LOCAL BRIEFS

Is your subscription paid?

George Miller was here from Richmond Monday.

Loyal Miller of Ansonia was in Greenville Thursday.

Ed Coblentz of New Madison was in the city Saturday.

Charles Haworth transacted business in Verona Friday.

Misses Ethel and Sara Larimer are visiting in Detroit, Mich.

John Edwards of Palestine transacted business here Saturday.

Jonathan Wenrick of near Palestine visited in Greenville Friday.

Mrs. Clyde O'Dell and son visited in Fort Recovery the past week.

Mrs. Frank Amspugh of near Union City was shopping here Friday.

Arthur Jackson and wife of North Star were visitors in this city Thursday.

Miss Mary Oberlin of Massillon, O., was the guest of Mrs. S. M. Rust the past week.

Tom Barclay, formerly in business in Arcanum, has purchased the Andy Wiley pool room and takes possession today.

The county commissioners sold the cutting down of the Ansonia hill, just north of town, to Studabaker & Son for $3355.55. It will be graded down to a four-foot grade.

Upon our roll of honor today we can place the following named patrons:

- I. Harshey. M. E. Wild. Jacob Hollinger. Robert Wright.

Mrs. Wm. McFarland, 70 years old, died in her home at Dawn, Ohio, on Wednesday morning of last week and was buried in the Ansonia cemetery Friday afternoon. Ten children and three sisters survive her.

Charles Franke, better known as "Bismarck," died at the County Infirmary on Wednesday of last week, aged 89 years. In his younger years he worked as a cigar maker and stone mason in this city and had been an inmate of the infirmary for the past twenty years. His remains were buried in the infirmary cemetery Friday, he having no relatives now living.

Ollie Walker, the saloonist, who had been ailing with Bright's disease for about six months, suffered a stroke of paralysis Monday morning and died at 3:25 o'clock that afternoon. He was 43 years old and leaves his wife and several children. Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at the Grace Evangelical Lutheran church on East Water street and burial made in Greenville cemetery.

Fred Miller, son of Henry Miller and wife, who live in Minantown, died Saturday morning in Ft. Wayne, Ind., where he lived. He was a tinner by occupation.

35 years old and leaves his wife and two children. His remains were buried in Ft. Wayne Tuesday.

Frank Ward and Pearl Orrison were arrested at Celina Saturday night on an affidavit filed with Mayor Weaver, charging them with living in adultery. They were brought here and both pleaded guilty, the girl being released under a $100 bond signed by her father, Lee Knoll, and Ward was placed in jail, he failing to give a $500 bond. Both have been married, Mrs. Orrison having separated from her husband, but is not divorced, while Ward's wife is in an asylum.

Judge James I. Allread of this city has withdrawn as a candidate for the Republican nomination for Supreme Judge. The following letter was received by Secretary of State Hildebrand from Judge Allread Monday:

"In deference to the sentiment expressed in a resolution presented to me by the lawyers of Montgomery county, and which, I am convinced, exists also in other portions of the Appellate District, I have concluded to withdraw my candidacy."

There was considerable activity in militia circles here Monday, when Company M was ordered placed in readiness to leave for Columbus on call to do duty on the Mexican border, President Wilson having ordered the national guard of all the states and the District of Columbia mustered into the federal service, owing to the disturbed conditions on the Mexican border. The adjutant general of every state was notified to have his troops ready for immediate movement.

Mrs. Azariah Bruss died Wednesday afternoon of last week in their home, about seven miles south of this city, of cancer of the stomach, having suffered much before relieved by death. Mrs. Bruss was a most estimable woman, who enjoyed the friendship of many acquaintances, neighbors and friends. She was the mother of Jesse Bruss, one of the city letter carriers, and was 68 years, 5 months and 5 days old at the time of her demise. She leaves her husband, ten children and many grandchildren. Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon at the Beech Grove church and burial made in the Fort Jefferson cemetery.

Ed Howard, the cement contractor of this city, was seriously stabbed in the region of the heart last Saturday afternoon during a quarrel in the rear of Walker's saloon. It is said that three or four men were implicated in the fracas, who immediately made themselves scarce. The wounded man is reported as improving and will soon recover, the wound not being as serious as first reported. It now develops that it was, according to the tale that is going around now, an accident, and was really done in jest on a dare, the knife user having struck nearer the body than he intended, all being under the influence of liquor at the time.

