a passing train or alight from one when he met with the accident that may cause his death. He is about 25 years old and a son of George Boxwell, Township Trustee, and a brother of Mrs. Jack Hervey of this city. He was taken to the home of his sister, Mrs. Charles Reppeto, near Meeker's crossing on the Cincinnati Northern, where physicians removed a piece of bone about two inches square from his skull and found that his right shoulder bone was crushed and broken, and gave out little hope for his recovery, judging from the nature of his injuries.

The last will of Wm. Harmon, late of Van Buren township, was filed for probate last week. He bequeaths to his wife, in lieu of dower, 76½ acres in Van Buren township, to be hers during life or until she re-marries, in which event it is to go to Leroy H. Peck; also $1000 in cash, and she is to receive all rents, profits, etc., from an 80-acre tract in Van Buren township and 99 acres in Greenville township for a period of two years, beginning in March after his death. Eighty acres in Van Buren township he bequeaths to the heirs of Lucinda W. Harmon, his first wife, and $1000 each to Nancy Seman, Lewis A. Moore, Rosa J. Moore, Truman H. Moore, Simon A. Moore and Henry R. Moore. Eighty and one-half acres in Greenville township is bequeathed to Mary M. Oglesby, if living, if not to her heirs. To the Trustees of Abbottsville cemetery is left $500 to be used in the upkeep of the grounds, $500 to the Church of Christ of this city. The residue of his personal property is to be converted into cash and after the payment of the $1000 legacy to his wife, the balance is left to the Trustees of the Children's Home of this county, to be placed on interest and the proceeds used for caring and providing for inmates, but if this cannot be done the Trustees are to use the money as they deem best. Mary J. Harmon is named as executrix under the will and $1000 is set aside for settling up his estate and for attorney fees. The will was made on August 4, 1903, and witnessed by E. E. Calderwood and H. A. Fox.

Facts About Paper.

It has been asserted time and again by those supposed to know best, that the books we print now will dryrot in a comparatively short time. There is, of course, a considerable amount of paper that will last for many years, but the most cursory glance at the books of today, whose pages yellow and turn brown at the edges in a few years, shows clearly enough that they are destined to attain no great longevity. In the early days of printing it was hardly possible to employ anything but first-class paper in making books, for the reason that wood fibre and wood pulp paper had not then come into use. At that time good cotton and linen rags were turned into fine, firm, pure white paper, well able to withstand indefinitely the yellowing and disintegrating effects of time. As the increase in the demand for printing paper grew apace, it was found that there were not enough rags to go round. Thus wood pulp came into use. All vegetable fibre is suitable for paper making, whether it be obtained from rags, wood, esparto grass, straw, or other substances. When these fibres are torn apart they are clogged with gum, a substance that must be thoroughly dissolved and washed away by chemicals, if best results are to be obtained.—Harper's Weekly.
