PURE FRESH CANDIES.

We would like to inform the public that our candies are all fresh, pure goods, and the very best we can buy. Having tried all the different factories in Chicago, St. Louis and Kansas City we find that Huggins and Kansas City makes the best, and we will continue to keep a good line of their candies. Any of our candies that become in the least bit stale are promptly thrown out at the back door, but we are very thankful, owing to our good trade in this line, that we very seldom have this to do. Yours resp'y,
J. H. HUMPHREY.

The G. A. R. boys of Galena give a ball on the 15th for the purpose of buying retions for the post during the coming reunion.

The small boy who is too weak to bring up a wash tub from the cellar for his mother, can easily knock a ball into the middle of next week and make a home run on it.

The Commune II club will meet with Miss Gertrude Noble Monday evening, Sept. 15th. All the young people are cordially invited to attend as we anticipate a jolly time.

The circus, as usual, brought a good sized rain. This is an almost certain coincidence and we often wonder why the circus does not travel through our state during the drouthy season.

Marshal Donaldson received a telegram this week stating that Thomas Hughs, the horse thief who stole a horse from Samuel Binns some time ago, had been shot and killed at Van Buren, Ark., while being arrested.

Preaching at the city hall Sunday at 11 a. m. and 7 1/2 p. m. by Elder John Friend of West Plains, Mo. Subject for morning, The Happy Man; night, Love of God in Creation, Redemption and Salvation. All are cordially invited.

Miss Donna Ice, the child cornet player will fill the position of bugler for the G. A. R. boys at the coming reunion. She has acted very satisfactorily in that capacity for the Baxter post for some time and is fully competent to fill the position in good style.

On next Tuesday evening the Y. P. S. C. E. of the Presbyterian church will hold one of their socials at the home of Mrs. B. S. Warner. A very pleasant time is anticipated and all young people are requested to attend and bring ten cents worth of something to eat.

Let no guilty man dare attend the circus to-day and spend his good money on red lemonade, striped stick candy, peanuts or kindred dissipaters of gloom, who owes this office money on subscription. The "Jemo," "Jemo," will make him drunk, the stick candy pizen him and his, and the peanuts cause hair a foot long to grow from the palms of his hands.

Rev. A. R. Miller, who for some time has been the pastor of the M. E. church of this city, will preach his farewell sermon next Sunday. All who wish to connect themselves with the church are requested to make preparations for next Sunday as the church may possibly be without a pastor for some time. It is with much regret that Mr. Miller leaves his charge here, but circumstances sanction this step and he takes with him the good will of the entire community.

On last Saturday an exciting game of base ball of four innings was played on the Baxter Springs base ball grounds between the home team and Alf. Mudeater's Indian nine. The score stood 14 to 15 in favor of the latter, and the Indians returned home crowned with all the glories of the old time war parties of their fathers. Another game will be played next Saturday, Sept. 20, between the same clubs and our boys hope to win back the laurels which have been so fairly snatched from them.

Donna Ice Bonnett.
All admirers of musical entertainments who were absent from the one given by Miss Donna Ice last Saturday night missed a rare musical treat. Miss Donna was greeted with a large and appreciative audience, who frequently gave vent to their appreciation by loud and enthusiastic applause. Miss Donna's "Hum" solo elicited well earned applause as did also the duet with Miss Tucker and her set in the role of an "Orphan Newsboy." The child soloist in a very amusing and childlike manner brought down the house by singing the song of the "Bad Man." The songs and musical sketches both vocal and instrumental were of the very finest. The band and the Baxter Glee Club also delightfully entertained the audience with choice selections. All were well pleased with the entertainment. It was a financial as well as a pleasing success, musically and reflects much credit upon Miss Donna and all connected with the organization and presentation of the entertainment. Miss Ice is a musical wonder and THE NEWS heartily congratulates her upon her success, hoping in the future to hear sweet melodies float from the new cornet which she will soon have obtained.

BOLD HORSE THIEVES.

