A RETURN SHOT.

The Difference Between Tweedle-dee and Tweedle-dum.

Garnett, Kansas, May 17, 1905.

Having noticed your article headed "The City Marshal and County Attorney Do Business."

As though there was no business done except what they do now. I have a word I will say:

On the night of the 15th of April, Mr. Tush, the assistant marshal, arrested two men that were intoxicated, and lodged them in jail. The next morning, I took them before the police court, and Mr. Hamilton asked them where they got their whisky, and they told him. I went to the county attorney and gave him their names. These men were fined. One gave bond and the other was held until he could make arrangements to pay his fine. I went, by the direction of the police judge, and took him to Mr. James Flynn, and he told me to tell the police judge that he would pay this man's fine. I told Mr. Flynn I would not do that—he must go himself, which he did, and paid the fine. After I saw the county attorney, the assistant marshal took the county attorney to see this man that was in jail. Now, here were two witnesses, and Mr. Flynn was here. And, by the way, why is Mr. Flynn allowed to go his way? He was here Monday night. My guess: the tweedle-dees don't want him. But, then, Jones pays the freight.

Respectfully, H. M. ELLIS.

We clip the above from the Evening News. After reading it in the News, we asked County Attorney Whittington what he had to say about it. His reply was: "The most of it is true. You might add," said he, "that I am running my office in such a way that it is not necessary for me to make any apologies or explanations."

The Baccalaureate sermon will be delivered next Sunday morning, at the opera house, by Dr. L. H. Murfin, of Baker University.

Tickets for commencement exercises are now on sale at Glass' book store.

The Flynn Place "Pulled."

Last Monday evening, the Flynn joint was raided by P. E. Keene, city marshal, and Frank Macklin was arrested and a lot of liquor seized, together with $15.20 cash and numerous articles usually kept in a saloon or joint. Macklin said Flynn has no interest in the joint, and that he (Frank) was working for some one else.

Macklin's case was tried before Justice McDonald, yesterday, and he pleaded guilty to one count. The judge, after delivering a wholesome lecture to the culprit, pronounced the sentence—thirty days in jail and a fine of $100 and costs of prosecution.

The credit of this case is due to County Attorney Whittington and Marshal Keene, who did not wait for someone to file a complaint, but did their sworn duty as officers of the law.

Another Sunday Fire.

Frank Mitchell's house was badly damaged by fire, Sunday morning. All of the contents of the house were removed. The fire company succeeded in extinguishing the fire, although the roof was greatly damaged and the plastering was nearly all torn off the inside of the rooms. The fire is supposed to have caught from a defective flue. There was $700 insurance on the house.

It is very fortunate that a heavy rain had fallen the day before, which soaked the roof. Otherwise, the high wind would have fanned the flames so that it would have been almost impossible to put out the fire, in which event, George Huey's house and the First Baptist church could not have been saved.

Another Fire at Welda.

Welda had another fire last Friday night. The fire started back of Hart's horn's grocery, but how it originated is not known. It was impossible to put out the fire, and the store was soon destroyed. S. R. Hamilton had his real estate office in this building, and he lost all his books and papers.

The fire spread to Rhodes & Bro.'s lumber-yard, and only a few shingles were saved.

The Seitz blacksmith shop was also destroyed.

We did not learn the amount of insurance on this property.

This makes the second disastrous fire for Welda within a few months. It is a serious blow to the little town.

Lone Elm Items

Mrs. C. H. Nichols, while in Garnett, yesterday, informed us that H. A. Bearly, who has been suffering from a stroke of paralysis, is improving.

P. B. McNall was over from Kincaid, Wednesday.

Mrs. T. C. McDowall and Mrs. Row, who have been taking medical treatment at Kansas City, have returned home, much improved in health.

Several Lone Elm men attended an "indignation" meeting at Blue Mound the other day. The meeting was called for the purpose of doing something to induce the Missouri Pacific road to put back the passenger trains on the K., N. D. and Inter-state railroads.

A. J. Dold and family arrived here from Snyder, Oklahoma, to visit Wesley Huff and family a while. Mrs. Dold is a sister of Mrs. Huff. The family were victims of the storm at Snyder last week. They had just finished building a new house, and had moved in. Mr. Dold is clerk of the court, and was at Lawton when the storm visited his home. Fortunately, he had made a cyclone cellar, and the family and some of the neighbors got into the cellar, and their lives were saved. The Dold house was blown away, only the floor and foundation remaining. The carpets were stripped from the floor, but, strange to say, a straw bonnet belonging to Mrs. Dold lay on the floor, after the storm had passed on. The members of the family were preparing to go to bed when the storm came and the only clothes they saved were the ones they had on. Mr. Dold will secure a home in Lawton, and not return to Snyder. Mrs. Dold and the children will remain here until a new home is ready for them.

Patrick Reddington came down from Kansas City the latter part of last week on a visit to his brother John and many old friends at Harris.

It don't pay to use CHEAP PAINT.

The best is always the cheapest. If you paint your house with good paint, it will last from five to ten years. J. M. CRAIG & CO. sell Devoo paint, and give a guarantee that after you paint your house, if you are not satisfied that the paint is first-class, you need not pay for it; or they will paint your house over again free of cost. You can't afford to overlook this proposition.

J. M. CRAIG & CO. are reliable business men, and will carry out any agreement they make. See them for Paints, Wall-Paper and Drugs of all kinds.

Frederick Upham Adams, the author of a series of articles on the Constitution now running in Tom Watson's Magazine, tells a good story at the expense of a certain New York author, illustrating how far a shrewd writer may go astray in guessing what a given magazine editor will accept or reject. It seems that this author, by some rare mischance, found himself short of ready cash and troubled somewhat by insistent grocers' and butchers. His practice is, in such a rare emergency, to sit down and write a number of stories for the magazines, rush them off, and get pay as quickly as possible.

In this instance the author wrote six stories in six weeks, and submitted one to each of six different magazines, sending to each the manuscript he felt sure was in harmony with the policy of that publication. In less than three weeks from the time the last story was sent out the whole six were returned with the usual stereotyped regrets. As soon as two of them had been returned the author "switched" them, and sent the manuscripts out on their journey again. In less than four weeks after this had been done four of the stories had been accepted. And the ushpot of it all was that the six stories were taken by the six different magazines, but not in the order in which the author had originally allotted them.
