Jobs Grow Scarcer and Food Prices Soar, While Wall Street Money-Huns Yell Democracy.

Bradstreet's Commercial Review commenting on commodity prices, notes that "the signs thus far indicate nothing but marked strength" and "the situation as to foodstuffs is plainly stronger than ever." These observations bear out the prediction which experts have been making for some time past that there would be no material decrease in the cost of living following the end of the war. Jobs are daily growing scarcer but the records show that the cost of living as measured by Bradstreet's was 14 per cent higher in December, 1918, than it was in December, 1917 and almost double what it was in August, 1914.

By way of contrast, the same issue of Bradstreet's publishes some notes regarding the earnings of the United Fruit company for the year ending Sept. 30, 1918. At that time the balance available for dividends was $19,990,496 or an equivalent of 49 per cent on the capital stock. This is a comfortable showing when compared with the 27 per cent earned on the capital stock in 1917.

At the same time the Pennsylvania railroad announces that it is to receive $52,693,427.50 per year under its contract with the federal government. "This will be enough," announces President Roe of the Pennsylvania "to pay all fixed charges and continue the 6 per cent dividend."

SAY! ARE YOU

he kept here indefinitely, I think we should have comfortable quarters.

Many friends, and the Red Cross, have been kind enough to send me knitted sweaters, but to wear them is prohibited. When a man is caught wearing one, he is very kindly relieved of it by the officers and the man gets 15 days restriction, or five days in the "brig." As for the complicated sweaters, they're never seen again. Why are so many mothers, wives and sweethearts putting in their time knitting these things when we're not allowed to use them?

A "Square Deal"?

Another instance of the government's so-called "square deal" policy:

A friend of mine obtained an honorable discharge; his father was dead of influenza, mother dying, six children to be cared for. His uniform was taken away. The government refused to give him transportation home, and if the boys had not all chipped in, he would have been turned out penniless, 2,000 miles from his home and dying mother. Perhaps that is a square deal, but I can't see it that way.

According to that policy, a man enlists for his country's sake as a gentleman. He leaves with a scrap of paper, an honorable discharge, a pauper.

Roasts Y. M. C. A.

While I'm at it I'd like to say a few things about that wonderful organization, the Y. M. C. A. Since the United States went into the war we have all heard how wonderfully the Y. M. C. A. treats the soldiers and sailors. In my estimation, the Y. M. C. A. secretaries are a bunch of grafting trench dodgers. I believe I have good ground for my opinion. Just an instance:

In this camp we have no canteen. The Y. M. C. A. charged too much for a box of candy all summer. Apples about the size of a small egg were sold to us for 5 cents each. Any number of small edibles were sold to us for prices allowing a margin of profit of from 1 to 6 cents apiece.

Our commandant looked into the matter, and now the Y. M. C. A. has been prohibited from selling anything to sailors in the Bremerton navy yard.

We admit we did get a few sheets of stationery—whenever there happened to be any, which was, and is, seldom. Have you ever slept in a Y. M. C. A. dormitory? If you haven't, I'd advise you not to take a chance. On the seventh floor of the Seattle Y. M. C. A. the ceiling is a complete ruin, and the sleeping quarters are absolutely disreputable.

I think I have given you an idea of how the men in this camp feel about the government's "square treatment" and the Y. M. C. A.

I hope the near future will see some improvement in camp conditions, but it seems a vain hope, as the last nine months have merely seen things grow worse.

A BREMERTON GOB.

DEVIL DOGS IN THE ARCTIC

(By United Press.)

London, Dec. 30. (By Mail.)—American marines have taken over the policing of the city of Archangel, according to J. P. Steele, American attaché who returned today from Archangel.

American movies are doing a big business in Archangel, Steele said. The night before he left he saw a line in front of a theater showing a well-known American picture.

The American soldiers are patrolling the strange streets of the Arctic city with as much of an "at home" air as if they were doing duty in St. Louis. The city is under military government.

Although order is maintained, the food situation still is critical. The quantities of foodstuffs shipped in by the allies are to a great extent out of the reach of the poor, owing to prices.

Steele had to pay 50 rubles for an ordinary dinner and 30 rubles for a breakfast of coffee, bread and porridge.

SHERIFF J. K. O'BOURKE
ANSWERS REV. CARTER

Says Minister Wanted to Collect for Wearing Star During Epidemic.

Sheriff John K. O'Rourke was much perturbed yesterday with reference to statements made by Rev. G. M. Carter, enclosing the sheriff's office. In an interview with a Bulletin representative the sheriff says: "The Rev. G. M. Carter makes the statement to his congregation that on Dec. 6 he called up the sheriff's office at 1:30 a. m. and reported two houses on the flat open and violating the closing law. At this hour of the morning the sheriff's office was closed and the switch turned on the jailer's office, where all reports are made at that particular hour.

"The jailer notifies some of the other duties and they respond when calls are received, he also makes note of such calls. Now, I don't know anything about this particular call and we have no record of it. Mr. Carter was a special officer at the time and had authority to make arrests and why didn't he arrest those parties or come to the office next day and tell us about it; or why did he let it go until this late day?"

"It looks to me as though Mr. Carter has some motive in view, other than the one of which he speaks. At the time he surrendered his commission as special officer he wanted to collect pay for the same from the county commissioners, and on being told by them that he was acting voluntarily and only during the epidemic, the reverend gentleman was much disappointed and came to see me about getting paid and I told him the same thing he had been told by the commissioners. I also told him that there were several persons deputized during the epidemic and serving without pay.

"This office never fails to respond to calls that are legitimate, either during the day or night. I have no apologies to offer to anybody. I am a servant of the people and as such I will do as long as I am in this office."

Bakmeteff and other ambassadors of the Kerensky government are among the prominent emissaries to the conference. But thus far no Russian government has been recognized. There are three main proposals before the conference regarding the Russian policy. The first advocates vigorous intervention and the overthrow of the bolsheviks.

The second advocates by every other means the dispatch of troops, assistance to the elements in Russian fighting for democracy and order against the bolsheviks.

REFORESTING JOB FOR DISABLED MEN

(By United Press.)

Washington, Jan. 20.—Why not put the disabled soldier to work in helping reforest the country? This is the suggestion made by the American Forestry association. What better work for the man seeking health than the care of trees that would take him into the open air? asks Charles Lathrop Park, president of the association who points to the great drain made upon forests for war work. He calls attention to these figures:

Yellow pine lumber sufficient to lay a bridge four 25 feet wide and one inch thick from the United States to France with 4,000,000 feet to spare, or an approximate total of 400,000,000 feet, was cut in American forests and transported to shipyards.

The value of having the soldier work in the forests has been readily seen in England and Australia. Col. W. Fitzpatrick of Australia, struck by the alarming condition of affairs

SAYS HE HAS REAL TROPHY

(By United Press.)

Washington, Jan. 21.—A Red Cross worker who is still overseas serving with a certain well known division in France which has seen hard fighting, claims he has the prize memo, which is a small, dog-eared book.

When the book was blank it was placed by this Red Cross man on the counter of a Red Cross outpost near the fighting line. Soldiers and officers calling for tobacco, cigarettes, chocolates, comfort bags and other commodities, adopted it as a register. When a customer called for anything he would affix his signature in the little book and write a line or so of comment. Now it contains the signatures of men from almost every state and from all ranks of the army, generals down to privates.

The book boasts of the names of such high notables as Maj. Gen. Bullard, Brig. Gen. H. H. Hines and Col. A. N. Stark.
