THE MULES FOUND.

The mules which were stolen from A. Willard several days ago were found last Friday afternoon by Constable John Jones in Scott's pasture in the Quapaw reservation five miles southwest of town. Mr. Jones tells us the mules had been clipped and cleaned up so as to disguise them, but he couldn't be fooled. The question now agitating Mr. Jones' brain is, who stole the mules and put them into the pasture? Mr. Scott says he hasn't any idea, as he hadn't been down to the pasture for several weeks. It is probable that the thief became scared and put the mules into the pasture so they could be easily found.

We are opening a large line of CAPES AND JACKETS in all styles, colors and sizes. We are putting such extremely low prices on them that they cannot fail to interest you.

If you want to get the choicest selection and the best fit buy your wrap early.

They will never be lower. Most everybody selling wraps asks a big price early and then later come down. We are starting at the later price, the lowest. Our reason for this is that we have a large stock which we must sell because we have not the room to carry them. Consequently they must go if we lose money.

We will save you from 50c to $5 on your fall and winter wrap.

RATHER STRANGE.
A short time ago Officer John Jones of Baxter Springs attached a span of mules to satisfy a debt in favor of A. Willard of that place. Jones turned the mules over to Willard, who preferred to feed them himself and save considerable expense until day of sale. In a day or so the mules disappeared, but they afterwards found in pasture. They had been shorn and put in shape to ship away with a lot of other mules. The question is how did the mules come to be in that pasture and who trimmed them up? To Baxter people it looks like there was a good sized descendant of Ham in the wood pile.—Galena Republican.
