 If having a balance on the credit side of the county treasurer's books is a sign of prosperity then Allen county generally, from road districts up, are in pretty good condition, as shown by the statement published on our last page.
 Mr. J. C. Culver, school superintendent of Woodson county, was in Iola two or three days this week, assisting Superintendent Barber in preparing copy for a "Course of Study" which they are getting ready to publish jointly.
 Services at the usual hours at Presbyterian church next Sunday. Rev. A. Casselman, of Lyons, Kas., who is in attendance at the Classis of Reform Church, will preach in the morning and one of the other ministers in the evening.

 During the storm last Friday night the house of a man named Osborn, living in Carlyle township, was struck by lightning. The fire passed through the feet of Mr. Osborn, tearing and burning the flesh from one of them and crushing the other as if it had been struck with a sledge. Medical aid was summoned, but the shock was so great that recovery seems doubtful.
 During the month of May Dr. LaFary will extract teeth preparatory to procuring a new set free of charge and make new teeth at the usual price. Take advantage of this opportunity.

Mrs. Wm. Langley died on Tuesday at her home south of town, after a brief illness, and was buried in the Iola cemetery on Wednesday. Rev. C. N. H. Moore conducting the funeral services. She leaves a husband and an infant child to mourn her untimely death.
 C. E. Merwin, of Iola, was in town this week and purchased a fine organ from one of our dealers.—Humboldt Union.
 If you had inquired after the whole truth, friend Union, you would have learned that Mr. Merwin preferred a good Humboldt organ that he could move, to poor Humboldt real estate that he couldn't move.
 The ladies of the Christian church, with their usual enterprise, gave the first strawberry festival of the season at the Bowler's building last evening. We go to press too early to report it, but the occasion was doubtless pleasant and successful—provided the ice cream was well boiled and served hot.
 "Tell the people," said City Marshal Harris, "that if they don't clean up their premises they will all have the small pox and cholera this summer." It may not be quite so bad as that, but those who fail to renovate will certainly have great cause to regret their negligence when Mr. Harris and the board of health get after them. Clean up!
 The centennial demonstration in New York on Tuesday is said to have been the grandest civic display of modern times. A very full report of the masterly oration pronounced on that day by Chauncey DeWitt will be found on our inside pages. A further account of the ceremonies that preceded and followed this address will be given next week.
 The "new editor" of the REGISTER is so anxious to hear the remainder of the story to have any wish to deny space for the continuation of "The Other Side," and he is sure that the readers of this paper share his interest. Let us have the rest of it by all means. We have got the story of what went on outside of Richmond by heart; tell us now the tale of what transpired inside.
 Parties who subscribed for the Oklahoma Times will have to be patient as the material for printing the paper, although shipped nearly two weeks ago, has not yet reached its destination. It is a "good deal of a chore" for one railroad to carry 20,000 people and their houses and furniture and mercantile goods into a country, and while the Santa Fe is doubtless doing its best, some delay is inevitable.
 The practice of exchanging "May baskets" has become quite common among the very young people of both sexes and many shifts are resorted to by them to obtain flowers. Some who have enough pin money, patronize the greenhouse. Others get their flowers from their own vine and fig tree or from their neighbors—or from the grocery stores. It is a very pleasant and beautiful practice and will doubtless grow in favor as the years go by.
 Two weeks ago we made mention of the fact that the council had instructed its committee on public grounds to construct effective and convenient gates for the entrances to the public square. We observe that these entrances now have strong boards firmly nailed across them. The committee has evidently carried out half its instructions at least, for these gates are certainly "effective." It may be, however, that their convenience is open to question.
 The Christian Endeavor society of the Presbyterian church will hold its first consecration meeting on Sunday night, W. H. Evans leader. A full attendance is requested. The constitution will be on the table to be signed by all desiring to become active or associate members. The chairman of each committee that has done any work is requested to present a written report.
 W. H. HYATT, JR., Pres't.
 "Morantown Camp No. 930" of the Modern Woodman of America, was organized at Moran, on Saturday night April 27, with seventeen charter members. The following officers were chosen: Counsel, G. W. Mathews; Adviser, R. W. Armstrong; Banker, H. E. Keltin; Escort, F. M. Lee; Clerk, S. C. DeHaven; Watchman, W. T. McNaught; Sauter, A. L. Martin; Managers, A. A. Shokey, H. P. Smith, I. H. Vaught, Physician, G. B. Lambeth.
 Sheriff Britton came up from Oklahoma the first of the week, but has already returned to "see how things are going on." He says that A. C. Scott was chosen chairman of the mass meetings—and noise, turbulent meetings they were too as may be well imagined—that were held at Oklahoma City, that he suggested the plan by which the difficulties were finally settled and was chairman of the committee of ten which finally compromised all the disputes. He thinks the town has a great future in store.
 Little business of importance was transacted at the meeting of the city council on Monday night, although various matters of considerable interest were discussed. Several small bills were allowed and the bonds of one or two officers were approved. The committee to whom the application of Cy. Richards for a billiard license was referred, reported unfavorably and the report was adopted. The committee stated that their action was not based on personal objection to the applicant, but because they were opposed to the opening of a billiard hall in the city. Which is well.

