FIGHTING OVER BUTTE DRUNKS

County Attorney Wants City Police to Turn Over Inebriates for Examination. City Officials Refuse.

The city and county are at loggerheads again. It is a case in which lawyers disagree and hinges about an order issued by County Attorney Joseph R. Jackson that all men arrested for drunkenness by the city police be held for examination by the county attorney's office.

Mayor Maloney and the city legal department believe the police department have no right to hold prisoners beyond their ordinary police court trial and without the right of bail even if the county attorney does want them later handed over.

The question is hedged about by some fine constitutional angles. The city legal luminaries assert that after a man has passed through police court on a drunk charge he cannot again be arrested or he would be twice in jeopardy for the same offense.

The county attorney's office is silent on this point.

WAR HISTORY OF M. S. C. IS COMING

Pres. Hamilton Appoints Committee to Prepare Material for Book to Be Published by State University

Bozeman, Jan. 24.—President J. M. Hamilton of the Montana state college has appointed a committee from the faculty to prepare material for a "History of the War Service of the Montana State College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts, its Staffs, Alumni, Students and Others." Together with compilations from the University of Montana, the State Normal school and the State School of Mines, this material will be put in book form under the direction of the chancellor.

President Hamilton has issued a circular letter to faculty members and students, urging them to give every aid possible in the preparation of this material from the Montana State college. Faculty members who will direct the preparation of material are M. L. Wilson, R. O. Wilson, Miss Bess M. Rowe, Edmund Burke and J. A. Thaler.

COURSE IS EXPLAINED TO BUTTE TEACHERS

Superintendent Maddock Outlines Plan for Foreigners' School.

Superintendent of Schools W. E. Maddock last night went over with a large number of applicants for positions as teachers in the soon-to-be-opened school for foreigners, the course of study and outlined what would be expected from teachers handling this new department of the public schools. Mr. Maddock, however, does not expect to be able to announce the teaching staff until early next week as he wishes to go carefully over the list of applicants and select those most fitted for the work.

Last night Mr. Maddock explained as far as he could in one sitting the character of the work to be performed and found a number of the teachers well prepared with an understanding of the work in a general way. The enrollment starts Monday afternoon and will continue for several days, both afternoon and evening, at the Washington school on East Broadway, where the sessions will be held. There have been a number of inquiries made as to the opening of the school already, indicating that the foreign born population of the city is taking an interest in the school.

Register, and get your friends to register, or you can't vote at the primaries in the spring election.

PARIS NOW ON STEP LADDERS

So Many Kings and Rulers Pass That Crowds Cause Ladders Handy.

By HENRY WOOD (United Press Staff Correspondent.) Paris, Jan. 24.—(By Mail.)—The Avenue du Bois de Boulogne should have its name changed to Avenue du Bois des Stepladders. Since the signing of the armistice Paris has become the Mecca of all allied kings, presidents, princes, ministers, generals and other dignitaries. Paris, to show its gratitude of the honor conferred upon her by these visitors meets them at the little railway station at the far end of the Avenue du Bois de Boulogne, escorts them with full military honors up the avenue to the Arch of Triumph, and then under this and down the Champs Elysees.

Cordons of soldiers line both sides of the avenue and their hedge of fixed bayonets as they stand at salute while the distinguished guests pass quite naturally obstructs the view, to say nothing of the fact that back of the soldiers the crowds are massed for a depth of 50 to 100 feet.

Everyone who possesses a step-ladder, or who can buy one, or borrow one, brings it, hours in advance of the parade, to the wonderful Avenue du Bois de Boulogne and plants it at a vantage point where in spite of surging throngs and elevated bayonets, they will be able to see the cortege.

One may see a thousand or more of these enterprising Parisians mounted on stepladders, viewing a pageant. Then, once the cortege is passed the proud owners of the stepladders endeavor, like the Arabs with their tents, to fold them and silently steal away—but they don't get away with the silent march.

The efforts of a thousand people trying to get through a crowd of 15,000 people is such that—well, really there is nothing to be done except to rename it "The Avenue of the Forest of Stepladders."

FORESTRY SCHOOL HAS REGISTRATION OF 41

Enrollment May Score Record. Ranger Course Is Abandoned.

Missoula, Jan. 24.—The school of forestry at the State University of Montana has a total registration of 41 students, which is the largest enrollment it has had since an enrollment of 44 students several years ago. As there are several men who have not completed their registration yet, it is expected there will be a new record enrollment. Among the late registrants is Fritz A. Lantz of Buffalo, N. Y., who has registered as a freshman in the four-year course. The short course in forestry for rangers is not being offered this year. A one-year course is offered in its stead.

FORMER U MAN TO HELP AT THE PEACE TABLE

Clarence Streit Writes Interestingly from Foreign Lands.

Missoula, Jan. 24.—Sergeant Clarence Streit, former editor of the State University of Montana Kalmin, has been chosen as one of the 10 men selected from the intelligence service to be assigned to Paris to help in the work of the American commission at the peace conference. Streit is spending much spare time with war correspondents. He says that he is reading with Carter Brook Jones, a Seattle newspaper man, who is also in the intelligence department. "I met some war correspondents the other day. William Slavens, McNutt, who writes for Colliers; Joe Timmons with the Los Angeles Times and Examiner; O'Donnell with the Cincinnati Enquirer, and Barton Bralery with Colliers. I had an interesting talk with them and later had dinner with these men." He wrote interestingly of the reception tendered President Wilson in France. Register, and get your friends to register, or you can't vote at the primaries in the spring election. Don't forget the big sale on men's hats and caps at Nickerson's, 112 West Park street.—Adv.
