KING OF LOW PRICES.

(Published October 12th in New York.
On sale October 15th in Iowa.)

A new child's story by Mrs. Frances Hodgson Burnett.

Two Little Pilgrim's Progress.

Uniform in style with "Flauntieroy," "Sara Crevec," etc.

Mrs. Burnett's longest and most notable juvenile since "Flauntieroy."

A Story of The City Beautiful.

"TWO LITTLE PILGRIMS' PROGRESS" is Mrs. Burnett at her best. It is a story of two children, a boy and a girl, brought up on a western farm where they are neglected by their aunt, with whom they live, and who find their chief happiness in reading "Bunyan's Pilgrim's Progress" in a corner of the barn. When they hear of the White City, or Chicago Exhibition, they make up their minds to take their small savings and go to see the wonder. This is their Pilgrim's Progress, and their adventures are told by Mrs. Burnett in her well-known delightful manner.

We ordered quite a lot of this book before it was published and offer to our customers as soon as the balance of the world.
Price, $1.50. Our price, $1.25.

limited coinage I am with it. If it is for a gold standard I am with it. Personally I favor free coinage in a moderate way, but I think it is more important that the Republican party should be returned to power than that all the silver in the country should be coined.

For the edification of those who think that a preacher's wife has nothing to do, the wife of the pastor of the U. R. church at LaCross recently reported concerning her work during the past year as follows:

Times attended preaching services, 138; visits made, 200; letters written, 200; calls answered, 200; number of miles rode in private conveyance in the church work, 754; number of errands done for church services, 52; letters written, 101; Y. P. C. U. meetings attended, 49; Ladies Aid Society and other special meetings, 15; attended Sunday school and Sunday class, 52; Sundays attended prayer meeting 47 times; Have done all my own work except a part of my sewing and washing.

About fifteen of the friends of Mrs. S. I. McDonald, gathered at her home on Saturday October 19th to remind her they had not forgotten that it was the 70th anniversary of her birthday. A few country friends and good wishes had been expressed, and a memento of the event presented, the table was prepared and dinner served with the usual accompaniment of merriment and pleasant conversation.

About four o'clock the guests departed wishing Mrs. McDonald many returns of this pleasing day and continued good health.

A number of the lady friends of Mrs. J. S. Turner took their lunch baskets and spent the evening with her on Wednesday in celebration of her wedding anniversary. Unfortunately Mrs. Turner was not able to be at home and so the men were not invited, but the ladies insist that they had a good time nevertheless. The following are the names of those who were present: Mesdames Hartmann, Smeltzer, Krueger, Cholette, McClure, Chastain, Mitchell, Ireland, Agnes Scott, Del. Northrup, Harris, Claiborne, Hobart, Parkinson, Boulson, Howland, DeClute, Knapp.

Mr. L. F. Palmer, late of Burlington, has rented a room in the Apple building, across the street and west from the REGISTER office, and will occupy it for the manufacture of monuments and tombstones. Mr. Palmer is not a stranger to Iola, as several of the finest monuments in our cemetery came from his hand. He has been in the business for twenty five years and is a real artist, his patrons all being more than satisfied with his work. He has employed Mr. H. H. Hubbard of Olathe, also an excellent workman, and is now ready to fill promptly all orders he may receive. Mr. Palmer comes with excellent endorsements, not only as a good workman but also as a good citizen, and we trust he will find his new location a good one.

A Doctor: I know a whole lot of men who are any amount more careful of their horses than they are of their wives. If one of these men notices that one of his horses is "off his feed" he at once begins to look about for a remedy. But his wife may have no appetite for a month and he will never notice it. If a favorite horse begins to appear listless and lose flesh, he takes him out of the harness at once and gives him the best of care until he begins to pick up again. But his wife may waste away and get puny and thin, and he never thinks of taking her out of the harness of the household drudgery until he wakes up some day to find her "sick in bed." And these men are not bad men either, intentionally. They are simply careless. They are in the habit of looking after their horses, but they expect their wives to look after themselves.

Station Agent Edgar tells us that a new time card will go into effect on the Southern Kansas on the 25th which will require the day passenger trains to pass here, about one o'clock, and will advance the running time of both to about 40 miles an hour. The trains will run through to Wellington also, instead of only to Independence as they now do. The change is a very agreeable one for it will give our eastern mail earlier and will shorten the time to Kansas City about one hour and a half. And it ought to make Iola a dining station. The trains will reach here more nearly at noon than they reach any other prominent station, and the passengers from both trains would furnish patronage enough to support a good eating house. It would seem as if this ought to be brought about. Anyhow it will make good business for a lunch room near the depot, for one train or the other will have a good many minutes to wait nearly every day.
