TODAY'S BUTTE NEWS CONDENSED

The telephone number of the editorial department, which should be called for news items only, is 292. Please do not call this department concerning matters of subscription, advertising or delivery of papers; communications concerning these should be with the business office, telephone No. 52, before 8 o'clock p. m., when the office closes.

Harry Welf, wearing the uniform of a sailor, shot himself twice with a 22-caliber revolver last night. It is thought by the police that the man is insane and that he attempted to commit suicide last week by cutting his throat with a safety razor. After being treated at the emergency hospital he was taken to the county jail. He will be examined by sanity experts in a few days. According to the police he has been in Butte on a furlough for the past two weeks and several times has given evidence that he was not in his right mind.

Workers, we ask you: "What assurance have you given your family of a decent existence after you have cashed in?" You may be working in an office, mill or mine, 8 to 10 hours per day. You may be making a nice existence in an over-crowded profession or calling, but do you realize that such are becoming more overcrowded daily. Why not get out into God's sunshine, where it was intended you should be, on a 10-acre tract in the Valley of Opportunity? Easy payments. See Sables & Girroir.—Adv.

Golf Renze, Charles Davis, George F. Downes, and Charles Hall, who were arrested by officers of the sheriff's force early yesterday morning and charged with robbing William H. Schauf of $40 in money and several gallons of whiskey, may be the same four men who held up the "Hog Ranch" early Sunday morning. According to Sheriff O'Rourke, the men answer the description, and in all probability they will be charged with the crime.

James Ferriter, 22, was killed by a fall of rock at the 500 level of the St. Lawrence mine at 10 o'clock last night. He was a native of County Kerry, Ireland, and had been in Butte since 1912. He was unmarried and roomed at 327 East Broadway. He is survived by his father, three brothers and a sister in Ireland and a brother, Michael, of this city. The body is at a local undertaking room and the funeral announcement will appear later.

Fred Wear, terminal manager of the United Railway system in this city, removed his offices from the B. A. & P. freight house to 706 Daly Bank building yesterday. He will occupy the room with C. Maher, traffic representative of the Great Northern railway. It is thought the downtown offices will be more convenient to the public and work less hardship on the manager's office force.

The Walkerville city council met last night and attended to some routine matters, chief among which was the announcement that lights are being installed at the school playgrounds, where apparatus has been installed for the children. The health committee, it was announced, is working on a plan for the hauling of the city garbage through another method than that now employed.

Camille Paumie, 38, son of Mrs. Paumie Rimbaud of this city, died in Los Angeles Saturday, according to information received here yesterday. Mr. Paumie was born and reared in Butte and attended school in France. Besides his mother he is survived by a wife and two children, also a sister, Mrs. Charles Lussi of Great Falls.

John Hughes, a former Butte policeman, returned from France last night. He left Butte more than a year ago, and while he did not see actual fighting in the trenches, he tells many interesting stories of soldier life overseas. He is the son of the late Patrick Hughes, who was a policeman in this city for many years.

Information was filed in the district court yesterday against May Williams, charging that she took $60 from William Masters. A prior conviction as a venial offender in Cascade county is also alleged.

The brotherhood organization of the Central Presbyterian church will meet at the home of Fred H. Stafford, 2014 Garrison avenue, Tuesday evening, Jan. 21, at 7:30. All the members are urged to attend and friends are cordially invited.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Swedish Mission church on Dakota and Porphyry will hold its annual auction this evening, to which the public is invited. Refreshments will be served after the auction.

Dr. W. A. Stevenson, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Lewistown, passed through Butte yesterday on his way to San Francisco, where he is to address a conference of Presbyterian clergy.

John F. Abel, president of the Montana Retail Merchants' association, left Butte yesterday for his home in Lewistown. He reports that the winter crop in the Judith basin is in good shape.

Joe Pitzkykowski was painfully injured by a fall of ground at the Speculator mine last night at 9:30 o'clock. He was taken to the Murray hospital, where his injuries were treated.

Rex Morningstar and Mrs. Lois Carey were married last night at the Bank hotel. Both are residents of this city. Rev. H. Williams performed the ceremony.

Border Town Has a Spasmodic Life

(By United Press.) Bellgarde, Swiss Border, Dec. 18.—(By Mail.)—Bellgarde is the city of watchful waiting. It isn't very often anyone compliments this little group of houses and a railroad between mountain peaks straddling the ravine of the Rhone by calling it a city. Bellgarde is the last stop in France on the way to Switzerland, and everyone going either way is stopped here to be examined. The point was probably picked because you can get out in no way except by railroad, unless you climb Alpine mountain peaks covered with snow. Bellgarde is an ideal jumping off point.

Your papers are examined, and your baggage, and you are informed that the frontier is closed. It has been closed since the war began, except for a few hours at a time, or sometimes a day or so, when the frontier is suddenly opened on a few hours' notice. Then it is time to rush across.

There is no set time for opening the frontier, and no reason for choosing any certain time. There are no suspicious characters to avoid, because everyone in Bellgarde is allowed to grab his baggage and climb aboard on the train for Geneva. No one knows just who opens the border or why—a mysterious order comes from somewhere, and those who have been willing to "stick around and wait" are allowed to proceed to Switzerland.

Bellgarde is alternately filled to the brim with people and emptied to the hotel keepers and a few townspeople. The night before the frontier opens there are people sleeping in the station, in cars and everywhere for want of rooms. The night it is opened there are rooms everywhere, bare of occupants. The hotel keepers live for and by the closing of the frontier.