There was a meeting of the ministers of the city on last Monday evening at the Presbyterian parsonage, at which a Ministerial Union was formed. Rev. W. H. Hyatt being chosen President and Rev. S. A. Alt, Secretary. Meetings will be held semi-monthly, the next one being set for May 13, at the Presbyterian parsonage. The object of the Union is the cultivation of more intimate social relations among the members and the discussion of topics in which they are mutually interested, and it will doubtless prove both pleasant and beneficial.
 Mr. B. C. Potter and Miss Josephine Bartels, both of Iola, were married at the residence of the bride's father, Mr. W. L. Bartles, deputy United States revenue collector, last Thursday night, in the presence of a few relatives, by Rev. S. A. Alt. They came here on their wedding trip, and are visiting the family of the groom's brother, Irving Potter. They are a worthy young couple, and deserve to enjoy a happy and prosperous future. The Journal wishes them joy and adds its congratulations to those of their numerous friends.—Coffeyville Journal.
 A marriage which would interest a large number of Iola people, but which for some reason failed of mention at the proper time, was that of Mr. E. R. Gregg and Miss Edith Kinkade, which was solemnized on Feb. 19th, at the home of the groom in Burlington, Kansas. Mr. Gregg is a brother of George Gregg, late station agent at the Wichita depot, and is a leading photographer and artist of Burlington. Miss Kinkade formerly made her home with her mother in Iola, and won many friends by her kindly disposition and her ladylike demeanor. The young people start out with bright prospects and with the good wishes of all their friends.
 While it does not make one's own life any smaller to know that others are suffering in like manner, such knowledge does sometime help one to bear them with better philosophy. Prices are low in Kansas and there is little market, but we are no worse off, apparently, in these particulars than other States. Judge Thatcher, of Lawrence, has just returned from a trip to New York, and is quoted in the Journal as saying that potatoes are selling in the western part of that State for 20 cents a bushel. Other produce is almost equally low and cattle are selling in Buffalo nearly as cheap as they are selling here. We are as well off as our neighbors.
 The death of Mr. G. H. Bliss, which occurred at his home west of this city on Thursday, the 25th ult., was not unexpected as he was well advanced in years and had been seriously ill for a long time. Mr. Bliss was born in Royallton, Vt., Nov. 29, 1829, but removed when four years of age, with his parents to Essex county, New York, where he remained until 1842. He then removed to Ohio where, with the exception of brief visits to New York, he remained until 1875 when he came to Kansas and located on the farm near this city where he has since lived. Mr. Bliss was a stone mason by trade and was employed on different buildings in Iola as long as he was able to perform manual labor. His health began to fail about three years ago, since which time he has been almost a constant sufferer and death came to him as a long wished-for and welcome release. He was a man of great energy and of sterling integrity and had a large circle of friends who testified their respect by attending the funeral services which were conducted by Rev. C. H. N. Moore at the residence on Friday, and by following the remains to their last resting place in Iola cemetery.
