Man Takes His Own Medicine. Is an Optimist.

He has absolute faith in his medicine—he knows when he takes it for certain ailments he gets relief. People who take Dr. King's New Discovery for an irritating cold are optimists—they know this cough remedy will penetrate the linings of the throat, kill the germs, and open the way for nature to act. You can't destroy a cold by superficial treatment—you must go to the cause of the trouble. Be an optimist. Get a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery today. —Adv

Dividing the Mules.

In Missouri, where they raise more mules and children than in any other place in the world, a certain resident died possessed of seventeen mules and three sons. In his will he disposed of the mules as follows: One-half to the eldest son, one-third to the next and one-ninth to the youngest. The administrator who went to divide the property drove a span of mules out to the farm, but when he went to divide the seventeen into halves, thirds and ninths he found it was impossible with live mules. Mules not being very valuable he unhitched one of his own, putting it with the other seventeen, making eighteen, which he proceeded to divide as follows: One-half, or nine, to the eldest; one-third, or six, to the next son; and one-ninth, or two, to the youngest. Adding up nine, six, two, he found that it made seventeen, so he hitched up his mule and went home rejoicing. —Ladies Home Journal.

Gettysburg.

Did any person suppose that a statesman could be found opposed to honest elections? In the passage of the honest election law, while it passed by a very large majority, yet there were those who opposed the measure, and this opposition came largely from the cities, the meaning of which is that the cities do not desire honest elections. If there is one thing more than another destructive of popular government, it is fraud upon the ballot-box, or practices in elections to thwart the will of the people and bring about unrighteous laws for the government of the people.

Well, it seems that the attempt to legalize prize fighting in Ohio was given a quietus in the lower house last week, which reflects much credit on the good sense of our law-making power, but the vote showed a large favor for the measure. The good people of the state must blush for shame that so many votes were found for such bestial conduct, for what tends to lower the dignity of the state and degrade her citizenship. A higher standard ought to prevail. Let us tone up and not tone down. Why are such sordid natures found? Largely, I think, the result of education. Our fathers and mothers are derelict in impressing right principles upon the minds of the rising generation. There is a lack of proper restraint exercised, and everything goes pell-mell in favor of that which tendeth not for wholesome restraint. The question presents itself, whether, if not restrained, the next thing will be to legalize bull and cock fights. Such hightoned countries as Mexico promotes such things and why may we not as well rise to the high civilization of that country, and be as good as they and become leaders in the world powers in such civic righteousness? Just as well take this step as the step in favor of pugilism, innocently labeled boxing matches. Oh, thou great syren, thou canst sing almost anything thou wouldst but often for that which tends to drag down! Would it not be well for those pugilistic singers to put their hands on their mouths and their mouths in the dust and cease their effort to protect prize fighting? Such legislation is a perversion of our educational system. Let the tide of teaching such doctrine turn in favor of prohibition of all such, and like practices, and ere long a better condition of morals and right living will prevail, and the tone of the people will rise and righteousness will exalt our state. Let it cease to be taught that to legalize prize fights will prevent murder. May we not as well legalize the bludgeon, the dagger and the pistol in the hands of the vicious on the grounds, if done, that it will prevent murder? There is as much reason in the latter as in the former claim. The thing to do is to outlaw all such practices, and soon even the sporting fans will approve the righteousness of such prohibition and find entertainment in some rightful and innocent pursuit. Let there be no catering to vicious pursuits on any pretext whatever.

On last Saturday afternoon the funeral of Mr. Floutz, our oldest citizen, took place at the home of his son-in-law, H. Martzall, resident of our village. Rev. Miller of the Lutheran church of Covington officiated, after which burial took place in the cemetery nearby, where the remains of his wife and nine children lie buried. He was the father of fifteen children by his deceased wife, six of whom survive him. He was a resident of this village for about sixty years, during which time he tailored and provided for his family. He lived to the age of nearly 86 years, but for the last few years was unable to do much work. He and three of his children kept house together for the last years until his death. The bestowment of some very nice floral designs were outward tokens of esteem shown by his friends and our citizens.

Our M. E. Sunday school had an attendance yesterday of 102, and the next thing we have ahead of us is a fitting celebration of Easter Day, which shall be notable in many ways, but particularly in securing a large attendance at our M. E. Sunday school. Our superintendent is laboring earnestly for that end, and I feel I am venturing nothing in saying nothing would please him better than an attendance of 400 to 500 by that time. Let work be done to that end.