This peculiar French system has had the desired effect, according to officials, of discouraging travel to Switzerland, though it has done nothing to keep questionnaires from crossing. Frequently it has meant serious delays in important business when officials have been held up. Once the frontier remained tight for more than 25 days. There was suffering among the watchful waiters, many of whom had the best of reasons for passing at once. But it made no difference at Bellgarde. Finally, the mysterious word came from a certain French headquarters, and pent-up Bellgarde was relieved of its ill-humored population.

Boundary lines and frontiers seem to be Bellgarde's Nemesis. Within itself the little town has a frontier. You go down to one end of crooked, steep Main street, or whatever it is called, and buy yourself a cake of chocolate where they have lots of it in stores. Then try to bring that cake of chocolate back to your hotel. The sentry in the box in the middle of the block by the bridge over the raging Rhone stops you. You can't import chocolate to the other province without permission. Your end of the block is in one province and the chocolate end is in another. That explains why there is no chocolate in your end. You can stand there and eat the chocolate in front of the sentry, and then pass to your hotel—but you can't carry it in your hand.

PARADES OF UNEMPLOYED

London, Jan. 21.—"Everyman" of London calls attention to the fact that processions of unemployed workers through Trafalgar square and down Whitehall have been on the increase in recent weeks. "It is from such spontaneous demonstrations," says "Everyman," "that every revolution in history has sprung. * * * Representing the discharged war workers of the nation, they present an extraordinary varied range of classes; and old and young march together in a startling contrast. Yet these demonstrations are highly significant, and their frequency must be an unhealthy sign."

NEW ELECTIONS ARE POSTPONED

Paris, Jan. 20.—For months the socialists of France have demanded that new elections take place at the earliest possible moment, and that these elections be preceded by a change in the electoral system. The French government has decided, however, to postpone the elections until after the signing of the peace treaty and then to conduct them according to the old electoral system. Electoral reform is to be left to the new chamber.

WOULD REDUCE UNEMPLOYMENT

Copenhagen, Jan. 21.—The parliamentary group of the socialist party of Denmark has made representations to the Danish cabinet, asking that employment on public works be provided by the government in order to reduce the number of unemployed within the kingdom. This unemployment, it is pointed out, is heaping heavy burdens upon both city and rural populations.

Register, and get your friends to register, or you can't vote at the primaries in the spring election.

SOCIALISTS HOLD INTERESTING MEET

There was a good attendance at the socialist business meeting last night and much important business transacted. More trustees were elected and all appearances the local will grow tremendously in the next few months, for the working class are awakening to the realization that the hope of the world lies in socialism.

James H. Fisher gave an address on scientific socialism and by the interest and approval shown by those in attendance, real revolutionary socialism is the goal of the Butte section of the socialist party. The outline of the talk was on "The Dialectic Philosophy, the Materialistic Conception of History, the Law of Value and the Class Struggle."

SOLDIERS TELL OF OFFICERS' CRUELTY

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 21.—A legislative committee to investigate complaints of ill treatment of New York state soldiers is proposed in a resolution presented by Assemblyman F. A. Wells, republican, of Brooklyn.

According to Mr. Wells, men returning from abroad have asserted that injustice, hardship and tyranny were inflicted on them by young and inexperienced officers under the guise of discipline. The resolution says: "Many men in hospitals and camps are inadequately clothed and cared for and a great many are detained in camps who could be spared and replaced."

FEELING AGAINST ITALIAN ARMY

Washington, Jan. 21.—An official dispatch today from Belgrade to the Serbian press bureau here said popular feeling against the Italian army grows every hour in the Serb, Croat and Slovene regions occupied by the Italian forces and that open clashes occur daily.

TEACHER DENIED REINSTATEMENT

Newark, N. J., Jan. 21.—Reinstatement of Benjamin H. Strang, a teacher in mathematics in Central high school, who gave up his position to join the navy, has been refused by the board of education upon his application after release from the service of his country. He joined the navy July 1 and when released in December asked for his old position. He was told that peace had not been declared, that his leave of absence was not up and that because classes had been organized there was no opening. The High School Men's association has presented resolutions to the board asking his reinstatement.

REVOLT IS ON IN PORTUGAL

London, Jan. 21.—A royalist revolution has broken out in Portugal, according to a wireless dispatch from Lisbon. Piava Conceiro has placed himself at the head of a royalist revolt at Oporto, Braga and Viscus and has proclaimed former King Manuel King of Portugal.

Government troops are on their way to suppress the conspiracy. The wireless dispatch adds that former King Manuel has sent a telegram to the Portuguese government, reproving the attempt in his behalf.

1918 WAS WET YEAR FOR GREECE

Athens, Greece, Jan. 4 (By Mail.)—War conditions have not been permitted to interfere with wine making in Greece.

A conservative estimate places the 1918 production of wine at more than 10,500,000 gallons. This despite the food shortage, which created a great demand for fresh grapes as food last summer.

The 1918 wine crop is estimated to be nearly double that of 1917.

WHY M'INTOSH CALLS 'EM HUNS

It is an interesting fact that on the third day after the socialists took hold of the government of Germany, night work and Sunday work was abolished in all bakeries and confectioneries throughout Germany. The abolition of night work has been a socialist demand throughout the world, and the socialists of Germany proceeded at once to put this part of their program into operation in various industries, notably the ones above mentioned.

BUFFALO REFUSED 6-CENT CARFARE

Albany, Jan. 21.—The public service commission has dismissed the petition filed June 24, 1918, by the International Railway company asking for a 6-cent fare in Buffalo.
