A COUPLE OF POEMS.

(By WILL A. WHITE.)

Weakly Dick.

Long ago before the hoppers and the drouth of '87-88,
Long before we talked of boom, long before
The first orange store,
Long before there was a city on the banks of
Wilder Creek,
Come a woman doin' washin' an' a littl' boy
named Dick.

Smiler weakly like an' sick,
Was't even common sick,
An' the folks said 'at his daddie used to be a loonytick.

He was undervid an' ugly an' was tongue-tied
in his talk,
He was awkward an' near-sighted an' he couldn't smile a week.

An' the other boys all teased him—no one knew
the reason why,
But he always loved the crick so, an' 'twas there
at 'is 'd play.

Killin' lucky bugs an' buildin' dams 'at always broke away.

But his mother used to pray
'God make Dickie strong some day.'
God 'd make him strong an' happy
Her 'pore angul' she 'd say.

They was not a long wagon when he died,
an' all I mind
Was a little green farm wagon with two churs
set in behind.

But it held a lonely mother sobbin' wildly for
her own,
An' the sorrow ate the deeper for she knew she grieved alone.

Mid the sunn' 's lightly blown,
Where the sticker weed are sown,
No one knowed the hopes an' heart-
aches beried 'neath that rough cut stone.

The Inter Regnum.

Us fellers beva hundred ways
To tell the seasons by,
Not countin' in the kinds of days
Nor euller in the sky.

For them who like a mixt,
An' who like to be 'at
'At when you get yourself all fixt
For 'it to be 'right.

The wind 'll kinder sidle 'round
An' give a sudden who,
An' set your teeth to shakin', an'
Ye'r hands to gettin' blue;

But if they're any weather 'at
Ye can count on 'em,
It's when the Kansas summer is
A turnin' into fall.

They're no use much to write it down
An' store it in the books,
Next year perhaps 'll change 'round
In all exceptin' looks.

Of trees an' grass an' such like things
They're jes one way to tell,
An' that's to watch what each year brings
An' say how it will feel.

An' when you see the yellin'
An' 'll blowed off the sunnower's head,
An' 'll see 'em 'till they're dead,
An' 'll see 'em 'till they're dead.

'Round woods an' hills an' all
You bet the Kansas summer is
A turnin' into fall.

An' when ye'r lookin' 'round the crick
Down by the water's side,
The loonsome ones makes you sick
For not a single bird.

In to see the kind of spring-board,
An' seems so warped an' dry,
The slither down the ice is rough
By cattle passin' by.

So when you get to town again,
The heels 're so cool,
An' when we get a good excuse
To take off our shoes.

At times to play 'three-o'-cat,'
Er 'scrub' or 'pull away,'
Er any other game that
Which all the fellers play—

It's jes like the time when we were
To be barefoot again—
But though our feet were cold an' queer,
When school is taken in.

With all the girls a snick 'er ez
We stand 'long side the wall,
An' 'll see 'em 'till they're dead,
An' 'll see 'em 'till they're dead.

At summer's turn 't fall.

THE congressional reapportionment bill, reported by the House committee during the recent session of the legislature, which put Allen county into the Third district, failed to pass. But the following comment on it is pending, is too good to be lost:

The legislative "fixers" who made the congressional apportionment bill evidently had out a sharp knife for Farmer Funston, but they do not know his reserved powers. Allen county is on the northern boundaries of the new Third district, it is true, but if the old man determines to run in that district next year he will do so, and please do not forget it. When that fog-horn will sound, clear notes of victory in November.

K. C. Star (Dem.) In refusing to pass the bill which provided for the election of the Railroad Commissioners by the people, the Populists of the Kansas Senate openly confessed their fear of the popular judgment against the Populist course in the recent "war" at Topeka. There can be no doubt that the Republicans expect to make the "twin houses" in the lower branch of the Legislature an issue in the local elections next fall. And what is more, there can be little doubt that this issue is very much stronger than the National issues on which the Republicans have gone to defeat since 1890. The Populists, on the other hand were politic and cunning, if not manly, in refusing to bring matters to a head by allowing a State vote to be taken on the questions involved in the "war issues." Two years is a long time to wait and the Populists are figuring on the forgetfulness of the people.

THE Chicago Inter Ocean celebrated its 21st birthday last Saturday by publishing the biggest paper ever before printed on earth. There were 200,000 copies and each copy contained 60 pages. To print this enormous edition required 175,000 pounds of paper! Think of it! It was a prodigious enterprise and marks the Inter Ocean as one of the greatest papers of the world.