A most beautiful and impressive service in commemoration of the 139th anniversary of our flag was held Sunday afternoon by the Elk lodge in their handsome new home on West Third street, and was attended by a large audience. The lodge room was tastefully decorated with Old Glory and each person was presented a miniature souvenir flag as they entered the building. Rev. C. H. Gross paid a tribute in prayer to the flag, C. R. Kemble read the history of the flag, and Guy C. Baker made the Elk's tribute to the flag. The principal address was delivered by ex-Governor James M. Cox of Dayton, which was most masterful and inspiring. Mann's Orchestra furnished excellent music and a quartette, composed of Mrs. Pitts, Miss Hall, Messrs. Westerfield and Martin, rendered some delightful selections. The exercises were closed by the audience standing and singing "America," making it a most fitting ending to this beautiful service.

Select Captains

Considerable interest was manifested at the meeting of the Captains of the Hospital Organization held at the campaign headquarters on Monday evening; as announced, the purpose of the meeting was to explain in detail the form of organization and its method of operation, also to choose from a list of selected names those who were to act as team mates for the various captains.

Great interest was manifested by the gentlemen who were to act as captains in choosing the members of their teams. The explanation of the system developed the fact that no one person will be called upon to spend a great deal of time either in preparation or in the actual work of the campaign. There will be about forty men's teams composed of a captain and four team mates, and about ten ladies' teams of the same formation.

This will divide the work among two hundred and fifty workers who will be prepared by special coaching meetings during a time previous to July 3, at which time the active campaign will open. With so large a force working in pairs it will be necessary for each two persons to call on not more than five persons per day.

After the plan of organization was given, which includes a general chairman, vice chairman, secretary, treasurer, executive committee, general committee, chairman men's division, chairman ladies' division, and an associate of each, the following persons were selected as captains and agreed to serve: J. J. Mathews, M. Murphy, Rev. S. R. Dunham, R. R. Winters, Henry Stocker, C. L. Mong, Dr. A. F. Sarver, Dr. J. E. Hunter, Dr. H. A. Snorf, H. F. Dershem, Rev. C. C. McKinney, Dr. B. F. Metcalf, O. R. Krickenberger, Adelbert Martz, J. L. Selby, Dr. R. H.

The 1916 Corn Contest Is On--Are You In? From Ohio to Our National Capital For a Week. GET READY TO GO!!!

Have you a boy? Has your tenant a boy? Has your neighbor a boy? Has the farm a boy on it or near it? Has the boy read revised Rule No. 8? Have you read it? Here it is.

The Contestant shall assist in doing or shall do all the work on the acre, such as plowing, manuring, fertilizing, plowing, preparing the seed bed, and all the other work up to and including the planting; but from the time the corn is planted up until the time of husking the Contestant shall do all the work on the acre. The Contestant may have assistance in husking the corn.

It permits a boy who has simply assisted in the work of the cornfield up to and including the planting to go into that field and select an acre to cultivate in the Corn Growing Contest.

Farmers, give your boy a chance in the best field. Of course, spring is backward, but it is backward for the other fellow, too. Sunny days are coming. If the corn is properly cultivated, sun, rain, soil and the Almighty will do the rest. If the boy will do the cultivating right, he might just as well wash his face and comb his hair now and get ready to go with us on the trip to Washington.

No matter what county he is in, he has from twelve to fifteen chances to win a trip in the Corn Growing Contest to Washington, including the statewide and local trips.

Boys, send in your entry right away. If you do not have one, fill out and mail this coupon to J. R. Clarke, Director of Junior Contests, Columbus, O.

Form for entering the 1916 Corn Growing Contest, including fields for Name, P. O. Address, County, and Township.

Beyond the Frontier

A tale of early days in the great Middle West when the intrepid explorer La Salle, and his faithful friend, Tony, were blazing the way for civilization, and the golden lilies of France flew from the few lone blockhouses in the Indian country.

Most of the action of the story takes place on the long trail from old Quebec to Fort St. Louis (Starved Rock), on the Illinois River. Adele la Chesayne is a wonderful heroine. Bravely she bears the hardships of the wilderness journey, and when the life of her lover is in danger it is her wit and devotion that defeats his enemies and her own.

In "Beyond the Frontier" Randall Parrish is at his best, and one episode alone, that of the savage Indian attack on Starved Rock, will be read and reread for its thrilling realism.

It will be published serially in these columns. You will want to read it Spider, Dr. J. E. Monger, F. A. Stecker, member of team which will choose its captain. Others will be added to this list as their consents are given to serve.

Dr. Will Matchett has been chosen as associate chairman of the men's division.