On August 2nd, Henry Scott, one of the firm of Scott Bros., bought in Columbus, Kan., thirteen head of horses from Bob and Emmet Dalton, two young men of fine appearance and of about 22 and 25 years of age, their home and the place where they were raised is near Coffeyville, Kan., and who doubtless received their early training from their cousins Cole Younger and the Frank and Jesse James gang. They had been considered honest and upright citizens up to a short time ago, so it was not difficult to satisfy Mr. Scott that they were all right and he checked them for the horses. They assured him they would have another herd in Baxter Springs to sell him in two or three weeks. Everything went on smoothly for three weeks when a United States marshal in hunting for stolen horses branded 55 happened at Baxter Springs, and Scott Bros. told them they had bought no such stock, but had bought 13 head of the Daltons branded E M, J 4, etc. He was shown the stock and recognized it as the property of Fred Rogers and Frank Minscove, belonging thirty miles south of Vinita, I. T. The owners came here the 15th of Sept. W. W. and Henry Scott drove them out to the pasture to see the stock. While on their return to Baxter they met the Dalton boys and an Indian in the suburbs of town with another drove of stolen horses. They drove hastily to town and notified the city and two United States marshals, who with A. L. Huff, Chas. Fribley and Jim Brewster, all well mounted and armed with shot guns and revolvers, started in hot pursuit to capture the bold and daring thieves that it would cost blood to arrest. The thieves changed their saddle horses for the best they had in the herd and with revolvers in hand, leaving the herd of horses in town, started at race horse speed for the territory. The pursuing party was ten minutes behind in the start and the race was eight miles to the nearest timber, southwest, which the thieves made for. The race was an interesting one over an open prairie and by sight. The thieves reached the timber five minutes before the pursuers. They kept under cover of the woods until they reached Sulphur Springs. There the horse rode by Emmet Dalton fell and lay prostrate on the earth, leaving the thief on foot. His brother rode a few rods away to a team owned by James K. Moore, and drawing his revolver made him give up a young race mare, and young Dalton mounted her without saddle or blanket, not even removing the horse collar. The Indian's horse was also falling. The pursuing party was now in sight of the horse trade the thieves made. Henry Scott was 500 yards in advance of the other pursuers, while Killian, U. S. marshal, W. W. Scott, Chas. Fribley and James Brewster were a thousand yards in advance of all the remaining part of the pursuers who joined the chase later on. It was plain to be seen that the ten mile race was telling on the poor horses save the two rode by the Daltons and Henry Scott. The thieves were checked by a wire fence and as one dismounted to cut the wire Henry rushed upon the Indian. The Daltons covered him with their revolvers and gave him his choice of going back or being shot. Henry said he would rather be a coward for 15 minutes than a corpse for the balance of his life, so he retreated to the advance, which was 1,000 yards behind the thieves. They pressed on, however, through the timber and underbrush for about six miles until the Neosho River was reached, and the thieves had gained upon the pursuers, leaving the timber and taking through the prairie.

Night coming on the chase was given up and the thieves are still at large. On returning to Baxter the officers took charge of the herd the thieves left, consisting of 21 head of nice mares and colts and two geldings, which were left in charge of W. W. Scott.

REUNION POINTERS.

The posts that have reported up to date as intending to attend the Baxter reunion are as follows: From Missouri 27, Kansas 20, and Indian Territory 2, making a total of 58 posts, requiring 178 tents for shelter.

The Baxter Springs Manufacturing Co., have erected a splendid wind engine on a sixty-foot tower and are now placing two fifty gallon tanks on the ground so that plenty of water may be supplied to any part. This important feature together with the facts that there will be plenty of shade by day and the grounds will be well lighted by night will add much to the pleasure and comfort of those who attend.

The home post is busy placing the camp ground in perfect order.

There have been sent out through the mails 1500 pieces of mail as advertising matter, and a vast amount relating to the reunion is received every day by the different committees.

The present indications point to the largest gathering of old soldiers at this place ever assembled in southeastern Kansas.

Small Pilfering.

No person who has not counted the cost can possibly have the true conception of small pilfering. We mean by this the taking of a peach or an apple from a basket sitting in front of a grocery store for the purpose of displaying the fruit, or perhaps taking from one to a half dozen crackers from a box or barrel. If a jeweler displayed his gold watches and diamonds in front of his store in an open tray, who but a thief would think of touching them, and if he should, do you not think he would take special pains to secure the finest in the tray? Certainly he would, and yet there is a certain class of boys, some of them almost at the age of maturity, who are in the habit of appropriating apples, peaches, crackers, etc., in this way. Of course they only take one at a time, but when one takes the finest apple and another the next finest and so on, the grocer's profits are soon gone and in a space of time one boy may take as much in value as the thief who steals the watch or the diamond. Let us then think of these things, when we are tempted to take something not our own, and it may, at some future time, save us no little embarrassment.
