taft: "No man ever sat in the White House with a clearer comprehension of the weightiness of his office or a finer patriotism."

THROUGH THE ROPES WE GO.

The Bull Moosers are a party of "knockers." And now the ex-champion "knocker" of the world, the Hon. John L. Sullivan, has just announced that he has joined the gang. He says that he is going on the stump for Roosevelt. What a pretty, amiable, peace-loving pair of cherubs they will make on the same stand—or in the same ring—Teddy the Terrible and Sullivan the Slugger!

LOOKING TO 1916.

There is one marked difference between the speeches Governor Wilson and Mr. Bryan have been making in the West. It is a difference which is not without its elements of humor. The Nebraskan has been laying great emphasis on the plank in this year's Democratic platform which declares for a single presidential term. Governor Wilson, on the other hand, has left this plank severely alone, says the Times Star.

TRUSTS GOOD, BUT REVENGE-FUL.

Can anyone believe that the trusts are violating the laws since President Taft has had them indicted in the courts? Is Dan Hanna still rebating after being fined for it? The Democrats are crying out against evils the present administration has largely corrected already. Have not the three greatest trusts been dissolved?

THE HUNGRY AND THE YOUNG.

It is noticeable that the two classes who are enthusiastic for Dr. Wilson for president are the Democratic professional politicians and those too young to recall the years under a Democratic tariff, when millions hunted work finding none.

HE WANTS NO SUCH ASSISTANCE

WHEELER. Haven't returned to the front? The Republican chances in the campaign would be enhanced should the country be plunged into war as a result of the disturbance in Nicaragua of Mexico.