Some Forms of Rheumatism Curable.

Rheumatism is a disease characterized by pains in the joints and in the muscles. The most common forms are: Acute and Chronic Rheumatism, Rheumatic Headaches, Sciatic Rheumatism and Lumbago. All of these types can be helped absolutely by applying some good liniment that penetrates. An application of Sloan's Liniment two or three times a day to the affected part will give instant relief. Sloan's Liniment is good for pain, and especially rheumatic pain, because it penetrates to the seat of the trouble, soothes the afflicted part and draws the pain. "Sloan's Liniment is all medicine." Conundrums.

Why should the number 288 never be named before ladies? Because it is too (2) gross.

When is a window like a star? When it is a skylight.

Why is an absconding bank cashier like an air gun? Because he goes off loaded and makes no report.

Why is a widower like a house in a state of dilapidation? Because he wants repairing.

What is that which you cannot hold ten minutes, although it is as light as a feather? Your breath.

When is a tumbler like an accomplished prediction? When it is fulfilled.

Ad Wolgast, Best Money Maker of Lightweights.

Ad Wolgast, who vainly tried to regain his title from Freddie Welsh several weeks ago, has earned more money in the ring than any other lightweight in the history of the game. Since he adopted boxing as a profession seven years ago Adolph has amassed a fortune of over $300,000.

The largest lump sum Wolgast ever received for a single battle was $47,000. This he won in his battle with Joe Rivers at Vernon, Cal., July 4, two years ago. Rivers was knocked out in thirteen rounds. Wolgast received $20,000 as his end of the receipts and $27,000 for his moving picture rights. Adolph has engaged in no fewer than eleven fights in which the receipts aggregated over $25,000. Wolgast has never suffered the ignominy of a knockout and has been floored but twice in his ring career, once when he won the title from Nelson and the other time when he lost the premier honors to Ritchie. It was Wolgast's custom to back himself heavily for a fight. In his championship battle with Nelson Wolgast backed himself to the extent of $5,400, which he won, and he lost $7,000 in wagers when he lost the title to Ritchie.

Soldier Kearns Quits Fighting.

Soldier Kearns, who looks more like Tom Sharkey than any other man in the ring before or since the war was good, has retired from the glove game. Big and powerful, with a muscular development that always made Sharkey green with envy, poor Kearns never got very far up the pugilistic ladder. With all his bulk he had a glass jaw, and hardly a night went by that some one didn't bump him off to sleep. "I've decided to chuck it up for something soft," says the soldier. "I'm going back to my old trade—blacksmithing."

Federal Pitchers Easy.

That the pitching in the Federal league last season was not near as hard as in the majors the year before is proved by the pitching records of the new league. Among the first ten twirlers in the league line are former big league twirlers. Winslow, who ran fifth, being the only real Fed product. These former big leaguers are Ford, Rankin Johnson, Hendrix, Bill Lange, Krapp, Falkenberg, Callop, Quinn and LaBite, and about 75 per cent of these failed to make good in fast company.

A Game Tank Town.

If Brumby, Neb., has its way it will be the smallest town in the country in organized baseball. With a grain elevator, a railroad water tank and a population of only 333—all riproaring fans—it has applied for a franchise in the Nebraska State league, whose towns average over 10,000 in population. As it costs about $10,000 to maintain a club during a season it will cost each man, woman and child about $30 to have league baseball.

Poor Year For Pennsylvania.

Baseball proved a losing venture for the University of Pennsylvania last season. Basketball and football were the only sports that made money for the athletic association. Football receipts were far below the normal because of conflicts with Princeton.

Mack Won on Collins.

It has been pointed out that Eddie Collins cost Connie Mack $2.75. He sold him for $50,000, according to report. That shows a net profit of $49,997.25, which is a fair margin. Besides, Collins was quite a help to the Mackmen in the past four years.

Champion Travers a Broker.

Jerome D. Travers, amateur golf champion of America, is going to mix golf with cotton. He has filed an application for admission to the New York Cotton exchange and expects to be a regular cotton broker.

Chicago a Good Billiard Town.

There are said to be 1,218 billiard tables in Chicago and nearly 3,000,000 players in the United States. It has been figured out that $10,000 play the game daily and nightly in Chicago.
