Russian Intervention Has Become for America a Tragic Anachronism Since Defeat of Germany.

The news from Russia, particularly since the bolsheviks have had control, has been notoriously false. The stories of massacre and anarchy are, of course, largely for effect. It is also well known that the various governmental censorships, principally the British, have suppressed actual news messages sent by accredited correspondents of accredited news associations from Moscow and Petrograd—messages sent by men who were not themselves bolsheviks at all, but simply honest journalists. And many are the stories of events by "newsmen" who saw no more than the inside of a hotel in Stockholm. Not a word of the constructive work being done by the soviet government has been given out by the press. All that we are allowed are silly stories about new decrees on marriage and free love, issued (where rarely authentic) by irresponsible groups striving to put the soviet government in a false light. When a really first-rate analysis of what the soviet government is doing is published—like "The Soviet at Work," by Lenine—we are informed by Postmaster General Burleson that it is unmailable.

But the worst of all is the fashion in which the news about allied intervention is distorted. We are led to believe that allied troops landed in Vladivostok to restore "law and order," to put down the rule of an anarchical minority and to substitute a democratic government. It is false. There was quiet and the best of law and order at Vladivostok when allied troops landed. The soviet had the support and affection of the people. The allied troops did not set up a democratic government; they set up a reactionary dictatorship. We are prepared to prove that in every case where allied troops have invaded Russian soil they have overthrown the popular government and set up a temporary government resting for support on foreign bayonets, a government reactionary and, in some cases, even frankly monarchist. It is safe to say that the average American citizen would be thoroughly shocked at knowing the kind of imperialistic and anti-democratic game which is being played by our own and allies' armies in Russia. These are facts, and we think it high time that they be told. We do not believe that our own government wants the restoration of the monarchy in Russia, or that it would support a demonstrably unpopular government forever. The American government would like to see in Russia a liberal and commercial republic like ourselves—a quiet, respectable government with which we could do business. Undoubtedly. But what we should like and what we are as a matter of cold fact getting are two widely different things.

Japanese Ambitions.
It is no secret that powerful parties in Japan are advocating the unostentatious annexation of large sections of Siberia, and that they have no interest in seeing any stable popular government arise east of the Urals. It is no secret that England trembles for Persia, Afghanistan and India, and that the tory party would gladly crush the Russian revolution if it exhibited any tendency toward proselytism in foreign countries (as it has). It is no secret that a certain section of the French governmental opinion cares not a fig what sort of a reactionary government there is in Russia, provided only it is a government that will immediately repay the foreign loans. In a word, our intervention in Russia may have been undertaken with the best of intentions, but the practical situation with which we are faced today is either to support reaction and imperialism or to withdraw our troops.

Tragic Anachronism.
Russian intervention has become for America a tragic anachronism since the defeat of Germany. We have neither a national nor an international interest which today legitimately sanctions the presence of our troops on Russian soil. It is false to our traditions to be fighting a workingman's republic, even if we do not approve of its form or its manners. It is not in accordance with any doctrine of American national policy for us to be engaged in crushing a revolution or in crucifying the hopes and aspirations of a great and mighty people. It is really difficult to believe that this is the same country which in Washington's time almost had a civil war because the government refused to intervene in the French revolution, on behalf of the revolutionists. And not even the most severe critics of the present leaders of the soviet government have said one-tenth as bitter things as were said of Robespierre and Marat in their day. No, to help crush a revolution is not in accordance with the real American tradition.—The Dial.

MANSLAUGHTER CASE GOES TO JURY TODAY

Colored Youth Denies He Drove Auto Recklessly. Claims Victim Did Not Heed Warning.

Following the resting of the case by the state, evidence for the defense was heard yesterday afternoon in the manslaughter case with Stewart Galloway, a colored youth, defendant, charged with having run an automobile and killed with an automobile Edward Linstrom on South Montana street the night of Aug. 13.

The defendant was placed on the stand and testified that he applied both the emergency and foot brakes on rounding from Mercury street into Montana, after which he permitted the car to coast until near Gold street. At this point, he stated, Linstrom started from the western curb, that he sounded his horn and jammed in the foot brake, but Linstrom appeared not to pay attention; that he swerved his car in trying to avoid hitting the man to an extent that brought the machine close to the east curb of the street. He stated he was not excited at the time and was traveling at a moderate rate of speed.

GAMBLING ALLEGED PROPRIETORS HELD

Mike Cleary of the Ocean bar; Billy Rohan of Rohan's billiard hall; Oscar Johnson of the Big Four cigar store, and C. Darow of the Olympic club, were arrested yesterday afternoon charged with being proprietors of resorts where gambling was allowed.
