CLAFLIN COMMENTS.

From the Clarion
Clint Gieber unloaded his new Avery threshing outfit and began work on the Dowse job near town yesterday.

At least half a dozen families would locate in Claflin right now if they were able to secure houses in which to live.

E. H. Heath of Salina and Miss Ella Strotzman of near here, have been engaged as teachers in the city school for the coming term.

So far the wheat that has been threshed in this neighborhood has made between twenty and twenty-five bushels of sixty-two pound test per acre.

Sheriff Johnson was over from Great Bend Tuesday, and made a change in the marshaling of the town and part of the county. It seems that the first appointee got familiar with the boys, and partook too freely of the forbidden juice, and in fact became the most boisterous man in town, but this sort of thing didn't last long, as the sheriff was notified and at once dismissed him and appointed in his stead E. O. Downey.

ALBION ALLSPICE.

From Writer.
Well, I lived to witness the end of harvest.

Plenty of wind, heaps of dust, and lots of wheat stacks in this locality.

Excuse this delinquent and indolent correspondent, as I went through harvest. Remember there is "rest for the weary."

Threshing in and harvest out, wheat turning in and turning out, lots of stuff to make you shout,—"and that's no lie, babe."

Harvest is over, the wheat crop of the last year of the century has been harvested. This crop of 1900 is believed to be "the greatest wheat crop the world ever saw." People are speculating how much they will have; but never rejoice at your good luck before Madame Fortune smiles on you.

Saturday July the 14th, Miss Fortune frowned on Antonio Schenke the result was the loss of 9 stacks of wheat, and 2 stacks of barley; and 50 acres of stubble were awent clean as a ribbon by fire, caused by careless railroad officials, amid the high-winds of Saturday. The wheat was irrecoverably lost and the fire irrevocably gone; sympathy to the injured party and law and penalty administered to the guilty.

Col. Ed. Little All Right.

For some weeks the republican press has been insinuating that Col. Ed. C. Little was back in the Republican fold, and would vote for and support McKinley. Some republicans were industriously circulating that report in Great Bend Saturday. The following from the Topeka Journal of the 14th gives the lie to that false report. The Journal says:

Col. E. C. Little of Abilene will not support McKinley and expansion in this campaign. Mr. Little will support Mr. Bryan. He said so today and thereby dispels all doubt as to his attitude in the campaign which is now in progress. Col. Little said to a State Journal reporter today, in response to an inquiry concerning his intention: "I supported Mr. Bryan in 1896 and shall do so this year."

"As I see the situation, the political parties are not the real parties at interest. It's a fight between the great corporations, trusts and monopolies which contribute the campaign funds, and the common people who fight the country's battles in war and pay its taxes in peace."

"I belong to the latter class and propose to stand by my own people. Bryan is our man and I'm for him."

For Bryan This Year.

Chicago, July 9.—The Tribune says: Most of the gold Democrats who are active in politics, and who in 1896 worked for the placing of a gold Democratic ticket in the field in Illinois, have been won over to the regular Democratic fold by the conciliatory policy of Mayor Harrison, Robert E. Burke, Thomas Gahan, and other Democratic leaders. While they do not approve wholly of the 16 to 1 plank and the candidacy of Bryan, they are anxious to be in line for political preferment, and are unwilling to make an active fight against free silver and its apostle. Roger C. Sullivan, John P. Hopkins, Adolf Kraus and Thomas A. Moran, four of the prominent leaders of the gold Democratic party in 1896, are now supporting the regular ticket and platform, and their example is being followed by minor leaders and ward politicians who oppose free silver.

FOLEY'S HONEY-TAR IS A FIRM WALL OF DEFENSE

Foley & Co.:
GENTLEMEN—I had a severe cold which settled on my lungs. I tried a number of advertised remedies and several physicians, but received no benefit. I was in despair when Foley's Honey and Tar was recommended, but a few doses gave great relief. I could sleep and the hacking cough ceased. Two bottles cured me entirely. It saved my life.

A Correction.

Dubuque, Kans.
July 10, 1900.
EDITOR DEMOCRAT. I write to correct the notice of my son's death in a recent issue.

On June 29 we were harvesting on the home place. We had cut but two loads after dinner when an electric storm developed and I stopped on account of the sharp lightning. My son Albert, 12 years old, was driving the barge which he had done for me most of the time through the last five harvests.

I requested him and Mr. Shore, the loader, to get off the barge as I was afraid of the lightning striking them. Just then the lightning set fire to some wheat which I thought was mine on another farm and from which the fire could sweep to the home. I requested Mr. Shore to help Albert take care of the teams and taking one horse to ride I called to the other hands to come and help put out the fire. When they came by the header the horses were unhitched and leaving one barge and team there for Albert to mind they all, including Mr. Shore, came on as the shower was going around and the teams would need but little attention. As they came by the house I had the plow and shovels ready and loading them in the barge we went on. After going a short distance we could see the fire was not on my farm and we came back. When we got to the house my wife said the barge was blown over and she could see nothing of Albert. We went out as fast as we could, turned the barge up, searched the wheat but he was not there. After searching two hours one of the neighbor's hands found him in the uncut wheat where he had been struck and instantly killed while on the way to the house. His hat, shirt and overalls were torn to pieces but his body was not. There were two marks on the back of his head where the hair was singed to the scalp and a large blistered spot on the abdomen.

We thank the friends and neighbors, who, disregarding the urgency of their harvest came to offer their assistance and sympathy.

Governor

Theodore Roosevelt

As elected Governor of New York, first by reason of his military achievements, and secondly on account of popular belief in his personal integrity and political soundness.

NEW WERNER Encyclopaedia Britannica

It tells how after graduating from Harvard, he studied law, was a member of the N.Y. assembly; President of the U.S. Civil Service Commission; President of the New York Police Commission; Asst. Secy. of the Navy; Lieutenant-Colonel and later Colonel of the "Rough Riders," and now Governor of New York.

It characterizes him as a thorough scholar, an indefatigable sportsman, a typical frontiersman and a brave leader.

It mentions the many valuable historical works he published, how he led his men at Las Guasmas, El Caney, and San Juan Hill.
