DETECTIVES TO SMASH UNIONS

Joint Chairman of War Labor Board Tells Some Interesting Things to the Workers of Butte.

Washington, Jan. 25.—In a speech in this city Joint Chairman Manly of the national war labor board said "there are little groups of irresponsible anarchistic employers all over the country who are refusing to arbitrate labor disputes and who, in many instances, use detectives to provoke violence by the use of dynamite and all sorts of other unfair methods."

JAPANESE LABOR MAKES DEMANDS

A special correspondent writing in the British Columbia Federationist calls attention to the fact that, while Japan is now under the control of the small business element, the working people are more and more becoming interested in Russian socialist literature.

WENT IN AS STRIKEBREAKERS AND COME OUT AS STRIKERS

New York, Jan. 25.—The strike-breaker has struck. Forty strikebreaking waitresses did the unexpected yesterday, and the story thereof is as amusing as an Arabian Nights entertainment, although it is nothing like the one about the "Forty Thieves."

GENERAL STRIKE ON IN ARGENTINA

The acute labor unrest which has been convulsing Argentina for months came to a climax on Jan. 8, when a general strike was declared throughout the republic. It resulted in a complete tie-up of all industries.

R. R. PIECE WORK IS DOOMED UNIONS WINNING LONG FIGHT

Washington, Jan. 25.—Before his retirement, by resignation, from the railroad administration, Director General of Railroads McAdoo ordered all regional directors to discontinue piece work in railroad shops "whenever a substantial majority of the employees desire such a change."

ADOPT RADICAL SOCIAL PROGRAM

Free Speech, Government Ownership and Abolition of Child Labor Is Demanded by New York Workers.

New York, Jan. 25.—No militarist legislation. Complete restoration of free speech.

These two principles are voiced in no uncertain terms in the program of the New York State Federation of Labor adopted at the session of the federation just ended in Albany.

The scope of the program embraces all economic and social problems, and it is considered by labor students to be of no less significance in the labor movement than the program of the British labor party.

The government ownership of telegraph and telephone lines, the continued control of the railroads by the government, the adoption of a peace treaty based upon President Wilson's 14 points, the abolition of child labor, the reduction of the working day, the establishing of a minimum living wage, and the speedy adjustment of industries to meet the demands of the demobilized service men are among the most important items in the program.

The sections which refer to militarist legislation and free speech are as follows:

Avoidance of Militarism. "We insist that no legislation be enacted which will continue the nation on a military basis or popularize militarist ideas.

Restoration of Civil Liberties. "We demand complete restoration of freedom of speech, freedom of assembly, and freedom of the press, and the immediate repeal of all such statutory restrictions enacted to meet war emergencies. Furthermore, we call for the universal extension of the suffrage to women and men on equal terms and the direct election and recall of all public officials, including judges. Taught by hard-won experience with progressive legislation for labor's benefit, we emphatically advocate the abolition by law of the assumed rights of the courts to declare unconstitutional the deliberate expressions of legislatures and congresses.

The union also indorsed by resolution the Metal Trades council plan to organize a Soldiers', Sailors' and Workers' council, pledging itself to "do everything in its power to assist in placing the returned soldier and sailor in industry in such a manner that they will not be detrimental to present working standards. In the same resolution the union further went on record as intending to give preference to returned soldiers and sailors in filling vacancies in jobs arising in its jurisdiction.

At the same meeting the union voted to create a $300 death benefit to which all soldier and sailor members joining the union will be entitled, irrespective of their length of membership, in case of death.

The union holding several jobs open for members who are still in the service and has put two returned soldiers at work since the armistice was declared.

LIVING'S RISE DURING WAR

Seventy Per Cent Increase Is the Report of the National Industrial Conference Board.

Boston, Jan. 25.—The national industrial conference board, representing 17 manufacturers' associations, reports that living costs for wage earners have increased 65 to 70 per cent between July, 1914, and November, 1918.

This is a remarkable jump from last year, when the board placed the increase at 50 to 60 per cent.

Using the 70 per cent increase as a basis, it would mean that a worker receiving $3 a day in 1914 would now have to be paid a wage of $5.10 a day to meet the figures of these employers, who can not be charged with making exaggerated statements regarding living costs for their workers.

The conference board quotes the United States bureau of labor statistics, which has shown that during the five-year period from November, 1913, to November, 1918, the price

ADOPT RADICAL SOCIAL PROGRAM

Chicago, Jan. 25.—The action of Ed Nolan, chairman of the Mooney convention just ended here, in suddenly adjourning the meeting before a large number of resolutions had been considered, was denounced as one of the greatest crimes in the history of organized labor at a protest meeting held at East End hall last night.