A Populist Editor on the late Rebellion. One of the strongest People's party organs during the last campaign was the Paola Times, edited by J. W. Bell. The events at Topeka during January and February, however, opened Mr. Bell's eyes, and he promptly severed his connection with a party guilty of such infamous and revolutionary actions. In a recent letter to the Paola Republican, Mr. Bell discusses the situation most vigorously. We quote as follows:

It is the duty of every citizen of Kansas, regardless of party affiliation or effect upon the future success of any party, to stand up for the strict observance of the constitution and laws of the State. It is as a citizen, and not as a Populist, a Republican or a Democrat, that I have from the first overt act of the Populists in the State Legislature in violating the spirit and letter of our constitution and its laws, taken sides with those Republicans and Democrats who have so valiantly and patiently stood up for law and order and a section of all our duties in the courts. As a Populist I have ever taken the same pleasure in advocating the supremacy of the law and the will of the majority when expressed within the limits of the law as I do as a citizen. My only difference is in the observance in the most heated campaigns conducted by both old parties. There can be no reform worthy the name outside the limits of the law, which law-abiding and peace-loving people are in any wise bound to respect. The law is the supreme law, and advocates differently advanced anarchy and mischief. If the laws are bad, let them be repealed, but until such is done, no citizen can tolerate for a moment the idea that they are to be violated.

The Populist declare that the State canvassing board issued some fraudulent certificates. Such is not the case and there never has been the slightest evidence that it was ever attempted, only in the excited imaginations of men whose interest and ambition lay in that kind of argument. The canvassing board did just what the law says it must do, and the Populist Attorney General thus argued before the Supreme court.

Section 40 of the election law makes it the duty of the Secretary of State, upon the day fixed by law for the assembling of the Legislature, to lay before the Senate and House a list of the members elected with the districts they represent, in accordance with the returns in his office. This Secretary Osborne attempted to do, when a Populist arose and demanded that Secretary Osborne preside. This he said he had no right to do, and stated all his duties under the law. The Populists insisted, when a Republican arose and objected to Secretary Osborne presiding, and demanded the reading of the list. The Populists persisted, the Republicans objected, when amid the clamor and noise the Secretary put the list in his pocket and left the room, saying that when they elected a chairman he would read the list. This cannot be controverted. The secretary was right when he told his party he could not preside, and the Republicans right in protesting against the Populist demand that the secretary should preside. The Populists were wrong when they so insisted, and the secretary was wrong when he did not read the list or lay it down, though pandemonium itself had broken loose. This was the start of the whole farce which has killed the People's party, disgraced the good cause and all but ruined the good name and credit of Kansas in the eyes of the civilized world. Governor Lovelling had no reason to recognize either House until it was settled which of the two Houses was the legal one. But he has had bad advisors and seems unable to rule above his party and be a Governor for the whole people. He has been a grievous disappointment. He has wrecked the splendid opportunity to show himself a man and a statesman. He has raised his own reputation and that of his party, and cast disgrace upon the name of reform. That he has violated his oath of office goes without saying. Incompetent and unfit for the high office he holds, his misfortune has been in heeding the counsel of his party that tried to defeat him. Anarchy and mischief are stamped upon his administration, and there they will likely remain.

DESERVING PRAISE.

We desire to say to our citizens that for years we have been selling Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. Dr. King's New Life Pills, Bucklen's Arnica, and other medicines, and have never handled remedies that sell as well, or that have given such universal satisfaction. We do not hesitate to guarantee them every time, and we stand ready to refund the purchase price if satisfactory results do not follow their use. These remedies have won their popularity purely on their merits. W. J. Evans druggist.

Joseph V. Dory, of Warsaw, Ill., was troubled with rheumatism and tried a number of different remedies, but says none of them seemed to do him any good; but finally he got hold of one that speedily cured him. He was much pleased with it, and felt sure that others similarly afflicted would like to know what the remedy was that cured him. He states for the benefit of the public that it is called Chamberlain's Pain Balm. For sale by Evans Bros.

Pears' Soap

Skin blemishes, like foul teeth, are the more offensive because they are mostly voluntary.

The pores are closed. One cannot open them in a minute; he may in a month.

Try plenty of soap, give it plenty of time, and often; excess of good soap will do no harm. Use Pears'—no alkali in it; nothing but soap.

All sorts of stores sell it, especially druggists; all sorts of people are using it.

Pointers for World's Fair.

Footprints on the sands of time this year will all be turned toward Chicago, where the great Columbian Exposition is to be held.

While walking may be good, the majority of Kansans will prefer riding in the solid Santa Fe Route vestibuled train.

Perhaps you don't know that the Santa Fe has the shortest line between Kansas City and Chicago by 36 miles; that absence of grade crossings lessens the number of compulsory stops; and that three trains each way each day afford ample room for all travellers.

Luxurious palace sleepers, fine dining car service and free chair cars, better than the best of other lines. Leave Kansas City 5:10 p. m., on Columbian Lim.; 7 p. m., on Denver and Chicago Lim.; or at 8:30 a. m., on Daylight Express.

Drop in and talk it over with nearest Santa Fe Route ticket agent; or address:

Now Try This.

It will cost you nothing and will surely do you good, if you have a cold, cough or any trouble with throat, chest or lungs. Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, coughs and colds is guaranteed to give relief, or money will be refunded. Suffers from La Grippe find it just the thing and under its use had a speedy and perfect recovery. Try a sample bottle on our expense and learn for yourself just how good a thing it is. Trial bottle free at W. J. Evans' drug store. Large size 50c. and $1.
